Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, we are not going to talk this bill to death but it is the most important piece of legislation that has been advanced affecting Allegheny County in a good number of years. There are some things that ought to be said here today because there is a permanent record of the proceedings of this House. I rise to support this bill and to solicit the votes of the Members of this House in favor of House Bill 1297, the mass transit authority bill for Allegheny County.

Some of the remarks I wish to say are predicated upon the fact that some of us from Allegheny County who are voting for this bill today would have voted against the bill were it not for the compromise amendments that were accepted and submitted yesterday. Those amendments yesterday provided for a May referendum which has been discussed here, giving an option to the county commissioners of putting this transit system plan into effect simply by resolution or in their discretion by submitting it to a popular referendum.

We feel that that is a vital amendment to this bill because there is a definite possibility that when this plan of integrated transportation system is submitted by the port authority to the county commissioners in two years we may have a complete new board of county commissioners. It is possible that the plan as submitted may be costly. There may be other reasons why the commissioners on their own hesitate to put the plan into effect. The commissioners may desire at that time to submit it to a referendum to the people in Allegheny County.

The other amendment that was submitted yesterday, I think, is important because it safeguards a civil liberty that the people now possess and that is to give the right to the people to appeal to the court of common pleas any changes in service that the authorities may direct. In other words, if they change the bus in your neighborhood from every fifteen minutes to every thirty minutes, you have the right to go into the Court of Common Pleas and appeal that just as you now have the right to go before the Public Utility Commission. We think that is an important amendment and it was part of the compromise submitted yesterday and accepted by a majority of the members from Allegheny County.

Now I would like to explain briefly just what this bill does. This bill gives the port authority of Allegheny County, which is now in existence, the exclusive right to operate a public transportation system in Allegheny County and, insofar as necessary, out of Allegheny County. Members of the board of this port authority are appointed by the county commissioners and serve at the will of the county commissioners. This gives some control to the public to the conduct of the affairs of the authority, and for that reason we believe it is perhaps the first authority in the history of Pennsylvania that is subject to public control.

However, I should like to point out that has its advantages also. By giving control to the county commissioners indirectly we are more than doubling the county payroll. I think it is important that fact be stated publicly. Because of union representation and the compulsory arbitration features in this bill, it may never come, and I hope it never does, to the point where these drafted authority employes are political employes.

Another important feature in this bill is that this is public transportation supported not merely by the revenue of the authority but also supported by public taxation. I think it is important that that fact be known before this bill is voted on. The county commissioners can appropriate an annual amount unlimited to this authority for its operation. Fortunately, the public has been protected to the point where rate increases by the authority and service matters can be appealed to the courts. Also, since this authority is controlled directly and indirectly by the county commissioners, the public has a chance to re-elect them or refuse to re-elect them every four years, so this matter of public taxation to subsidize public transportation is kept within the bounds of the public.

Now, most of you know that there are those of us from Allegheny County who will vote for this bill today, who have raised some objection to certain provisions of the bill. I want to tell you why we need this bill in Allegheny County. This bill is apparently the only solution to our rapidly deteriorating transportation system in Allegheny County. The reason for that I think must be stated publicly.

The heart and core of our private enterprise public transportation system in Allegheny County is the Pittsburgh Railways Company. This company has had a long history of bankruptcy and near bankruptcy, and in 1951 came out of receivership. Since that time it has been owned predominately by out-of-state interests. This company, while performing a standby transportation service almost entirely with trolley cars, has been unable or unwilling to provide a completely adequate and expanding transportation service in Allegheny County. That is the main reason why a transit authority is probably the only solution to the transit ills in Allegheny County.

There is one additional reason. The county government and the city government in the city of Pittsburgh have refused to give any effective cooperation to the public transportation company operating in and around Allegheny County. It may be—I do not know all of the answers—that there was no really effective way for them to give such aid. But they did not do what city and county governments in other states have done by giving curb lanes solely for transit use and for providing areas for central discharge and pick-up of passengers and things of that nature. While there are recriminations on the transportation problem in Allegheny County, let it not go unnoticed that the only thing the city and county governments have done to help solve the problem is to encourage the formation of study commissions to make studies and make recommendations on this very important problem.

I think one thing should be said in behalf of the independent bus operators. They have been referred to in the public press as greedy and mercenary, I have a certain sympathetic consideration for them. Of course they are opposed to this bill because it puts them out of business. This bill eliminates public transportation by private enterprise in Allegheny County. Apparently, some people seem to think that even though they are being put out of business, even though their livelihood is affected, it is unseemly for them to take a public position on this bill. I think, in all fairness, the position of the independent bus operators should be understood and we should have a certain amount of respect for the position they find themselves in.

I think it is also fair to say I do not agree with their position in that they want a formula in this bill to spell out how they will be paid for the property they have. I think they have adequate protection in this bill and, while they have my sympathetic consideration, as would any businessman who was being put out of business in favor of the public operation of that business, I believe their interest here is vastly inferior to that of the general public which is entitled to a completely integrated transportation system in Allegheny County.

This bill is not a perfect bill. Perhaps it grasps too much power for an authority. Perhaps, it is getting too far away from representative government. I do not know that. I know some of the things that I object to in this bill, and I do know this, that this is probably the only way we can solve our transportation problem in Allegheny County.

On that basis we respectfully solicit the votes of the Members of both the minority and the majority parties in this House in favor of this legislation for Allegheny County.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AGNEW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, if, in his opinion, on Page 28 of House Bill No. 1297, Printer's No. 885, he believes that the mass transit authority will be required to pay any local real estate taxes?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, very clearly the authority will not pay any real estate taxes. They are specifically exempted in the bill.

Mr. HELM. Then, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has an idea as to the amount of the loss of revenue to the local municipalities because of this feature of the bill?

Mr. AGNEW. That figure has not been made available, to my knowledge, except by the independent bus operators who admittedly are a lobby against this bill. Their figure is an annual loss of $1 million in cash revenues. I have no way of substantiating that figure; it may be low, it may be high; but that is the only figure I have heard from any source that there may be an annual cash loss of $1 million.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if in his opinion the transit authority will be required to pay license fees on the buses they operate in Allegheny County?

Mr. AGNEW. I cannot give the gentleman an answer to that question, Mr. Speaker.

The only thing I can do is read him the pertinent provision of this bill. At the bottom of page 27, Printer's No. 885, and I am reading from the bill:

> "The effectuation of the authorized purposes of any authority created under this act," "shall and will be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the Commonwealth for the increase of their commerce and prosperity and for the improvement of their health and living conditions, and since the authority will be performing essential government functions in effectuating such purposes the authority shall not be required to pay any taxes or assessments upon any property acquired or used by it for such purposes.

Apparently, the authority will not be required to pay any taxes. Whether or not a license fee could be considered a tax, I do not know. My opinion would be that a license fee is a fee, it is not a tax, and that the authority would have to pay license fees. But, it is subject to interpretation.

Mr. HELM. I would like to ask the gentleman to continue and read a couple additional lines. Perhaps then he can answer the question.

Mr. AGNEW. Well, continuing, I stopped at "for such purposes," line 5, page 28,

> For such purposes or fee bridge tolls or other charge imposed or authorized to be imposed by virtue of any law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Well, perhaps a license fee could be considered to be a charge imposed or authorized to be imposed, by virtue of any law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

If it could, then the authority would not pay license fees.

Mr. HELM. Would the gentleman then say also that the mass transit authority would not be required to pay any gasoline tax?

Mr. AGNEW. Well, insofar as it is a tax on property used for such purposes, I would say very clearly that the authority would not be required to pay the state gasoline tax.

Mr. HELM. The only thing that the gentleman has at his command then as to the loss of revenue is that it is about $1 million a year.

Mr. AGNEW. It is not my figure and I do not stand behind it or attempt to justify it. That came from the independent bus operators and they are liable for its accuracy.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I just want to point out that I am not opposing the bill, necessarily, but I do believe that these figures should be put on the record.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I will be brief. Every metropolitan area in these United States has been faced, in this modern age, with a terrific problem in transporting people, a problem of mass transportation.

Pittsburgh, of course, is no exception to that problem. In every instance, I believe that the solution, or some solution of that problem has required the help and cooperation of the governmental instrumentality involved. There are many ways in which this could be accomplished:

Personally I would prefer to see some other method of governmental help and cooperation utilized in the great city of Pittsburgh and in Allegheny County. But, it is evident that the city and county officials of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County believe that House Bill No. 1297, now before you, is a prerequisite to their doing anything to solve this problem.

Heretofore I have withheld my support of this bill principally for two reaons: First of all the sponsors of the bill, although backed by fact-finding agencies such as the Pennsylvania Economy League and the Urban Redevelopment Authority, have refused to point out to the people of Allegehny County that mass transit authority operation costs public moneys in excess of the fares collected from the transit operation. In that I think they have done a disservice to the people of Allegheny County.

Secondly, I have some question as to whether or not a majority of the people of Allegheny County believe that subsidized mass transportation, subsidization without limit is a desirable governmental function. In spite of terrific newspaper and radio editorial for the last six weeks urging the residents of Allegheny County to express their views to the Members of the General Assembly, particularly those who have evidenced opposition, I have received, up to this point, about 50 individual letters, about half of them opposing it. I eliminate the cards that the independent bus operators issued to their passengers because I do not think that represents an honest evidence of opinion. However, the revered Speaker of this House has often pointed out that legislation is a matter of compromise. And 1297, in its present form today, I believe is a compromise hammered out by people with different philosophies, people of different political parties in an effort to get toward the solution of a problem at present. to take the city of Pittsburgh and make of it a ghost area.

For that reason, and since I believe that in the two years in which the studies will be made the people of Allegheny County will have an opportunity to learn about it, to learn what the cost will be, and I trust that these fact-finding agencies will submit those figures to the people in this interim.

I think that the introduction of the May referendum gives to the people of Allegheny County sufficient protection to make their desires known to the county commissioners, and I would urge that all of the Members of this House support this bill in its present form, because it is evident that we are not going to do anything else if we do not support it, toward solving our transit problem in the greater Pittsburgh area.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House in considering House Bill 1297, we are today afforded one of those rare opportunities to strike a smashing blow in relief of our fellow citizens of Allegheny County, who are beset with a mass transportation problem, perhaps unrivaled in this Commonwealth.

Allegheny County is one of the major urban areas of this country with a population of one and one-half million crammed into a relatively small area. Its disection by several rivers, its hilly topography and its narrow thoroughfares have combined to product a traffic and transportation problem which has been aggravated by the mushrooming population growth into the Pittsburgh suburbs. The deterioration of our mass transit has compelled the many thousands of people who live in the suburbs and work in the downtown district to use private transportation. This in turn, has put a strain upon a highway system not designed to cope with this near overwhelming surge of traffic.

The 127 municipalities and the one and one-half million people who comprise Allegheny County are now served by some 30 odd bus lines and the Pittsburgh Railway Company. Railroad commuter service is not now a significant transportation factor. Obviously, no central direction can—or does—exist under these circumstances. Not a semblance of co-ordination of routes or scheduling is possible. Most lines follow established traffic routes into the downtown Pittsburgh area, the business, professional and shopping center of the county. No effort has been made to promote inter-community, cross-county service which would produce inestimable benefits for the growing suburban shopping centers. What has resulted in Allegheny County today, is a problem of growing dimensions which threatens, if not solved, to strangle the economic growth of a major population area to the ultimate and irreparable damage of its people.

The magnitude of our problem has been highlighted by several strikes among major carriers, all of which have been followed by increases in rates and curtailment in service. The hopeless commuter, ground between these two millstones abandons public transportation for private automobile, and runs smack into the terrifying problems of traffic jams and parking problems. This is the endless cycle which leaves the commuter in a state of utter despair.

The awareness of the dangers that the twin problems of traffic and parking and mass transportation pose to the prosperity and welfare of our Allegheny County citizens has caused public officials and interested civic groups to institute studies to find a solution. The first study was made as early as 1909 and followed subsequently by other major studies through 1958—totaling over twenty in all—or one for approximately every two years since the problem was recognized. The latest of these studies by committees representative of the community as a whole has recommended the creation of a public body with power to effectively operate a unified mass transit system. Every effort was made to meet all objections raised to earlier legislative approaches.

The findings, conclusions and recommendations, of these study committees were presented to the County Commissioners, who directed that a representation drafting committee, including a representative of bus companies which would be affected, prepare legislation. This committee produced a bill to whose provisions the bus operators representative voiced no objection—except for the failure to include a provision for compensation in the event of condemnation that guaranteed compensation based on gross revenue, irrespective of all other factors involved. This provision—considered illegal and unwarranted—was rejected by all other committee members.

The work of this committee—indeed the work of all the committees over the years—was endorsed unanimously by the County Commissioners and is embodied in House Bill 1297 before us today for consideration.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House—today we are given the choice of whether Allegheny County will continue to struggle along with an obsolete, archaic and helpless transit system in the day of space travel—or whether we will lend a helping hand to the citizens of our County whose economic salvation cries aloud for a chance to build a new and unified system that will permit safe, efficient and economical transportation.

I ask you to vote affirmatively for House Bill 1297.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. Speaker, an analysis was made of the financial operations of the seven largest cities where mass transportation is operated either by the municipality or an Authority. Four of those cities (Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, and Toronto, Canada) each had a net income for the year 1958 ranging from $236,607 in Los Angeles to $2,486,055 in Chicago. Net income represents the difference after subtracting from total revenues the operating and maintenance expense, taxes, depreciation and interest on debt. The principal payment on debt is not considered part of expense, particularly since depreciation is already provided for the retirement of the system. However, it should be pointed out that even if principal on the debt were also deducted, Chicago and Cleveland are the only two cities that would end up with a slight cash deficit of $419,941 in Chicago and $224,000 in Cleveland. The three cities where net deficits were incurred were Boston, New York and San Francisco. In those cities it appears that the municipality has adopted a policy of subsidizing comparatively low fares. In San Francisco and New York the single fare for adults is 15¢; in Boston it is 20¢.

In the case of Cleveland, data were available for the period from the inception of the City's operation, namely, April 29, 1942. In only two years did the operation show a deficit, 1947 and 1948. Over the total period since 1942 the surplus has varied from $100,000 in 1954 to $1,843,724 in 1943.

Mr. McLAUGHLIN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House we in Allegheny County must have legislation to permit us to modernize our present Model-T system to the point where it can effectively move our million and a half people to and from their jobs, homes, stores and recreation.

Automobiles alone cannot move those who live in a densely populated, highly concentrated area. This is startlingly evident when we have a trolley strike. There are now 500,000 cars in Allegheny County or one for every three persons. No highway system is capable of handling this flow of traffic. Los Angeles has determined that it would take a highway 20 lanes wide to move the same number of passengers as a single mass transit line. Certainly, this emphasizes mass transit's capabilities on moving people. But, what is the answer if our transit facilities continue their decline?

The obvious answer is traffic at a standstill, a decline in employment and property values—in short, economic stagnation. This is a price too high to pay.

Your support for House Bill 1297 will allow our people to develop a system which will insure the continued dynamic growth of an area whose vigorous renaissance has become the talk of the world.

I urge your support of House Bill 1297.

On the question, recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DAVIS filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 625:

"ON SOUNDINGS"

VOTING AT EIGHTEEN

"Why eighteen-year-olds should vote" was the theme for twenty-eight essays which a fine young English teacher kindly offered me the rewarding privilege of reviewing.

The pleadings were interesting, thoughtful and heartening; indicative of a fine spirit, a healthy civic interest engendered by well directed schooling in government.

Among the arguments favoring suffrage at eighteen, these were cited more often:

1. Old enough to bear arms, old enough to vote.

2. Taxation (payroll witholding) without representation.

3. Most are mature at eighteen, they claim; many older voters, now qualified, are immature.

4. Younger voters, added, would counter-balance the senile as medical science prolongs the life-span.

5. Illogical to legally drive a car, marry etc., but voting witheld.

6. They vote at eighteen in Georgia, Kentucky and seven Latin American countries.

7. Today's students sharper, familiar with governmental issues through civic and history studies, TV-radio public-question discussions, classroom debates, etc.

8. Women, like eighteen-year-olds, once considered unqualified; but have proved their civic worth.

9. Voting at eighteen, an impressionable age, would arouse a continuing lifetime civic interest; less likely at twenty-one; an argument with cogent impact.

These are points meriting careful analysis. Coupled with such an analysis the occasion would seem to call for counter-arguments, if a balanced presentation is to be effected. The same points against eighteen-year-old voting are accordingly entered below:

1. Representative government is still on trial, losing ground abroad, threatened by advances of militant communism. Is this a time for an irrevocable change not yet proven?

2. How much difference is there between the maturity of eighteen-year-olds and those twenty-one and above? If appreciable, would this not tend towards jeopardizing representative processes?

3. One indicator of maturity is judgement, and a prime essential of judgement is experience—that an individual possess enough mental images against which to compare the problem under consideration. At twenty-one, most people are just beginning to accumulate experience significant to the problems of living; at eighteen the record is relatively blank.

4. Another indicator of maturity is reaction to impressions: hasty or considered. Considered reactions enjoy the balance-wheel of good judgement and its underlying fund of experience. While hasty reactions too often mark a low level in an individual's reservoir of the images of experience. At eighteen, with so short a course in experience, the level is inexorably low.

5. If representative government is to endure, it must be the expression of a stable electorate. The hastily acting, highly impressionable voter works against stability. He is a soft target for the plausibly sounding, ready-promising spellbinder of magnetic personality; the political mountebank who makes a shambles of representative government. Youth, at eighteen, inexperienced and therefore lacking discernment, is vulnerable to the appeal of such characters. Why add to the too easily swayed, already part of the electorate?

6. Maturity is partly the outcome of physiological growth, of developing ductless glands and so on. At eighteen, such growth is still in progress; largely in the "beardless youth" stage.

7. Unhesitating dash, to go on the offensive headlong, without considering personal consequences—these are the attributes of a good combat soldier. These are the characteristics of the upper teenage soldier. But they are not the characteristics of a serious minded, discerning voter; the kind which the teenager develops into later on.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 751, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1944) entitled "An act providing a permanent allocation of a part of the fuels and liquid fuels tax proceeds to cities, boroughs, incorporated towns and townships for their road, street and bridge purposes * * *" providing for the use of twenty-five per centum of the money allocated in townships of the second class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1579, entitled:

An Act amending the "Civil Service Act" approved August 5, 1941 (P. L. 752) requiring that the commission permit certain promotions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1587, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 27 1927 (P. L. 414) entitled as amended "An act providing for a system of recording the identification of persons convicted of crime and of fugitives from justice and habitual criminals * * *" changing the provisions relating to the taking of fingerprints and photographs and the furnishing of descriptions and requiring the destruction of photographs and fingerprints in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of House Bill 1587.

I think that there has been considerable interest in this field in this Session, as evidenced by the fact that there have been five or six bills introduced incorporating a similar idea in this particular Session. The sponsors of the various bills have gotten together and House Bill No. 1587, which is before you, represents the crystallized thinking in this particular field.

I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that House Bill No. 1587 provides primarily that upon an arrest the defendant arrested shall not be fingerprinted nor photographed until after he has had a preliminary hearing and he has been held for court on an indictable offense—that would be a misdemeanor or a felony.

Under our present law the practice is for one to be fingerprinted and photographed immediately, even before a hearing. Very frequently what has happened is that the defendant is discharged in the morning, but his fingerprints and photographs remain. As a result he must subsequently go into court, go to the expense of getting a lawyer, attend a further hearing in order to obtain a court order to remove the fingerprints and photographs.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that this is very wrong. Very wrong for, well, first for psychological reasons. A man arrested, taken down, fingerprinted and photographed suffers enormous humiliation which stays with many people for the rest of their lives. It has practical consequences often in the fact that the individual involved, perhaps a youngster, perhaps an adult, has the fingerprints and photographs on record in the police files and very often these records get into improper hands and are publicized around the community in which the individual lives, to his great detriment.

I tell you further, Mr. Speaker, that very often defendants are fingerprinted and photographed for the most trivial offenses. I see many, many cases of disorderly conduct fingerprinted and certainly there should be no need for that.

I can go even further. I recall many cases in my own experience where youngsters are arrested for the offense of "corner lounging", fingerprinted, photographed and discharged in the morning, when as a matter of fact there is no such offense on the books in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Those individuals have police fingerprints and photographs for the rest of their lives in the files of the police and possibly the district attorney.

Now, I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that this is a matter of considerable interest. This bill is really in the public interest. We certainly are in favor of proper detection of criminals and the use of existing records, but we cannot condone a situation where the fingerprints and photographs are taken and the defendant is found not guilty in a preliminary hearing of any particular offense.

I ask for the support of everyone on this very important bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1787, entitled:

An Act establishing a program of liberty traineeships in the State Library of the Department of Public Instruction.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to interrogate any of the three sponsors.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if, after the person who desires to be a library trainee has taken the carefully prepared examination, is a duly qualified resident of the state of Pennsylvania, is otherwise qualified according to the standards of qualification set up by the State Library—I think that is all—he has passed the test, he is a qualified resident and he meets all the other qualifications, both moral, physical, et cetera—can he then be rejected for political reasons?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think he would be rejected for political reasons. Politics would not enter into that in any way.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I request he answer my question. Could he under this bill, be disqualified or not given the position regardless of his marks on the competitive examination, for political reasons?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion he could not be disqualified for political reasons.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Would the gentleman point to the page and line of this bill which prohibits such discrimination?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe there is any such provision in the bill.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, am I then correct in saying that regardless of the results of the competitive examination, the State Librarian or the administrative staff set up by this series of bills would have complete authority to decide who would become library trainees, without regard to their actual mark in these competitive exams?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not very well answer that question, except to make the observation that I think proper rules and regulations governing this matter would be issued.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, am I then correct that these rules and regulations have not been included or incorporated in this bill, House Bill 1787, or any of the seven bills in this package?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I know of no such provision in the bills as the gentleman is referring to.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. Polen.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—8

Bell,	Haudenshield,	Moran,	Welsh,
Down,	McKeever,	Thompson,	Willard,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1789, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929," approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), adding to and redefining the powers and duties of the Department of Public Instruction with respect to libraries and authorizing regional library resource centers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. I raise a question as to the language on page 5 of this bill, and would like to know what Mr. Polen meant by the language where it says that the "State Librarian may restrict the circulation of books and other materials which because they are rare or are used intensively in the State Library for reference purposes"—with this I find no question, but it then says—"or for other reasons should be retained in the State Library at all times". Is this a form of censorship?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is not. At least it is not intended to be that way. I think it is referring to where some rare book is in the archives of the State Library and could not be circulated to other libraries.

Mr. STEWART. Well, your bill already makes that circulation exception for rare books. This says "for other reasons". What other reasons?

Mr. POLEN. Would the gentleman give me the page he is referring to?

Mr. STEWART. Page 5.

Mr. POLEN. What line?

Mr. STEWART. Line 3.

Mr. POLEN. Line 3 of page 5 says, "—Library for reference purposes or for other reasons should be retained in the State Library at all times".

Mr. STEWART. That is right. I want to know for what reasons you would retain this other than where it is rare or it is extensively used. What other reasons would you have?

Mr. POLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think the real reason is that if you had a book, a valuable book, a limited number of copies available, we felt the safest place to keep it would be in the State Library, rather than circulating it when there were not enough for circulation. That is the interpretation I would place upon it.

Mr. STEWART. What does line 2 of the same page say?

Mr. POLEN. Well, we would really have to go back to page 4 to get the meaning.

> "To make available all materials owned by the State Library for circulation to free libraries and to all citizens of the State under rules and regulations fixed by the State Librarian except that the State Librarian may resrict the circulation of books and other materials which because they are rare or are used intensively in the State Library for reference purposes or for other reasons should be retained in the State Library at all times."

I think it is self-explanatory.

Mr. STEWART. What other reasons, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. Well, the book could be in bad repair, it could be so rare and so old that to handle it or transport it would damage it. That is just a reason I am thinking of.

Mr. STEWART. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

For the reason I indicated I am voting against this bill, because I think it is spelled out that rare books definitely should not be circulated, but there is a possibility that this might be a censorship bill by the State Library. I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, let us state in this case, then, the legislative intent. We will insert into the record that this bill, dealing with this page in this section, is not in any way intended, nor is it to be used, as a means of censorship in any sense; that the legislative intent of this body is that this shall not in any way be construed or used as a device or means of any censorship at any time.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, can the question of legislative intent be placed in the record without a vote of the Members?

Mr. McCANN. A statement can be made as to legislative intent. There have been numerous times in the past when the legislative intent was gotten from the legislative record of the House or the Senate. In this case, since they referred to it in the past, I am using this. If it needs a vote, then perhaps we will put to a vote the legislative intent also.

Mr. AUKER. I would like to have the Parliamentarian pass on it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is informed the legislative intent can be construed by the nature of the debate that is before the House.

Mr. AUKER. Well, then, would the gentleman from Philadelphia agree to that, and not take any exceptions to it so there cannot be any question about it?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the genlteman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadlphia?

Mr. AUKER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEWART. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart, if he agrees with the remarks of the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, as to the question of legislative intent on this bill?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, in answer, I do not think the Supreme Court follows the legislative intent by the remarks that are printed in the Journal.

As a matter of fact, many of the decisions of the Supreme Court are to the contrary. And the wording of this bill, I think, leaves discretion to the State Library for "other reasons" to remove from circulation certain books, and because of that I believe, nothwithstanding Mr. McCann's statement, that this could be construed to be a censorship bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if that is the question in the back of his mind, number one, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has never upheld any censorship law in this Commonwealth, and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has many times gone into the legislative record for the intent.

If it needs to be more affirmative than the legislative intent I outlined, I would be pleased to accept a vote as to the legislative intent of this section of the bill.

Mr. AUKER. In view of the importance of this question, and I think it is very important, not only for now, but probably for future reference, I move that a vote be taken on the legislative intent as expressed by Mr. McCann, the gentleman from Greene. Take a fast roll call if you wish.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The only question before the House is on the bill that is before the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the Parliamentarian advise us if we can vote on the bill, and then vote on the legislative intent of the section? Is that illegal or improper?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Disposition of the bill before the House can be made first, and if the House decides it wants to vote on the legislative intent, it may do so.

Mr. McCANN. If it is satisfactory to the gentlemen, we will vote on the bill and insert into the record the legislative intent vote.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

GOVERNOR INVITED TO ADDRESS JOINT ASSEMBLY

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that His Excellency, the Governor, be invited to address the General Assembly at a time to be fixed by concurrent resolution.

The Motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Monday, June 15th, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the Minority Leader, addressed the House and made certain statements in connection with the deficit of the Highway Department and other matters, which at the time he made the statement I felt that I did not agree with them. I felt that they were incorrect.

I checked into the matter and was prepared on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week and again on Monday and Tuesday of this week to give the facts to this House, but in each instance the legislative time had taken so much time there was no remaining time for me to make a reply. I think it is important, Mr. Speaker, that I take the time of this House at this time and discuss the matters which he raised.

He said,

> We the Republican party have followed a policy of watch and wait and see and investigate. I think up to this point it has paid off handsomely for the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. Last evening, in our meeting with the Senate group we came up with a deficit figure of not $178 million as > was originally announced by Governor Lawrence back in early March, but a new figure of around $122 million. By two items, one of $9.1 million reflecting on the last biennium having to do with the support of public schools, the other a $10 million figure having to do with overstating of the rentals for the State School Building Authority and the local authority. In other words, just in that one category alone, if our figures stand up and we have been assured that they will, we have cut $57 million out of the deficit by staying here watching and studying this situation and perusing it until we feel that $120 million, or maybe even less will be the figure of the deficit.

Mr. Speaker, the deficit as reported in March in the Governor's Message, contained in the budget, amounted to $141 million. In a message last week in a financial report given to this House and to the people of Pennsylvania—I am in error, Mr. Speaker—the deficit as reported in the budget was $178 million. in the financial report at the end of the biennium, made to this House and to the people of Pennsylvania, the deficit had been reduced to $141.5 million. Now, Mr. Speaker, by some magic formula, the gentleman from McKean says that he will reduce that figure to around $122 million, and he proceeds to tell us how he would do it. He would take the $9.1 and the $10 million, having to do with Public Instruction, and reduce it from $141 million to $122 million.

What are the facts, Mr. Speaker? The amount that he is talking about is $9,361,906.66 remaining in that appropriation, that is true. It is for subsidies due the school districts which have not been paid, and on top of that there is a deficiency appropriation of $9,649,910, as covered by House Bill 1423, which was passed in early May that is necessary to pay the remaining 20 per cent due the first, second and third class school districts. In April 80 per cent was paid, and the remaining 20 per cent is due.

I do not know by what magic formula you can take—when you say we owe a total of $141 million, and we owe a certain amount to certain people of $19 million, so we take off one of the individual amounts from the total that we owe and we will reduce the amount that we owe. If that is the way he is saving $57 million, I would like to know how it is possible to do it. You certainly could not do it if you owed bills individually and you tried to work that system.

Now, he says "we have cut $57 million out of that deficit by staying here." I say to you the cut is not $57 million, because we certainly cannot take this $19 million he is talking about. The deficit has been reduced $37 million, but Mr. Speaker it was not due in any way to the efforts of the gentleman from McKean. I do not see how he can take credit for what did happen.

In the first place increased tax collections were due to improved business. That brought in additional money. I do not see how his staying here in any way contributed to that.

The other reduction was due to the austerity program that was put into effect the day after Governor Lawrence became Governor. The proof of that is, Mr. Speaker, that the expenses were greatly reduced.

We want to take the question of the number of employes on the state payroll, on January 30th, 31st, and compare them with the period of April 30th, which is the last day we have this compiled to, and we find that we have reduced the payroll 2571—there are 2571 persons less on the payroll. I do not see that this reduction in expenses that has taken place, due to the action of the Governor, I do not see how Mr. Johnson can take credit for that.

I say to you Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from McKean, when he says by his staying here that they have reduced the budget $57 million, I say that the facts are otherwise. The reduction was made by the Governor in expenses and the improvement in the tax collections due to improved business.

The $19 million that he claims as a further reduction, from $141 million to $122 million, to me is purely a phoney transaction because, as I said before, you cannot reduce the total amount you owe by taking off what you owe to one individual or to another group.

Now, Mr. Speaker, he said he wants to know about the deficit. Then we want to know about this debt of $122 million, if that is the figure. I say to you that is not the figure. The figure is $141 million. "Is that a true deficit?" I say to you it is a true deficit and is was submitted to this House, the exact figure showing how it was arrived at.

I am quoting from the gentleman:

> As I stated here, is it accounts payable, is it commitments made, or is it just money that has been spent out of previous bank accounts which maybe the taxpayer should be called upon in this two year period to replenish.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say that part of it is accounts payable. I am not going to read all the items that are payable, but I will just give you a couple of them that amount of $103 million, out of that $141 million.

We will owe the Retirement Funds, $84,572,900, and for the subsidies for the first, second and third class school districts which remain unpaid, we owe $19 million. I believe that is the $19 million that he wants to reduce the deficit by. So, those two items alone make up $103 million. And, of course, the other items are made up of vouchers and bills payable and of other deficiency appropriations which are contained in bills that this House has already passed.

But, Mr. Speaker, none of this is to replenish bank accounts. It is to pay what we owe. The gentleman said he does not understand it, and perhaps he does not. But, to put it in very simple terms it would be something like this: If it was decided that on the 31st of May the Commonwealth was going to wind up its affairs, it owes $141 million. We would have to raise $141 million to pay off what we owe in the commitments that we have made.

So, Mr. Speaker, I again say that his proposed $19 million reduction is a phony. He goes on further to say:

> Therefore I think we have done a good job for the people of this state in staying here, examining and looking and searching into things.

Well, Mr. Speaker, he wants to take credit for what has been done, and I say, that for anything that the gentleman from McKean does that reflects credit in the financial affairs of this Commonwealth, he is entitled to credit. But, I also say, that when the Governor of this Commonwealth takes action that result in financial benefits and saves money, he is entitled to credit for it. I do not think that there is anything that we can say or do that will take away from what a person is justly entitled to.

Mr. Speaker, he goes on further. He is talking about taxes. He goes on to say,

> I am expecting to get a new estimated revenue wherein the take from existing taxes will be estimated to be at least $1.7 billion which is $50 million more than any of us has ever realilzed. If that is true that is a tremendous figure and will be a saving to the people.

Well, Mr. Speaker, as I said before you can inflate revenue estimates, I am quoting from what the gentleman said as it is quoted in the newspapers: Representative Albert W. Johnson, House Republican Leader suggested that the administration's revenue need could be cut below $100 million by cutting the spending request as much as $60 million, raising the revenue estimates by $50 million and lowering the deficit estimates from the last biennium another $19 million. Perhaps you can cut $60 million from the budget. We have, many times, on this side of the House requested aid from those who say the budget could be cut. But when we talk about inflating revenue estimates 50 million, we get ourselves into a serious situation. And then, when we further say we are going to reduce it $19 million because of money we owe, I think we are going to get into a more serious financial situation.

The gentleman also discussed the Highway Fund. There is one thing in particular that I want to discuss about that. I am quoting Mr. Johnson:

> In other words, of the $170 million in new taxes that Park Martin wants, $16.5 million is all that will be necessary for the increase in the costs of Federal aid and the rest will go for increases elsewhere in this budget.

I call your attention to what he said:

> I thought, and I have not seriously studied the budget, and I previously made the statement that we would not prejudge this budget until we had a chance to examine it. I was of the opinion, and I am sure that a great many on our side were of the opinion, that the $117 million in new taxes for highways was almost entirely needed for Federal aid, and unless we gave them money, millions of dollars would be lost in Federal aid. No, we found out that only $16.5 million in this new money was needed. There was $13 million in the Bridge Fund which was not needed, and there would be about $5 million more in gasoline taxes during this biennium, which would make the $16.5 million.
> So if we did not do anything there would be enough money to match federal aid.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have reviewed the special funds budget. I have reviewed every one, at least every one I know of, every single release that has been made in connection with this highway program, and there is not any place where I find any statement or any reference made by the Secretary of Highways or anyone else within this administration that this additional money was needed to match federal funds.

Perhaps the gentleman, as he said, was of that opinion, but I want to set the record straight, and if the gentleman has any information as to any information being given to that effect from this side I would certainly like to hear it.

What he says is true; there is only $16.5 million necessary to match the federal funds. It is also true that we can match the federal funds without any new taxes or other money, but what is going to happen to the Highway program in Pennsylvania if we do that? What is this $100 million for? If you had attended the hearing in which the Secretary of Highways presented his program, and Mr. Johnson was there, you would have found that this $100 million is principally for the 100 percent state road systems. And I want to say to the Members from the rural districts that the Secretary stressed that in his opinion, without making any reflection upon his predecessors, the secondary road system of Pennsylvania had been neglected.

We propose in this budget to increase by over $30 million the funds for the state roads system of 21,000 miles, which is not eligible for federal aid. The Secretary brought out, Mr. Speaker, that these are the roads used by the school buses that travel to the new schools which are being built. They are known as the "Pinchot Roads." Mr. Speaker, there are hundreds of obsolete bridges which these school buses have to use, and it is the intention of the Secretary of Highways to accelerate this program and put the secondary roads of this Commonwealth in first class condition. It cannot be done in one year or two years, but it is a program that starts in this biennium to make real progress on the secondary roads and, of course, in connection with such a program it does take more money for administration and engineering. There is more money in this budget for state highway bridge authority rentals, which we have no control over as to that amount. There is $12 million for road maintenance and betterment, and certainly with an expanding highway system, and to bring the existing highway system up to date, we are going to have to spend more money.

Another thing that was not mentioned by the gentleman was this increase that is asked for in the gasoline tax. Twenty percent of it, as enunciated in House Bill 1887, will be returned to the townships, the boroughs, the cities and the other municipalities which will increase from the $60 million for the biennium by another $11 million or $71 million as a minimum to be returned to the municipalities.

I could go and discuss this matter at great length. I am not going to take up any more time in the House, but I am going to say we are in a position to substantiate the facts we have given you here today. At no time have I ever attempted to be anything but factual in my replies to the gentlemen from either this side or the other side, and I again invite the gentleman from McKean, or anyone else on his side, to meet with us and discuss any cuts that can be made in appropriations.

The gentleman from McKean said he was waiting until we made a report. We have made a report. He says he is waiting for the report from the Senate. Well, Mr. Speaker, I am always in favor of constructive criticism, but I think the time has come when we should do away with criticism that is not constructive. We should get together and discuss there matters factually.

I will certainly extend to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, an opportunity to come before the Appropriations Committee or to talk to me, and if he can give me any way we can cut this budget $60 million without reducing essential services to this Commonwealth, I certainly would appreciate hearing it. I say the need for more money for the schools of Pennsylvania and the hospitals of Pennsylvania is very, very great, and I think we should consider these needs and consider a tax program to pay for them.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the time is drawing nigh when we know all of us have to get down to business. I think we all have had a pretty good opportunity to study the budget. I think most of us know what is in it. We know what the demands of the Governor are for the coming biennium. We have pretty much studied what existing revenue taxes will bring in. I said on the floor here the other day that I thought it would bring in, from a comparison from three separate sources, an average of about $1.7 billion from taxes presently on the books.

I know I have made a speech here which Mr. Polen has answered. I do not agree with his reply. I want to say something about the deficit. We were all amazed when we came in here in January to learn about the deficit in the bank account, and we were, of course, quite shocked when the deficit was announced at $178 million.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to call attention to the gentlemen on the Speaker's right. During the time the gentleman from Washington was talking he received the courtesy of close attention upon the part of the ladies and gentlemen at the Speaker's left. I hope that we can return the compliment.

I had been looking in the Journal when we talked about the deficit four years ago, when Governor Leader came in, when he estimated our Republican deficit at around $60 million. Readinger at that time said, "It is your mess. You worry about it." That, in effect, is what we have been saying to you right along, "It is your mess, not ours." $178 million and we have valiantly tried to get it down, down, down to where we came up with the figure of $122 million.

I said that I would try and substantiate the $20 million additional figure. We are still working on that particular item which was announced here a week ago. Maybe it will be changed in some particular, but the fact remains that because of poor husbandry in the last administration, because of not being willing to face up to the responsibilities, and yet being willing to let this state drift with the tide, we end the biennium with a frightful deficit. I say that it is not good bookkeeping, it is not good government, and our previous Governor should have done something about it when it was evident that we would end up practically broke.

Then as you know, there is a huge deficiency request in that budget. In other words, our last Governor kept on spending and spending and spending despite the fact that he knew we were going in the red all the time. I agree that our present Governor, since he came into office, has done everything he can do to roll back certain expenditures. I am pleased to hear that he has cut 2,500 unnecessary employes off the payroll. It would be interesting to know what the comparison is between present state employes and those that were here under the employ of Governor Fine's administration when Governor Leader took over.

The fact remains that we have not, I grant you, cut the deficit by any figures. There is nothing magic that we did over on this side of the House but I will say what we would have done.

You know that Governor Lawrence when he gave us his budget and rushed that tax program out on this calendar, he wanted us to forthwith, pronto, fast pass those taxes, because the state was losing $300,000 a day, and we did not do it. In other words, he wanted us to know that as far as he was concerned $400 million was a firm figure. Had we done that and adopted his appropriations we could have long since been out of town, but what would then happen to the people of Pennsylvania? They would be paying at least $100 million more money in taxes this biennium than would have been necessary. That is the reason why I said I think we deserve a gold star over on this side of the House for playing the type of game that we have, that of watching and waiting and seeing and investigating the scrutinizing.

Time has played into our hands, that is true. The immense industrial recovery has played well into our hands, just by staying here and by the great reports that we are receiving nationwide of an unprecedented increase in the business index, that alone has worked handsomely in favor of this General Assembly, because I say before we get out of here the people are going to be amazed at the smaller amount of taxes that will have to be raised.

Therefore, to repeat, by staying here I think that has been a wholesome thing for the people of Pennsylvania. One of these days we are going to get out of town. As I say, the time is pretty near at the end when we are going to have to sit down and become at issue, as they say in a court of law, when we get right down to business and get this thing over with. We are pretty near ready.

We are going to have another meeting with our Senate Committee this week end, and we hope by the end of the week to have something—I mean by the first of the week, to have a definite figure that we will be willing to stand on.

Insofar as the budget of this state is concerned, as far as budget cuts are concerned, I do not say that we are broke, but we surely do not have any money. We do not have, at the present time, the money for all these new things in Governor Lawrence's budget. When you are essentially broke, whether you provide for new spending and increases in spending all depends on how willing the people are to be taxed to take care of the new items that are in that budget. It is just that simple. I say I do not think the people are willing to be heavily taxed at this time in view of the situation that prevails.

Let me say something about the highway budget. I did attend that hearing along with several other Members of the House Appropriations Committee on both the Republican and Democratic sides. I want to say that everybody was there when we heard the Secretary of Highways read off his statement which was prepared way last April about the huge demands that were necessary to run the Highway Department.

We cross-examined him on the various items and we were quite confused when he got through, but he admitted, yes, we only needed $16.5 million more money to match federal funds. In other words, he wants to spend $371 million on federal highways and only $88 million to match it. It cost $72.5 million this last biennium to match it. Therefore, of the $117 million in new revenue from the gasoline taxes and the tax license plates, it is true that $100 million would have gone for items other than federal matching.

Sure, it is pretty hard to get up here and say you do not need $30 million for 100 percent state roads. You could probably spend a lot more than that if you had the plans and were set up to do it. $94 million is quite a lot of money in the budget for that particular item and, as I stated here, whether you spend another $100 million, $5 million of it for increased cost of engineering firms, making it $60 million, whether you spend another $12 million for maintenance of your roads and making that pretty near $100 million, whether you spend $30 million for 100 percent state highways, or you spend some $10 million for what you call service operations, that is a policy question that must be decided, whether at this time the pepole want that much more taxes put on them.

I do not say that Park Martin was wrong when he was asked whether that bank balance figure was correct, $55 million, now that you estimated you would have June 1. We said, "This is the 10th of June. You must have an up-to-date May 31 figure. He turned to his comptroller and the comptroller said, Well, the liabilities equal any increases, so therefore the figure is ok.

To repeat, we had not any more than got out of town here on Wednesday when the Governor said, Why there is $35 million in that highway budget that we have found. That made Park Martin look pretty bad. Then, on Monday night, he said, This is it. This is exactly the way it is, and on Wednesday they said it is $35 million.

How are the people going to believe and trust this budget, Governor Lawrence's budget, when as I said, first you see it and then you do not. I think that we have been right and just in carrying on just the way we have, because before we are through here I think that a sensible, sound job is going to be done and one that will make the people proud of the entire General Assembly, be we Democrats or Republicans.

We just put a resolution over the desk that the Governor is going to appear before us on Monday. I do not know what he is going to say. I am sure he is going to say, I want you to get down to work, and I want you to pass my tax program. That is all that he can say. That is the only thing that is really in front of us at the moment.

He is not worrying about his budget, about spending. He knows that the appropriation bills will follow taxes, but I presume he is going to say again about that great bipartisan committee that he appointed that took the burden off his shoulders of advocating taxes. He is going to talk about this crowd that he passed the buck to, and he is going to ask us to take that report and put it into law. Surely that is what he is going to say, but there are a lot of other things that he could say.

Someone suggested that he ought to appear first in front of your Democratic caucus and get every one of you on the line for taxes before he comes here in front of us on Monday and puts us on the line for taxes. Maybe he will do that on Monday afternoon.

Another thing he should come before us and say is, I admit that the fourth class and other school districts are in terrible shape. I am advocating that you do this for them, and here is the tax I think you ought to put on for those school districts back home.

I think Governor Lawrence could come in front of us on Monday, get out of his lair over there and come in front of us and tell us exactly what he thinks we sensibly ought to do in the realm of the reasonable financial ability of the people of Pennsylvania.

The criticism is on his neck right now that he has not shown the leadership as the "old pro" that he was supposed to be and it falls on him.

We have been permitted to linger here for weeks and weeks and weeks and all he wants is that tax program of his passed. He is not suggesting any other, whether we like it or whether we do not. So I will look, and I am sure everybody on this side, with great pleasure to the Governor's coming here and we will eagerly watch everything he has to say. Maybe he will come up with something that will end this session of the General Assembly so that we can go back home with a job well done. I think probably that it is a good thing he is coming here in front of us. Let us listen to what he has to say carefully, and if it is something worthwhile, chances are we will buy it.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask unanimous consent to address the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman from Cambria will note that not having addressed the Chair, the Chair did not notice he was on the floor.

I desire at this time to call attention to the Rule of the House, a regular rule, which says that Members who desire to be recognized shall first rise in their places and address the Chair.

It has become the practice of our Members to rise in their places and expect to be recognized. Sometimes the Chair does not see them. If a Member desires to be recognized, according to our Rules he should first address the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat intrigued by the gentleman from McKean. I listen to his talks, his speeches, from time to time, and I must admit that sometimes I am a little confused.

I recall the trend of reasoning on the part of the gentleman during this Session at a previous time, when he said we should have short, businesslike sessions, that that is what the people of Pennsylvania demand from this Legislature—short, businesslike sessions. Now he comes to a sort of reasoning that we should stay here and do these things the people of Pennsylvania expect us to do by staying here a long time and by doing that, we are doing the people a great service. It is a little bit confusing to me sometimes.

And then I listened to the statement that we ought to have leadership from the Governor, and he ought to get this thing by the horns and resolve the problem for us.

I believe the gentleman well knows where the log jam of this particular situation has been situated. He knows, and has said to the House on a number of occasions: We are not prepared to vote for any tax program until such time as the question of appropriations has been completely gone into, and we expect from another source information as to how much money we are finally going to appropriate. Until that time comes we are not prepared to vote for any taxes.

Now I submit to the gentleman that the only person I know who is in a position perhaps to loosen and dynanite that log jam would probably have to come from the other side. I do not believe His Excellency, the Governor, could break that log jam because it is not one of his making and it is not one of our making.

We on this side of the House have consistently suggested that the other side of the House come forth with their cuts in appropriations specifically, item by item. And we have also said that if such appropriation cuts are suggested, and the necessary services of the Commonwealth shall not be destroyed by those cuts, that we would accept and go along with them.

We have waited for weeks for that sort of a suggestion from the other side. Yes, we have waited for months for the suggested item by item cuts in appropriations, and to arrive at that final figure which we must finance by taxes. And yet we have had nothing come from the other side.

I think we all recognize that some day, sooner or later, we are going to have to finance the needs of this Commonwealth. When we recognize that, we will finally come closer to a resolution of our tax program.

I do not think it is unfair for us to ask that the other side now, since they are in control of the log jam, make some efforts to explode it and get this legislation on its way.

The gentleman has indicated that this is our mess. I want to point out to the gentleman that the last Session of the Legislature was in control of his party, both in this House and in the other Chamber. They devised the fiscal program under which we operated during the last two year period. And while the gentleman would like to have us believe it was the reckless spending on the part of the former Governor that caused this deficit, I believe he himself recognizes that is not a fact. I believe he recognizes that the payroll of this Commonwealth was not the item which caused the deficit. I believe he recognizes that the relief rolls went up, and I do not think he would suggest that the former Governor should have denied relief to those people who became unemployed because of no fault of their own. I believe he recognizes also that the estimated revenues, which his side had some control over during the last Session of the Legislature, fell far short of the estimates, and certainly he could not say that is our mess, because we had no control over the economic conditions of this country. We could not in Pennsylvania create an island of our own and avoid the condition of unemployment that arose.

I believe the gentleman knows that that particular deficit was created through the faults of no individual Member of this Legislature, or of the previous administration. And I believe he also knows there was no possible way to eliminate that deficit. Oh, it possibly could have been reduced by a couple of million dollars, but no sizeable amount that would have eliminated the problem we are now facing.

In think we should squarely face the issues, not try to dodge them. We are facing financial difficulty not as a result of a plan on anybody's part, but we are facing it because of economic conditions which in 1957 could not be foreseen. I will grant it was not deliberate, but it happened.

The thing now is: it is here, it must be taken care of. The longer we wait now the further we get in the hole. Each day that passes without a tax program makes it increasingly necessary that whatever tax we pass will have to be a greater tax because it will cover a shorter period of time. And I think the gentleman also recognizes that as each day passes we lose revenue in the Commonwealth.

I do not believe anybody in this House sincerely believes we will end up with appropriations in a smaller amount that those suggested in the Governor's budget. I believe every sincere person knows that when we are through, when we take care of the fiscal needs of the Commonwealth, plus the needs of our school districts in the Commonwealth, we are going to need the amount in that budget, and perhaps a greater amount than is in that budget.

So let us be honest with ourselves and the people of the Commonwealth, and say to them squarely, this is the amount of money we are going to need for essential services. Quit playing politics for a few weeks, and if we do that, I am sure that we can get out of here, and we can give the people of Pennsylvania a sound fiscal program without a recurring deficit two years from now.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to reply briefly to one phase of what Mr. Lopresti mentioned.

I want to harken back to the last session of the General Assembly. We were in control, that is true. We passed a budget at that time which we thought would adequately and reasonably take care of the needs of the people of Pennsylvania.

I was on the Committee on Conference on the appropriation bills. I was appointed by the Speaker to be one of the conferees on the appropriation bills. We had a meeting in the office of the Appropriation Committee of the House with the Senate Conferees. That is where the pitch was made by the administration to get us to up the appropriation some $60 million.

We had figures from the Secretary of Revenue that the return from existing taxes would be around $1.5 billion and we agreed to level off appropriations at that figure. What did the then Governor of Pennsylvania do? He sent us a missile signed not only by the then budget Secretary, Mr. Bradley, but also by the then Secretary of Revenue, saying we have reappraised revenue estimates and now we find that there will be about $60 million more money coming in and therefore you can safely give us this extra $60 million that I want.

In other words, the Secretary of Revenue and the then Budget Secretary had orders to come before this Commi tee and have us deliberately up estimates by $60 million. Had we done that the deficit would have been not originally $178 million but $238 million. Luckily we didn't buy it although we have this deficiency appropriation here for some $660 millions as a result of it, but we at that time tried to do what we thought was the honest job at the moment within the confines of existing taxes.

We were not reckless, we weren't trying to pull antics; we thought that was the figure where we could conscientiously level off the appropriations and it was not an irresponsibility as the gentleman suggests. It was a sound figure and, to repeat, I think our last Governor should have done something about it this time last year or maybe the first of last year when he saw what was taking place, instead of throwing it into our lap and leaving it on the doorstep of Governor Lawrence. That is our point.

Now, as far as the obligation being on this side and saying that the log-jam was over here, I don't buy that. Let's find out how much money is needed, and then we will consider whether we will give votes for taxes or not. I think that we are at that point.

Someone just told me here that our Majority Leader has a piece in the paper today that next week he is going to have the votes to pass the tax program himself on that side of the House. Well, more power to him. I am glad to hear that you are assuming that responsibility which the people elected you as the Majority party to do and that everyone of you when you campaigned last Fall promised the people you would do. It is still stinging over here that we lost 24 seats by the fact that you people promised the people of this state the great outstanding job you would do if you could only be returned to power. Now you have that power, it is reposed in your hands. You are up to bat and let us see whether you can do the job that you said you would do when you laboriously promised the people in Pennsylvania if Lawrence was elected Governor and you had control. All right, let us see you do it. I would like to see you stand up and I think you are going to be able to do it because I believe you sense it is your job. You should not say that we are the ones causing the log-jam here in this State. It just is not true.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart who rose, having addressed the Chair—

Mr. STEWART. I will yield to the gentleman because the matters that I want to speak on have no connection with the present topic.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia yields to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that simply because the people of Pennsylvania elected 108 Democrats, a few more than Republicans, that that is a legitimate excuse for the Republican party to deny its responsibility in the fiscal program of the Commonwealth. Particularly so, when the other branch is under the control of that party.

I believe that the responsibility for financing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lies equally divided between our two parties, and I do not think it is a fair assumption to lay the entire responsibility for financing this Commonwealth on a difference of about three or four votes in party division.

I do not think the people of Pennsylvania will accept the explanation of the gentleman for his refusal to accept any responsibility. The fiscal affairs of this Commonwealth are just as much the responsibility of the minority as they are of the majority. If you are waiting for the time that appropriations are set in order to vote taxes then we say to you, give us your maximum figure on appropriations. Tell us how much you believe we ought to finance and then accept, along with us, the responsibility for taxation.

I would remind the gentleman that there have been occasions when the minority on the other side was not able to pass tax bills, and let me remind the gentleman that we provided votes on occasions for their tax program to be put across. Certainly I do not think it is a sign of responsibility for the minority party to shirk its duty on this question of taxes.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to Mr. Isaacs who wants to speak on this subject.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia yields to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us how much the Department of Highways spent for outside engineering services during the period of '55 to '59?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have that information here at this moment, but I can secure it and would be glad to furnish it to the gentleman.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I will wait until the gentleman can secure it. I would also like him to secure at the same time the amount spent for the previous four years.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, might I inquire does the gentleman want that today?

Mr. ISAACS. Inasmuch as the subject of the Highways Department was being debated here this morning by the gentleman from Washington, I would like it today, yes.

Mr. POLEN. I doubt very much, Mr. Speaker, if I could get that voluminous amount of material ready for the gentleman today.

I believe we do have the figures. I think I supplied them to Mr. Goldstein and the amount paid for outside engineering for the last couple years. I think that is the time they started keeping records in the Auditor General's Office on that matter. So I believe, Mr. Speaker, I will be unable to get the information today but I will have it available for the gentleman next week.

As I understood the question, he wants to know the amount that was paid for outside engineering by the Highways Department in the years '55, '56 and '57. Is that correct?

Mr. ISAACS. That is correct, and also, '52, '53 and '54, the previous administration.

Mr. POLEN. Well, it will cover the years '52 to '58, inclusive. We will be glad to get that information for the gentleman.

Mr. ISAACS. I might say, Mr. Speaker, the previous four years is what I want, and I will be glad to have the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, furnish those figures either early in the session on Monday or Tuesday. That will be satisfactory.

Mr. POLEN. I will arrange to have the figures, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STEWART asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday in a Philadelphia newspaper appeared a full page ad paid for by an Italian-American society. The substance of this ad condemned the newspapers, radio, television and law-enforecment authorities for branding all Americans of Italian descent with gangsterism and particularly the use of the word "Mafia."

The substance of this ad pointed out that in some 50 years of investigation by the FBI and numerous state police organizations there was no evidence to sustain the existence of the "Mafia." That many media have used this word to condemn unjustly a segment of our population is true.

That it is unjust I think can be confirmed by anyone in this House who can come to Philadelphia and particularly to south Phialdelphia, where I am proud to say I was born, where we have a large Intalian-American population. During the depression many of the banking institutions in Philadelphia refused to lend mortgage money to people who lived in south Philadelphia because of this same reason, but experience has proven that mortgage foreclosures in areas where there are Americans of Italian descent are almost 25 percent less than in other areas of the city.

This House has a responsibility to go on record and I intend to introduce next week a Resolution which I trust will be adopted unanimously, that will praise Americans of Italian descent for their social, educational and cultural contributions to our society; to praise Americans of Italian descent who have given their lives in defense of our country in many wars; to praise Americans of Italian descent for their being hard-working, decent, law-abiding citizens who have contributed much to our American way of life; and to condemn as un-American the castigation by the press, radio, television and by police forces by the use of the word "Mafia" as a term of derision and unlawful activity by implication applied to all Americans of Italian descent.

I will ask that this resolution be forwarded to the proper autohrities, the State Police, all law-enforcing bodies in this state, the press, the radio, and the television.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FARABAUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in listening here this morning to the very elegant oratory, I have observed a few facts which leads me to believe that this is the time for me to set the record straight on a few things that happened here and in the other chamber.

A lot has been said here which seems to have considerable effect on some people as to the newspaper articles. Some time ago the Pittsburgh newspapers carried several articles about milk and I noticed that one of the speakers referred to a certain word being used in some newspaper and television coverage. I also am seriously opposed to a term that has been used as a slur or slander or whatever you might call it on the agriculture of this state.

They have termed certain legislation "Dirty Milk" legislation. I submit to you that that is a blank insult to the dairy farmers of Pennsylvania and to a great many Members of this House who are not agricultural Members, who voted for similar legislation in 1957.

The legislation referred to when they used that term was Senate Bills 116 and 117 which are nearly identical to those bills that were passed here in 1957 by a vote of 130 to 37, passed the Senate by a vote of 36 to 9 after being amended and came back here to the House then and passed the House on that concurrent amendment, concurrence I should say, by a vote of 197 to 0.

Now for some unknown reason, by what influence I do not know, the Pittsburgh papers have printed some articles on that subject. I have clippings here I want to read in part. On April 13, 1959 the Pittsburgh Press carried an article "Wipe Out Our Health Gains?" They say

> One of the strange aspects of Pennsylvania's Legislature is the way small groups of presumably responsible legislators will combine to turn the clock back by rubbing out the great improvements in public health which have been granted over the years.
> There are two examples of this peculiar perversity now before the Legislature:
> 1—The "dirty milk" bill which would tear down the milk sanitation systems of every locality in the State and open the entire State to the sale of raw milk, against the warnings of all recognized medical and public health agencies."

That is the part that I am so concerned about. Who and why do they term this a "dirty milk" bill and where do they get their authority for saying it is a "dirty milk" bill?

In an article the following day in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, I read

> The bills, if they become law, could pave the way for the sale of raw, or unpasteurized milk, in Allegheny County."

Now what is so wrong about raw milk if people desire to buy it. For many years the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Health have worked together in assuring the people by health measures largely instituted by the Department of Agriculture, protecting the health of the people, by seeing to it that the milk to be sold as raw milk in the state had to come from healthy animals and handled in the proper manner.

Statistics will show that raw milk is more wholesome and more healthy than pasteurized milk. I am not concerned particularly what happens to that bill. It is a misrepresentation. The bills are not intended to take away from the Health Department or the people anything but to give them the priviledge of finding out if they want to.

I think particularly the people in the Pittsburgh area should hear what I have to say because they are being slandered by the articles that have been written on this topic. I know what I am talking about. I have worked with this for many years in seeing that the health of the aniamls that give this raw milk is good. Those bills are not attempting to take anything away from the Department of Health, they were only intended to add to the decision on what should be sold the Secretary of Agriculture, whoever he may be. I think it is high time that the people be given the truth and that the authorities who are giving the information to the newspapers should be set straight. It is unfair, it is deception and I think it is wrong. It is an insult to a lot of us who were here in 1957.

Another story that came out, and I read a part of a letter that was written to a Member of this Legislature on April 8th.,

> We the Board of Legislative Counsel of Western Pennsylvania wish to voice our protest against the measure introduced by—

I will not read the names, you know who they are

It is our understanding that this bill would delegate—

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman from Cambria pardon the Chair if he informs him that the Floor Leaders are now in a position to consider the calendar.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have time after time sat here and listened to a lot of oratory and particularly political baloney. I have been talked out of making this statement for at least a month, and I think I am entitled to a few minutes to straighten out the minds of the people and correct this situation.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman permit the Chair to recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty, who wants to hold a committee meeting?

Mr. FARABAUGH. I will yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DOUGHERTY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehciles to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the House the gentleman is speaking by unanimous consent.

Mr. FARABAUGH. I want to read in part, an article in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette on Wednesday, June 3rd:

> Dirty Milk Veto Hinted. Gubernatorial veto of "dirty milk" bill which has passed all but concurrence on minor amendments was indicated strongly today by Governor David L. Lawrence.

Now, again they bring in another bill, a bill which is in the House and is now in the hands of the Committee, a "Dirty Milk" bill. I think any of us would give the Governor credit if there was such a thing as a "Dirty Milk Bill" to veto it. I do not think he is justified in using that term even though some folks in Pittsburgh have initiated it.

I want to tell you what that bill is. They get so excited about that bill in Pittsburgh that they stirred up the dirty milk story again. It does not have a thing to do with it. They have criticized the Legislature for passing that legislation saying that it is thinking that way again from the Department of Health to the Department of Agriculture.

I want to inform this Legislature that we passed here in 1953, Act No. 78, and I read from that Act what we did then.

> Milk Sanitation—The Department of Agriculture shall have the power, and its duty shall be: (a) to enforce, administer and carry out the provisisons of the act, approved the second of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five—To perform all duties and exercise all powers vested by such law or any other law in the Department of Health, the Secretary of Health or the Advisory Health Board and relating to the protection of the purity and sanitation of milk for human consumption. Section 2 All powers and duties of the Department of Health, the Secretary of Health and the Advisory Health Board relating to the protection of the purity and sanitation of milk for human consumption are hereby transferred to and hereafter shall be exercised by the Department of Agriculture and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Now that bill was passed in 1953 and signed on July 2nd, by the then Governor John S. Fine, doing exactly what they are accusing us of trying to do now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the gentleman from Cambria that the day is Wednesday and that there are certain times when trains depart. The Chair is sure the gentleman would not want to inconvenience those Members who want to stay during the action on the calendar, but who by so doing would miss their trains.

The Chair assures the gentleman from Cambria that at an appropriate time, next week, if the Chair lives, the gentleman from Cambria will have the time to present the remaining matters which he desires to call to the attention of the House.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I will cut it very short.

I am really amazed, really amazed at the small amount of interest there seems to be in hearing the facts on a situation that affects all of the people of this state.

If that is the wish of the Chair that I should not carry this out, which has been requested by many Members of this Legislature, because of the things that the newspapers are saying about the Legislature, I will drop it right here.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The gentleman from Cambria is under a misapprehension as to the attitude of the Chair. The Chair desires at this time to make a statement.

First, in the Chair's opinion, the Majority and Minority Leaders should not be required to ask unanimous consent to make a statement. They should be entitled to the Floor at all times.

Second, at the meetings, during the Sessions the calendar should have priority.

Third, under the Rules there should be a definite period during which Members of the House should be privileged to address the House on matters of concern to them but which are not immediately germane to any matter pending before the House. The Majority and Minority Leaders should be acquainted with the desires of those who desire to address the House on matters not germane to the calendar and that there be a regular order of business on particular days when Members who desire to bring some matter to the attention of the House are permitted to do so. The Chair thinks such a period would be helpful.

The Chair suggests to the Majority and Minority Leaders that they make such an arrangement. The Chair thinks it would be in line with good procedure, because for many years the Chair sat in his seat desiring to bring some matter to the attention of the House and was not able to do so, because what he had to say was not in any way germane to the consideration of the calendar. The Chair is simply making that suggestion, and thinks the period should be regularly fixed at the termination of the calendar.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 547, entitled:

An Act amending the "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945" approved May 2, 1945 (P. L. 382) providing for the taxation of lands of certain Authorities by townships.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporation for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STONE. I rise in opposition to the recommittal of House Bill 547.

This bill was introduced to correct a very serious local situation. In Beaver County, an authority from one part of the County organized by a borough, came into a small township and condemned our acreage reducing the tax revenue in that township. The authority that did such a thing did not serve or measurably benefit that township and this bill is designed to correct that in allowance; in fact it is mandatory that the county and chief county assessor tax or assess the land to the authority, assess the township and the townships then may tax the facilities or authority in that township.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman is speaking on the bill. The question before the House is on the motion to recommit.

Will the gentleman confine his remarks to the motion to recommit?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot very well confine my remarks to the motion to recommit without discussing some of the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not permitted to discuss the merits of the bill on the motion to recommit.

Mr. STONE. Very well. I urge that all Members interested in sticking a needle in the giants of the authority to vote "no" on the recommittal and vote in favor of those who would like to survive.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to state for the information of the Members present, the organizations that stand behind this bill. I don't think I am discussing the merits if I make that information available.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the gentleman? The Chair hears no objections. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. STONE. This will only take a moment. There are only a few of them but I think it will surprise you people a little bit.

This bill is supported, and of course, these people would object to recommittal. The State Association of Grangers, The State Association of Township Supervisors. You all know Mr. Cappy Thompson. The State Association of County Commissioners, the Pennsylvania Association of Sportsmen's Clubs, the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association and, in my own Beaver County, District 20 CIO. I would appreciate your help.

Mr. PETROSKY. Just for the purpose of the record, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed. The talk will be on the motion to recommit.

Mr. PETROSKY. Speaking on the motion to favor the motion to recommit, I would like to state that in answer to the gentleman not all of the so called organizations that he has listed have reached me or my colleagues of Westmoreland County that I know of.

There is further study needed in the recommital of this bill because it is not only local, but it carrys its import to hundreds of communities throughout the state of Pennsylvania, and therefore, it should be recommitted and further studied as to its adverse effect upon those communities.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is unable to decide.

These two bills, Mr. President, will create a new department. They will take from the Department of Public Welfare the mental health service.

Presently, there are fourteen States in the United States which have a separate department. In view of the fact that people who are mentally ill are receiving therapeutic care, more so than custodial care,—the picture has changed so much in the last few years—I feel very strongly that the Department of Mental Health should be administered by a person who is qualified. I think it should be administered by someone who can be heard by the Members of the Legislature and the Governor, without having to go through another channel.

One of these bills will create a Commissioner of Mental Health, would have to have the qualifications which our present commissioner has and he would have Cabinet status. There are very few commissioners of mental health in this Country. They are hard to obtain and, unless we do something, I am afraid that the programs which we have built up in Pennsylvania may deteriorate because of the difficulty in getting people who are qualified.

Again, I want to say, Mr. President, that I think these two bills are very, very important. I am interested in them because they will create a nonpolitical department. The people who are mentally ill are being returned to society much more rapidly because of the new drugs. I feel that with a department and a qualified administrator, we will return even a greater percentage of the mentally ill without much cost.

In order for there not to be any misunderstanding, these bills are not a result of the investigation, made by the Senate, of the Department of Public Welfare. This is something about which I have been thinking for a long time. It is true that some statements were made during the hearings that bear out just what I am attempting to do. However, these bills are not the result of that investigation.

May we be at ease a moment, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

BILLS LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I talked with Senator Pechan and he has no objection to our asking that these two bills be laid on the table until tomorrow, at which time they may be assigned to committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as we all well know, any attack on any minority group is an attack upon all Americans who make up this great Country.

There has recently been an attack upon those members who make up the Americans of Italian descent, and it has cast a shadow on those persons, most of whom are law-abiding, most of whom are respectable and most of whom have given a great deal to this Country in the arts, the sciences and many other fields. I believe that this is completely unwarranted and, as a result of this unwarranted attack, I am introducing this resolution and requesting its immediate consideration and adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE RUMORS CONCERNING A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF CRIMINALS OF ITALIAN DESCENT KNOWN AS THE MAFIA

Messrs. WEINER, DiSILVESTRO, BARR, SILVERT and DONOLOW offered the following resolution (Serial No. 38), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 29, 1959.

There are twelve million decent, law-abiding Americans of Italian descent working and living in the United States. As a group and as individuals, these citizens have contributed much to our way of life. Recently these fine people have become subjected to suspicion, and attacks of ridicule and contempt. Newspapers, motion pictures, television programs and even the comic strips have focused the attention of the public upon the activities and evils of an alleged nation-wide criminal organization known as the "Mafia." This party resulted from the November, 1957 meeting, held by gangsters and racketeers of Italian descent, in Apalachin, New York. Americans of Italian descent join with their fellow citizens in renouncing these gangsters for what they are, but unfortunately the use of reckless language and exaggerated expose techniques have resulted in creating a stigma which has attached to honest Italian-Americans without distinction. Honest citizens must stand in this shadow of evil and unfounded rumor concerning a National criminal organization of gangsters of Italian descent. Many of the Nation's leading law enforcement officers have debunked such rumors as myths. But still these Americans have to work and live in an atmosphere clouded by suspicion. It is affecting their occupations and livlihoods and results in discrimination and denial of civil right which, if it involved another minority group, would not be tolerated by the American public. There is a need for ascertaining the true facts and presenting them to the public in such a way as to clear up the clouds of rumor and suspicion which have been generated; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania memoralizes the Congress of the United States to proceed at once to investigate rumors concerning a National organization of criminals of Italian descent known as the Mafia, and ascertain the truth of such rumors, and further, if such organization does exist, to proceed to take such steps as will lead to the indictment and convictions of its members, and if such an organization does not exist, to make a clear official statement to that effect to the American public.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 38, ADOPTED

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. President, we are a committee of the House of Representatives, appointed to inform the Senate that the House is ready to receive the Members of the Senate in Joint Session, and to escort them to the Hall of the House.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the address which the Governor has just made is one that has been conciliatory in nature, and one that not only dealth with the problems before us, but even shot at some of the members of our own party on this side of the aisle who may not have met their full responsibilities.

My one hope is that this speech has not fallen on deaf ears. I am fully cognizant that there is not a tax program before us in this Chamber at this moment. However, I believe I would be less than realistic if I were not aware of the fact that some of the gentlemen sitting on the other side of the aisle have some real sway and real influence with the Members of the other Body, and can give them some guidance where they might need it. I believe that if Members on both sides of the aisle, in both Chambers, will work together jointly, we can clear up this problem, have it done with, and go about our other problems. I believe that we can do today, or tomorrow or the next day the same thing that we can do in the future.

I certainly hope that no one will take the remarks made by the Chief Executive of this State as a means of operating at the political level, to use this for their own political advantage or for whatever political forth it might have. I do not believe that is indicated. I believe there are too many people in this Commonwealth depending upon us and looking toward us for help, whom we cannot ignore or overlook at this time.

I therefore, ask that the Members on both sides of the aisle use whatever influence they can possibly bring to bear or exert in the direction of making what the Governor has asked us to do come to fruition, and see if we can solve all of the State's problems and take care of all the State's business.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not here, certainly, to in any manner criticize the speech which was made this afternoon to the Joint Session by His Excellency, the Governor. It was such an address as I would expect to hear from him. It was forceful, and, in many respects, had a great deal of meat to it. However, as to responsibility, Mr. President, the Legislature has one equally as important as that of the Executive.

When it is said that we have dillydallied here for any length of time, I arise to protest for the reason that had the tax program which has been advocated and is being advocated by the Governor been adopted at the time that he requested it to be adopted, he would have had $400,000,000 in additional money. Today, it is admitted by an Administration spokesman, that the need is for only $207,000,000. That, I believe, Mr. President, is well worth the money for keeping the Legislature herein Session and inspecting these budget requests and the revenue estimates.

The revenue estimates, which we believe will be correct, will be somewhat in excess of those which the Administration stated originally. True enough, they have also admitted greater collections than those which were first anticipated. That is all to the good. We are glad of it.

We are not in any manner antagonistic to the position of the Governor. We have co-operated, as far as the Senate is concerned, and when we get some tax measures, while reserving our right to act freely upon them either pro or con, nevertheless, we expect again to discharge our duties as a responsible party and responsible representatives of the people of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have requested permission to address the Senate for just about one minute in order to clarify what Senator Berger had to say.

I do not think the Senator meant to say what he did say. In your remarks, Senator, you said that the Governor, in the Budget Message, asked for $400,000,000 and today he is only asking for $207,000,000. You forgot to mention that we passed the three and one-half per cent sales tax, which, if my memory is correct, would bring in $163,000,000. If your subtract $36,000,000 from the deficit, which I think was $178,000,000, you will have $141,000,000. If you add $207,000,000, $163,000,000 and $141,000,000, you will come within a million or two of $400,000,000.

After the Governor's talk, the newspapermen asked me for my comment. I do not like people who run to the newspapers and give their comments. I want to give my comment to all of you because if you want to shoot it full of holes, today is a good day to do it.

I simply said to them that the Governor's address was most forceful and convincing; the most convincing I have heard in all my years in the State Senate. He called the shots perfectly as today's problems in this Commonwealth, problems that can only be solved if we forget partisan differences and think, instead, of the welfare of Pennsylvania, which must be our paramount concern. I am sure that the Members of the General Assembly, on both sides of the aisle, will find it possible to face their responsibility and get on with the job, as the Governor of this Commonwealth requested that we should do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I listened very attentively to the Governor's speech and I thought it was very, very sensible.

I might say, too, Mr. President, that here in the Senate of Pennsylvania we seem to be operating on a top secret basis. We see, in one news release, where the Republican Majority said that the top is $118,000,000 in new taxes and where they are going to cut the budget to a certain figure. The special committee which served has not filed a report, as the Governor mentioned in his address. I believe that the sensible thing to do would be to permit this special committee to file a report and make its recommendations on these budget cuts. If the Republican Majority sees fit, it can then pattern the tax program in comparison with the budget. If we are going to play hide and seek here, week after week and month after month, we are not going to accomplish anything.

We do not know by how much the Republican Majority is going to cut this budget. All we know is what we read from news releases. We do not hear anything on the floor. No one has risen on the floor and said, "We are going to cut $10,000,000 from the Department of Public Assistance." No one has said, "We are going to cut Industrial Development" or any other phases of government. We would like to know. We would then know where we are going from here. Let us debate the issues and get them out of the way.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHADY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, after hearing the statesmanlike address across the hall, a few minutes ago, I cannot help but be reminded of the words of St. Paul, who said: "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers of the word."

I am sure it applies to all of us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, sitting in the House and listening to the Governor made me regret that we have such a thing as the committee system in our legislative halls. It made me feel that here I am, a Member of the Senate, sitting by, with my hands tied. I am not a member of the Appropriations Committee nor am I a member of this Budget Committee. Yet, here I am, a Member of the Senate, a member of the board of directors of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I hear that for the past thirty days we have been losing $318,000 per day. I feel bad because I feel helpless.

I want to urge those who are in control of decisions in this Senate to wake up. We cannot afford this loss of $318,000 per day, everyday from now on. Let us come to an agreement and do it quickly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, after hearing the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert, my only comment to him would be to resign from the Senate and run for the House, where he could do something to take away that bottleneck over in the House, which is in control of his Party.

The PRESIDENT. I do not believe Senator Silvert contemplated any such drastic move.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am willing to walk over there with my friend and see what we can do together to urge action.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent, for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 29, 1959.

Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Assembly:

I am very gateful for your courtesy in granting me permission to address you, a privilege which I last enjoyed when I transmitted our budget proposals for the Commonwealth's General Fund on March 2d of this year—eighteen weeks ago.

My mission today is to weigh our progress and our failures in those eighteen weeks—to take counsel with you as to where we stand and what we now must do.

Let me be very blunt at the outset.

It seems to me, and I am sure it must to many others, that we have not yet done our best. By any standard of judgment, the measurable achievements we can claim at this point are very few in number. The record is frankly disappointing.

For instance:

We do not yet have an adequate tax program enacted into law, although the State's fiscal biennium ended a month ago with a deficit of $141,598,685. With each day that passes we are creating a new deficit to add to the old one. I know of no one who maintains that the current revenue structure of the Commonwealth will support the appropriations which this Legislature will eventually adopt.

For a second instance:

We do not yet have a budget agreed upon and adopted, although the new biennium which that budget must finally serve is now four weeks old. The whole machinery of State Government is marking time. By necessity, we are a caretaker's government until we have a budget. We are unable to plan, we are restricted in our ability to act for the welfare of the people whom we serve.

It is not alone the general operations of the State which are immobilized. The highway program is impeded because its administrators do not yet know the funds which will be granted them, nor whether they will be granted the advantages of the new highway code which is before you. Throughout the Commonwealth, State-aided school districts, local governments, universities, hospitals, and institutions are in doubt as to our intentions toward them. The Sate Industrial Development Authority is unable to act. Our redevelopment assistance funds are exhausted.

A whole range of important legislation—as various as the use of radar for highway safety to the grading of eggs as a Pennsylvania farm product—some bills with fiscal implications, some that won't cost a cent—is moving all too slowly through the legislative process.

We do not seem to find—we have failed to quicken—the sense of urgency which I for one had thought would be a natural response to the many challenges we face in the economy and the life of Pennsylvania.

We have not yet had definitive action to provide for a method of absentee voting, for State-wide control of air pollution, for the proper regulation of billboards, for a statutory civil service system in the selection and protection of technical and professional personnel, for fair housing practices, for a community college program, for a modern highway code, for improvements in highway safety, for State aid to public libraries, and for many other good and desirable measures of progress in our State.

It is therefore time for some soul-searching; time for each of us to examine his responsibilities in our affairs; time to come to grips with our problems and force them to decision, whatever that decision is to be.

It seems plain that our stumbling block is the tax program. It has jammed the flow of the legislative stream. And sometimes, somehow, we must break the jam. I ask that we do it soon, rather than late; that we do it now, rather than after weary, useless, irresponsible weeks and months of wasted time which can help no one except the lobbyists.

We have an unusual, a difficult, diffusion of responsibility. I would be hypocritical if I pretended that I would not be happer if we had comfortable majorities of my own party in the House and Senate. And consequently, I can fully understand the feelings of those of you who would like to see a Republican governor at this rostrum in my place.

But the voters have decided that we must live together. They believed—and this does us credit, I would say—that we could serve this State regardless of party differences.

With that in mind, I sought to find a tax program that would be nonpolitical. As you all know, I asked Mr. Hood and Mr. Kennedy to preside over a committee equally divided between the parties. That committee of distinguished Pennsylvanians made a unanimous report—a report, I may say, in which the Democratic and Labor members of the committee yielded much more of their traditional tax philosophy than the Republican and business members of the committee were called upon to do.

That report was made known to the Legislature on February 15th.

In my budget message, I endorsed the committee's recommendations and I said that I would accept full political and personal responsibility for them. I repeat that statement now. As the Governor of this State, and the titular leader of the Democratic party, I am perfectly willing to give the Republican opposition as free a ride politically as anyone can hope for. They can call this a Lawrence tax program or a Democratic tax program or anything they wish—provided that they let it come to my desk.

I use the word "let" advisedly, because it is obvious that the Republican majority in the State has an acknowledged veto power in that body, and the Republican minority in the House has something very close to an effective veto there.

And to the Democrats—to my friends of my own party—I say this. We cannot promise to deliver, bound hand and foot by the ties of party discipline, every member on every vote. Men have a right to differ in their opinions. But I am quite sure that our leadership can bring together an overwhelming majority of our membership; men and women who believe, as I must, that the subject of taxation is in the end not so important as the purpose of taxation, that we must have a solvent State rendering adequate service to its people. I plead with every Democrat to join the majority of our party; to examine his conscience, to search his mind, and to be one with us in the unity of our cause. We cannot compel allegience. We can only ask it.

I ask it now.

It would seem to me that in the very near future—this week and in the weeks immediately before us—we must bring these issues to a head.

I would hope that we can find Democratic votes to pass through the House an adequate revenue program. I would hope that if we fail in this, as we will if only three Democratic members defect to the opposition, then I would hope that enough Republicans will vote with us to pass the bills.

I would hope that the Senate will agree to the revenue measures that come to it, as they have done in the past. And I would hope most earnestly that we will have a tax program—an adequate tax program—a program that will end our deficits once and for all—on the statute books and in force by the first day of August.

Let me make this clear. The tax program based on the Hood-Kennedy report is the Administration program. If it is defeated, there will not be a series of new Administration proposals to take its place. We are not so foolish as to send up a flock of clay pigeons—one after another—to be shot down in political target practice. If the program before you is not adopted, it will become the responsibility—the sole responsibility—of those who kill it to propose and advocate the tax substitutes they will support.

The Speaker of the House, that wise man whom we all revere and love, proposed many weeks ago that a small committee, equal in numbers from both parties, be named in the House to draft a tax program if the Hood-Kennedy recommendations were not acceptable. His offer was ignored by the other party, perhaps because there was no eagerness to share responsibility. If such simple division of responsibility is unwelcome, it scarcely seems likely that the Republican leadership is willing to take the full burden of erecting the State's tax structure.

But possibly that assumption is unwarranted. If it is, ladies and gentlemen of the Republican caucus, you may quickly demonstrate my error.

I am sure that everyone in Pennsylvania, in this House chamber and throughout the State, will be interested in your solution.

For our part, we are willing—I repeat—we are entirely willing to accept full responsibility—to be praised or blamed—to be held accountable publicly and politically—for the tax program which the Administration brought to you on March 2d.

We all know, of course, that we do not levy taxes because we enjoy spending other peoples' money. We levy taxes to meet a series of public expenditures which the Legislature approves in the adoption of a budget. Our State expenditures from the General Fund are principally for public education, health and welfare; our expenditures from the Motor Fund are to maintain and construct highways.

As Governor, I do not want a single cent of taxes to come into the State treasury which is beyond our needs.

I do not want the budget to carry a single dollar in expenditures which does not provide a useful and a necessary service.

I believe the Legislature has the right and the duty to cut the budget according to its honest judgment, or to raise it as it may see fit. But I must make this proviso—the reductions in the budget must be true reductions which can be sustained through the biennium; the additions to the budget must be balanced by additions to the State's revenues.

We have tried to be completely frank in our factual submissions to you. We have constantly revised our revenue estimates in the light of the latest information. We presented a budget stripped of padding. Our Budget Secretary and our department heads have been before the committees of the House and Senate hour after hour, day after day. Many of you have been kind enough to tell me that the Legislature has never before received such detailed and forthright information. We have made full disclosure.

I may say that some of my friends, old hands at the Harrisburg scene, have been shaking their heads. They have argued that such honesty in budget-making is not appreciated; that our tactics have destroyed our strategy; that we should always overstress our needs and underestimate our income. They believe we are in a trading process; and that every time we tell the whole truth, we weaken our position and lose our capacity to bargain.

They would be right except for one thing: we are not bargaining; we are not making deals; we are not in the market for a budget with twisted figures and deceitful estimates.

Today, I would once more like to give you a status report—a current estimate—of our fiscal situation.

We were all pleased to find that the deficit from the 1957-59 biennium was $36,000,000 less than the estimate we made in the budget submission of March 2d. The improvement in business and employment brought us increased revenues. But it was a formidable deficit just the same—$141,000,000 which must be paid off from our receipts in the next two years.

Modifications in the tax proposals have already absorbed the $36,000,000 gain that was achieved by the reduction of the deficit. The restoration of the sales tax exemption on restaurant checks of 50 cents or less will deprive the State of $14,000,000 in revenue; the shift of the beer and liquor sales tax from the bar sale to the source will reduce our revenue yield further by $22,000,000.

To balance the budget which is now before you, and to discharge the deficit accumulated in the last biennium, we will need $207,419,000 in additional taxes not yet voted by this Legislature.

The failure to adopt the tax program is costing the State $318,000 every twenty-four hours—every single solitary day.

If anyone believes that delays and procrastination are helping the taxpayer, he is very wrong indeed. The more delays we have, the heavier load we will finally get. Our revenue loss in a thirty-one day month like July—a loss that we now seem certain to sustain—is in the neighborhood of ten million dollars.

It is very expensive indecision.

I have read of arguments that we cannot have a tax program until we know the size of the appropriations which the taxes are designed to meet. May I say that it is most unlikely that we will ever be better informed than we are right now.

The House Appropriations Committee believes that the budget, as submitted, can be reduced by $11,900,000, but that there is a strong case for increases in the appropriations for aid to school districts and to private hospitals.

According to the press, various senators are saying that the budget can be reduced by figures ranging from $40,000,000 to $80,000,000 or more. The Senate had a special task force to review the budget, under the chairmanship of my very able and public-spirited friend, George Stevenson. That committee has not chosen to report to the public, and we do not know what its findings are.

But its hearings were concluded several weeks ago.

It would seem that there can be no good reason why proposals to cut the budget and proposals to increase the budget cannot now be placed before the Legislature and the public.

I said to you in the budget message that "I have no rabbits in my hat; no magician's trick which will make it possible to pay for increasing costs without increasing taxes."

Evidently, there are no magicians in the House or Senate either. No one has come up with the rabbit.

As you know, I have never said that my budget recommendations were untouchable. If the Legislature wishes to eliminate or reduce existing or recommended programs, it has an unchallenged right to do so. If the Legislature wishes to increase the budget, it has that right as well.

But there are four ground rules which I believe we must observe.

The first of these is that the reduction in an appropriation be a genuine reduction that will stick. The Legislature has sometimes mandated—such programs as public assistance and public schools; and then, to produce a budget balanced on paper but not in fact, has deliberately underestimated the amounts required to carry out the programs which the Legislature itself wrote into law. This procedure breeds deficits because the administrators must rely upon deficiency appropriations to meet their admitted responsibilities.

In the 1957-59 budget, there were twenty-six categories where such underestimates of expenditures were written into the appropriation bills. The Governor's budget requests were "reduced" by $36,700,000. The net result was that by the end of the biennium, the deficiencies in these twenty-six categories amounted to $46,000,000.

There was no budget "reduction" whatsovere; in fact, the Governor's requests were, themselves, too low.

The second ground rule is that a major reduction in the budget, eliminating or seriously cutting back a program, is not a matter for committee room action in the closing hours of the Session. The public has a right to full disclosure in these matters. There should be notice fully and freely given. There should be adequate time for public discussion and for legislative debate.

The third rule is that increases in the budget must be matched by increases in revenue; honest increases in income based upon fact and experience, and not upon an inflated yield, puffed up to make the budget appear in balance.

The fourth rule is that the Administration is standing by its original tax proposals and has no intention of submitting any other.

To use a homely phrase, the time has come when we must decide in each branch of the General Assembly, in the leadership and in the caucus rooms of each party, in the executive department, and in the forums of public opinion, whether anyone can stall much longer.

I have been called an "Old Pro" in politics, and I believe, not unkindly.

The ear-mark of a "pro" in baseball is that he comes to play.

I came to Harrisburg to meet the full responsibilities of a difficult office. I have tried to be as patient and as understanding as my temperament allows. I have tried to resist the little temptations of partisan advantage; I have tried to take all the steps to a non-partisan, non-political approach to Pennsylvania's problems.

I will continue that approach.

I am not here to scold, or to attack.

I am here to urge that we get on with our job.

No problem will disappear because we do not act. And I am very confident that if anyone is to be discredited because we do not face our troubles in a forthright fashion, it will not be the executive department. Inaction —a failure to meet responsibilities—cannot hurt me; the Administration's program is clear for all to see. It may hurt those who would avoid their duty, but more importantly, it will do great harm to Pennsylvania and its people.

One of our sister states, the great industrial State of Michigan, has been gravely injured by a political deadlock.

Do any of us truly want Pennsylvania to follow that bad example?

I am here today, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, to ask you to make a fresh start and new resolves; to ask you to save this Session; to make it productive, to make it memorable, to give it an honorable place in history as the Legislature which overcame political divisions and finally made our State's resources equal to its responsibilities.

We have much to do in every public field.

We must build a new economy in many of our regions.

We must modernize our communities, raise our standards of education, create new employment opportunities, organize ourselves for the hardest kind of competition with other regions and with other lands.

I may have been naive, but I honestly hoped, I hope now, and I will always hope that we can raise ourselves above the old low level of politics-as-usual, of partisanship first, last, and always.

And I have turned my thoughts inward upon myself, upon the duties and the powers of the Governor's Office, of my responsibilities and the course of action which is open to me.

I think you should know the conclusions I have reached.

Under our Constitution, the Governor and the Legislature are separate departments of the Government, each with its defined powers. I have conscientiously avoided interfering with the prerogatives of the Legislature, which has the sole power to levy taxes, authorize appropriations, enact laws. On the other hand, the Governor is given the right to veto if he believes the Legislature has acted unwisely, and he is given the right to call the Legislature into special session if he believes it has left important work undone or if an emergency arises in the State's affairs. The Governor also has whatever moral strength is found in the office of a chief executive; by the very nature of the office, he is the symbol of the State and the spokesman for its people.

You can be sure, and the people of Pennsylvania can be sure, that I will not hesitate to use—at the proper time and in the proper manner— the full Constitutional and moral powers that are open to me.

I will not, for example, approve any appropriation bills, except those necessary for our day-to-day operations, until the revenue measures are before me in sum total.

I will not accept estimates of revenue which are not honest and prudent forecasts of the actual income which the State will receive.

I will not violate my Constitutional obligation to deny approval to a fiscal program which is fictitiously in balance but actually carries a built-in deficit.

And if I have to cut appropriations to bring them into scale with revenues, I will do so.

But there is no good reason why we must anticipate these unpleasant consequences. There is, instead, every good reason why this can, in a very few weeks, give Pennsylvania a sound fiscal program and a splendid accomplishment in progressive legislation.

We have only to pull together.

We have only to unite.

We have only to act as Pennsylvanians, instead of Republicans and Democrats; to act for the Commonwealth, instead of for party factions or for narrow and limited economic interests.

There was a spirit abroad on Inauguration Day and in the opening weeks of this Session that seemed to me to be a spirit of accommodation, a spirit of achievement, an era of good feeling, a belief that this time we would not duplicate the bitter struggles and the public disappointments of years past.

I come to you today convinced that in each of us, there is a sense of civic patriotism that will demonstrate itself to our State's advantage; that the hopes we held in January are not now dead in June; that no one wants an interminable Session that will drag out its days in vain political maneuvers and endless bickering—all signifying nothing.

We have work to do for Pennsylvania.

Let us in good heart and in good conscience, in good faith and in good fellowship—let us, I plead with you, let us get on with our job.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

The PRESIDENT. A copy of the Governor's Address is on the desk of each Member.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 31, CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from page 23 of today's Calendar, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 31.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE LAWS RELATING TO AGRICULTURE

In the Senate, June 2, 1959.

Whereas, The laws of this Commonwealth relating to agriculture and its related fields are numerous. Many of them are obsolete since we have entered into the era of modern farming and animal husbandry; and

Whereas, Local governmental agencies and other law enforcement agencies are unaware of existing statutes and in many cases duplicate ordinances or ordinances in conflict with existing state laws are sometimes enacted; and

Whereas, Inquiries are always being presented in reference to the laws relating to agriculture and many times there is misunderstanding and confusion which results in unnecessary expenditures of the tax payers money; and

Whereas, There is no codification of the agriculture laws and the acts dealing with farms and farming; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the laws relating to agriculture and its related fields; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission revise and modernize the existing laws and draft a proposed codification and report to the next regular session of the General Assembly as to its findings and recommendations.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 31, ADOPTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 112, CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from page 23 of today's Calendar, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 112.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT TO MAKE A STUDY OF LAWS RELATING TO CONSUMER CREDIT AND FINANCING

In the Senate, June 2, 1959.

Consumer credit has, during the twentieth century, attained a position of major importance in the economy of the United States and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania specifically.

The citizens of the Commonwealth purchasing goods and services through the use of consumer credit are now numbered in millions and the value of such goods and services is now counted in billions of dollars.

The lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes at reasonable and fair charges contributes to a higher standard of living for the citizens of Pennsylvania and promotes a strong and healthy economy and, therefore, the continued maintenance of adequate sources of consumer credit at fair and reasonable charges is of utmost importance to the economic welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

The term "consumer credit" is generally recognized as encompassing all credit extended to consumers whether in the form of a cash loan or in connection with the sale of goods or services.

The purchase of insurance on behalf of borrowers and purchasers by lenders and sellers of goods or services on deferred or installment payment basis is common practice in the consumer credit business and the charges for such insurance constitute a substantial part of the total charges which the consumer is required to pay.

It is the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to encourage and promote the development of adequate sources of consumer credit to meet the needs of our modern economy and, to that end, regulate and control the charges, terms and conditions for the lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes in the interest of and for the protection of both borrower and lender.

With the exception of the Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act of 1947, applying to installment sales of motor vehicles, there are no laws of the Commonwealth regulating interest and other charges that may be imposed upon buyers of goods or services by the sellers thereof.

There are many ethically conducted and honestly operated lenders and sellers dealing in consumer credit and engaging in the business of financing the sales of goods and services and it appears that there are other persons and companies engaging in the financing of the purchase of goods and services who impose upon the consumer excessive and oppressive charges and otherwise engage in practices which are unjustifiably detrimental to the consumer and inimical to the public welfare.

New methods for making consumer loans and for financing purchases of consumer goods and prefabricated homes, sometimes called "pre-cut," "packaged" and "preconstruction" homes, on an installment basis have been devised and are used by lenders and sellers of goods which impose upon the borrower or purchaser charges which appear to be unreasonable, excessive and oppressive and which are not limited or regulated under existing laws; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate all matters connected with the operation of and conditions prevailing in the financing in this Commonwealth of the sales of goods or services and prefabricated homes which are sold or supplied on what is commonly known as the installment payment plan, for the purpose of ascertaining the equity and fairness of charges imposed on the consumers and as to any improper burdensome or oppressive practices deemed to be inimical to the public good or which result in disadvantage or detriment to the public generally; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study all existing laws of the Commonwealth pertaining to consumer credit extended on a cash loan basis and to investigate and explore all matters pertaining to individuals and agencies engaged in such business, the practices and methods followed in making such loans, the charges imposed therefor and the adequacy of existing sources of consumer credit; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable David L. Lawrence.

MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

GOVERNOR LAWRENCE. Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President pro tempore, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Assembly:

I am very grateful for your courtesy in granting me permission to address you, a privilege which I last enjoyed when I transmitted our budget proposals for the Commonwealth's General Fund on March 2d of this year—eighteen weeks ago.

My mission today is to weigh our progress and our failures in those eighteen weeks—to take counsel with you as to where we stand and what we now must do.

Let me be very blunt at the outset.

It seems to me, and I am sure it must to many others, that we have not yet done our best. By any standard of judgment, the measurable achievements we can claim at this point are very few in number. The record is frankly disappointing.

For instance:

We do not yet have an adequate tax program enacted into law, although the State's fiscal biennium ended a month ago with a deficit of $141,598,685. With each day that passes we are creating a new deficit to add to the old one. I know of no one who maintains that the current revenue structure of the Commonwealth will support the appropriations which this Legislature will eventually adopt.

For a second instance:

We do not yet have a budget agreed upon and adopted, although the new biennium which that budget must finally serve is now four weeks old. The whole machinery of State Government is marking time. By necessity, we are a caretaker's government until we have a budget. We are unable to plan, we are restricted in our ability to act for the welfare of the people whom we serve.

It is not alone the general operations of the State which are immobilized. The highway program is impeded because its administrators do not yet know the funds which will be granted them, nor whether they will be granted the advantages of the new highway code which is before you. Throughout the Commonwealth, State-aided school districts, local governments, universities, hospitals, and institutions are in doubt as to our intentions toward them. The State Industrial Development Authority is unable to act. Our redevelopment assistance funds are exhausted.

A whole range of important legislation—as various as the use of radar for highway safety to the grading of eggs as a Pennsylvania farm product—some bills with fiscal implications, some that won't cost a cent—is moving all too slowly through the legislative process.

We do not seem to find—we have failed to quicken—the sense of urgency which I for one had thought would be a natural response to the many challenges we face in the economy and the life of Pennsylvania.

We have not yet had definitive action to provide for a method of absentee voting, for State-wide control of air pollution, for the proper regulation of billboards, for a statutory civil service system in the selection and protection of technical and professional personnel, for fair housing practices, for a community college program, for a modern highway code, for improvements in highway safety, for State aid to public libraries, and for many other good and desirable measures of progress in our State.

It is therefore time for some soul-searching; time for each of us to examine his responsibilities in our affairs; time to come to grips with our problems and force them to decision, whatever that decision is to be.

It seems plain that our stumbling block is the tax program. It has jammed the flow of the legislative stream. And sometime, somehow, we must break the jam. I ask that we do it soon, rather than late; that we do it now, rather than after weary, useless irresponsible weeks and months of wasted time which can help no one except the lobbyists.

We have an unusual, a difficult, diffusion of responsibility. I would be hypocritical if I pretended that I would not be happier if we had comfortabe majorities of my own party in the House and Senate. And consequently, I can fully understand the feelings of those of you who would like to see a Republican governor at this rostrum in my place.

But the voters have decided that we must live together.

They believed—and this does us credit, I would say—that we could serve this State regardless of party differences.

With that in mind, I sought to find a tax program that would be nonpolitical. As you all know, I asked Mr. Hood and Mr. Kennedy to preside over a committee equally divided between the parties. That committee of distinguished Pennsylvanians made a unanimous report—a report, I may say, in which the Democratic and Labor members of the committee yielded much more of their traditional tax philosophy than the Republican and business members of the committee were called upon to do.

That report was made known to the Legislature on February 15th.

In my budget message, I endorsed the committee's recommendations and I said that I would accept full political and personal responsibility for them. I repeat that statement now. As the Governor of this State, and the titular leader of the Democratic party, I am perfectly willing to give the Republican opposition as free a ride politically as anyone can hope for. They can call this a Lawrence tax program or a Democratic tax program or anything they wish—provided that they let it come to my desk.

I use the word "let" advisedly, because it is obvious that the Republican majority in the Senate has an acknowledged veto power in that body, and the Republican minority in the House has something very close to an effective veto there.

And to the Democrats—to my friends of my own party—I say this. We cannot promise to deliver, bound hand and foot by the ties of party discipline, every member on every vote. Men have a right to differ in their opinions. But I am quite sure that our leadership can bring together an overwhelming majority of our membership; men and women who believe, as I must, that the subject of taxation is in the end not so important as the purpose of taxation, that we must have a solvent State rendering adequate service to its people. I plead with every Democrat to join the majority of our party; to examine his conscience, to search his mind, and to be one with us in the unity of our cause. We cannot compel allegiance. We can only ask it.

I ask it now.

It would seem to me that in the very near future—this week and in the weeks immediately before us—we must bring these issues to a head.

I would hope that we can find Democratic votes to pass through the House an adequate revenue program. I would hope that if we fail in this, as we will if only three Democratic members defect to the opposition, then I would hope that enough Repnublicans will vote with us to pass the bills.

I would hope that the Senate will agree to the revenue measures that come to it, as they have done in the past. And I would hope most earnestly that we will have a tax program—an adequate tax program—a program that will end our deficits once and for all—on the statute books and in force by the first day of August.

Let me make this clear. The tax program based on the Hood-Kennedy report is the Administration program. If it is defeated, there will not be a series of new Administration proposals to take its place. We are not so foolish as to send up a flock of clay pigeons—one after another—to be shot down in political target practice. If the program before you is not adopted, it will become the responsibility—the sole responsibility—of those who kill it to propose and advocate the tax substitutes they will support.

The Speaker of the House, that wise man whom we all revere and love, proposed many weeks ago that a small committee, equal in numbers from both parties, be named in the House to draft a tax program if the Hood-Kennedy recommendations were not acceptable. His offer was ignored by the other party perhaps because there was no eagerness to share responsibility. If such simple division of responsibility is unwelcome, it scarcely seems likely that the Republican leadership is willing to take the full burden of erecting the State's tax structure.

But possibly that assumption is unwarranted. If it is, ladies and gentlemen of the Republican caucus, you may quickly demonstrate my error.

I am sure that everyone in Pennsylvania, in this House chamber and throughout the State, will be interested in your solution.

For our part, we are willing—I repeat—we are entirely willing to accept full responsibility—to be praised or blamed—to be held accountable publicly and politically—for the tax program which the Administration brought to you on March 2d.

We all know, of course, that we do not levy taxes because we enjoy spending other peoples' money. We levy taxes to meet a series of public expenditures which the Legislature approves in the adoption of a budget. Our State expenditures from the General Fund are principally for public education, health and welfare; our expenditures from the Motor Fund are to maintain and construct highways.

As Governor, I do not want a single cent of taxes to come into the State treasury which is beyond our needs.

I do not want the budget to carry a single dollar in expenditures which does not provide a useful and a necessary service.

I believe the Legislature has the right and the duty to cut the budget according to its honest judgment, or to raise it as it may see fit. But I must make this proviso—the reductions in the budget must be true reductions which can be sustained through the biennium; the additions to the budget must be balanced by additions to the State's revenues.

We have tried to be completely frank in our factual submissions to you. We have constantly revised our revenue estimates in the light of the latest information. We presented a budget stripped of padding. Our Budget Secretary and our department heads have been before the committees of the House and Senate hour after hour, day after day. Many of you have been kind enough to tell me that the Legislature has never before received such detailed and forthright information. We have made full disclosure.

I may say that some of my friends, old hands at the Harrisburg scene, have been shaking their heads. They have argued that such honesty in budget-making is not appreciated; that our tactics have destroyed our strategy; that we should always overstress our needs and underestimate our income. They believe we are in a trading process; and that every time we tell the whole truth, we weaken our position and lose our capacity to bargain.

They would be right except for one thing: we are not bargaining; we are not making deals; we are not in the market for a budget with twisted figures and deceitful estimates.

Today, I would once more like to give you a status report—a current estimate—of our fiscal situation.

We were all pleased to find that the deficit from the 1957-59 biennium was $36,000,000 less than the estimate we made in the budget submission of March 2d. The improvement in business and employment brought us increased revenues. But it was a formidable deficit just the same—$141,000,000 which must be paid off from our receipts in the next two years.

Modifications in the tax proposals have already absorbed the $36,000,000 gain that was achieved by the reduction of the deficit. The restoration of the sales tax exemption on restaurant checks of 50 cents or less will deprive the State of $14,000,000 in revenue; the shift of the beer and liquor sales tax from the bar sale to the source will reduce our revenue yield further by $22,000,000.

To balance the budget which is now before you, and to discharge the deficit accumulated in the last biennuim, we will need $207,419,000 in additional taxes not yet voted by this Legislature.

The failure to adopt the tax program is costing the State $318,000 every twenty-four hours—every single solitary day.

If anyone believe that delays and procrastination are helping the taxpayer, he is very wrong indeed. The more delays we have, the heavier load we will finally get. Our revenue loss in a thirty-one day month like July—a loss that we now seem certain to sustain—is in the neighborhood of ten million dollars.

It is very expensive indecision.

I have read of arguments that we cannot have a tax program until we know the size of the appropriations which the taxes are designed to meet. May I say that it is most unlikely that we will ever be better informed than we are right now.

The House Appropriations Committee believes that the budget, as submitted, can be reduced by $11,900,000, but that there is a strong case for increases in the appropriations for aid to school districts and to private hospitals.

According to the press, various senators are saying that the budget can be reduced by figures ranging from $40,000,000 to $80,000,000 or more. The Senate had a special task force to review the budget, under the chairmanship of my very able and public-spirited friend, George Stevenson. That committee has not chosen to report to the public, and we do not know what its findings are.

But its hearings were concluded several weeks ago.

It would seem that there can be no good reason why proposals to cut the budget and proposals to increase the budget cannot now be placed before the Legislature and the public.

I said to you in the budget message that "I have no rabbits in my hat; no magician's trick which will make it possible to pay for increasing costs without increasing taxes."

Evidently, there are no magicians in the House or Senate either. No one has come up with the rabbit.

As you know, I have never said that my budget recommendations were untouchable. If the Legislature wishes to eliminate or reduce existing or recommended programs, it has an unchallenged right to do so. If the Legislature wishes to increase the budget, it has that right as well.

But there are four ground rules which I believe we must observe.

The first of these is that the reduction in an appropriation be a genuine reduction that will stick. The Legislature has sometimes mandated—such programs as public assistance and public schools; and then, to produce a budget balanced on paper but not in fact, has deliberately underestimated the amounts required to carry out the programs which the Legislature itself wrote into law. This procedure breeds deficits because the administrators must rely upon deficiency appropriations to meet their admitted responsibilities.

In the 1957-59 budget, there were twenty-six categories where such underestimates of expenditures were written into the appropriation bills. The Governor's budget requests were "reduced" by $36,700,000. The net result was that by the end of the biennium, the deficiencies in these twenty-six categories amounted to $46,000,000.

There was no budget "reduction" whatsoever; in fact, the Governor's requests were, themselves, too low.

The second ground rule is that a major reduction in the budget, eliminating or seriously cutting back a program, is not a matter for committee room action in the closing hours of the Session. The public has a right to full disclosure in these matters. There should be notice fully and freely given. There should be adequate time for public discussion and for legislative debate.

The third rule is that increases in the budget must be matched by increases in revenue; honest increases in income based upon fact and experience, and not upon an inflated yield, puffed up to make the budget appear in balance.

The fourth rule is that the Administration is standing by its original tax proposals and has no intention of submitting any other.

To use a homely phrase, the time has come when we must decide in each branch of the General Assembly, in the leadership and in the caucus rooms of each party, in the executive department, and in the forums of public opinion, whether anyone can stall much longer.

I have been called an "Old Pro" in politics, and I believe, not unkindly.

The ear-mark of a "pro" in baseball is that he comes to play.

I came to Harrisburg to meet the full responsibilities of a difficult office. I have tried to be as patient and as understanding as my temperament allows. I have tried to resist the little temptations of partisan advantage; I have tried to take all the steps to a non-partisan, non-political approach to Pennsylvania's problems.

I will continue that approach.

I am not here to scold, or to attack.

I am here to urge that we get on with our job.

No problem will disappear because we do not act. And I am very confident that if anyone is to be discredited because we do not face our troubles in a forthright fashion, it will not be the executive department. Inaction—a failure to meet responsibilities—cannot hurt me; the Administration's program is clear for all to see. It may hurt those who would avoid their duty, but more importantly, it will do great harm to Pennsylvania and its people.

One of our sister states, the great industrial State of Michigan, has been gravely injured by a political deadlock.

Do any of us truly want Pennsylvania to follow that bad example?

I am here today, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, to ask you to make a fresh start and new resolves; to ask you to save this Session; to make it productive, to make it memorable, to give it an honorable place in history as the Legislature which overcame political divisions and finally made our State's resources equal to its responsibilities.

We have much to do in every public field.

We must build a new economy in many of our regions.

We must modernize our communities, raise our standards of education, create new employment opportunities, organize ourselves for the hardest kind of competition with other regions and with other lands.

I may have been naive, but I honestly hoped, I hope now, and I will always hope that we can raise ourselves above the old low level of politics-as-usual, of partisanship first, last, and always.

And I have turned my thoughts inward upon myself, upon the duties and the powers of the Governor's Office, of my responsibilities and the course of action which is open to me.

I think you should know the conclusions I have reached.

Under our Constitution, the Governor and the Legislature are separate departments of the Government, each with its defined powers. I have conscientiously avoided interfering with the prerogatives of the Legislature, which has the sole power to levy taxes, authorize appropriations, enact laws. On the other hand, the Governor is given the right to veto if he believes the Legislature has acted unwisely, and he is given the right to call the Legislature into special session if he believes it has left important work undone or if an emergency arises in the State's affairs. The Governor also has whatever moral strength is found in the office of a chief executive; by the very nature of the office, he is the symbol of the State and the spokesman for its people.

You can be sure, and the people of Pennsylvania can be sure, that I will not hestitate to use—at the proper time and in the proper manner—the full Constitutional and moral powers that are open to me.

I will not, for example, approve any appropriation bills, except those necessary for our day-to-day operations, until the revenue measures are before me in sum total.

I will not accept estimates of revenue which are not honest and prudent forecasts of the actual income which the State will receive.

I will not violate my Constitutional obligation to deny approval to a fiscal program which is fictitiously in balance but actually carries a built-in deficit.

And if I have to cut appropriations to bring them into scale with revenues, I will do so.

But there is no good reason why we must anticipate these unpleasant consequences. There is, instead, every good reason why this Session can, in a very few weeks, give Pennsylvania a sound fiscal program and a splendid accomplishment in progressive legislation.

We have only to pull together.

We have only to unite.

We have only to act as Pennsylvanians, instead of Republicans and Democrats; to act for the Commonwealth, instead of for party factions or for narrow and limited economic interests.

There was a spirit abroad on Inauguration Day and in the opening weeks of this Session that seemed to me to be a spirit of accommodation, a spirit of achievement, an era of good feeling, a belief that this time we would not duplicate the bitter struggles and the public disappointments of years past.

I come to you today convinced that in each one of us, there is a sense of civic patriotism that will demonstrate itself to our State's advantage; that the hopes we held in January are not now dead in June; that no one wants an interminable Session that will drag out its days in vain political maneuvers and endless bickering—all signifying nothing.

We have work to do for Pennsylvania.

Let us, in good heart and in good conscience, in good faith and in good fellowship—let us, I plead with you, let us get on with our job. Thank you, and God bless you.

The LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. On behalf of the Members of the General Assembly, I want to thank you for your message, Governor Lawrence.

The Committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency, the Governor, to his chambers.

The message for which the Joint Session was assembled having been heard, the Joint Session is now adjourned. The Senate will please reassemble immediately in the Senate chamber.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House for Monday, June 29, 1959, be printed in full in this day's Legislative Journal.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE INSISTS ON AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY HOUSE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, nonconcurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1023, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) entitled "The County Code" changing the publication provisions relating to auditors' reports.

And has appointed Messrs. STEVENSON, SCOTT and KALAMAN a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (already appointed) on the subject of the differences between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

STATEMENT BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I always think it is a pretty good idea, when you have something on your mind, to give vent to it. I think we have just heard what I consider a pretty good summation of the situation, as the Governor sees it from his point of view. I feel I would be remiss if I did not again, as quickly and succinctly as possible, set forth the situation we find ourselves in here today, not blaming anyone for it, but to at least put into the record the Republican side of the picture.

I grant you it will soon be the first of July, and we have been here in Session six months. It has been a most peculiar Session, probably one of the most peculiar Sessions in my seven terms. We came here, and I will compliment the new Governor, he did bring us a budget message on March 1, which probably is the quickest any Governor has brought it in my seven terms—that is a new Governor—and I believe that is probably true of all of us.

This budget that the Governor presented to us is history

now. It was a budget of $1.725 billion which, added to the deficit, asked us to come forth with $1.907 billion during this biennium. He asked us for $400 million in new taxes which, I want to say and to repeat, as we have said over and over again, is the largest single new tax bite in all the history of Pennsylvania.

I know the Governor wanted us to act with dispatch, not scrutinize that budget too closely, not ask too many questions about the tax bills, but go ahead and pass that tax program so the money would start flowing into the coffers of the state and he would get the budget he wanted.

All right, how about that budget? The last budget of Governor Fine, which we thought was a high budget—and as I see it we made Governor Fine's life pretty miserable here on the Republican side by cutting down his budget—was leveled off at $1.014 billion. You compare that with Governor Lawrence's budget of $1.725 billion, and it is $721 million more that Governor Lawrence wants to spend than Governor Fine had to spend during his last two years. It is also $286 million more than Governor Leader had to spend the last two years of his biennium, with the deficiency appropriations not included in it. In other words while Governor Lawrence might say here today that it is a pretty small budget and it does not give the people as much money as they should have, and so forth, the fact remains it is $286 million more than our last Governor had to spend during his last two years in office.

I know the Governor mentioned the deficit, how he courageously told it was $178.8 million, and how he now has it down to $141 million. I think that is fine. I think it is commendable that we here today can say that the budget is only $141 million.

Parenthetically, while we are talking about it, it is pleasing to note, as we have said here before, that the cost of running the Highway budget will mean $35 million less to raise because they have somehow or other found an additional $35 million.

I know the Governor says we are losing $300,000 a day here by not passing the tax program. That would be true if it were all taxes of a sales tax nature. However some of these taxes are on a yearly basis and can be dated back, and there will not be the big loss of $300,000 as the Governor said here. Many of them will be dated back to the first of the year.

Why are we here yet in session? We are here because of the huge job that was put on this Session of the General Assembly by reason of an earnest desire on the part of the people on this side of the House at least to make sure of where we were going before we jumped. We wanted to know about that big budget that the Governor put in front of us. We just tried to see what could be eked out of that budget as a savings to the taxpayers. This huge tax program of $400 million—it is the people of Pennsylvania we are asking to pay this money, not just small segments of the population. It is a tax program that goes pretty generally over every facet of life in the state. I think we have been right in going easy, as I said before, and not rushing through with a program that maybe a year from now we would regret and the people of Pennsylvania would say, "why did you so hurriedly rush the job?"

Now you know, over on the other side of the House, you did not start auditing your budget until the first of May. Really, the hearings have just recently been completed and we are now in a stage, a formative stage, where we are trying to get both feet on the ground and decide just how much money we must raise by taxes; how much money must we realistically be called upon to spend during this next two-year period.

I do not say the state is broke. I will not say the state is insolvent, but when a Governor comes along and says, I must have $400 million in new taxes put on the people, before we go ahead and provide that amount of money it is only natural and it is good business, it is sound thinking, that we should carefully scrutinize everything before we take a leap. That is where we are today.

I know the Governor says get down to work. The inference is that we have not been working. I do not know of a Session when anybody has worked harder than we all have this session. We are here generally on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Monday nights we are here until eight or nine o'clock; we are here all day on Tuesday.

There have been literally hundreds of bills on this calendar and a pretty big program has moved to the Senate. One of these days the log jam will be broken. I do not think that we have been dilatory in any respect. I think we have moved rapidly, diligently, courageously and well for the people of Pennsylvania. I say that to you people on the other side as well as to those of us on the Republican side. I think we have worked very, very hard and I do not think there has been any unreasonable, unconscionable delay in trying to work out the affairs of the state.

I think we are all to the point where we are about ready to do business. I do not think there is any question but that we, on our side, know pretty much how much we feel will be reasonably necessary to run the state. We are going to sit down with Mr. McCann and talk this whole matter over. What this side of the House will do with respect to passing taxes, that I cannot say tonight.

We are going to caucus tomorrow and go into this matter very, very thoroughly.

There are some other things that we are vitally interested in. House Bill 260 is on the Calendar for concurrence, setting up a legislative watchdog.

There are some other bills that we have in Committee which would put the brake on spending, such as setting up a forecast every three months of how much the departments are going to spend. House Bill 2007, I believe it is, which was put in recently and which is a bill to put the brake on spending by the departments.

I think Governor Leader could have put in more economies than he did when we leveled off his appropriations $1.439 billion. He continued the spending, the spending and the spending, which is one of the reasons for coming in and asking for $74 million in deficiency appropriations that are a carry-over into this biennium.

I know Dean Polen, the other day, said, why we have cut 2,500 employes from the payroll. We have a statement from the State Treasurer where we find you have cut five employes off the state payroll. To say nothing of Governor Leader, when he came in and said his Secretary of Administration said there were 10,000 too many on the payroll then, but as you know the payroll has gone up 12,000 employes. Maybe we need them. Maybe they should be on the job. Maybe they are doing a good job and are serving the Commonwealth well, but we on this side of the House and you folks too, in the limited time we have, cannot decide whether we need all of those employes or whether we do not.

So I think the time has come to sit down and talk over this budget and see whether you will agree to some of the cuts we have in mind. We would like to find out what your ideas are on taxes. Let's find out whether you can pass a tax program over there. Let's have Mr. McCann again stand up and say publicly, I am sorry I cannot pass these taxes. Come on over to Macedonia and help us; we need your help. How many votes do you need?

That time has come for soul-searching on the part of the Democrats on that side of the House. I do not see why you cannot pass those taxes on the program with Democratic votes. I think you would get a gold star from the people of Pennsylvania if you folks would stand up and send that tax program over to the Senate. They are waiting for it.

I am saying this because I think the time is nigh. The Governor has come before you today and has made a plea, and I think he was directing his plea to you people over on the other side. I think that he feels that you people have let him down, and I think you have, really.

Again I will say what we did in 1953 Session. I have a lot of quotes here by the Speaker of the House, where he said, "Shake not your gory locks at us, thou can't say we did it." I have three pages of quotes by the now Speaker of the House and the then Minority Leader. I am telling you, they are really something. I will probably take time and read them to you tomorrow. We are too busy today to read them now.

I have been importuned to read just one of them. May 21, 1953:

> The stark fact faces us, I repeat, that we must finance the essential needs of the Commonwealth. I you have 105 votes for a tax program, trot out the program, and trot out the votes.
> We once again say that knowledge of the fact that now, tomorrow, the next day, the day after, and next year, you will have to find 105 votes for your sales tax.
> March 31. Most certainly the Minority is not here as a crutch on which you have a right to lean (meaning the Democrats in 1953 are not a Minority which we could use as a crutch). We are not part of your program whatever that program may be. A legislative leader with 105 Members behind him can do anything he wants to anytime he wants to.

So may I say this, may the Majority Leader's caucus tomorrow heed the Chief Executive, try to get your side of the House to do the job you are elected to do; put your votes on the line for a tax program, and I will say that you will have the admiration of the people of Pennsylvania. They will say, Well, we put the Democrats in; we elected a Democratic Governor; they marshalled their forces; they passed the tax program which we expected them to do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to remark that he never once conceived the notion that the errors of his wild and dissolute political youth should ultimately become the keystone of Republican policy.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon as the Governor addressed us, I am sure some of the things he was talking about are the things that we are trying to overcome.

I guess I will have to live forever with the 1953 session. If I can reminisce for a moment from the inception of this tax program I have been advised by Republican leadership every time we make a move in a bill, don't forget what you did to me in 1953. Trot your votes out. Let the bill fall. We want to see so the record will show those opposing the tax measures.

You cannot say in any public forum or on the floor of this House that we have not done that very thing each time you have asked. I know that tomorrow we will vote on tax measures here. I know when these measures are rolled off by number tomorrow that we will have 106 Democratic votes for those measures. There is no question that we have them, but I think you can again insist that you are not sharing any part of the responsibility, and you have failed to fulfill commitments made at times in private conferences. I say to you, yes, we will struggle to meet this obligation. These tax measures are divided and re-divided. Tomorrow we will vote on 661, 662, 656, and 660. Those tax bills will be voted on in this House tomorrow and unless something unforseen happens through sickness, health or death, we have the votes for those measures.

I think the record will show clearly that I appeared on the floor of the House and said publicly, not once, not twice, but three times, there were those measures for which there were not 106 Democratic votes to insure the passage of those measures. I suppose the time will come when I will again be asked to repeat the same thing, to vote the bills to show how many votes there may be.

The thing that has bothered me and the Democrats on this side of the House on this more so than on any other particular item, is the fact that you continually talk about cutting the budget. The newspaper stories indicate a range of $20 million, $40 million, $60 million, $80 million, $100 million, $108 million, according to today's paper. This in the information you give to Pennsylvania's citizens that you intend to do to this budget, and I say to you, that you are not going to cut any money out of this budget.

When you are done you are going to ask for more money for schools, for hospitals, for universities, for the retired school teachers, for the blind, for the programs for which you yourselves have committed yourselves as a party, both in your platform pledges and your party platform that you have submitted for the legislative record.

You cannot stand in front of the citizens of Pennsylvania and say here today that you do not intend to provide any more money for our public school system, that you do not intend to provide any additional money for the hospitals, 187 general private hospitals, state-aided; that you do not intend to provide any additional money for the universities and the schools of higher learning in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Those differences that may exist by budget cuts from the Senate, and the House, and the House Appropriation Committee is ready with its budget report. The Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, Mr. Polen, submitted that report on the floor of the House here for the entire membership of this House.

Mr. Speaker, we have many times in the past asked to meet and to talk about tax programs and tax measures. There has always been that reason that we could not provide any votes to insure passage of certain type measures.

On June 2, when the tax measures were defeated, we were then talking about a specific sum of new tax revenues which would do the following: would not exceed the mandated amounts required in the budget. Those tax measures fell and are going to be revised tomorrow, reconsidered, and brought on the House calendar for action tomorrow here in this House. This still will not solve or place upon the books of the Commonwealth a sound fiscal program. We still must sit down and discuss with you those tax measures that you will agree to support, or present to us new tax measures that you in turn will support.

I, of course, do not speak as a leader of the party except to say to you that in 1959 this party of mine, the Democratic party, has certainly gone a long way in changing its position, a party who for years has believed and advocated an income tax based on ability to pay. Here in 1959, we the Democrats of this House, are standing up here and arguing to provide votes for a policy in tax structure which has been the sole tax program of the Republican party. For how many years?

In prior years and in 1953 that was brought back to me many times. It was the Democratic Members of the House, under the able leadership of the now Speaker, Mr. Andrews, who did not provide any votes for Sales Tax, did not provide any votes because of a basic policy in which we as a party believed.

Then in 1955 this position was again demonstrated as our party position when we, as Democratic Members of this House, voted on tax measures within the confines of our party principles. If it was within my power today, and was in the power of the Constitution, we again would be here talking about that tax program and not about the basic tax program that you and your party have for years advocated.

And so in 1959 here we are asking, pleading, arguing for support for tax measures which are basically a part of the tax program your party has stood on for years. On two occasions in 1959 the Republican party has denied a single vote, except on one bill, on those things which are a part of your party principle.

I think we have gone a very long way to overcome party politics on the Democratic side of the House, to change in short period of time from a basic tax philosophy which we have believed in, lived with for years, and now to support and argue in behalf of a sales tax, or a modified tax program dealing with consumers' tax, which falls in the same field.

Mr. Speaker, it would seem to me many opportunities have presented themselves on many occasions in which the Republican leadership in this House could have very easily, very nicely, provided the additional votes, because the basic tax philosophy belonged to that party. Without any difficulty I am sure they could have provided more than enough votes to those tax measures. So I am hoping even though the weeks have gone by, and criticism has been leveled at both those in our party and the Republican Members of this House, that somehow they can never say the people on this side of the House have been less than statesmen in their position, in changing and voting for this tax philosophy. We hope—in fact, we pray—that we can resolve these financial differences within a week's time.

I am more than pleased to hear that the Republican leadership desires an opportunity to discuss perhaps these measures, or other measures, or new measures, for I have repeatedly requested an opportunity to discuss tax policies, tax measures and budgets in this House.

I have every reason to believe that after this message today of His Excellency, the Governor, we can get together and settle our differences, and join with you in the responsibility of providing the votes for tax measures which basically is your tax program from its very inception.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hopes that either the Minority Leader or the former Speaker, the gentleman from Armstrong, for the benefit of the newer Members, will recount breifly to the House how the tax impasse this House faced in '56 was eventually resolved and who were some of the major figures in bringing that about. We have gone so far that I think, I hope, that either one of them will do so.

The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader for that specific purpose.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as I recall in this House we got together and we sent a sales tax bill to the Senate, and we sent an income tax bill over to the Senate.

The SPEAKER. How were they brought together? What were the mechanics used and who instituted the movement?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I am a little rusty on the mechanics of who brought us together, but I know I voted for both bills so they would get over to the Senate and so that the Senate could take both bills and decide which they wanted, income tax or sales tax.

I believe if the Speaker would enlighten us on it, that would be—

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks the memory of the former Speaker will serve. It will only take him three minutes to do it.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, if the present Speaker of the House desires to leave the Chair to enlighten this House, I will be glad to take the gavel.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. To perform a service in the interest of harmony which I regret was not performed by the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Gentlemen of the House, you are familiar with the drab history of the '55-'56 session. We had gone well into the year '56. There was no sign of agreement; no sign of getting together; no one knew how long that deadlock would continue. So I will refresh the memory of the Minority Leader.

One day it came about that the Chair, the Speaker, without consultation with the Governor's Office, without consultation with either of the Floor Leaders, on his own option announced that he proposed appointing a special committee of four Republicans and four Democrats whose duty it would be to arrange to bring before the House a program which would resolve the deadlock, and from the day that announcement was made things began to jell. It eventually came about that the Republicans gave the Democrats enough votes to pass an income tax bill and the Democrats gave the Republicans enough votes to pass a sales tax bill.

Up to that time the Senate had been unable to operate because it had no tax legislation before it. In its wisdom, or lack of it, the Senate killed the Democratic proposal, acted upon the Republican proposal and the deadlock was resolved.

That is the history and, I say in all seriousness, had there been a response upon the Republican side of the House to the offer that we made some weeks ago, I think that we would have been well out of the woods by this time.

I want to say to the Members of this House that we are a coordinate branch of Pennsylvania's General Assembly and we must take knowledge and cognizance of their power, but it is not necessary for us in framing a tax program to continually pedal our way over into the other Chamber and find out what they want us to do.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair returns the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JUNE 30, 1959. No. 63.

SENATE

TUESDAY, June 30, 1959.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN P. MARTIN, Administrator of The Presbyterian Home, Hollidaysburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us look to God in prayer.

Our Father and our God, Thou Who didst create the world and put it into being and motion, and Who didst give unto man to constitute the affairs of nations and of men, we beseech Thee to be near to these who administer the affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so that they might set an example that other States and other Nations of the world might see the Godly example of men chosen by people for a specific job.

We pray that Thou wilt bless the loved ones of each represented here. May Thy love guide and guard us that if selfish gain seeks to pervade the mind, we might seek the will of our constituents.

Through God, our Father in Heaven, Amen.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING CONGRATULATIONS TO MISS LOIS JANET PIERCY UPON BEING SELECTED AS "MISS PENNSYLVANIA—1959"

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. HAYS and WATKINS offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 30, 1959.

Hail Miss Pennsylvania 1959! The Commonwealth has a new Queen. Miss Lois Janet Piercy, a lovely twenty-one year old lass from Springfield, Delaware County, and a niece of Joseph W. Isaacs, Member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth, was chosen to be the representative of this State for the next year. Beautiful and talented, Miss Piercy deserves this coveted title. She swept both the talent and swim suit competition held at West Chester on June 18. For her talent display, she painted a canvass which won two awards and was purchased by the Pennsylvania State University, she also composed an original arrangement for flute entitled "Night Rain on a City," which set the mood for the talent competition. Miss Piercy is a most gifted young lady. A graduate of the State University, she completed the four year course in three years with a 3.3 all-University average. She participated in student government affairs, was the only girl from the University to make the Susqeuhanna Hockey Team in the Mid-East tournament, was voted the outstanding senior in the Delta Gamma Sorority, was elected "Miss Dairy Queen" at the University, and was chosen as "Miss Centre County" for the State-wide beauty and talent competition, and these are just some of Miss Piercy's accomplishments. The judges have chosen well, and the people of the Commonwealth can be proud of their representative; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania extend their heartiest congratulations to Miss Lois Janet Piercy upon her being selected as the representative of this great Commonwealth, and further take this opportunity to wish "Miss Pennsylvania—1959" every success in the future.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I did not say it but I should have said that this resolution is sponsored jointly by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins. I regret the omission of his name very much.

The PRESIDENT. I expected a duel directly after the completion of the Session. I am sure, Senator Hays, that everything will be forgiven.

Mr. HAYS. I would like to speak on the resolution for a moment, if I may.

The PRESIDENT. You may.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this is quite an experience for me. Among other things, I live among Penn-State coeds and, therefore, this is a very happy experience and on which I am glad to share, in a small way, with some of you today.

I think the scholarly gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, will prompt me if I am wrong, but I think it is said that seven cities claim Homer's birth. Today, we have a rather similar situation here because, while it is true that Miss Pennsylvania is, in a sense, a native of Delaware County, we have been most happy and most fortunate to have adopted her as a Centre Countian. Of course, we could have resorted, I guess, to the childhood game of "Finders-Keepers." However, we are just too generous up in Centre County and, therefore, we reluctantly share this honor with another county.

Mr. President, this is a very joyous occasion but in a sense, it makes me a little unhappy because here we have the very old county of Delaware and the vibrant, young county of Centre. Apparently, this fine young lady, who grew up in Delaware County is not going to be acknowledged nor recognized in Delaware County. However, up in Centre County where we still have black, wild bears, Nittany Lions, flashing fishes, sparkling streams and where the lovers love in the moonlight, we are happy to present today the modern Princess Nita Nee.

If I had the time and we were not waiting for Senator Stevenson to make his report on the budget cuts, I would recite the Legend of Princess Nita Nee to you. However, instead, I present the modern Princess Nita Nee. While Centre County is a young, vibrant county, it makes me unhappy to think that Delaware County is sort of a decaying county which does not observe these important things in life. For the good side of the ledger, I am so glad that they took a second look and are recognizing, with Centre County, Miss Pennsylvania.

We, from Centre County and Pennsylvania State University, which represents all of Pennsylvania, are so happy that the Junior Jay Cees of Bellefonte made it possible for Miss Centre County to become Miss Pennsylvania. Centre County and Pennsylvania State University share with Delaware County, and with the other counties of the Commonwealth, Miss Pennsylvania. We hope, come Labor Day or thereabouts, we will be able to share her as Miss America with the other forty-nine States of the Union.

Mr President, I now yield to the gentleman from Delaware County, Senator Watkins.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Centre County, Senator Hays, knew that he might just as well yield to the gentleman from Delaware County when he spoke about something which is decaying.

Mr. President, as usual, Delaware County is the leadin county of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in manufacturing, in statesmen, former Governors and future Governors. I wish to say that Delaware County has given many, many things to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We are most charitable with everything in Delaware County. We even share our water with Philadelphians, without charging them. We are very, very kind to our neighbors and we are happy to be the type of people who give and never take. It is very seldom that we take anything.

Mr. President, today is like the breath of springtime, like the smell of honeysuckle on the banks at five o'clock in the morning. This young lady, who marched into the Senate of Pennsylvania, is welcomed by all of the Members of the Senate, the Members of the House, the Cabinet and everyone on Capital Hill, including the lobbyists. I have never seen a more popular girl. She is just as nice as she is beautiful, and just as smart as she is beautiful. You all listened to the resolution.

I thing we are very fortunate to have this great honor bestowed upon our county, at least by having this beautiful young lady being born in Delaware County and not in Bucks County, as Senator Watson tried to claim. We are delighted and happy that her family has lived there all of their lives. We are happy that Mr. and Mrs. Piercy lived and raised their family in the county of Delaware, which is not that decaying county about which Senator Hays spoke. Delaware County is a progressive and leading county.

I would also like to bring to your attention that we, in Delaware County, have given you the Captain of the Army Football Team and, I understand, Miss Pennsylvania has dated him. We have also given you the Captain of the Navy Football Team. What else can we do to show you that in Delaware County we have everything, including athletes.

It takes a Senator from Delaware County to come up here and join with these statesmen to give them the vision and the new look from Delaware County. However, I do not want to praise myself here.

I am most happy to have the opportunity of talking about this young lady because she is from Delaware County. We did loan her to Centre County and may they all be blessed up there for recognizing her beauty, talent and ability which she possesses in order to make her Miss Pennsylvania. We, in Delaware County, intend to get back of her now and make her a Miss America. She is not going to stop at being Miss Pennsylvania. We hope that Centre County will join along with that old, decayed county of Delaware and help push her along for us.

Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate Miss Lois Janet Piercy, whom we loaned to Centre County. I would also like to call to your attention that she is graced with a court here today which is most outstanding. She is with a group of beautiful ladies and her uncle. I have never seen a group equal to this one. In the group is also Mrs. Piercy, Miss Pennsylvania's mother; her aunts and nieces, and good old Uncle Joe Isaacs, who is a Member of the House of Representatives. He is a very, very proud uncle, indeed, and he has all the right in the world to be so. I was told by Uncle Joe that with her beauty, her accomplishments and with all of the awards which she has earned, he thinks that she is just the finest little home girl that he has ever known.

Mr. President, without any further talk—I hope that you will deny my good friend, Senator Hays, any time to answer me—I suggest that we move right along and that you will invite Miss Pennsylvania to the rostrum after a welcome is extended to her mother, her aunts, her uncle and her nieces.

The PRESIDENT. Will the people who are accompanying Miss Pennsylvania please rise? We will invite Miss Pennsylvania to the rostrum in a moment.

Before we go any futher, we have business before the Senate and that is the completion of action on the resolution which has been offered.

I know, from what you have just signified with your applause, that there are no objections to the adoption of this resolution. I would also think there would be no further remarks, since the remarks were equally divided between the county of Miss Pennsylvania's birth and the county of her education.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I should like the Chair and the Members of this great Senate to know that Miss Piercy has succeeded Miss Pennsylvania, who was a resident of my city, and knowing Miss Samley all my life, I have found three things which they have in common. First of all, they both attended Pennsylvania State University; secondly, they are sorority sisters of the Delta Gamma Sorority; and, thirdly, they are both very attractive and beautiful girls. I wish Miss Piercy all the success in the world.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, this is not in rebuttal to Senator Watkins, but since Senator Rooney has made such a fine statement, I think it should be put on the record that we have two fine young bachelors on this side of the aisle, and Senator Rooney is one of them.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT MISS PENNSYLVANIA TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would appoint Senator Hays, Senator Rooney and Senator Watkins as a committee to escort Miss Pennsylvania to the rostrum.

(Miss Pennsylvania was escorted to the rostrum.)

The PRESIDENT. Will you say a few words, please, Miss Piercy?

REMARKS BY MISS PENNSYLVANIA

Miss PIERCY. Lieutenant-Governor DAVIS and Members of the Senate, you are very kind to honor me with the resolution you have just passed. It is a privilege for me to be here today in front of this distinguished Body, a day I will cherish always.

When I think of this Commonwealth, the first thing that comes to my mind is the debt I owe it, and of its farms, mines, industries, churches and hospitals but, most of all, its institutions of learning. Everyday I am happier to be a native daughter of Pennsylvania, regardless of the county.

In representing you as Miss Pennsylvania of 1959, I trust I will be humble, thoughtful and gracious, worthy of the consideration shown me, and perhaps able to return to the people of this State a portion of what they have given me.

Thank you, Lieutenant-Governor DAVIS and Members of the Senate. May God bless you.

MOTHER AND SISTER OF MISS PENNSYLVANIA PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. I am sure now that not only those two counties will be rooting for Miss Pennsylvania to become Miss America, but she will have the whole state of Pennsylvania behind her.

I would like to present to the Senate the lady's very lovely mother, Mrs. Piercy, and her sister. Will the ladies rise, please?

The Senate is very happy and privileged to have the three of you with us today. Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we have just had a Committee Report from the Committee on Highways. I would like to make a further report from the Committee on Highways, and I ask leave of the Chair to make some explanatory remarks.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in last evening's Harrisburg paper, the headline of the second section stated as follows:

> "Drivers in State Favor Radar Use, Re-examation.
> "O. D. Shipley, Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, says a recent survey shows that eighty-seven per cent of Pennsylvania's drivers favor giving State Police the authority to use radar.
> "In a report released by Governor Lawrence, Shipley said almost nine out of ten contacted in the survey approved of legislation to allow radar, periodic re-examination of drivers and use of chemical tests to determine if a driver is intoxicated.
> "The three proposals were among the top recommendations of the Governor's Traffic Safety Council.
> " 'Eighty-seven percent, or 10,570 of the persons queried, replied affirmatively to all three categories,' reported Shipley."

This morning, in the Highways Committee meeting, the matter of this article was discussed, and a motion was passed and that is the Report From Committee that I am making at the moment. A motion was passed that Mr. O. D. Shipley be asked to furnish the Committee with authoritative, sworn statements to the effect that this actual survey was made and that the messages were received in writing.

Let me say right here, Mr. President, that some of the Members of the Committee, and several other folks, told me they did not believe that report. I, as Chairman of the Committee, share in their belief. They are not doubting Mr. Shipley's word. I, for one, am simply saying that I do not believe that report. It is, of course, very easy to prejudice or otherwise influence surveys. We all know that. I think someone on the floor of the Senate said that they could pass a petition, asking for the execution of almost any Members of the Senate, and we all know how easy it would be to do that.

I, as Chairman, now will direct a letter to Mr. Shipley in connection with this report that I am making.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to be rude and interrupt the gentleman. I think we have always had great regard for the right of the Members of this Body to discuss these matters at some length. I would be very happy to discuss Mr. Shipley, who seems to be a very favorite subject of this Body, and his doings at such time as this matter is appropriate.

I have no objection to Senator Wade making a further report. However, I would like to also have an opportunity to answer his remarks and I do not feel I could do so after he completes his report at this time.

I think that—in all fairness to the people who do represent the Administration and for whom I must speak from time to time when I have an opportunity to do so—I would not be able to do so when he completes his report. I wonder whether the Senator had considered that possibility.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I raise the question that this is not out of order. I am making a report from the Committee on Highways. I secured the permission of the Chair, there were no objections raised from the floor and I am now making that report.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to debate with Mr. Wade about the propriety of the report, because we will get into Mr. Shipley again. I would just respectfully ask the gentleman if he might hold these remarks until such an appropriate time has arrived when I will have an opportunity to answer some of these allegations that were made or were not made in the newspaper. It might be that Senator Wade is absolutely correct and I might want to agree with him. However, I will not be able to do so until we arrive at the appropriate point on the agenda.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I had hoped that Senator Weiner was listening when I started to make the report and secured permission. I believe that he was listening. His remarks may be in order, but I am making this Committee Report with the permission of the Chair and the Members of the Senate. I insist on the privilege of the floor to continue to make this report.

I, for one, do not object and I sincerely hope that no one on this side will object to any statements that Senator Weiner wishes to place on the record.

To continue with my report, if I may do so, Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to listen to the report as long as it is not a tirade against Mr. Shipley or anyone else.

I did attend part of the meeting of the Committee on Highways today. I do not remember anyone talking about Mr. Shipley at that part of the meeting. It might have been that I came late. Since I am not a Member of that Committee, I was not invited in the very beginning.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I inform Senator Weiner that he was there through the courtesy of the committee? He is not a Member of the Committee. He was invited there to talk on particular legislation, of which he is a sponsor. He brought a very lucid and very instructive report to the Committee on Highways, and we appreciated that. We took favorable action on his bill during his presence, which is a very unsual thing for the Committee on Highways to do. We frequently have visitors. He was a welcome visitor. He was invited. He had been invited on two previous occasions to explain his legislation and we held it up until he could find it convenient to attend our meeting.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to inform the Senator that flattery will get him everywhere, and I will withdraw my objection to his report.

Mr. WADE. Thank you very much, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Wade, you may continue, please.

Mr. WADE. Thank you very much, Mr. President.

I repeat that the committee generally felt that the report, made public by Mr. Shipley yesterday, was not in accord with their beliefs. I want to further state that a very enlightened and intelligent newspaper representative pointed out to me that the newspaper article may have been somewhat influenced in this respect. There were three questions proposed and that eighty-seven per cent of those surveyed, if the survey was an actual and true one, believed in one or more of the three points.

Since I have been extended this courtesy, may I state to the Members of the Senate that four weeks ago today, Senator Lane and other Members of the Senate—Senator Whalley, and I believe Senator Ehrgood, of Lebanon, and others—visited the Governor, by request, to explain to him that we had on the Calendar Senate Bill No. 351, which applied to a point system, with which I am very much in accord. We have been studying this matter now for four years.

The Governor found some objections to the point system as drawn in Senate Bill No. 351. We had another specimen bill that was presented to his office I believe, and the Governor asked if we would turn it over to the Department of Revenue for their survey. To date, we have heard nothing from them, and that was four weeks ago today. I am not positive of the date, but according to my date book it was either four or five weeks ago today.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I am going somwhat afield, by permission of the gentleman from Philadelphia. Yesterday, we heard a great deal about highway safety. I maintain that a great deal of talk in the Senate, the House and from the front office is not going to bring us highway safety. We must have action on these bills, as the Governor reminded us yesterday. Some of the delay can be laid at the Governor's door. Four weeks ago today, this bill was presented, and it has not yet reached us from the Department of Revenue, where he requested it be sent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I suppose I am not in order. However, I still feel that this is a chamber of free speech and I would like to explain to Senator Wade just what has happened to the bill he just discussed, if I may.

Mr. President, what Senator Wade has said is fact. We met with the Governor four weeks ago today. Regarding the reason for the delay, as a matter of fact, I intended to tell Senator Wade today, but I was talking with Senator Wagner about another subject.

I talked with the Governor's Office and we expect report either today or tomorrow. The reason for the delay was, Senator Wade, that Mr. Schafer, of the legislative assistants, became ill and they could not get the materials over here. As a matter of fact, I think he had measles or chicken pox.

We should have that report either today or tomorrow. However, I would like to say further, Mr. President, that although I may not agree with what other people might say on the floor of this Senate, I do not believe that we should always interrupt speakers because I think a man has a right to speak, and although I may not agree with him, I will fight to give him that right.

During the past years, we have very rarely had points of order called here because all of us appear to be sensible, or try to be. I think when a man is making a report, he should have the right to do so. I do not think I have ever raised a point of order as long as I have been in this Senate, and I do not intend to do so. If anyone wants to talk, I am willing to listen because I respect the other person's opinions, whether they are in order or out of order.

FORMER SENATOR HARRY SHAPIRO PRESTENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have a very pleasant duty to perform before we go on to some of the other parts of the agenda. There is in this Chamber, a former Senator, a former Floor Leader and, a former Secretary of Welfare. I am delighted to see him as a Philadelphian who has come to visit with us, and I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that he is present in the Chamber.

I think we should ask him to stand so that he can be properly introduced, former Senator and Secretary Harry Shapiro, sitting in the back of the room.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair knows that he speaks for the entire Senate when he says, "Welcome, Senator Shapiro."

REQUEST TO REPORT BILL FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to add an allendum to the report made by Senator Wade. On behalf of the Committee on Highways, of which I am not a member but to which committee meeting I was very respectfully invited, I would like to report Senate Bill No. 523, as amended.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would not for one moment deny the Minority Leader the deep interest which he has in his bill. I assume it is his bill. However, I do call the attention of the Chair to the propriety of a Senator, who is not a Member of the committee acting upon a bill, reporting it to the floor. I do not believe that it can be done.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman's point is well taken, and I expect that perhaps Senator Wade would be willing to include that in his report.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that I absolutely agree with the Majority Floor Leader, except that I can point to the Journal and show you precedent for this action where, week after week, this has been done; where not only has a bill been introduced by the Committee Chairman and referred to his committee, but reported from this committee by himself, placed on the calendar and then voted upon by the member himself.

I am perfectly willing to withdraw and let any other Member of the Senate, who is a member of that committee, report the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Do you suggest that a member of the committee report the bill?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would suggest that the Chairman, himself,—whose voice I love to hear, if he will speak in some dulcet tones that all of us can understand—report the bill. If he would do this for me, I would appreciate it.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would be very glad, indeed, to join in the reporting of that bill. It is a rather happy bill and the two of us together, I am sure, can carry it.

The PRESIDENT. I feel that this matter has now met all possible objections, and the bill may safely be reported from committee. Thank you for your efforts, gentlemen.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on Highways reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 523, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "The Vehicle Code," authorizing councils in cities of the first class to regulate the speed of motor vehicles using certain streets and highways within such cities.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF PRESENTATION BY DOCTOR MAURICE MITCHELL, PRESIDENT OF ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA FILMS, INC.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I do not have a Committee Report to make, but I have an invitation to relay to the Members of the Senate, which has to be done within the next half-hour.

This is from the Department of Public Instruction, Doctor Charles Boehm, Superintendent. He desires to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this afternoon at 4:00 p. m., Daylight Saving Time, in the Electronics Studio of the Education Building, Doctor Maurice Mitchell, President of Encyclopedia Britannica Films Inc., will deliver the same dramatic presentation he made before the Congress of the United States. His presentation was instrumental in persuading the National Congress to pass the Federal legislation regarding audio-visual education.

Doctor Mitchell voluntarily is flying in from Chicago, Illinois to present these cogent remarks regarding audio-visual education to the Members of the Senate Study Committee, the Education Committee and any other Senators who might be able to be present at 4:00 p. m., in the Electronics Studio of the Education Building.

The PRESIDENT. What time, Senator Wagner?

Mr. WAGNER. Four p. m.

The PRESIDENT. Four p. m. today and it is now 3:30 p. m.

Mr. WAGNER. Pardon me, Mr. President. It has been postponed, I believe, for one half-hour which will make the time 4:30 p. m.

The PRESIDENT. That will be in the Electronics Studio of the Education Building.

FORMER SENATOR WELDON B. HEYBURN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, since we are introducing so many notable people today I would like to introduce one of my very good friends and a friend of all of the Members of this Senate, former Senator Weldon B. Heyburn from my county of Delaware, who served in the Senate of Pennsylvania for twelve years, and who also served as Auditor General for four years and as State Treasurer. I would like Senator Heyburn to stand and take a bow, and let us recognize a great statesman.

The PRESIDENT. I know that I speak for the Senate when I say, "Welcome, indeend, Senator Heyburn."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to respectfully make a suggestion to the Chairman of the Committee on Highways.

We have been hearing for some time, and it has taken a lot of the time of this Body of the Lower House, discussions of great length on Mr. Shipley, his proposals and counter proposals, and we have discussed at great length statements made in the newspapers and statements that have been omitted from the newspapers.

I would like to respectfully suggest to the Chairman that Mr. Shipley be invited to a meeting of the Committee on Highways. I believe that the Members of the Senate, who have a problem in regard to this gentleman, should also be invited. I think this matter could be thrashed out very quickly and very easily. If it cannot be thrashed out, we would then know that and know what steps have to be taken.

I think this problem of jousting windmills is a waste of time, a waste of effort and a waste of energy, because the only thing accomplished is that Mr. Shipley either makes or does not make a statement to the papers, and is alleged to have said this or said that. Whereupon, the Senator from Cumberland rises to the floor and continues his debate, at quite some length, without anything appearing in any newspaper. This goes on week after week.

I believe if the Senator invited Mr. Shipley to a committee meeting and took up all these problems, we would then know exactly what the problems are, if there are any, and we would also know if there are any problems which are in a position to be solved.

I believe that the Senator could do all of us a service by reporting back to us and advising us exactly as to the status of this matter. As this Session goes on, we will always have this continual wrangling between all these people without any solution being offered, and we might adjourn without any solution being offered to us, and this newspaper debate will go on ad infinitum and ad absurdum.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I was glad to hear Senator Weiner make that suggestion. For his information, I am glad to inform him that on June 16, we had, among other guests, Mr. O. D. Shipley, when we considered, if I recall correctly, some twenty-six bills. Mr. Shipley gave us his advice and counsel on those different bills.

I have been in touch with Mr. Shipley constantly, except to ask for favors. I always enjoy the company of Mr. Shipley whether I believe him or not.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I was aware of the fact that Mr. Shipley had been invited to discuss some bills with the committee. Unfortunately, I believe that the one bill, which the Senator has taken a great deal of time to discuss, is the radar bill and that was never brought up.

Also, the suggestion I made to the Chairman of the Committee is that he bring Mr. Shipley in for the specific purpose of solving or resolving some of the problems which are arising, and not for the purpose of discussing any bills they are going to take up.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, being a new Member of this Body, I have been told on several occasions that we do not observe the rules here because we believe in free speech and anyone can talk as long as he wants to talk. However, there is one thing I cannot help but observe.

Rules are for two purposes. One of the purposes is for orderly procedure, and the second is for fair play. In the essence of fair play,—and maybe it is because I am new and ignorant—but on many an occasion I have been one of those who has been given unanimous consent, only to be confronted with the consideration of a resolution or a matter on which we have not had time to check the facts, and the perpetrator or the originator of that motion or that subject has spent days and weeks, and has prepared statements and has all the facts at his fingertips.

It would seem to me that the Rules Committee should certainly come out with some orderly rule that will permit notice that a certain subject is going to be discussed, in order that we may be adequately prepared to adequately answer. We are not assembled here for the purpose of getting newspaper space for ourselves, but rather for the constructive government of the Commonwealth. I think some such rule should be adopted or heeded.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure your suggestion will be considered by the Rules Committee.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I believe the suggestion is being considered and the meeting is being held right now on this proposed rules change.

The PRESIDENT. I did not expect such quick results.

SENATE BILLS TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call from the table the two bills which I introduced yesterday, and request that the Chair refer them to the appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PECHAN, BERGER and CONFAIR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 912, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1959), entitled "An act fixing the salaries and compensation of the Chief Justice and judges of the Supreme Court, the President Judge and judges of the Superior Court, the judges of the courts of common pleas, the judges of the orphans' courts, the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia and the judges of the County Court and Juvenile Court of Allegheny County, certain associate judges not learned in the law, certain state officers, and the salary and expenses of the members of the General Assembly, and repealing certain inconsistent acts," fixing the salary and compensation of the Commissioner of Mental Health.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 913, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," creating a Department of Mental Health; defining its powers and duties; transferring State mental institutions and their boards of trustees into the department; transferring powers and duties of the Department of Public Welfare and the Secretary of Public Welfare relating to mental health, mental disease, mental defects, epilepsy and inebriety and the care and treatment of patients to the Department of Mental Health or the Commissioner of Mental Health and making appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, regarding Senate Bill No. 912 and Senate Bill No. 913, which were introduced yesterday by Senator Pechan, Senator Berger and Senator Confair and laid on the table for the past twenty-four hours, I would like to have unanimous consent to make a few remarks concerning these bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have very high regard for the right of the members of this Senate to speak upon any subject that they care to talk about. I must, however, call attention to some of the remarks made by Senator Mahady and to express what I believe is the thinking, at the present time, of most of the Members of the Senate. We do wish to allow all the leeway possible, but I want to point out that this morning, one of the Members of the Senate, from this side of the aisle, came to me and said that he had remarks to be made which would take about fifteen minutes. He asked whether it would be all right to make them, by asking for unanimous consent, just before we started on the Calendar. I requested him to wait until the appropriate time, which would be under Petitions and Remonstrances, and he consented to do so. In view of what has occurred here this afternoon—although I do not criticize them because I think people should be allowed to be heard—nevertheless, there is a place and a time for such discussions.

I would respectfully suggest to Senator Rooney that he defer his remarks upon a bill, which is not upon the Calendar and which has just been referred to committee. If his remarks are upon the subject matter contained in the bill, then they should be made under the appropriate order of business. I would very much like to have the order of business followed because it expedites the work of the Senate.

As I said before, I may not be in good grace in rising at this time to make these remarks, in view of the fact that there has been some debate here prior to this time. However, if the Chair wishes to defer the order of business at this time, in accordance with the request of the Senator, I will not object. I would like, in the future, if possible, to have the order of business observed as far as is possible in this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. I think the point is well taken, Senator Berger.

Senator Rooney, I think your remarks would be presented in stronger fashion after the bill has been printed. Then the Members would be able to understand what your remarks related to in the bill.

The bill has been referred to committee and should be printed posthaste. I think it would be better for you to give your statement at that time, since there would be no action that could be taken at this time on these bills.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. We are now under the order of business of Bills in place. Do you still wish to make your remarks, Senator Rooney?

Mr. Rooney. By unanimous consent, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections to Senator Rooney making a few remarks pertaining to the bills just taken from the table and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare? They are Senate Bill No. 912 and Senate Bill No. 913.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I object.

I introduced those bills last night and, out of courtesy to some of the Members of the Senate, I allowed those bills to be tabled for twenty-four hours.

I do not know what Senator Rooney has to say.

The PRESIDENT. He might be supporting them, Senator Pechan.

Mr. PECHAN. We certainly welcome his support, but I think his remarks should be made after the bills are printed. To be very frank with you, I have not read nor studied them thoroughly.

We should not delay the orderly procedure of business by making statements continuously. I asked for unanimous consent yesterday when I presented these bills because I felt that it was something new.

I do object to Senator Rooney making a statement at this time. Under our Order of Business, there is a time for Petitions and Remonstrances and I think that is the time for the gentleman to make his remarks.

The PRESIDENT. As long as there is objection, the remarks may not be made.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, my observation of the operation of this Senate convinces me that we have, in effect, a gag rule. Every Member of this Senate represents a large constituency, and every Member of this Senate should have a right to the microphone to speak his piece whenever he feels like it. Of course, we have rules. However, I have never seen the rules enforced like they have been during this Session. They are enforced for no other purpose than to gag Members of the Senate who would like to make speeches, due to some particular circumstance.

Mr. President, I feel that the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Rooney, should make his speech because he has worked on the Committee with Senator Pechan. Senator Pechan said that he has not read the bills which he sponsored. Therefore, perhaps he is a little afraid that he will be placed in a position where he will be unable to answer Senator Rooney. I feel Senator Rooney, as a Member of this Senate, has the right to speak. I feel that it is in very poor grace when anyone objects to a Member of the Senate taking the floor and expressing his opinion.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lane, the rule is very clear. The remarks can only be made by unanimous consent. One Member of the Senate objecting is sufficient to preclude the unanimous consent.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I wish to state that I think the Chair is in error. At any time, any Member of the Senate may rise to a question of personal privilege in the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. That has not been the basis upon which the gentleman rose. The gentleman has not asked for that, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I believe that is what he wishes to do.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege and to make a brief statement at this time.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would respectfully suggest to the Chair that the Chair inquire as to the nature of the question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. I was going to ask that next, Senator Fleming.

You will have to state your question of personal privilege, Senator Rooney.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, yesterday, when these two bills were tabled, the Minority Leader had asked me to see whether or not I could get bipartisan support for these bills. Therefore, I would like to make a few remarks concerning the bipartisan support which these bills did not receive.

The PRESIDENT. Questions of personal privilege are questions affecting the rights reputation and conduct of Members of the Body in their representative capacity. They must relate to a person as a Member of the Body or relate to charges against his character which would, if true, incapacitate him for membership or entitlement to the floor.

A person raising a question of personal privilege must confine himself to the remarks which concern himself, personally. When speaking under a question of personal privilege, a Member has no right to defend any other person than himself.

I have difficulty seeing the question which the Senator has raised as being related to personal privilege.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, the argument which I have may be personal and it might be against one of my colleagues in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, there has recently been concluded an investigation of the Department of Public Welfare and I was a member of the investigating committee. During this one man inquisition all of my ideas and all of my questions were suppressed. Therefore, Mr. President, I am rising, under personal privilege in the Senate of Pennsylvania, to defend my statements here which I am about to make concerning this investigation and the previous two bills which have just been introduced. I sincerely regret that one of my maiden speeches in this great Senate has to be, once again, subjected to such criticism from the Chairman of this Committee.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not want to see this situation deteriorate into something which might be considered a personal matter, whereby it becomes a necessity for a Member to rise on a question of personal privilege. My previous remarks were not made in any way to limit debate upon any subject in this Senate, but merely to point out and to request the Members of the Senate to try, in the future, to observe the rules of procedure which we have adopted to govern our actions in this Senate.

At this point, Mr. President, I would prefer to request—for the purpose of permitting Senator Rooney to make his remarks—unanimous consent for him to make his remarks and for my colleague, Senator Pechan, to withdraw his objection. We do not, in any sense, wish to limit debate, but desire to put it in its proper order.

The PRESIDENT. Would Senator Pechan be willing to withdraw his objection to the remarks which Senator Rooney desires to make?

Mr. PECHAN. Since this is getting involved, Mr. President, I will withdraw my objection.

The PRESIDENT. On that basis, if there is no further objection, Senator Rooney may proceed.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, on June 18, 1957, this Body, by a fifty to zero vote, passed the bill which merged the Department of Public Assistance and the Department of Public Welfare. That was only two years ago. On June 1, 1958, that merger became effective. That was only one year ago, just a little over a year ago today. Yet, today we are being asked to rip out the mental hospitals and put the department into a new uproar of changes and reorganization before it has had a chance to get its breath and put its feet on the ground.

In the bill which was introduced yesterday by my distinguished colleague from Armstrong, this bill would enable the Superintendent or the Commissioner of Mental Health to place the indigent insane in prisons and in poor houses. What are these people, who say we must rip out the mental hospitals, trying to do? What are they trying to prove, if it is not that the Pennsylvania State Government does not know what it is doing and, therefore, make our State look ridiculous in the eyes of responsible people in the rest of the Nation?

We, in Pennsylvania, can be very well proud of this merger, Mr. President, because we were one of the first States to put this program under one department, a department which can handle the physical ills and the mental ills of all of the people in this great Commonwealth. The problems of the home and the problems of the patients at the clinics, whether these clinics are in general hospitals or attached to mental institutions, are closely inter-related and for the most part indivisible.

There was a recent case of a four-year-old young lady who was mentally retarded. But, why? The conditions in her home, the relationship between her mother and father, tell us more about this young girl's illness than any number of laboratory tests can possibly prove. Without some correction of this young lady's home condition, there is little, if any, hope of curing her mental disturbance.

This case is not an isolated case. This young girl is a typical mental patient, regardless of her age. Her illness, however, has its counterpart on the physical side. Suppose this young lady's father has a serious ulcer. Here, once more, the conditions in the home, the relations between her father and her mother, play a significant part. Here, again, the close relationship between the physical illness suffered by this young lady's father, and the mental enviornment in which he spends most of his time, must be known and considered as a whole.

The same inter-relationship, Mr. President, has its direct bearing on the problems which now confront us. Any effort to break apart the co-ordination that has long been established between the mental hospitals and clinics of the Commonwealth, and the other divisions of the State's services to people in need of help of every kind strikes a disastrous blow at the total efficiency and effectiveness of these services. Yet, that is exactly what the bill, proposed by Senator Pechan, would eventually do. He does this less than two years after he, himself, introduced the very legislation which resulted in the consolidation of two of the major State departments dealing with human problems; namely, the Department of Public Assistance and the Department of Welfare, of which the State mental hospitals were then a part.

It was Senator Pechan who introduced the amendments to House Bill No. 1572 in the 1957-1958 Legislature, thereby creating the present merged Department of Public Welfare. That bill, with the amendments introduced by the Armstrong County Senator, resulted in the act, Act No. 390, which won the unanimous approval of the Senate. This Act calls for the establishment by the Governor of a merger committee. Only last February, that committee made its final report, stating in unequivocal terms that. "The administration of the mental health program should remain in the Department of Public Welfare."

Only yesterday, in the brief remarks which Senator Pechan made on this Senate floor, he inferred that the Mental Health Department is headed by one who is not capable nor qualified. I ask the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, to look into Doctor Davis's qualifications.

A staff report of the then Commissioner of Health, commenting on the merger, substantiated that assertion. It said:

> "While the DPA and DW may have different legislated functions, both departments come together at many points in ministering to the needs of people with social, emotional, economic and medical difficulties. The common denominator is people in difficulty, and we welcome the opportunity to combine professional mental health skills and knowledge with extensive local organizations having ample access to the sore spots in our communities. We look forward to joining in really integrated efforts to bring aid to whole families, and to be able to better locate these families in time. One result must be better services to more people."

It is in the face of expert opinion, coming from the people who are in the best position to know the value of the present integrated operations of the various offices within the newly merged Department of Public Welfare, that division is again suggested. It is division, just for the sake of division, with no charge of any kind against the present program. What is even more important, Mr. President, there is no guarantee of improvement or economy in the divisiveness and the disintegration which is proposed.

Mr. President, the issue is not to divide or not to divide. The issue and the question that must be asked is this: How well will the people of the Commonwealth be served if the division is made? Will duplications of services, needless red tape, destructive inter department rivalries be greater or less? Will costs be reduced or will they be increased as the direct result of added administrative personnel which the proper functioning of any new and separate department almost inevitably demands?

In the last analysis, how about this young girl I spoke to you about, the four-year-old mentally disturbed girl, mentioned earlier? Will she be better or worse off as the result of the split in authority which will result if the State's mental health functions are cut away and set apart from the rest of the Commonwealth's agencies for helping people in need? It is a fact that some of the people in our mental institutions today are people who earlier were on our assistance rolls and who received many of the other social services. We know that the greatest share of the welfare and mental health dollar goes to six to seven per cent of the families in any community in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Knowing this, we should be concentrating our effort in these fields, not cutting it apart and permitting each separated service to go its own way and do what it sees fit with little or no regard for the health and welfare of others.

For years, we have worked to make Pennsylvania welfare and mental health programs respectable and attractive to the best people in these fields. We believe, Mr. President, that we have succeeded. The action proposed by the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, would once more work against this favorable development. Mental and welfare services would again be thrown into turmoil, as it was less than ten years ago. Confidence, both in the departments and outside them, would be seriously disturbed, if not destroyed. The ability of the Commonwealth to persuade top professional people to come into these departments would suffer greatly. After reading that bill last night, I would like to say that it did nothing to preserve the Civil Service status of the professional people who are serving in this department. Services would deteriorate as the certain result. In a short time, Pennsylvania would be back where it was only a few years ago.

Secretary of Public Welfare, Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, immediately after her appointment, set the goal of the then merged departments by saying as follows:

"The major challenge confronting us is to develop teamwork among the various offices and agencies serving the family unit." Mrs. Horting said: "We must look at the family as a whole and make what might be called a 'family diagnosis.' We must see the members of the family in relation to each other and to the problems confronting each of them."

This simple statement by Mrs. Horting clearly sets forth the facts as they were then. This same statement still applies equally to today's situation and nothing has changed.

For that same reason, Mr. President, no major or fundamental change should be made in the present mental health and welfare programs. They are functioning well, as the recent searching probe by a committee of this Senate discovered. It discovered that this department in State Government is a well run and an economically run department. The only revealing facts that came out of this investigation were the competent men who have handled the administrative costs and the administrative duties in this great department.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to make a debate of this. I would like to answer the gentleman. I think he asked a few questions, but he did not pause long enough for me to answer. I do not want to turn this into a debate. However, I want to clarify the situation for the young gentlemen.

I do not know who wrote the gentleman's speech. However, last night when I was in the Penn Harris Hotel lobby, a couple of his colleageus alerted me that the gentleman was going to say something on the floor to-day. Be that as it may, I just want to straighten out the gentleman. He is a young gentleman for whom I have a great deal of respect. I enjoyed him as a member of my commit. tee. For some reason or other, the young man thought that he was put on that committee to defend the department. His questioning was always along the line of defense of the department. That was a proper thing to do. We did not have an inquisition. I thought I was being as democratic as I could. Quite often questions were asked that I thought were not related, but it certainly was not an inquisition.

The committee is not ready to make a report. As I said yesterday, the introduction of these two bills is not something that came as a result of that investigation.

The statement was made that I did not read the bills. I read the bills, but I said that I did not study them.

The former secretary, who was responsible for the merging of the two departments, is present here today. I, as Chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare on this side of the aisle, was convinced that a merger would not only be to the best interest of the Commonwealth and the people of Pennsylvania, but also to the best interest of the patients and the people who came under the two departements.

To correct Senator Rooney, I was not the sponsor of the bill. The bill was a House Bill which came to the Senate. I did help with some amendments that were given to me by the then Secretary of Welfare, who is in the Senate today. The amendments were given to me by Harrington Adams, a member of the Attorney General's staff. We were told that if we merged these two departments, we would save the taxpayers of Pennsylvania millions of dollars. If we read our budget, we will find that the combined departments now want $700,000 more, for administration only, than the budget called for in the 1957-1959 biennium.

The Senator also made the statement that the bills which I have introduced would allow the head of the Department of Mental Heatlh to put these people in prison. That certainly is not in the bill. How he ever came to that conclusion I do not know.

He also said that I referred to Doctor Davis as the head of the department and that he was not qualified. That is not true. I did not say that. I said that the head of the department, who is Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, is unskilled and unqualified to administer a mental health program. As I said yesterday, it is not a custodial thing anymore. It is a therapeutic matter that I am interested in. I am interested in getting people back to society and removing politics from the mental health department.

If you will read the bill closely, you will find that the head of the Mental Health Department must have the same qualifications that Doctor Davis now possesses. It cannot be a layman who is not qualified He must meet the qualifications of Doctor Davis.

Another reason why I introduced these bills is because I would like to keep people such as Doctor Davis in Pennsylvania, rather than have them attracted by States which have a separate department without politics and where they are allowed to do a job. Their job is mainly to bring people back to into society.

I want to say once more that we have presently in the United States, fourteen States which have separate mental health departments.

I do not want to take the time of the Senate. I am sorry that I called the two bills up from the table. If I had known that they were going to create this furor, I would have waited until the end of the Session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, after spending three months studying the Department of Public Welfare and wasting thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money, and after not missing one session and listening to the hundreds of pages of testimony, I think I am very capable of putting my own views on a piece of paper so that I will not be misquoted.

I did not say that you introduced the bill, Senator. I said that you introduced six amenments which made this bill possible to pass in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

As far as transferring the indigent insane from State Hospitals for the insane to almshouses, poor houses or prisons of the several counties charged with their maintenance, I should ask you to refer to page 17 of the bill that you introduced yesterday. That may be another reason why Senator Pechan should have looked at these bills and studied them before their introduction, because I am convinced now that he does not know what he introduced. I think these bills are bad legislation for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHADY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I want to say that I was more relieved when I first understood the Senator to say that he had not read the bill than I am now, because the appropriate name for this bill is the Tower of Babel Bill. Not only would this bill, in itself, create a Tower of Babel, but it is part of a general program which seems to be an endeavor to keep the department in the Tower of Babel, as well as other administrative departments.

The assault on this department not only by bills, but by investigation, by charges, by questioning the qualifications of the people in the department, by upsetting the morale of those who are engaged in the deparment, and by undermining the respect for those who run the department, tends to bring chaos and confusion. The intent that is stated for this bill is that it will make people want to work in Pennsylvania. The general attitude that I have seen in the last three months toward this department would make everyone want to run from it. There is nothing like the light of publicity and constant worry about criticism from someone to the newspapers that would make one want to stay in a job that pays so little and where the retirement benefits are so poor.

The fact that we are engaged in a process of keeping all administrative bodies in a state of flux, where they spend more time defending themselves and more time engaged in what people think they should do, gives them no time to function, to plan and give you the greatest department in the world. This can be done if you have the patience and the time to permit the experiment, for which everyone voted, to fulfill itself and to flower to its maturity.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, this General Assembly has been in session six months. It has taken us just about four months to prove that Governor Lawrence's record-breaking $1.9 billion budget considerably exaggerates the financial needs of the Administration.

That proof has been developed through the painstaking, toilsome, fair-minded work of a group of Republican Senators headed by Senator George B. Stevenson. Supporting the work of this group have been the calculations and studies of the Joint State Government Commission, the Economy League of Pennsylvania and the State Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. President, I offer these remarks with no sense of pride on my own part in this work. It is my intention merely to survey the situation as it appears to me—a Republican, a Senator and a citizen with a background of experience in business. I want to suggest to you a series of principals upon which we may establish Pennsylvania upon a sound financial and political basis.

I am not a politician by profession, but I have been around politics long enough to believe, with Rutherford B. Hayes, that: "He serves his party best who serves his country best."

The General Assembly has not had an easy time of it, either in this Session or in the Sessions which have recently preceded it. Gigantic increases in the budgets have fallen upon us with horrifying regularity. In 1955, for instance, Governor Leader asked for more than $1,200,000,000. Four years later, Governor Lawrence matched Governor Leader and raised him almost a half a billion dollars. "Billion," that is, Mr. President. These increases, in the hundreds of millions of dollars, are indicative of a trend to inflation which must be stopped, and the time and the place to stop it is now.

During these trying Sessions, this Senate has battled unceasingly against overspending, has battled extension of State Government into areas which should be the responsibility of local government, or of business and/or of the individual. I think it is not too much to say that the jobs of millions of Pennsylvania wage earners have been protected and improved by the firm and practical direction which this Senate has given to Pennsylvania's basic policies.

Now in this year of 1959, we are faced with another all time altitude record in the fiscal requirements proposed by the Administration. The Republican leadership of the House and Senate, and a handful of Democratic Members of the House, have steadfastly refused to vote for the Administration's entire revenue program until the most careful examination of which we are capable has been made of the demands of the Governor and his departments.

Mr. President, if this Legislature had been stampeded by the Administration and various pressure groups into passing the Governor's tax program "forthwith, right now and immediately," as demanded last March, Pennsylvania taxpayers would today be paying increased levies, either directly or in the form of increased prices on goods taxed at another level, which would in a year have amounted to more than $100,000,000. You can go back through the Sessions of the past few years, Mr. President, and find the same pattern. In 1957, Republican leadership insisted upon holding the line at existing taxes, and the people of the Commonwealth benefited. In 1955, drastic cuts and savings were made and the people of the Commonwealth were spared the imposition of wage taxes, stifling manufacturers excise taxes and other harmful legislation.

Yes, we have been in Session about six months; long enough to find out that this Administration, like its predecessor, has had more than a little trouble finding out just exactly how much money they do have "in the bank," and what money they will need for the future.

Based upon the best information I can glean from the hearings of our Senate Subcommittee, and from the analyses and conclusions of the Joint State Government Commission, the Pennsylvania Economy League and the State Chamber of Commerce, I think the picture looks like this:

1. The Governor asked last March for $400,000,000 in new taxes.

2. We can now see that at least $60,000,000 can be cut from appropriation requests without impairing educational, health or welfare services.

3. Governor Lawrence announced last winter that he had inherited a deficit of $178,000,000 from Governor Leader.

4. Today, he admits that the deficit is actually not more than $141,500,000.

5. Governor Lawrence's three and one-half per cent Sales Tax, including some new items, has been passed. So have the existing busines taxes. Income from these and other sources of revenue, it now appears, will be at least $25,000,000 more than was estimated by the Governor last March.

6. It is my opinion, Mr. President, based upon the evidence before us, that the budget can be balanced with around $115,000,000 in new taxes, instead of the $207,000,000 figure recently suggested by the Administration.

Now the Governor and his Legislative leaders contend that only $11,000,000 can be trimmed from appropriations, and that we cannot eliminate as much as $40,000,000 without limiting departmental services.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that it is precisely here that we must begin to apply to our fiscal problem the principles which I believe are urgently needed throughout government in this Commonwealth and in the nation.

We have gone too far in spending the peoples' money without regard for the people themselves. We tend to make government bigger and bigger, and to restrict more and more the liberty and responsibility of the individual.

Governor Lawrence and his Administration leaders say that we must pass all his $400,000,000 tax program regardless of a reduction in deficit, an increase in yields and the certainty of budget cuts. We must not cut the budget. We must not curtail spending by the departments. Economy apparently has become outmoded in Pennsylvania. There seems to be a standard answer to any who try to cut government spending.

That answer is: "Why, Senator, the people demand these services, want this spending and call for this vast project."

Well, sir, Mr. President, I doubt very much that the people are demanding more and more spending of their money, and more and more increase in their taxes. Most of the letters, postal cards and telephone calls that I get are from people who claim they are being taxed to death, who wonder why each government project must be on a grandiose scale. These people, I tell you, resent and are resisting efforts of the government to encroach evermore upon their own individual liberties.

Certainly, Mr. President, there are vast areas wherein the State must operate for the benefit of the people, but must it operate without regard to the amount of money that can be sweat out of the people to pay the bills? Do you think that wage earners do not worry about the tax bite in their wages? Industrial employees are saying in published interviews, "What good is another wage increase anyway? It just goes for taxes."

Newspaper editorials are beginning to question whether the Commonwealth should not begin to return to the local districts a greater share of government cost. When this is done, Mr. President, the individual taxpayer will become even more aware of the burden which big government is placing upon him, and I seriously question whether those who promote spending, for the sake of spending, will then be able to declare that "the people demand this expenditure."

We cannot continue to flout the natural laws of economics, anymore than we can flout the natural laws of the physical sciences. The law of gravity and the law of substances under pressures remain. The forces that produce inflation are just as sure and as unavoidable as those which control the falling of an object.

I believe that our problem comes down to a fundamental issue which runs through every Legislative Assembly in the land, from Congress to the smallest rural school board.

This issue is sometimes pictured as between spenders and non-spenders, or as between liberals and conservatives. The label you choose inevitably reflects your point of view, but in the last analysis, the issue comes down to a differing concept of the rights, the responsibilities and the freedom of choice of the individual citizen. There is in this issue, too, something of the duty the individual owes to the Commonwealth. To what degree, Mr. President, should the individual be permitted or encouraged to rely upon Government? To what degree shall we urge the citizen to look to Government for those things which he cannot or does not want to do for himself?

I believe that our Commonwealth and our nation needs Government attuned to the natural forces which rule economics, and to the practices which can promote a wholesome religious and moral climate in our land. I think we must have a government which will guard zealously the individual citizen's right to work, to produce, to invest and to save and to enjoy the products of his labors and his perserverance. Laws which suggest or even encourage dishonesty, deception and idleness must be opposed and removed.

The representatives of the people for the benefit of the people, in Harrisburg or Washington, must insist upon curbing big government with all its incursions into the rights, privileges and duties of the individual, not only as a moral obligation, but because such a move is imperative if we would stop inflation.

I think that government must be committed to the principle that the ultimate source of all public good is the initiative, energy and integrity of the individual citizen. It is from him, and him alone, that all useful ideas, all inventions, all work, all capital and all resources of government are derived.

Consequently, I believe that the primary duty of government is to protect and encourage, rather than to hinder the free exercise of that initiative, energy and integrity, subject only to the limitation that opportunity shall be equal for all.

Government should not be used as a means of providing special advantages to one group at the unfair expense of others; for that way lies oppression.

Government should engage only in those functions which the individual citizen cannot perform for himself, but which are necessary for the public safety, health and welfare, and the administration of all such functions should be honest, efficient, impartial and economical.

We must realize, Mr. President, that every dollar of tax money is ultimately paid by the individual citizen, either directly or in the price which he pays to others for goods and services. It must be the duty of government to recognize that taxation is a forcible taking of the individual citizen's money and, hence, a forcible taking of the time and labor of the wage earner.

Tax reduction is urgently needed, but tax reduction without corresponding reduction in appropriations and safeguards against overspending is mere political hogwash. It leads to deficit spending, and makes a bad situation worse.

Thus, every proposal for the expenditure of tax money should be weighed not only from the standpoint of the benefit which it may confer, but also from the standpoint of the burden which it will impose upon the individual citizen in the form of taxes.

Now, Mr. President, I think it is clear that by the application of these principles of sound American government, we can solve our fiscal problem, and balance the budget by enacting taxes which will produce about $115,000,000 in the next biennium.

This is far from snap judgment. We have been in Session for nearly six months, and we have studied this problem for at least four months. Nor are the principles of government which I have tried to summarize in these remarks new and untried. They have been in the minds of many of us concerned with the public welfare throughout our long examination of the Commonwealth's financial situation. They are the principles upon which this nation was founded and became great.

The Republican Leadership and the Republican Party have served this Commonwealth well in the careful attention they have given to the State's fiscal affairs in this Session. There is no longer a basis for the Democratic Party to delay its inevitable responsibility for raising the required revenues, and I, for one, will not, and I hope my party will not, willingly permit this to become another marathon Session. The financial issues are now clearly defined. Our course is equally clear. We should get at and finish our task immediately.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I was very much interested in hearing the gentlemans' remarks. However, it is not quite clear in my mind whether Senator Kessler was speaking for the gentleman on the other side of the aisle, or whether he spoke on his own behalf or whether his speech was by someone who might be interested in this subject and who has discussed this matter at some length with Senator Kessler. I found some difficulty in following Senator Kessler's speech in order to know specifically what the ground rules are. If that is a bad term, then let me say I had difficulty in finding out about the specific areas which we are to get into or cover.

From the time that I have been here, I have always found that the tax program, finally evolved by this Body, has always been one which makes it very heavy on those least able to pay. The pack is always on the consumer because he has no one here to speak for him. Those who do speak for the consumers are in the minority and cannot speak very loudly nor make themselves felt. There are these gentlemen who sit around this Chamber, who are well dressed, who are hail and well met fellows, and who always find a way to talk to somebody over here so that when we do get a fair tax program, they are excluded out and, therefore, the money that they could bring to this program is also excluded out.

I was very much interested in Senator Kessler's remarks when he said that the duty of the Commonwealth is to protect and encourage. I think he forgot one other point which should go with it, and that is to husband our resources. Some of those resources are the young minds and the young people who make up this Commonwealth. These resources are just as much an asset to this Commonwealth as is the oil under the ground, our water resources and our many other resources which we have, natural and otherwise.

How are we going to take care of our universities? How are we going to take care of the hospitals? How are we going to take care of the people who are ill and cannot do things for themselves? Is that where we are going to begin to cut the costs? Is that where we are going to cut the money from the budget? I attended some of these subcommittee hearings. I know of no Cabinet Officer who came before that group who was told that he could cut this or that money out. Everyone of those people who came to those hearings was well prepared. They brought themselves and their staffs with them, and they were able to set out a course of action of what they were going to do in the coming biennium, what had been done in the previous biennia and what they were planning to do with the money they were going to receive. I heard no one at these meetings ever say to them, "Why do you not cut this money out?" I never heard anyone say that they could do with less money. I never heard anyone say, "You could do with less money and we intend to cut it out. Do you thing we are right or do you think this is the wrong thing to do? "Nobody made those comments. While I was attending the hearings, nobody said that any of this was going to be cut at this time. The only time I heard of a cut was when I read about it in the newspaper. I only heard that it was going to be done in very general terms, and not specifically in what areas this was going to be done.

I would like to respectfully suggest to the gentlemen on the other side that if they are interested in an opportunity for all, they have the opportunity to pass bills which would provide this opportunity for all, so that people could get into schools or get into other areas where there are now restrictions against them because they have not used wisdom in choosing their parents. These bills are not going to be passed. They have received no consideration and probably will not receive any consideration if the history of the past Sessions is any criteria.

The Democratic Party has taken its responsibility very clearly. I believe I stated here, on behalf of all the Members sitting on this side, that the Governor accepts the responsibility for this tax program, and he reiterated it again yesterday and has said it on every occasion. He recognizes this as the best form of taxation. He realizes it is the most equitable form of taxation. However, he also recognizes his duty. He is only the executive head of this Government; he can only recommend. He is not trying to boss this Legislature nor is he trying to force it do ony any kind of a job. He is merely directing it and showing it a way. If the Members of the Legislature do not care for his program, I have yet to hear from anyone from either side that they have a new or different program, or one which we can get together on.

The gentleman on the other side, the Speaker, offered to these gentlemen on the other side of the aisle, both in the Senate and the House, and, if I can believe what I read in the newpapers, I believe that the Minority Floor Leader in the House, Mr. Johnson, said that he consults with the Members of the Senate. He meets with them and he takes action after he has sat down and had their counsel. That was one of the reasons that yesterday, after the Governor finished his speech, I came over here and asked the gentleman on the other side to use both their influence and affluence with the gentlemen over on the other side to discuss this matter with them at some length. If there is some bill that they do not wish to be for, let them tell us now so that we can decide when and were we are going to move.

How they arrive at this figure of $115,000,000, I do not know. I would be very happy to sit down with them and discuss it with them, and let them point out to me the fact that perhaps the Governor does not need this money. The Governor said yesterday that he does not want one penny more than he actually needs to carry out the programs which have been mandated and the programs he is suggesting.

I believe all of us have been pressured by the universities of this Commonwealth. We have been pressured by Temple University, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State University. They all claim that they are not receiving enough money. Their budgets have all been cut. The medical schools have been cut. Everyone of them have been cut, down the line, with the money that the Governor suggested and which he is trying to receive under his tax program.

With that in mind, how are they going to cut the budget even further? Are they going to cut down on these medical schools? Are they going to cut down on these hospitals? Is it their intention not to return the money to some of these areas?

In the city of Philadelphia, we have a $13,000,000 deficit in our coming program for school aid. Even if the Legislature does not do anything about this $13,000,000, in order to carry out part of the program which has been recommended, after a study was made by a professor at the University of Pennsylvania and other impartial people, it was decided that at least four and one-half million dollars will have to be received from this Legislature. Is that part of the program we are going to cut? Are we going to operate this Commonwealth in such a shoestring manner that our 10,000,000 people are going to suffer, because we do not want to raise any taxes or because we do not want to hurt some favorite interest? What is more important than the people of this Commonwealth? Who are the people who make up this Commonwealth? Who are the people who made this Country great? Was it the big corporations? Was it the special interest groups or was it the basic people who go out and work for a living every day? Was it the basic people, who are interested and who have imagination, who have helped make this Country what it is today? Are those the people whom we are going to militate against and legislate against? How much further can we tax these people? Yet, I notice these other groups are busily at work, not only here but in Washington, to do everything they can to ease the income tax burden on the people who are best able to pay it. This is one more nail that we are driving into the coffin of our financial setup.

Too often, I have heard the subject brought up about inflation. Where does inflation begin? The corporations raise the prices on their products; the workingman comes in and asks for another increase. The State stands helplessly by and they have to compete in this open market for wages and for wage earners. How many people who work for the State Government are overpaid? How many of them have had an increase recently that amounts to anything? How about the people who work for a living? How are they able to buy these things or live in this economy that we have? Are they able to go out and live in the lap of luxury? Are they able to take extended vacations or travel to Europe or other places? Apparently, they are not receiving the money that they should be getting. Apparently, the Commonwealth is competing in this open market. It cannot continue to do so unless it is willing, at least, to meet the minimum levels to hire competent people.

Where will these cuts take place? Is this what we want to do? Do we want to go out, as the Legislature, and say, "Yes, we have balanced the budget." The Federal Government, which is certainly not in the hands of Democrats, if we are going to apply the partisan label, was $12,000,000,000 in the hole. Suppose I were to tell this Body that the Federal Government pays $8,000,000,000 in interest, alone, on its debt.

I believe that all these things have a central root. No matter what we do here, all we will be doing is operating in this great miasma of financial discussion, which very few people understand or take the trouble to read. How many Members of this Senate—I will not ask any of them personally—have read the budget? How many of you have gone through it piece by piece? How many of you have gone through the tax programs and read them over carefully? Yet, I have heard people say in this Body, and I have read their statements in the newspapers, —and I hope incorrectly so— that they would not vote for this tax or that tax because it is going to hurt someone in their own little area.

Mr. President, we must look at things here as a general group, working for all the people in this Commonwealth We cannot pass legislation for any special group and we cannot talk party label here. We are here as the board of directors to enact legislation for all the people in this Commonwealth. I have asked, the Governor has asked and the Democratic Members have inquired that if you are going to cut the budget, please tell us where. Please tell us how we are going to do it. I do not believe this should be a secret. I think all of us are entitled to know. If the cuts of the budget are proper, I will be the first to acknowledge that they are proper and that the Governor is asking for too much money. If the cuts are improper, I would expect the gentlemen on the other side to extend the same courtesy to me and to tell me that point also.

I think we should stop this business of operating in the newspapers and fighting with each other in the newspapers. That is no place to settle our problems. The proper place for that is on the floor of this Senate. I offer my deep apologies to the gentlemen of the press because I realize that they must earn a living also.

I respectfully suggest to Senator Kessler, if he has these cuts and can do these things, that he meet with a group of Democratic Senators and try to work out our problems. Let us clean up the business at hand and get out of here. There is no major legislation that I have seen here so far that is on the calendar, awaiting action. However, there may be some in various committees. I am afraid that some of that legislation will never see the light of day.

Therefore, our only problems are the taxes and the financial situation of this Commonwealth. If we do not get at it very shortly, we will meet ourselves coming back here in January, as I think annual Sessions will probably pass in November.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to Senator Kessler's speech and the Minority Leader's speech with more than my usual attention. I realize that Senator Kessler speaks with authority in regard to budgetary matters, as he is Chairman of our Finance Committee here in the Senate.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, if I understood you correctly, you said that you planned on making approximately a $60,000,000 General Fund budget cut. Is that correct?

Mr. Kessler. That is correct.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell me just in what areas you plan to make these cuts?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes I can, at the appropriate time. I do not think that time is now.

Mr. LANE. Can you give a specific reason for your thinking that this is not the proper time? You made a general statement here, Senator Kessler.

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

Mr. LANE. Then, you do not intend to give me the specific areas in which you intend to make these cuts. Is that correct?

Mr. KESSLER. Not at this time, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell me just about when you could give me that information?

Mr. KESSLER. I think we will know in the next week or two. We will then have that information for you.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, have you arrived at any conclusions on the Motor License and Special Funds Budgets?

Mr. KESSLER. We have not. We have not discussed the Department of Highways Budget at all.

Mr. LANE. Have you reviewed, in detail, the Auditor General's Budget?

Mr. KESSLER. We have.

Mr. LANE. Do you plan an making any cuts in that particular area?

Mr. KESSLER. We plan on making some minor cuts.

Mr. LANE. Do you intend to make any cuts at all in Public Welfare? I am speaking generally.

Mr. KESSLER. I indicated to you, Senator Lane, that we will give you the details on these cuts when we have them firmed up. That should take about another week or two. Then we will have all the details in order to debate on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Do you agree with the Governor's statement that we now have a deficit of $141,000,000?

Mr. KESSLER. No, I do not.

Mr. LANE. What do you think the deficit is?

Mr. KESSLER. I will give you that, too, in a week or two.

Mr. LANE. Your method of answering my questions is so unusual, Senator Kessler, because you are always so forthright.

Mr. KESSLER. I think I have been so today.

Mr. LANE. You are usually quite good at it, but you are rather evasive today.

If you will let me know when you will be able to answer those questions, I will be very happy to discuss the matter further with you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHADY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I want to say, first, that Senator Kessler gave one of the best political speeches I have heard for a long time. The platitudes and the generalities, I think, were done with finesse. I think, however, he did not mean to be unfair to the Governor when he implied that he used every force and means to accomplish what he gave to the Legislature in the first instance, and the figures which he used.

The Governor told you yesterday, and it is true, that no Legislature in the history of Pennsylvania has ever been given as many figures nor had as much material made available to them as has this one. I realize, of course, that Senator Kessler is familiar with the fact that the Governor inherited a situation. He was given a body of laws to administer. The gentleman spoke of inflation. I would say that under the Eisenhower Administration, one of the inflationary parts of Government is the cost of interest. We have seen, under the Republican banner, the cost of interest and the funded debt higher than it ever has been in the history of the United States. We also find that the all-time debt limit for the Federal Government has been raised. However, that does not concern us here, except only as the indirect effect of the cost of running the Government which has gone up.

Rather, let us get down to the promise which Senator Kessler made to the people of this Commonwealth when he said that this Senate, on the Republican side, is trying to keep the taxpayers from paying more taxes and that they are interested in the solidarity of this Commonwealth and its fiscal problems. Then, let us look at the record and we will see whether or not that general platitude is borne out by the history of the case.

Senator Kessler expressed an idea about no new taxes. On many occasions, I stood at this microphone and said that I voted against bills because they were not in the budget. One of the bills I voted against was a safety measure, concerning the Department of Highways, and mine was the only vote against it. Senator Kessler's vote was for it.

When Senator Lane asked that the salary increases be put aside and the matter be sent back to committee until we have the money for it, Senator Kessler voted for it.

Just yesterday, there was a bill on the Calendar which proposed to raise the wages of all the county officers, and Senator Kessler voted for it.

When the fees and mileage bills were passed yesterday, raising the costs to the public, Senator Kessler voted for them.

I could continue and talk about the retirement bill which is on the present calendar, for which Senator Kessler will vote.

There are certain things that are necessities to the human beings of this Country, and they are good bills. The cost of government has and is going up and everybody recognizes that fact, except the general platitudes that we are cutting down and there is no reason for the cost of government to be higher today than it was yesterday. This is ignoring the facts. It is living in a Valhalla of paper publicity which says that it is not higher, when the facts show that it is higher, and that he was one of the actors who made it higher.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Kessler. We are well along in the Session and we are pretty well aware of the financial needs of the Commonwealth. However, the General Assembly is still marking time on the issue of taxes and appropriations.

In spite of the label of spending given to all appropriations, our State institutions are being starved. Help in the institutions is grossly underpaid, building maintenance is being crippled and many nesessary social welfare measures are being shunted aside.

The sources of taxation left to the State are drying up. Our State, and many other States and local governments, are financially embarrassed. Valid objections are made to the great many taxes proposed.

This brings us back to a time in history when our national government was in dire circumstances for the means of operating our Federal Government. We met the challenge then by passing the Federal Income Tax Amendment to our United States Constitution.

States which permit the graduated income tax have fewer financial problems. Also, they have more progressive laws. This is because they impose taxes on the basis of ability to pay, and have more funds to meet their obligations.

The time is fast approaching when we will be faced with the absolute necessity of enacting a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania. It is already late, since we are very far down on the list of States for progressive social-welfare legislation. We are also facing a breakdown in our education system and our State institutional responsibilities.

It does not have to be this way. All we need is a will to do what is good for Pennsylvania. The first genuine step in this direction is a graduated income tax for Pennsylvania. Must we always wait for a catastrophe to happen before we do anything to prevent it?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would suggest to the Chair that the fan be turned off. Someone must have thrown something into it.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Taylor, I think you have a good point there.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MILLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, there has been a great deal of talk this afternoon about highway safety and matters regarding it. I have a resolution along that line which I would like to present for the consideration of the Membership.

This week we will read, no doubt, where 600 or 700 people in America may be killed in highway accidents. We have had discussions about the radar bill and every other type of bill. We have many bills in committee, and I am sure that some of them, perhaps, wouuld help to correct this situation.

The matter that I would like to bring before this Body puts a little different twist on this, and this came about because of an experience I had two years ago in another State. I was visiting in the State of Georgia where I observed a great nuumber of military police throughout the State. The first reaction I had on seeing this was that perhaps there were army maneuvers or an army camp nearby, a movement of troops, or something along that line. Finally I stopped at a gas station and inquired why all the military were present, and I was told that the Governor of Georgia was so disgusted with the loss of life in his State, as well as in the rest of the Nation, that he had placed the State of Georgia under martial law. The Governor had called the National Guard of his State to come out and work with and supplement the State Highway Patrol of that State.

When I first heard that, it sounded pretty drastic to me, and I thought it over for a few seconds. I said, "That does sound as though he is really taking the bull by the horns."

I was in that State for three days over the Labor Day week end of 1957, and while 700 people were killed in America, not one person was killed in the State of Georgia. Perhaps that could have been accidental. Again, perhaps something may have been done, with all of the military working with the State and local police.

My resolution requests that the Governor consider the suggestion of creating a state of emergency for three days over this holiday week end and perhaps we might save ten, or five, or three, or two or one life in Pennsylvania.

Some people may consider this a rather drastic measure. However, with this highway program, we have State automobile inspection and we are putting laws on the books all the time, but people are still being killed. Therefore. if some people think it is drastic, perhaps we need a drastic measure to try to snap the people of this State and other States into realizing that there is an unnecessary loss of life every holiday week end.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am presenting to the Chair this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO DECLARE A STATE OF EMERGENCY OVER THE WEEK END OF JULY FOURTH

Mr. MILLER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 38), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 30, 1959.

The patriotic holiday celebrated on July 4th has for years been marred by a high toll of life caused by traffic accidents on the roads and highways of this Commonwealth.

One effective means which has been successfully tried elsewhere to halt traffic deaths on holiday week ends has been the use of National Guard troops to aid the normal complement of State and local police in patrolling roads and highways.

Drastic though the above means are, the resultant saving of human life has made the drastic measures adopted well worthwhile; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania requests the Governer of Pennsylvania to declare a state of emergency between 8:00 a.m. on Friday, July 3, 1959 and 8:00 a.m. on Monday, July 6, 1959, and under his powers as commander-in-chief of the military forces of the Commonwealth, to command the Pennsylvania National Guard to patrol the roads and highways in collaboration with State and local police, in order to suppress traffic violations during that period of time.

REQUEST FOR IMMEDIATE CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this resolution, while I can readily understand and appreciate the reasons for its introduction, is rather an unusual, to say the least, request to the Governor of Pennsylvania to declare a state of emergency and place the State under martial law. I believe, however, that the subject matter of the resolution will become known because of its introduction.

Since the Governor has the authority to do just as the resolution suggests, I believe that it would be better to refer it to committee. I have no doubt that it will come to the attention of the Governor, in a manner other than as a formal request of the Senate that the State be placed under martial law.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ELLIOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I am abount to offer a resolution, which I ordinarily might accompany with a few remarks since it is relatively important to the Commonwealth and to the particular District which I represent. However, I will refrain from making a statement at this time.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT A CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. ELLIOTT and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 39), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 30, 1959.

The one hundredth anniversary of the Civil War is fast approaching when the various State and Commonwealths of the Federal Union will be commemorating the historical events associated with that tragic conflict which determined that our Nation should continue to be one.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was among the first to take a firm stand in defense of the Union when on January 24, 1861, the General Assembly pledged the faith and power of Pennsylvania to the support of such measures in any manner and to any extent that might be required of her by the constituted authorities of the United States.

Pennsylvanians fully kept that pledge and by their noble efforts and brave deeds became a determining factor in preserving the Union.

It is the sense of the General Assembly as well as of the citizens of this Commonwealth that there should be a proper memorial observance of the role played by Pennsylvanians in that great conflict, taking into consideration all the various historical aspects. military, naval, industrial, economic, political and social; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor is hereby requested to appoint a Civil War Centennial Commission of Pennsylvania of which the Governor, the Chairman of the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Commision, and the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, shall be ex officio members. This commision shall cooperate with the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Commision and with the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commision and the National Civil War Centennial Commission in promoting and sponsoring celebrations of the one hundredth anniversary of the Civil War and notable events of the Civil War period and shall be advisory to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission in the work of making this centennial commemoration of Pennsylvania's part in the Civil War a thorough and complete record, telling the full story of this significant epoch in Pennsylvania's historic heritage; and be it further

Resolved That the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, in order that the advice of the Civil War Commission may be effectively carried out, is specifically authorized and directed to participate in the commemoration, and may exercise any of the powers and duties conferred by The Administrative Code of 1929 for the purpose of planning a siutable commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Civil War, in cooperation with the Civil War Centennial Commision of Pennsylvania, by preparing and planning one or more historical publications relating to the history of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvaniaians in their struggle to preserve the Union, and is further authorized and directed to collect source materials, documents, memoirs, pectorial and photographic material, and military records pertaining to Pennsylvania's part in the Civil War, as well as such other collections as may be required for the preparation of the said historical publications covering all the aspects of this momentous era in the history of Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commision is further authorized to employ professional historians as consultants in planning and gathering materials for the publications herein mentioned; and be it further

Resolved, That the Civil War Centennial Commission and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission shall make a preliminary report on the full plans for the commemoration to the General Assembly at its next regular session.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 39, ADOPTED

Mr. ELLIOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I am not going to rise to offer any objection. However, I wonder if, before voting on this, the Senator from Gettysburg would agree to an amendment proposing that in appointing this commission, there be included at leats members who are descendents of the Confederacy.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is rather unusual for a Senator to present a memorial resolution, honoring a former Member of the House of Representatives. However, this gentleman, Wrayburn B. Hall, was a man of long and distinguished service in the Legislature of Pennsylvania and a close personal friend. He was well-known to a great many Members of this Senate and very, very favorably known to them. Therefore, Mr. President, I am offering this resolution.

Mr. President, I neglected to say that Senator Taylor joins me in the offering of it.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING CONDOLENCE TO THE FAMILY OF THE LATE WRAYBURN B. HALL

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BERGER, TAYLOR and LANE offered the following resolution, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 30, 1959.

On June 26 1959, death claimed one of the outstanding citizens of Potter County, Wrayburn B. Hall.

Mr. Hall was the son of Horace H. and Sarah J. Hall, both of whom descended from early colonial stock and both of whose families were active in the settling and development of Potter County. Wrayburn B. Hall, by unselfishly devoting his time and ability to many civic and fraternal groups and affairs, did much to carry on the outstanding contributions of his ancestors. He also served as a member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth from 1936 to 1954.

The death of Wrayburn B. Hall is indeed a heartfelt loss to those of us who knew him and worked with him and to the people of Potter County and Pennsylvania as a whole whom he served so wisely and well; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania expresses its condolence to the relatives of Wrayburn B. Hall, upon his death; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Hall in Coudersport, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I did not know that Wrayburn B. Hall was deceased. I had the privilege of serving with Mr. Hall quite some years ago in the House of Representatives. I want you to know that he was one of the finest men that I have ever met.

Wrayburn Hall attained great heights in his lifetime. I might say that at one time he held a very exalted position in a fraternal organization here in the United States.

If I may, I would like to join with the sponsors by adding my name to the resolution memorializing the memory of a great man.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would be very happy to have Senator Lane and any other Senators who knew Wrayburn Hall to have their names appended to this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILLS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the following bills, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Banking:

House Bill No. 337, Printer's No. 71;

Senate Bill No. 471, Printer's No. 505;

Senate Bill No. 472, Printer's No. 1008; and

Senate Bill No. 473, Printer's No. 507.

Mr. President, yesterday, as requested, we passed Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 112, which would cover some of these problems, because a study will be made concerning problems involving credit, banking and things of that nature. I think that will cover the area these bills are trying to cover.

The PRESIDENT. As much as I desire to expedite our proceedings, I believe it is necessary to offer such a motion on each bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, you are correct. I was just trying to expedite the matter.

The PRESIDENT. I would be glad to do that. However, we have ground rules which we must follow.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILLS WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now withdraw my motion to recommit these bills.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 337, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) entitled as amended "Banking Code" by permitting banks and bank and trust companies to invest to a limited extent in the shares of small business investment companies.

be recommitted to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I understand the bills which have been referred to by the Minority Leader, those bills have been approved and requested, I believe, by the Department of Banking. I would suggest that in order to clarify the situation, we might better have the bills go over in order at this time, rather than have a motion. As far as our Caucus is concerned, we have approved the bills and we would be constrained to vote against the motion.

Therefore, I will ask that the bills go over in order, if Senator Weiner will withdraw his motion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will accede to the Majority Leader's request and withdraw my motion to recommit.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I realize it has been a long day and we have heard a great deal of discussion on many subjects. Therefore, I am not going to delay the closing of this Session. However, I feel that I would be amiss if I did not bring to the attention of this Body, and also for the purposes of the record, that one of the gentlemen who spoke here earlier today made comment about the economies we could have and about cutting down on some of the money we are going to spend. I am not here to chide him, nor am I here to make any remarks against him. I merely wish to say that we passed a bill, which was sponsored by the very same Senator, Senate Bill No. 139, giving more money to the people at the Thaddeus Stevens Trade School, which is located in the area of Lancaster.

This bill would give teachers in 1959-1960, with a Bachelor of Science Degree, $3,600, who at present receive $3,000. In the years, 1960-1961, they will receive $3,800. This amounts to an increase of $800 over a period of less than about two years. Teachers with a Master's Degree would go from $3,600, which is their present salary, up to $4,400. This is true up to the Supervisors, who now receive $4,000 to $4,800. Annual increments of $200 are not changed by this bill, which they would receive with or without this, plus a $200 bonus cost of liviing increase in compensation for the years 1959-1960 and 1960-1961.

I feel that the Senator is doing the correct thing by introducing this type of legislation. These people do have to live. They do have to keep up with the rising cost of living and they must get along in their communities, like all of us do, by having this additional money.

The only point which I would like to make is that by doing this, we are doing this to help people who work for a liviing. If we are going to continue to do this type of thing throughout this Commonwealth, I do not see how we can cut the Governor's budget, or cut some of the mandated increases or cut down on our expenses. If we can stop doing this type of activity and let these local areas take care of their own problems, the Commonwealth, and you and I, would not be asked to pay more taxes to take care of these types of situations. However, they are the proper things to do; they are the correct things to do. They are the only things we can do, under the present circumstances, if we want to continue to operate efficient institutions and have the proper people in them, doing the proper job.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want to commend Senator Kessler for being one of the co-sponsors of this bill. However, by the same token, I think it is somewhat inconsistent with the remarks he made earlier about cutting the budget and cutting down on the amount of money the Commonwealth can spend. Unfortunately, the Commonwealth has found itself in a position where it must support these local institutions in the local areas, and take care of the local situations as they exist and as we have found them in over the years during which we have been supporting them. We cannot, today, cut off this line of support unless we want to take on some other type of activity, or let the local units take care of themselves. I do not believe that anybody here would vote for that or go along with that type of thinking.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to inform Senator Weiner that the Thaddeus Stevens Trade School has been supported by the Commonwealth for many, many years, long before I ever came in to the Senate. That school accepts orphan boys from all over Pennsylvania.

The bill which we sponsored, and which I voted for today, Senate Bill No. 139, was included in the Governor's budget for the Thaddeus Stevens Trade School appropriation. That bill was sent to the Appropriations Committee and I advised the Committee that no action by the Appropriations Committee was necessary, because the funds to provide the increases in salary were absolutely necessary for maintaining the teaching staff at that school.

I do not believe that Senator Weiner's remarks, at this time, are in accord with what he said earlier this afternoon when he was talking about providing for the greatest asset this Commonwealth has, the youth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, briefly, I would just like to point out to Senator Kessler that in Senate Bill No. 139, he is providing for in a school which does take care of youngsters which is and in his area, the very thing we are trying to do down in Philadelphia and in many other areas of this Commonwealth. There is no other way to do it than to increase the salaries that these people are receiving. If we do not do that, we will, as well as the Thaddeus Stevens Trade School, lose these people. If they do lose these people, they are going to be in the same situation in which we find ourselves throughout this Commonwealth. I am commending Senator Kessler for his efforts in that area.

I also would ask him to look upon the other areas of this Commonwealth in the same light; our schools, our hospitals and other areas which need this help. Unless Senator Kessler can show me otherwise, I cannot find any area that can be cut, and cut significantly, in the budget so that we do not need the money which we are asking for.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would suggest that now the fellows who want to talk for the benefit of their constituents back home on Personal Privilege, that we allow them two hours now to talk under Personal Privilege. By doing that, we will not be confronted with it all next week.

The PRESIDENT. Do you think they might get it out of their systems by then, Senator Taylor?

Mr. TAYLOR. I like them all on that side of the aisle, but not as much as I like them on this side.

The PRESIDENT. We can understand that, Senator Taylor.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to clarify a statement which was made in regard to highway safety. I procured a copy of the comments made by the Department of Revenue in reference to the point system. They found quite a number of inconsistencies and errors, I believe. I supplied the Chairman of the Committee on Highways, Senator Wade, with a copy of these comments.

The bill is now over in the Legislative Reference Bureau, together with the criticisms and comments. We hope to have it in order and probably introduce it again when we come back in Session.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, July 1, 1959, at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

By Messrs. BELL and BRETH. RESOLUTION No. 90.

In the House of Representatives, June 29, 1959.

Under the provisions of the Federal Boating Act of 1958, commonly known as the Bonner Bill, the states are permitted to assume full jurisdiction over the use and registration of pelasure boats, including those formerly registered with the Coast Guard.

Regulation by the Commonwealth will serve as a source of revenue, as the registration fees which heretofore were paid into the Federal treasury can be used to support our own boating safety programs. It will also permit the regulation of watercraft in accordance with our own special requirements.

The rapid increase in the use of pleasure boats in waterways of this Commonwealth makes it imperative that if we are to regulate these crafts, our regulations must be enacted as a result of thorough study, so that they will adequately provide for the safety of the boating public; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the Federal Boating Act of 1958, commonly known as the Bonner Bill, and the rules of watercraft safety, boat licensure and related subjects, governed by this act, such study also to include an analysis of any laws enacted prior to or during the 1959 session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly relating to watercraft safety; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, together with drafts of proposed legislation necessary to carry such recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS, VARNER, GRAMLICH, MAGEE and MERRY. RESOLUTION No. 91.

In the House of Representatives, June 29, 1959.

The present bridge structure spanning the Allegheny River along Highway Routes 36 and 62 at Tionesta is rickety and at certain points of stress concentrations conceivably uncomfortably close to the critical fatigue-point of its metal.

Moreover, with a roadway but little wider than twice the width of a horse-drawn wagon, this structure could be reasonably bracketed with the few most dangerous bridges to be found on important Pennsylvania Highways.

Last week, while renewing floor-boards, workmen discovered that I-beams had rusted and dropped two and one-half inches. A ten-ton weight limit and one-way traffic have been invoked until repairs can be effected.

Not only is the replacement of the Tionesta Bridge needed, and urgently, from the standpoint of improved traffic facility, but it is a matter of top and immediate urgency as a mounting hazard to those who continue to cross the Allegheny at Tionesta; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives request the Department of Highways to take immediate and full steps toward an expeditious replacement of the Tionesta Bridge, even to the extremity of holding back projects of less compelling urgency, if funds and engineering services have been allocated to a point where such emergency diversions may be needed; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be directed to the Secretary of Highways as representing the concern of the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SELINSGROVE STATE SCHOOL STUDENTS WELCOMED

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. FULMER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS TO MISS PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. FULMER, ISAACS, BELL, LIPPINCOTT, ODORISIO, P. J. MURPHY, DENGLER and Mrs. KERNAGHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as folows:

In the House of Representatives, June 30, 1959.

Hail Miss Pennsylvania 1959! The Commonwealth has a new Queen. Miss Lois Janet Piercy, a lovely twenty-one year old lass from Springfield, Delaware County, and a niece of Joseph W. Isaacs, member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth, was chosen to be the representative of this State for the next year. Beautiful and talented Miss Piercy deserves this coveted title—she swept both the talent and swim suit competition held at West Chester on June 18. For her talent display, she painted a canvas which won two awards and was purchased by the Pennsylvania State University; she also composed an original arrangement for flute entitled "Night Rain on a City" which set the mood for the talent competition. Miss Piercy is a most gifted young lady—a graduate of the State University, she completed the four year course in three years with a 3.3 all University average. She participated in student government affairs, was the only girl from the University to make the Susquehanna Hockey Team in the Mid-East tournament, and was voted the outstanding senior in the Delta Gamma Sorority, was elected "Miss Dairy Queen" at the University, and was chosen as "Miss Centre County" for the State-wide beauty and talent competition, and these are just some of Miss Piercy's accomplishments. The judges have chosen well, and the people of the Commonwealth can be proud of their representative; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives extend their heartiest congratulations to Miss Lois Janet Piercy upon her being selected as the representative of this great Commonwealth, and further take this opportunity to wish "Miss Pennsylvania—1959" every success in the future.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, this is a happy occasion for me today for a number of reasons. In the first place the young lady we are honoring was born and reared in the Township of Springfield in the Third Legislative District of the County of Delaware.

This young lady has excelled in about everything she has tried. She has been a source of pride to her Mother and Dad, to her sister, to her family, to her school and the State University. She entered this contest as "Miss Centre County" by virtue of the fact that she was at State College at the time. This is acknowledged by the fact that the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer, was the first signer of this Resolution.

She has a number of talents, active in practically all sports. I might say she not only models a swim suit, she is a swimmer. She is a tennis player; she is a hockey player; and in the tradition of "Gigi" she grew without her uncle paying too much attention to it.

She is exceedingly grateful to the JC's of Greater Bellefonte and the people of the County of Centre. I might say, we in Delaware County are also very proud of her.

While her uncle, admittedly, is prejudiced he actually believes his niece has the qualifications to go all of the way.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT MISS PENNSYLVANIA TO ROSTRUM

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer to escort Miss Lois Janet Piercy our charming new queen of Pennsylvania, to the rostrum.

Miss Pennsylvania escorted to rostrum.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Miss Pennsylvania of 1959 it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present to you on behalf of this House of Representatives, the Resolution which has just been unanimously adopted.

Members of the House of Representatives I present to you, Miss Pennsylvania of 1959.

Miss LOIS JANET PIERCY. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House of Representatives you are very kind to honor me with the Resolution you have just passed. It is a privilege to stand before this distinguished body, and a day that I shall cherish always.

When I think of this great Commonwealth, the first thing that comes to my mind is the debt I owe it. I think of its farms, mines and industries, churches, hospitals and most of all its great institutions of learning. Every day I am happier to be a native daughter of this fine state.

In representing you as Miss Pennsylvania of 1959, I trust that I will be humble, thoughtful and gracious, worthy of the consideration shown me and perhaps able to return to the people of this state a portion of what they have given me.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker and the ladies and gentlemen of this House and a favorite uncle of mine who serves in this House. May God bless you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair congratulates Miss Piercy, and thanks the Speaker of the House for the opportunity of presiding this morning for this occasion.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MAXWELL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during the session of the House.

HOUSE RULE 50 SUSPENDED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Rule No. 50 be suspended for the specific purposes of permitting the immediate consideration of separate motions to reconsider the votes by which the following revenue bills were defeated on final passage in the House on Tuesday, June 2, 1959. House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 401, House Bill No. 662, Printer's No. 402, House Bill No. 656, Printer's No. 418.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Upon a division, more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 661

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 401, enttiled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" increasing the rate of tax on shares of capital stock of banks and savings institutions.

was defeated on Final Passage, Tuesday, June 2, 1959 be reconsidered.

Mr. WHEEER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 401, is one of the two revenue raising measures dealing with the Hood-Kennedy Commission Report, pertaining to bank shares tax, increasing it by four mills. The combination of the two bills in the Hood-Kennedy Commission's recommendation indicates the revenue to be raised by these two measures would be approximately $12 million.

Mr. Speaker, these bills were debated at length on June 2, and such debate is in the Legislative Journal of that date. At that time they were defeated on final passage. The debate has taken place on a previous day, and it has been inserted in the record as to the amount of money these bills would raise in revenue for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

CALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I suggest the absence of a quorum and demand a roll call.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman insists upon it.

Mr. McCANN. I insist, Mr. Speaker. I demand a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader having suggested the absence of a quorum, his desire to establish the presence of a quorum, and in conformity with parliamentary practice being privileged to make that request, the Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called and was as follows:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 656

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 656, Printer's No. 418, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the "State Personal Property Tax Act" approved June 22, 1935 (P. L. 414) by reenacting and clarifying the State personal property tax increasing the rate thereof and of the corporate loans tax granting certain additional exemptions and credits and providing for the valuation of stock in certain investment companies.

was defeated on Final Passage Tuesday, June 2, 1959 be reconsidered.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 656, Printer's No. 418, is item No. 13 in the Hood-Kennedy Commission Report listed as intangible personal property tax of 6 mills estimated to yield $55 million in this biennium.

Mr. Speaker, this bill also was debated at length on June 2nd and is in the Legislative Journal record of that date.

Mr. Speaker, I request unanimous consent of the minority to a fast roll call, with those that may change on the minority side.

Mr. STIMMEL. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, have the sections of this bill giving preferential treatment to the residents of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh been amended since the last vote on the bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, they have not. The same questions were asked on June 2nd, pertaining to the city of Pittsbgurgh and the county of Allegheny.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, is it correct then that under this bill, the residents of the Governor's home town of Pittsburgh will pay not one penny of taxes to the State Treasury

Mr. McCANN. They will not pay any additional tax, which would come to the State Treasury since the school district of the city of Pittsburgh, the institution district of the county of Allegheny now have a total of 10 mills tax. Therefore the saving clause would permit those areas and all other areas that have more than 4 mills to be saved for whatever tax is now imposed under the act.

Therefore the answer would be they now pay, have been paying 10 mills and would pay no additional tax to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STIMMEL. And this amounts, does it not, to an indirect subsidy to the school districts of the city of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia?

Mr. McCANN. Not an indirect subsidy. A tax in which the citizens of that area pay to the school districts and have been paying for a great number of years, since the enactment of that tax Act in the various respective areas.

Mr. STIMMEL. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker.

I rise to oppose this bill on the ground that it is inequitable. The residents of the city of Pittsburgh and of the city of Philadelphia, as the Majority Leader stated, do in fact now pay 6 mills—while in Pittsburgh they pay 6 mills, for the support of the Pittsburgh city schools and of the city of Pittsburgh. Under this bill they would not pay an additional 6 mills, and the state would not receive any income under this bill toward the general fund for state financing. This benefit would inure to the residents of Pittsburgh and of Philadelphia, and therefore I urge all the Members to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO CALL BILLS OUT OF ORDER

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent of the House to call bills on the Calendar out of order.

REVENUE BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker. I call up out of order House Bill No. 660 on page 20 of today's calendar, revenue bill on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 660, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" continuing in effect the rate of tax of fourteen mills heretofore imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons and imposing the tax upon the gross receipts of gas companies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 400, pertains to the gross receipts utility gas tax on gas companies which is Item 11 in the Hood-Kenndy Commission report.

The estimated yield by the Hood-Kennedy Commission for this House Bill 660, Printer's No. 400, is estimated at $10 million in the present biennium.

This bill has not been voted upon or debated before in this House, but it certainly has been in front of the membership of this House for quite a few days.

I request all the Members of the House to vote favorably on this issue since we have never before asked for a vote on House Bill 660, and that this be part of the revenue package which the Governor spoke to us about in March, and also yesterday in a Joint Session of the General Assembly.

I hope that many Members on the Republican side of this House will be able to vote in support of House Bill 660.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, will the tax under this bill become effective as of the date of approval or will it be retroactive?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that, of course, is a question of opinion, but it is our opinion that it is for the current biennium. If enacted at this time, it would be retroactive.

Mr. TOMPKINS. To what day?

Mr. McCANN. To the report of the period. I believe it is the first of the month of the new year—of the fiscal year—the first of January of the calendar year.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, do I have the proper bill before me then, Printer's No. 400, which says it is effective January 1, 1959?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir. That is what I said—the first of the year. I corrected myself from fiscal to calendar year. The first day of the calendar year would be January 1, 1959, would it not?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then the bill is retroactive?

Mr. McCANN. It is retroactive, sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, over the week end there was a news article which appeared in one of the Philadelphia papers which said the City Solicitor was of the opinion that this bill would not apply to the gross receipts of the municipally-owned gas plant in that city.

Could the Majority Leader tell me his opinion as to whether or not this bill would apply to that gas company?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as the bill is written now, it is our opinion that it does apply to the city of Philadelphia. The City Solicitor of the city of Philadelphia has every right to his opinion, and if the City Solicitor for the city of Philadelphia expects, and will have the right to take his case to court, backing up the statement that he made that it does not apply to the city of Philadelphia, dealing with municipal gas works which are leased, and thereby operated by another gas company.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the opinion of the Majority Leader that this bill applies to that gas company?

Mr. McCANN. It is our opinion at this time that it does apply, unless a court decision would render it otherwise.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the intention of the Majority Leader that this bill should apply to that gas company?

Mr. McCANN. It sure does, because if you take that $10 million that I spoke about and eliminate that portion, I believe it would be approximately in the neighborhood of 20 or 25 percent that it would reduce the revenue. I may be wrong on this. It would considerably reduce the estimated yield of revenue of the Hood-Kennedy Commission report. Therefore, the figure of $10 million would be inaccurate.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this bill apply to municipally-owned gas companies?

Mr. McCANN. It is not the legislative intent that it apply to municipally-owned gas companies operated by a municipality.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this bill apply to the Philadelphia Gas Company?

Mr. McCANN. If the Philadelphia Gas Company is in the same category as all other gas companies operating within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it would apply. The question in Philadelphia is a question that only the courts can decide. The city of Philadelphia owns the gas system. The city of Philadelphia does not operate the gas system of the city of Philadelphia. The city of Philadelphia has a contract lease with a gas company, which operates the city-owned gas system.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this tax apply to the gross receipts of that gas company?

Mr. McCANN. It is the legislative intent that this tax applies to the revenue yielded by the operating company that operates the gas system in the city of Philadelphia. On the Court decision regarding the lease that is in existence or the changing of the lease in some way in which the courts would rule, I cannot tell or forsee what they would do. As the bill is now written, the revenue estimated yield includes Philadelphia.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, do I take it that his answer is, yes?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, my answer would certainly be, yes. The gentleman from Cameron knows quite well that I am not going to forecast the decision of the court. I believe I read the same news story concerning the solicitor of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not asking the Majority Leader to tell the courts what to do, or to make a decision for them. I am merely asking him to put on record a decision of legislative intent with reference to the gross receipts from this gas company.

Mr. McCANN. And I have done that, and the answer is yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. FILO. I would like to find out how the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, voted on the last bill?

The SPEAKER. Is it relevant to the present roll call?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does he mean the tax on the gross receipts of gas companies?

Mr. FILO. Yes.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I said I would vote, aye, and I did vote aye.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the Minority Leader would consent to calling up out of order bills, of which he has been furnished a list, beginning with page 6, House Bill 1579, because of the fact that some of our Members must get out of here due to illness in the family, which we have discussed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request then that under unanimous consent, we turn to page 6, to House Bill 1579, Printer's No. 894, on final passage calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1579, entitled:

An Act amending the "Civil Service Act" approved August 5, 1941 (P. L. 752) requiring that the commission permit certain promotions.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, if I read this bill rightly, it certainly tears the guts right out of Civil Service in Pennsylvania. I am not going to read the bill at length, but if this bill passes the House, would happen to get past the Senate and be signed by the Governor, certainly it could be called in apt terms, the rape of civil service in Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1579, Printer's No. 894, can certainly not be a ripper bill. House Bill No. 1579, Printer's No. 894, does the following.

It does exactly what the Federal Act under Civil Service does. It is not a ripper bill; it was never intended to be a ripper bill. It permits promotion, based upon the same grounds and qualifications written into the Federal Civil Service Act.

If you will read the bill carefully, the amended version, which is on the desk of all the Members, you will certainly agree that this is not a ripper of any Civil Service Act, and you will also find that the provisions of this bill will permit necessary promotions of people who are qualified on the grounds of their seniority and their qualifications without taking additional examinations. They have already taken a civil service examination to be eligible, or to be a part of this program.

Mr. Speaker, I request that all the Members of this House vote favorably on this legislation, for this is good, sound civil service law. If not, the Federal Government would never have had it in their Act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

(During the calling of the roll.)

The SPEAKER. It is essential in a verification of the roll that Members be in their seats. The Chair has seen quite a number of Members of the House vote and then leave the hall of the House. They raise a problem when the roll is verified, and we just consume time when Members, following a roll call, leave the Hall of the House. We just burn up time when we do it.

The Speaker. The roll will be verified, and the Chair thinks it ought to be accompanied by an order that the doors of the House be locked so that the Members are compelled to remain in the Hall of the House during the verification of the roll.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that completes the special order of business. We would like now to go into an announcement which the Minority Leader wishes to make and following that at that time I would like to be recognized, regarding amending of bills.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like permission of the House to call an immediate caucus on the Republican side for about 15 minutes.

The SPEAKER. The Minority Leader requests permission of the House to hold a caucus of the Republican Members immediately.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, during the period that the Republican membership is off the floor, there is a quorum on the House, and it has been agreed that the bills on which amendments are to be offered, the amendments have been agreed to by the Minority Leader, that we proceed and amend those bills. These bills have been cleared by the Minority Leader as to the amendments that are to be offered. No controversial amendments will be accepted. Therefore we can continue to amend bills as the Republicans have their caucus and then report back.

The SPEAKER. That is agreeable to the Chair, provided that Majority Leader maintains a quorum in the Hall of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 336, entitled:

An Act requiring the approval of electorate prior to the construction erection or acquisition of public housing projects in cities of the first class.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KEE. The original purpose of public housing was to rid Philadelphia of substandard housing. The result, however, has been to give Philadelphia additional acres of disgraceful living quarters.

In case after case public housing projects are being placed in areas where adequate housing exists. At the same time row upon row of slums are left standing.

An example of what is going on in Philadelphia can be seen in the central city area where public housing projects were built only a few years ago. They are shabby. They are in poor repair. They are dirty. They are an eyesore for every visitor.

At a time when we are spending millions and millions of dollars to renovate our city we should be cleaning up, not cluttering up. When our good Mayor recently took legislators on a tour of the city to view public projects, I am quite sure he did not parade them in and out of Philadelphia's public housing projects.

If we are to build public housing, then we should consider it an investment and do the job right. Those who build the projects should be held fully responsible through future years to see that they are kept clean and in good repair. and great care should be taken to place the public housing projects where they are needed.

They are not needed in areas of the cities where home owners take pride in their homes and their local community. They are needed in the slum areas. The cracker boxes should be ripped out wherever possible.

The only solution to the problem of public housing in Philadelphia is to give the people a voice in planning the projects. Before any public housing project is started, the people in the ward to be affected should be given the right to vote on whether they want such a project next door.

I am sure this would meet with the wholehearted approval of all the people in Philadelphia. In well maintained communities people would be given an opportunity to object to having the housing authority move in on every square foot of open lot.

In the run-down areas the people could be given an opportunity to voice their need for improved housing.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I do not intend to take up too much time. I invite the attention of the Members of the House to the remarks I made when this bill was up previously. Those will be found on pages 781 and 782 of the Journal.

Mr. Speaker, I say that since the last time this bill was defeated by 92 to 93 votes I certainly have not changed my mind about this type of legislation. I still feel it is bad legislation, and I believe the House, in its wisdom back in April when it defeated this bill, did the proper thing.

What is the situation that is trying to be corrected by this bill? Here is a piece of legislation which applies to the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to try to do some political good in the northeast section of the City of Philadelphia. Do they really need this legislation in that particular area of the City of Philadelphia? I say to you they do not for this very simple reason. True, there were proposals for about eight housing projects scheduled for the northeast section of the city. Of those eight proposals only one proposal was approved by the city council of the city of Philadelphia, and that my friends, was the Oxford Village area. What happened because of the approval of that proposal was that a housing project consisting of some 600 units was cut down to 150 units.

I say to you there is no need for the Legislature of the state of Pennsylvania to get involved in this particular political issue existing only in the northeastern section of the city of Philadelphia. It is a question here, and a case here, of the people from that area hollering before they are hurt.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill failed once before and there is no reason it should not go down again. That bill would destroy all public housing.

Since this bill last went down, certain candidates in Philadelphia have been trying to make political capital by going to the northeast and stating that this is a good deal, and then coming down to the sections where public housing is needed and stating that we need more public housing. You cannot have both.

Under this bill you would wipe out all public housing because the provisions of this bill are such that it would be impossible to obtain the needed funds from the United States Government in time. Certain candidates, who would preclude people from coming in from other states because they are unemployed, are evidently jealous of this because they would like to make their own type, or breed their own type, of unemployment, especially in Philadelphia.

I say this is a bad bill and should be defeated once more.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I do not want to prolong debate on this, but I would like to call to the attention of the House that this is not just a Philadelphia bill, and that the time has long since passed when any of us would sit here and say that redevelopment and public housing are not essential to the continued growth of our cities, of our urban areas. I think also that no one would question the fact that should this the erection of public housing be subjected to a referendum that such referendum would effectively kill any public housing in the municipal subdivisions so affected.

I mistrust this because I am afraid if this were to be successful this would spread to other sections of the law. I think it is analogous, perhaps, to our highway system. Certainly very few residents of any township are going to vote, if given the opportunity, for a four-lane highway to be driven right through the middle of their township, and yet I do not think there is any person here who would deny the fact that this sort of thing is essential in our modern day and age. This an important bill to all of us.

I ask all the Members of the House to repeat the performance when the bill was first voted down, to vote against this legislation.

Mr. McKEEVER. Mr. Speaker, the previous speakers have given you a misconception. They fail to realize that this bill does not kill public housing.

Personally I am for public housing with reservations. When we already have public housing there is no sense in duplicating it within two squares of the present situation. We had it there before, and from that experience we do not want it again. You could not get in your own home for people 18 and 19 years old cluttering up the steps, drinking beer. You could not put your clothing on the line but that it was stolen within five or ten minutes.

We appealed to city council. We appealed to the redevelopment authorities. We appealed to the planning board. This is the court of last appeal. This does not affect any county, York or any other county. It affects Philadelphia alone, and we feel if those people advocating it in these different boards would have this in their own neighborhoods they would see the results which we experienced over a period of five years. Please give us a break. We have one; we do not want any more.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, this bill is only applicable to cities of the first class, Philadelphia. This is a Philadelphia problem. I think the opponents of this bill are saying something that is very unusual in our form of government. They are telling the people "You cannot decide your fate." In this democracy you are telling the people of Philadelphia, you cannot decide whether public housing is going to be in your ward.

I ask all the Members of this House, and particularly the Members on this side, to vote for this bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEWART. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Stewart, do you believe in representative government?

Mr. STEWART. Is this question directed to whether we have a Republican form or a Democratic form of government?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. No, I have asked you the question whether you believe in representative government, that the people elect representatives to represent them.

Mr. STEWART. I believe in representative government, and I believe that people should have a voice in their government, and that takes many forms. Sometimes that takes the form of a referendum, sometimes it takes its form in the speaking of the elected representative. When the elected representative ignores the wants of the people, then the referendum becomes an issue, as here.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Stewart, do you believe the city council of the city of Philadelphia has ignored the wishes of the citizens of the northeast with regard to the question as to whether there should be housing units in the northeast?

Mr. STEWART. I think city council has ignored the wishes of the people of the city of Philadelphia, not just in the northeast, but throughout the city.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Well, are you familiar with the proposals, Mr. Stewart, that were introduced by the Planning Commission of the city of Philadelphia for construction in the northeast section of the city?

Mr. STEWART. No, I do not come from that section, Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Well, would you agree or disagree that there were eight proposals for housing developments suggested to city council by the Planning Commission of that city?

Mr. STEWART. I think I read something to that effect. I do not know whether it was seven, eight, one or two.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Do you know what the elected representatives of the people of Philadelphia, the city council, did with those proposals?

Mr. STEWART. No, I do not.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Stewart, how would you feel about the question of a zoning bill which is before the city council on zoning and development, or a question which is before the Zoning Board of Adjustment? Do you believe an issue such as that, which would change the zoning, should require a referendum by the people?

Mr. STEWART. Why, yes, as a matter of fact, Mr. Schwartz, I am glad you brought that up. In my district recently city council ignored absolutely the people on Stention Avenue and changed the residential area to a commercial area. I certainly am in favor of it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the answer is responsive to the question.

My question, Mr. Stewart, was, do you believe every bill which is presented to the city council's committee on zoning, and every appeal to the Zoning Board of Adjustment for a change of zoning should require a referendum of the citizens?

Mr. STEWART. Your question is in two parts. First, as to the Zoning Board of Adjustment, there is a public hearing.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Well, there is a public hearing in city council, isn't there, on every bill?

Mr. STEWART. Yes, that is true. When you ask me if they are going to change a particular zoning in a section, with the experience I have had with city council and the zoning board, my answer is yes, I think the people should have some positive voice in making these changes.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Stewart, I think you practice before the zoning board, do you not?

Mr. STEWART. I have had the pleasure and displeasure of appearing before that board.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Then you know there are about 80 or 90 cases listed every Tuesday before the zoning board?

Mr. STEWART. Yes, that is the approximate number.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. And as a practical matter you are advocating that each one of those cases should be decided by the electorate in the area concerned?

Mr. STEWART. When they are going to up-grade or down-grade a section, I think it is most important. A lot of them are not doing that, I think you will admit.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. So then you would advocate a change in our present zoning code, is that correct?

Mr. STEWART. Yes, I would.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. You have not sponsored such a bill, have you?

Mr. STEWART. No.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Now let us get to city council, Mr. Stewart. Do you know that every bill which is introduced in city council for the purpose of changing the zoning designation receives a public hearing?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TOMPKINS. I rise to a point of order as to whether or not the debate applies to the bill before the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order is well taken. The questioning should be confined to the bill before the House.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I think the debate is in order, and the questioning is in order, because the question that is raised here is the question of referendum, and the sole question in this particular bill is a question of referendum.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman confine himself to the bill in question.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I will ask the gentleman one more question and then I am through. I would like to know how the gentleman voted on the referendum for beer in the ball park.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the question is entirely irrelevant.

Mr. STEWART. No, Mr. Speaker, I am not ashamed of my vote, and I do not think he is putting me on the spot as far as the voters in my district are concerned. Since they requested me to vote against beer in the ball park, I did so, and the people spoke in my district.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Therefore, Mr. Stewart, the question is not whether you are for a referendum or not, but the question is what do the people in your district want, is not that so?

I have no further questions, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Yes, yes, there is no question about it; when the people speak loud and clear there is no object to a referendum. Under the old system of the town meeting, or town council, we had no problem in communicating the will of the people to its elected representatives. Today, with the large numbers of people in a district, it is sometimes impossible to get their will, and a referendum serves the purpose of a town council.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, many years ago it was established as the policy of the United States through the Congress and the President, and in the States through the General Assemblies and the Governors, that public housing for people who could not afford decent private housing was a necessity. This was not partisan legislation, it was bipartisan, both sides agreed. I think there is nobody in the House here today, or if there are there are very few, who would say there is not a need for some public housing.

This bill has aroused a lot of emotional response in the people. There are certain districts, we well know, that are denominated—for lack of a better term I will say—as "silk stocking districts," where we know the people are for certain things so long as it does not affect those people. But as a practical matter we know that should a referendum on the question of public housing be submitted in a particular legislative district or a ward where the people are not wards of charity, the people who earn enough money would certainly vote against such a referendum.

I have had letters from civic associations in my district asking me to vote against this bill, but what I am more concerned about is the plight of these people who are entitled by law to live and reside in housing constructed by the government. Where are we to put those people? I know it would serve some people very well if we were to send them down into swamp areas where there is not a chance to live and grow in a decent environment. That is not the answer. We are trying to eliminate blight, and reconstruct areas. I think we have a wise policy now; we have administrative agencies of the government which hold hearings. That has been developed here today. I think they are in a much better position to decide where public housing should be put. I think a vote in favor of this kind of legislation is a step backward and is not in accord with our beliefs and feelings as to social justice.

And I therefore, despite this tremendous emotional response, must vote against the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. STEWART, STROUP and FETTEROLF.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have incorporated in the record the reasons for my vote, which I filed on April 8, page 785 in the Journal.

The backbone of a true democracy is an informed electorate. The communication of the will of the people to their elected representatives is one of the most serious problems that confronts a legislator. This is true today even in the face of modern mass communication, newspapers, television and radio.

The old "Town Meetings" of early Colonial times was the perfect way of communicating the will of the people to its public servants. This method has become unwieldly and practically impossible in our modern government—the basic idea has not. The modern counterpart of the "Town Meeting" is the referendum.

Although it has been suggested that the duty of a legislator is to legislate and not to shirk his duty by washing his conscience in a referendum, nevertheless, it is also the responsibility of a representative to follow the wishes of his people. My personal feeling is to oppose this bill for I believe it will seriously hamper the Public Housing program in areas where it is vitally needed.

However, since this bill contains a provision for the self-determination of the need for Public Housing by the residents of each particular Ward, and since the question is highly controversial to the extent that Public Housing is almost an absolute necessity in certain areas whereas in other areas it is not needed at all, I must, in the cause of democracy, support this bill. For these reasons and to give my constituents an opportunity to express their opinion, I have cast my vote in the affirmative.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. B. Z. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I would also like my reasons filed.

This is true today even in the face of modern mass communication, newspapers, television and radio.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 29, 1959

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Wednesday, July 8, 1959, at two o'clock p.m., EST., unless sooner recalled by the President pro tempore; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, July 6, 1959, at three-thirty o'clock p.m., EST.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Messrs. LIPPINCOTT and McCORMACK offered the following amendment:

The amendment was read as follows:

Amend Senate Concurrent Adjournment Resolution for the week by striking out "6" in the last line and inserting "13", and inserting after "E.S.T.," in last line the following: "unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the amendment to the adjournment resolution.

The reason we on this side favor the amendment to the adjournment resolution is that there is always a feeling that a week's recess should never really be had during a Session unless something will be accomplished while the recess is on.

We have today witnessed the passage of certain tax bills. We know how much those that probably will be passed will bring in. We know what the tremendous tax problem is that remains to be solved by this General Asembly. We know that a good share of the bills that are presently on this calendar, or that have failed, or that are over in the Senate, probably will not become law. Therefore, we are facing a hopeless tax deadlock in my opinion.

Today our House Republican Caucus met and decided that the best thing to do would be for us Republicans to sit down with the Democratic side as suggested by the Speaker, with a view of discussing this tax impasse between us, go over probable taxes and perhaps come up with a solution.

However, our caucus has admonished the Committee, which I have been requested to appoint, that they can sit down, confer, suggest and receive suggestions and any understandings or any agreements that the Committee might come up with will, of course, have to receive prompt caucus approval on the Republican side.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in me by the House Republican Caucus I have appointed the Committee on the part of the Republicans, namely Messrs. Helm, Johnson, Tompkins and Wood. We will be pleased to sit down with a like Committee on the Democratic side appointed by the Speaker. We plan to meet next week and have a series of conferences. We hope some good will come out of it.

We feel that the admonition of the Governor in his speech yesterday wherein he said he did not propose to suggest any more taxes to be knocked down, I believe he called it, calls for a Committee to sit down and address themselves to this problem.

Therefore, next week, if the amendment carries today, while the rest of you are home enjoying the Fourth of July recess, this Committee will be here trying to solve this deadlock.

I am asking the Members on both sides of the House to approve the amendment to the adjournment resolution.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at the last minute I must ask the gentleman to change the hour.

First I want to say that I rise here to support the amendment so that we will have the period off, but we intended to announce to the membership that the annual House picnic would be held that day and the starting time of the House, that would be that Monday, would be 12 o'clock noon,—I apologize for not checking my calendar, twelve o'clock noon, daylight saving time. If they will agree to change the hour so that we can meet and then have our annual picnic, I rise to support the amendment to the adjournment motion.

I would like to say that I certainly am most pleased that the Republican caucus in its wisdom chose a committee to meet this week. We certainly will be ready any day for the meetings, and we certainly hope that this Committee will continue to work on a series of tax problems, or solutions to present to their various caucuses.

I would like to yield to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, if he would consent to the change of time so that we do not have to postpone the picnic which we were not going to announce until right at the time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that inasmuch as the amendment offered has no time set forth so far as the House reconvening is concerned, that we act on the present amendment and then offer another amendment, because this amendment has no time set in it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if this amendment has no time schedule, then can we on our own set the time for 12 noon, daylight saving time on Monday, July 13th?

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a further amendment to provide that the time for reconvening shall be 11:00 o'clock a.m., eastern standard time.

The amendment was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate that the House has adopted the resolution with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HELM. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, in this House today, I am sure that is is unknown to most Members of this House, one of the finest men that I have ever had contact with, and I am sure most of you feel exactly the same way I do, is today celebrating his birthday. I am not sure which birthday it is. The only one he will admit to is 39. I am sure that it must be more than that because he is now working in his 51st year in the service of this House of Representatives.

I think it is only fitting that this House wish Eddie Moore, our beloved Parliamentarian, a very, very happy birthday and have Clyde Dengler, our Music Master, lead us in "Happy Birthday to Eddie."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will recognize Doctor Dengler.

Doctor DENGLER. Let us all sing harmoniously, "Happy Birthday, dear Eddie."

("Happy Birthday" was sung by the Members)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair invites the Parliamentarian to the rostrum, and recognizes him.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. Another birthday comes knocking at my door faster than it ever came before. The Members of the House and Father Time have, over the years, rewarded me in so many wonderful ways.

Once again, thanks to all of you for your thoughtfulness of me.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the Members will bear with us—they are going to get a few days off while the Committee and the other officers of the House work—in another hour we can make it. Tighten up your belts and let's go.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 782, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" prohibiting certain acts relating to counterfeit or facsimile registration plates numbers or markers

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. The only thing I want to bring to the attention of the House is, this bill was amended yesterday. This Printer's number is an error on the calendar. I do not have the correct Printer's number, House Bill 782 was amended by the Minority Leader, Mr. Albert W. Johnson yesterday on the floor of this House. It was agreed to; the Printer's number is wrong.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will furnish the Speaker with the correct Printer's number.

Mr. McCANN. Is that the correct Printer's number on the calendar?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk informs the Chair that is the correct Printer's number.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1058, Printer's No. 763 and

House Bill No. 1059, Printer's No. 764

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1111, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12 1951 (P. L. 90) limiting the transfer of distributor's and importing distributor's licenses.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Liquor Control for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the Holse agree to the motion?

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion to recommit the bill.

I ask for a roll call on the motion.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is it proper for me to make a statement to inform the membership—evidently on both sides of the House? This is House Bill 1111, Printer's No. 717, on page 10.

This is the bill amending the Liquor Code, and a motion has been made to recommit, and it is being opposed. Some of our Members are, of course, rather tired. Those who vote aye vote to recommit; those who vote no vote to retain the bill on the calendar.

On the question recuring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. WILT and DONALDSON and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BELL filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 1903:

Recently an agency of the state government refused employment to one of my constituents because he was a Naval Reservist. Upon inquiry, it was ascertained that this state agency had been following a policy of refusing employment to Reservists and National Guardsmen for many years.

This bill would end such discrimination against the patriotic Pennsylvanians in the National Guard and in the armed forces reserves.

For any state agency to deny employment to a Guardsman or Reservist because of such fact is against the best interests of our Commonwealth. Is an employe of a state agency more essential than a Member of the Legislature—yet we may be reservists and still represent our constituents.

In the event of national emergency—and God forbid that these eyes may witness another national emergency—there will be empty seats in this Legislature as Reservists and Guardsmen answer their country's call.

Is an employe of state agency more essential than the Lieutenant Governor"? Lieutenant Governor Dan Strickler left such office in answer to his country's call during the Korean War.

Current Feredal Law requires military service of all physically fit young males. This is followed by several years of mandated National Guard or Reserve training. To deny employment due to military obligation would restrict such state agency to older men or to the physically unfit.

If a young man is hired by this state agency and is drafted—what happens when he returns from the service with six years of reserve obligation before him? Is he to suffer this same discrimination?

Today America's youth serves in all portions of the free world to protect our peaceful life. As they return home and complete their reserve obligations, who in any state, country, or local government agency is qualified to say "you cannot have a job with my governmental agency because you have been and are serving our country.

Pensylvania has always been proud of the willingness of her native sons to fight in the cause of freedom. This bill is the expression of all who voted in its favor that Pennsylvania always will be proud of such native sons.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 203, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) en-

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE IN SENATE AMENDMENTS

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 29, Printer's No. 1022 and

Senate Bill No. 103, Printer's No. 1006

were pased over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 39

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House, House Resolution No. 39.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

It is an accepted health fact that many urban towns are badly in need of sanitary sewer systems. The Chief deterrent at this time is the cost of construction.

The Federal program to help communities clean up their towns and the nations waterways is not a give-away project It offers one dollar in Federal funds for every five dollars spent by local and state governments This Federal appropriation acts as a helpful stimulant.

Cooperation between Federal State and local governments is the American way of getting things accomplished Every urban town in our Commonwealth with residents struggling under unduly heavy local and Federal taxes will need help in establishing new sanitary sewer systems therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact H. R. 3810 and Senate 805 to provide the necessary funds to assist the above mentioned towns urban areas and communities in their need for sanitary sewer systems and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congres of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 45

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House, House Resolution No. 45.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1959.

There are many Americans who have filed with the immigration authorities of the United States for the entry of their sons daughters brothers and sisters which petitions are classified in the fourth preference quota of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

Of the four preference quotas established by the Federal Immigration and Nationality Act the first second and third quotas are allotted one hundred per centum of the total annual entry quota.

As a result those persons who fall within the fourth preference section must depend for entry into this country upon deficiencies in the first three quotas.

There is frustration and despair resulting from the law that gives hope to Americans by permitting them to file petitions getting them approved and then compelling them to wait for their kin who may never come.

Thousands of discontented people abroad whose hopes are first raised and then dashed certainly cannot believe in the good will we try to engender through our foreign policy and thus become easy prey to the propaganda of unfriendly nations.

Congress has recognized and alleviated a similar problem through Public Law 85-316 which includes a povision for reuniting spouses and minor children of aliens legally residing in this country whose petitions were approved prior to July 1, 1957 therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives of Pensylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to amend the provisions of Public Law 85-316 to include cases which fall within the fourth preference quota in order to provide for entry of the many thousands petitions for whom have piled up in a backlog in prior years that in order not to create another problem of separated families those applicants who are married and have families be permitted to bring them and that a copy of this resolution be sent to each Congressman and United States Senator from the State of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like if one of the sponsors of this resolution would define for me the meaning of the word "family" in this resolution. Just how broad it is, how far it goes.

Mr. JUMP. The word "family", from what I gather, means blood relatives.

Mr. HOCKER. In other words, then, this resolution will take in brothers, sisters and so on of families in Italy, is that right?

Mr. JUMP. That is right.

Mr. HOCKER. I hate to argue with my good friend, Jimmy, but I am afraid this is a little broad in its scope. You are going to get pretty far down the ladder if your definition is that broad.

Mr. JUMP. That is not a question, is it?

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 106

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House Senate Resolution Serial No. 106.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

MEMORIALIZING THE POSTMASTER GENERAL TO ISSUE A STAMP TO HONOR GENERAL GEORGE GORDON MEADE

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

Whereas, The year 1963 will mark the one hundredth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg which halted the Confederate invasion of Pennsylvania and forecast Southern defeat in the Civil War; and

Whereas, This great victory was won by Union forces under the command of General George Meade, a Pennsylvanian, whom Governor Andrew G. Curtin had recommended for promotion as brigadier general at the beginning of the war; and

Whereas, The bravery and ability of this brilliant officer won him rapid advance until President Lincoln placed him in command of the Army of Potomac, five days before the great battle which turned the tide of the war; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, official historical agency of the Commonwealth, has petitioned the General Assembly to endorse the issuance of a commemorative stamp in honor of General Meade; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Postmaster General of the United States to place upon his agenda for the year 1963 the issuance of a commemorative stamp to honor General George Gordon Meade, the brilliant commander of Union forces in the Battle of Gettysburg; and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Postmaster General of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 111

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House Senate Resolution Serial No. 111.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

URGING FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION BY CONGRESS OF LEGISLATION TO EQUALIZE THE PAY OF RETIRED MEMBERS OF THE UNIFORMED SERVICES

In the Senate, May 12, 1959.

The Congress of the United States, by Public Law 85-422, enacted a new military pay law, designed to increase the incentive for making careers in the uniformed forces, and to compensate for the shrunken dollar value.

This law created in effect an "Elite List" consisting of persons who retired after June 1, 1958, and an "Inferior List" consisting of persons who retired prior to June 1, 1958.

The persons on the "Elite List" were authorized to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate, while those on the "Inferior List" were denied the right to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate.

Although Public Law 85-422 recognizes the right of the widows of officers retired prior to June 1, 1958 to have their pensions based on the higher pay scales, it nevertheless denies to members retired before June 1, 1958, including those retired because of disability incurred in the line of duty, to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate.

It has been a time honored national policy that the retired pay of its National defenders be geared to that of active duty personnel. The precedent established by creation of the "Elite" and "inferior" lists of Public Law 85-422 not only defeats a basic principle of National policy but also has an adverse effect upon the retention rates of personnel currently serving on active duty, thereby destroying a principal objective of the law.

A number of bills to correct the inequity and restore the National policy on uniformity of pay for its retired personnel have been introduced in the House and Senate of the Congress of the United States and referred to the respective Armed Services Committees for report and recommendation; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania strongly urge the favorable consideration of legislation to equalize the pay of retired members of the uniformed services; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REVENUE BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remaining bills on the calendar will be passed over.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. GOODRICH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. GOODRICH, ROYER, TOMPKINS, BOWER, McINROY, A. W. JOHNSON, HELM, ANDREWS, Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. WOOD, HOCKER, WESCOTT and WHEELER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 30, 1959.

On June 26, 1959, death claimed one of the oustanding citizens of Potter County, Wrayburn B. Hall.

Mr. Hall was the son of Horace H. and Sarah J. Hall, both of whom descended from early colonial stock and both of whose families were active in the settling and development of Potter County. Wrayburn B. Hall, by unselfishly devoting his time and ability to many civic and fraternal groups and affairs, did much to carry on the outstanding contributions of his ancestors. He also served as a member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth from 1936 to 1954.

The death of Wrayburn B. Hall is indeed a heartfelt loss to those of us who knew him and worked with him and to the people of Potter County and Pennsylvania as a whole who he served so wisely and well; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives expresses its condolences to the relatives of Wrayburn B. Hall, upon his death; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Hall in Coudersport, Pennsylvania.

Let us look to God in prayer.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, Who dost give unto mankind the affairs of justice, the affairs of righteousness, of peace and good will, we pray Thy wisdom to rest upon these who adminster the affairs of justice for our Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We pray Thy guidance, Father, on this particular busily traveled week end, for all who get behind the steering wheel, that we might recognize the rights, the lives and the privleges of others, and that they might recognize ours. We pray that in Pennsylvania there might be a respect for life on this week end, when many will be killed throughout our Nation.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1423, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven (Appropriation Acts, page 60), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judical Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the pulic debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1957 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957," by providng for deficiencies in Appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-nine.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, before the vote is taken on this bill, I would remind the Members of the Senate, of course, that House Bill No. 1423 has to do with reimbursements to school districts of the Commonwealth. The fiscal year of most of the school districts of Pennsylvania ends on the first Monday of July. This applies to second, third and fourth class districts.

This is now July 1, 1959. Assuming that we pass the bill, as we will, and the Governor signs it promptly, and the Auditor General and Treasurer work very rapidly, it still is going to be impossible for the school districts of Pennsylvania to end their fiscal year, 1958-1959, with their share of the subsidy which the Commonwealth was committted to give to them.

I would call your attention also to the fact that my History indicates that House Bill No. 1423, Printer's No. 421, was referred to an appropriate Senate Committee on May 5, 1959, which means that this delay in the passage of this bill, obviously, cannot be put at the feet of our brethren in the House, and neither can it rest with the Executive Branch.

Therefore, if the school board members in your districts have been calling you, as some of mine have been calling me, wondering what the reason is for the delay in the share of their subsidy, I think it should be clearly understood that perhaps one of the big factors, which is a big factor, is the fact that some Senate Committee had this bill from May 5th until quite recently.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO ENACT NECESSARY LEGISLATION TO ASSIST TOWNS IN NEED OR SANITARY SEWER SYSTEMS

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1959.

It is an accepted health fact that many urban towns are badly in need of sanitary sewer systems. The chief deterent at this time is the cost of construction.

The Federal program to help communities clean up their towns and the nation's waterways is not a give-away project. It offers one dollar in Federal funds for every five dollars spent by local and State governments. This Federal appropriation acts as a helpful stimulant.

Cooperation between Federal, State and local governments is the American way of getting things accomplished. Every urban town in our Commonwealth with residents struggling under unduly heavy local and Federal taxes will need help in establishing new sanitary sewer systems; therefore be it

Resolved, (The Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact H. R. 3810 and Senate 805, to provide the necessary funds to assist the above mentioned towns, urban areas and communities in their need for sanitary sewer systems; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease, awaiting communications from the House of Representatives.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTION No. 92.

In the House of Representatives, June 30, 1959.

The people of the United States have the fairest system of taxation that has ever been designed. The Federal Income Tax's best feature is the built-in concept of "ability-to-pay." By this is meant simply that those with the highest income, best able to pay, carry their proportionate share of the tax load. Those who because of low incomes are less able to pay still contribute but in lesser proportion. This is the most equitable system that has ever been designed. This principal of "ability to pay" is accomplished by means of a standardized deduction and an exemption. This exemption today stands at six hundred dollars per person, and the taxpayer can claim this amount for each member of his family.

For the average family, however, six hundred dollars is an unrealistc figure. The taxpayer's expenses for food, rent and the other constant expenses necessary to maintain his standard of living at a level commensurate with this country's economic prosperity reflect a much greater amount than the six hundred dollars allowed. Surely, no one would expect a person to live on six hundred dollars for a year.

Unless something is done about this problem, the "ability to pay" concept in our Federal Income Tax program will become meaningless. The greatest advantage of our tax system will be a farce, and the average family and the average taxpayer will bear more than his share to the extent of facing an uncertain and desperate financial future; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives memorialize the Congress of the United States to consider this problem facing the millions of average taxpayers who represent the families who are finding difficulty in maintaining an adequate standard of living; and be it further

Resolved, That the Congress help relieve this problem by raising the tax exemption from six hundred dollars to one thousand dollars per person.

CAPITOLO, Mrs. VARALLO,

RESOLUTION No. 93.

In the House of Representatives, June 30, 1959.

Americans of Italian descent have contributed substantially to the cultural and economic growth of our country.

Americans of Italian descent have been castigated by the press, radio, television and law enforcement agencies by the use of the term "Mafia" to include all Americans of Italian descent; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives requests the Governor of this Commonwealth to immediately issue an Executive Order informing all law enforcing agencies of this Commonwealth to cease and desist from using the word "Mafia"; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives recommends that the Governor of this Commonwealth request the press, radio and television stations to aid in preventing the unfair indictment of our hard-working law-abiding Americans of Italian descent by the use of the term "Mafia" and other similar terms.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 112

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 2, 1959.

Consumer credit has, during the twentieth century, attained a position of major importance in the economy of the United States and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania specifically.

The citizens of the Commonwealth purchasing goods and services through the use of consumer credit are now numbered in millions and the value of such goods and services is now counted in billions of dollars.

The lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes at reasonable and fair charges contributes to a higher standard of living for the citizens of Pennsylvania and promotes a strong and healthy economy and, therefore, the continued maintenance of adequate sources of consumer credit at fair and reasonable charges is of utmost importance to the economic welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

The term "consumer credit" is generally recognized as encompassing all credit extended to consumers whether in the form of a cash loan or in connection with the sale of goods or services.

The purchase of insurance on behalf of borrowers and purchasers by lenders and sellers of goods or services on deferred or installment payment basis in common practice in the consumer credit business and the charges for such insurance constitute a substantial part of the total charges which the consumer is required to pay.

It is the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to encourge and promote the development of adequate sources of consumer credit to meet the needs of our modern economy and, to that end, regulate and control the charges, terms and conditions for the lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes in the interest of and for the protection of both borrower and lender.

With the exception of the Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act of 1947, applying to installment sales of motor vehicles, there are no laws of the Commonwealth regulating interest and other charges that may be imposed upon buyers of goods or services by the sellers thereof.

There are many ethically conducted and honestly operated lenders and sellers dealing in consumer credit and engaging in the business of financing the sales of goods and services and it appears that there are other persons and companies engaging in the financing of the purchase of goods and services who impose upon the consumer excessive and oppressive charges and otherwise engage in practices which are unjustifiably detrimental to the consumer and inimical to the public welfare.

New methods for making consumer loans and for financing purchases of consumer goods and prefabricated homes, sometimes called "pre-cut," "packaged" and "pre-construction" homes, on an installment basis have been devised and are used by lenders and sellers of goods which impose upon the borrower or purchaser charges which appear to be unreasonable, excessive and oppressive and which are not limited or regulated under existing laws; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate all matters connected with the operation of and conditions prevailing in the financing in this Commonwealth of the sales of goods or services and prefabricated homes which are sold or supplied on what is commonly known as the installment payment plan, for the purpose of ascertaining the equity and fairness of charges imposed on the consumers and as to any improper, burdensome or oppressive practices deemed to be inimical to the public good or which result in disadvantage or detriment to the public generally; and be it further

is hereby directed to study all existing laws of the Commonwealth pertaining to consumer credit extended on a cash loan basis and to investigate and explore all matters pertaining to individuals and agencies engaged in such business, the practices and methods followed in making such loans, the charges imposed therefor and the adequacy of existing sources of consumer credit; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 30, 1959.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 274, Printer's No. 227, entitled "An act providing leaves of absence with pay for certain employes of the Commonwealth and of political subdivisions for purposes of attending conventions," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of further consideration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AGNEW asked and obtained unanimous consent to adress the House.

Mr. Speaker, on May 25 I introduced in cosponsorship with Messrs. Snider, H. H. Perry and Helm, House bill No. 1703, the proposed new food code for Pennsylvania. At the time of its introduction I had certain knowledge that this bill had been prepared under the sponsorship of the Department of Agriculture and the personal supervision of its Secretary, Dr. William Henning. I knew, therefore, with absolute certainty that this was an administration bill.

House Bill No. 1703 is substantially the same bill I introduced in 1957 in co-sponsorship with the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh. It was administration bill then also. The bill is designed primarily to make certain improvements and add certain refinements to the already good food laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to bring them more in conformity with the Federal Pure Food and Drug Act.

My interest in this legislation, Mr. Speaker, is this. As a lay person in the field of food chemistry and agriculture I have very little practicable knowledge of the many technical provisions of this bill. However I introduced this bill both last Session and this Session for this reason because I approve of the manner in which the Secretary of Agriculture brought about the introduction of this bill.

Rather than having it prepared entirely within the department, as is so often the case, this proposed legislation was brought about by extensive cooperation between the department and various segments of the food processing industry. After all, the food processing industry will have to live daily with the provisions of any such bill enacted into law. It makes sense to me that representatives of the industry were consulted and their recommendations considered in the preparation of the bill.

There was considerable give and take on both sides. The theorists in the department and those with practical experience in the industry worked side by side to produce a bill which is probably in the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth. This procedure should be encouraged by those of us who are Members of the House of Representatives.

With my knowledge of the background of this bill, and my certain knowledge that it represents the major legislative contribution of the Department of Agriculture both this Session and last, I was surprised that the Governor at a recent press conference disclaimed any knowledge of the bill, said it was not an administration bill, and further that some of its provisions were objectionable.

I wish to take issue with the Governor. Whether he likes it or not, any bill sponsored by one of his department heads is an administration bill. Even if the bill might prove embarrassing to him, this is so.

Now, this is what happened on House Bill 1703: In metropolitan areas the health department professionals constitute the new aristocracy. More and more they tend to dominate many areas of the life of the community. Aided and abetted by the metropolitan press, they cry "dirty this" or "dirty that" every time a proposal looks like it might somehow interfere with their jealously-guarded prerogatives.

When House Bill 1703 was introduced, some health fanatic in Allegheny County shouted "dirty food", and the metropolitan press has perpetuated this slander, ignoring fact and reason, and dismissing lightly the efforts of many capable people to give additional statutory protection to the people of Pennsylvania by improving the food laws of the Commonwealth.

This hue and cry about "dirty food" apparently frightened the Governor. Instead of manfully defending his Secretary of Agriculture, he took the easy way out. Fearful of criticism in the metropolitan press, he sabotaged an important program and a lot of hard work.

Now, I have a few questions to ask which may or may not be of interest to the Members of this House

(1) Does the Governor have cabinet meetings?

(2) Does he know what legislation his departments are proposing?

(3) Does he intend to stay aloof and await the reaction of the press before endorsing or rejecting a department bill as an administration bill?

(4) Do we legislators both in the majority and the minority, have to await the reaction of the public press before we know whether a certain bill is an administration bill?

These questions are important, Mr. Speaker, because there has been a policy, and I think this is a fine policy, on the part of the majority in this House to seek Republican co-sponsors for administration proposals. However, are we Republicans to sign these bills blindly in the hope that the Governor might approve them? Or, are we entitled to know in advance that it is an administrative proposal? In other words, if the bill becomes a 'dirty this" or "dirty that" bill, will the administration share the criticism that is directed at others by the Health Department fanatics and the metropolitan press?

The Governor might be able to pull the rug out from under his Secretary of Agriculture, but he cannot do it to me without a rebuttal. I say that House Bill No. 1703 is an Administration bill, in every sense of the word, and I challenge any Member of this House to contradict that statement.

Furthermore, I say it is a good bill in the interests of all of the people of this Commonwealth. It may need some amendments, it may not, but the same thing can be said about any proposal. I also say that Republican legislators may now be unwilling to co-sponsor administration bills without some positive guarantee that the Governor will not take a powder.

Mr. MAXWELL. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Agnew.

The SPEAKER. That is a question that would require unanimous consent, and the Chair would inquire whether he has cleared with the leaders?

Mr. MAXWELL. Are you speaking to me, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. I am speaking to the gentleman from Westmoreland as to whether he has cleared with the leaders for unanimous consent.

Mr. MAXWELL. I did not know that you had to have unanimous consent to interrogate a Member of the House.

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent is essential when the interrogation and the basis for the interrogation is based upon unanimous consent.

Mr. MAXWELL. Well, Mr. Speaker - - -

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not intend to engage in a controversy with the gentleman from Westmoreland. The Chair wants to know whether or not the respective caucuses and the respective Chairman or the respective Floor Leaders have or have not decided whether interrogations and statements out of order are to be made at any time, or as to whether there is to be a specific period for it. It is a matter of indifference to the Chair and if the Chair has the approval of the floor leader, you may proceed.

Mr. MAXWELL. Well, Mr. Speaker, may I ask for unanimous consent to ask a question?

The SPEAKER. You may if you have the approval of the Floor Leaders, you do not have to have it. You can ask unanimous consent in defiiance of the floor leaders.

The gentleman will proceed, if he wishes to do so.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of prolonging this Session.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AGNEW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Well, Mr. Agnew, you are a sponsor of this bill, is that correct?

Mr. AGNEW. I am one of the four sponsors of this bill.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Agnew, for the information of the House, there was a public hearing held on this bill last Friday. Were you present at the public hearing?

Mr. AGNEW. Whether or not I was present at the public hearing, Mr. Speaker, has absolutely nothing to do with the remarks I made. Since the gentleman has asked the question, I will state, no, I was not present at the public hearing last Friday. I was busily engaged in the practice of law in the County of Allegheny. I received no engraved invitation, or any verbal invitation from the Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. MAXWELL. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I would just like to make this statement. As a sponsor of a bill, if Mr. Agnew was so interested in this bill, since there was a public notice given that there was to be public hearing, I think if he has so much interest in it and is so willing to critize the Governor and everyone else connected with it, he should have shown enough interest to have been to the public hearing.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I wish to comment briefly on Doctor Maxwell's remarks.

I have no quarrel with the committee, with their hearing or with any subsequent matters concerning the bill after its introduction. I merely wish to comment on the fact that I knew for a fact certain that it was an administration bill and, regardless of any comment to the contrary the Governor might have made, I wish to make that clear to this House.

Now on the action of this committee in holding a hearing, what went on at that hearing, or anything subsequent to the introduction of the bill, I do not wish to make any comment at this time. That is in the hands of the committee and properly so.

The Speaker. At a recent Session the Chair terminated a statement being made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh, desire permission to complete his statement?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank you for this opportunity or permitting me to continue when I was interrupted a week ago. However, not knowing that I was going to have this opportunity, I am not prepared to further this discussion at this time. Possibly at a later date I may.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ASHTON. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ASHTON. I would like to direct the attention of the Members to certain inaccuracies in the recording of the vote in this House.

I refer particularly to Monday, June 15. On page 1745 of the Journal I am recorded as not voting on the first roll call of that day. That is quite correct because I had an important personal engagement and I had to leave the House before the first roll call.

However I am distressed to notice on every subsequent bill I find my name on the affirmative roll. Now there are several bills that I do not care to be recorded as having supported, and I refer specifically to House Bill 734 and House Bill 1382. On House Bill 1382 the vote is recorded on page 1749. That bill shows 113 affirmative votes of which mine was one, and I am just wondering whether that bill received sufficient affirmative votes to pass it. I know that one of the 113 votes was recorded as mine, and there might have been some others that were on there in error also.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DOUGHERTY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehicles to meet during the session of the House.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, yesterday afternoon in the House—and I understand this is the second time it has happened this Session—I want to make a public apology regarding a motion to recommit a bill.

I was under the impression each time that the sponsor of the bill had knowledge of a motion being made to recommit a bill. Yesterday afternoon House Bill 1111 had been discussed in our caucus and it was agreed that a motion would be made to recommit the bill, and by an oversight I failed to notify the sponsor and the person making the motion failed to notify the sponsor.

I have been informed that it has happened one other time in this Session. So I apologize and may I assure you that from this point on—it was just an oversight—anyone making a motion to recommit a bill, regardless of his position on the bill, the information will be sent to the sponsor immediately so he will know and be aware of a motion being made to recommit a bill in which he is personally interested or is working for its passage.

Mr. Speaker, I apologize to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wilt, for 1111. I believe a bill in which Mr. Weidner, one time in the Session—I forget the number of it but it was a bill in which Mr. Weidner of Berks County was interested—a motion was made without his knowledge of recommittal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WILT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the Majority Leader for his good fellowship in making this announcement. I appreciate it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will return the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There is a matter of procedure that has long been on my mind.

I find in talking to various Members that the matter is also on their minds. It is the matter of amending bills. A correctional amendment, a mere change in draftsmanship, is one thing, but we have important bills that are brought in, and there are amendments that involve a change in policy.

The average Member, and the Chair has been an average Member for a great many years, does not have any opportunity to study an amendment, an important amendment to an important bill; an amendment that involves a change in policy.

It was not until the Chair became Floor Leader that he had an opportunity to study the amendments. It would seem to the Chair that with our modern conveniences, our modern facilities for reproduction, we could devise some sort of method that when amendments are drawn they could be taken to some central place and duplicated in quantity, thus making it possible for any Member who wanted to do so to study the amendments and have them before him.

It would be the suggestion of the Chair that the Chief Clerk, the Minority and Majority floor leaders and the Parliamentarian concern themselves with that matter and see if, with the additions we may make, probably will make under existing legislation to our staff, we can arrange a way so that amendments can be taken to some central place and duplicated in quantity and made available for every Member of the House who might desire a copy.

The Chair is simply throwing that out as a suggestion because he finds other Members of the House are thinking along the same line.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am certainly thankful to you for offering this suggestion. On the floor of the House we talked about this a good while ago. At that time I recommended in a discussion that a system be devised in which one copy of any set of amendments would be left at one place, and that the House purchase either a Thermo-Fax or a photostat machine, so if any individual Member wanted a copy of a set of amendments, instantly the machine, the Thermo-Fax or photostat machine, could copy the amendments. I felt it would be unwise to produce or reproduce 210 copies of every set of amendments, which would be a wasteful use of paper, material and time when the amendments would not be of interest, say, to everyone.

So in connection with the suggestion you have brought to the floor I would certainly appreciate consideration of the discussion many months ago in regard to the House buying one or two or both machines, either a Thermo-Fax or photostat machine. In this way in a matter of three seconds an item can be duplicated for the use of any Member. I am sure it would be most helpful in duplicating other materials which are needed by many Members many times. I certainly hope this can be worked out because many times when amendments are passed upon here, and also discussed in caucus, it is most dfficult to work with just one or two copies among so many people.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would respectfully suggest that in order to bring the matter to a head the Chair appoint a committee of, say, two Members on each side of the House to meet with the Chief Clerk to try to work out the problem. I think it is a good suggestion, but in order to have action on it I would suggest that, unless you have already done so, you appoint a committee of four people.

The SPEAKER. The Chair, then, understands it is the will of the House that the respective Floor Leaders want two Members of a special committee who will confer with the Chief Clerk and work out this matter of the amendments. I do not think we need to take a vote on it. We understand it is the will of the House, and the Chair will make the appointments later when the respective Floor Leaders have made their decisions as to who should serve on that committee.

BILLS CALLED OUT OF ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if it is satisfactory to the Members of the House I would ask unanimous consent to bring bills up out of order to establish and work on what we can.

The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, it has been brought to my attention by the Chief Clerk that we should, in order to have as fine an outing as we can, have certain information from the Members of the House.

You have all received your notification of the bi-annual outing and if you will note at the bottom you should indicate whether you play golf, or whether you go swimming, and whether you will need transportation or not. It will greatly aid the Chief Clerk in having this information. It will aid the work of the Chief Clerk and his staff in setting up a most pleasant outing for us at the West Shore Country Club on July 13th.

I especially want to ask the membership of the House who will participate in the golf tournament, that will be arranged by a Golf Committee, to indicate your desires as to whether you will play golf or not, and to note upon your invitation your club handicap—your golfing handicap—because you will recognize that it will make for better competitive playing in setting up the foursomes for this occasion. If you do that it will help the Committee and certainly make for a most pleasant outing. I hope each and every one of the Members playing golf will put down their true handicaps and not inflated ones.

The SPEAKER. Who expects a set of golfers to file a correct record of handicap? Such confessions are unseemly. But, you have heard the request to file a record of your golf handicap with the Committee.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if a gentleman is handicapped with a bad sacroiliac whether he can have ten additonal points in a case like that?

The SPEAKER. The Chair, not having reached the age where it is appropriate for one to play golf, cannot answer that question. Golf, so far as he is concerned is an old man's game. I am going to play it sometime.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Mr. Filo, the gentleman from Allegheny, asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I am aware that many Members of the House have been busy this morning and in view of the fact that we are waiting for some bills and messages to come over to the House, I would like to take this opportunity to read an editorial from this morning's Patriot. I think it is most apropos for the time, and the Members who haven't read the article I feel will really get a message. This editorial reads

The Past May Be Prologue, But Now We Can't Afford It

> This Political Trick of grossly overestimating revenue still stands as the traditional way out of Pennsylvania's budget mess. No recent year Legislature has had the political courage and the governmental honesty to vote the adequate taxes which will put our Commonwealth on a pay-as-it-goes basis, and the current (1956-57) General Assembly is one of the worst of the lot.
> "This is why each new Legislature is presented a builtin financial crisis before its members even take the oath of office. This is why Pennsylvania is unlike so many other states, including neighboring New York, which just have wound up their fiscal years—not with deficits, but with tidy surpluses thanks to the upbeat national economy. From an editorial in The Patriot on June 11, 1957.
> The Title of this editorial of a little more than two years ago was "This Mess Is Bad Enough; Next One Will Be Worse."
> It is indeed.
> "Where the close-out deficit of the 1955-57 biennium added up to $63,977,006, the '57-'59 biennium would up an even month ago with our Commonwealth $141,598,685 in the red.
> "Up until now, one Governor after another has accepted the kited estimates of revenue which one Legislature after another has insisted the taxes would bring in.
> "Up until now, no Governor has faced up to the harsh and nasty responsibility of using the item veto to bring the spending into line.
> And adding to all of this a succession of Legislatures has mandated specific costs into law, but has failed to approve appropriation high enough to cover the tab. When the following Legislature comes to Our Town it then has no choice but to make up the difference with deficiency appropriations.
> In the fact of this record, cannot this General Assembly bring itself to cut out the pretending and face up honestly to the budget which it alone can enact? "The past is prologue."

Against this record of red ink, the old and familiar claims of the current Republican legislative leadership that tax revenue estimates are too low ring out in hollow mockery.

For the budget biennium just past, Governor Lawrence laid the bare-bones of fact before our present Legislature. He recited the record emphatically, then paused and said, "I want to repeat that."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield for one question? Is the gentleman under the impression that we are waiting for bills?

Mr. FILO. I am, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are not. We are waiting for the gentleman to finish to promptly adjourn the House.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FILO. I will finish shortly, Mr. Speaker, thank you and re-read this paragraph of his Monday address:

"In the 1957-59 budget, there were 26 categories where such underestimates of expeditures were written into the appropriation bills. The Governor's budget requests were 'reduced' by $36.7 million. The net result was that by the end of the biennium the deficiencies in these 26 categories amounted to $46 million."

"Simple arithmetic shows that this Legislature has had to appropriate just short of $10 million on top of making up that $36.7 million which its predecessor said wasn't needed.

These appropriations finance such programs as State aid to the public schools and public assistance. These are absolute costs which must be paid.

Governor Lawrence has laid down "the groundrules" which will govern his actions on State finance. They include refusal to accept deliberate underestimates on the costs of various State programs, insistence that increases in the budget be matched by honest incerases in revenue and blowing the whistle on that usual 11th hour rush of financial juggling of the legislative books behind closed committee doors without open public discussion and complete debate.

"Unlike Washington, no one can tab the Democrats in Harrisburg as "budget-busters," There are several ways to "bust" a budget. One is to frankly and openly cause a deficit, as at Washington, by refusing to pass new taxes and by increasing appropriations. The other is the "Harrisburg way," practiced by Republican-controlled Legislatures, of "balancing" the budget on paper but not in fact."

This, Mr. Speaker, is the end of the editorial in the Patriot of Wednesday, July 1, 1959. I hope this Legislature can meet up with the expectations of this editorial.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would only request permission of the House to say that while we will be in recess, the House Rules Committee will be in a meeting here this week.

The special Committee on Taxes will be meeting with the Republican Committee this week, working on the tax program, and we hope that when we come back here on Monday, July 13, that on Tuesday of that week we will have a special order of business dealing with the Governor's highway safety program which will be debated at length and voted as a series of bills dealing with the highway safety program.

There are bills which were reported out of Committee today which will be voted on that week—the referendum bowling bill for the major cities, in which the American Bowling Congress, we hope, will be able to come to this great Commonwealth in an effort to have their national tournament in either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh. The referendum bill for the cities is on the calendar, and very likely the week that we come back the major pieces of legislation will be ready, dealing with the fair housing bill and the air pollution bill.

Each of these items as well as the fish code, the highway code may not be ready by that time, and definitely the major boating law change dealing with the federal act in which if we do not license boats then the federal government will license them on the waters of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Each of these major pieces of legislation will be completed and ready, so the week of July 13 will be an extremely heavy and important week and the week following that on major pieces of legislation as well as party platform peldges of the Republican party and the Democratic party.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that all of our Members have a very enjoyable holiday which they certainly rightfully deserve, for this House has worked very hard regardless of what the papers may say, they have worked very faithfully on pieces of legislation which do not seem important to the State as a whole, but certainly are important to our local government, our schools, our counties, in the operation of State in various phases of administrative codes.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure that the weeks ahead will give an opportunity to this House to vote on major issues of great importance to a majority of the people of this Commonwealth.

I hope that everyone, except those of us who have to be here three or four days next week, will have a very wonderful vacation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I just want to comment on that editorial that Mr. Filo read.

I would say that the way of the budget cutter, the way of the person who wants to save the people new taxes, is hard.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. PARLANTE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, July 13, 1959, at 11:00 a.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:55 a.m. EST) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JULY 13, 1959. No. 65.

SENATE

MONDAY, JULY 13, 1959.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN DAVID TATE, Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Thou, Who art the Creator of life and the Author of freedom, we look unto Thee with thanksgiving for the privilege to rule. We confess that we too easily assert our own prerogatives as if they were not privileges from Thee. We confess that we are more sympathetic to self than patient with principle. We diagnose within ourselves a cancer of the conscience which could come from greed grown gangreous. We beg Thee for the courage to be more concerned with what is right than what is expedient.

In this State, where freedom has meant hope, may we not be the ones who make of that freedom a farce, and of that hope, an hypocrisy. Show us what to do when the issues are confused, our vision blurred and our judgment uncertain.

Grant that we may at least come to the end of this day confident that what we have done that is right, Thou will multiply, and what we have done that is wrong, Thou wilt thwart.

In the Name of Christ we pray, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which were read as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to be used by the Coal Research Board for research and development of a process for the use of coal for road building material and other uses and purposes.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PECHAN and SARRAF read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 933, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 12, 1951 (P. L. 533), entitled "The Mental Health Act of 1951," permitting applications for admission to be made by certain persons; providing for the contents of physician's certificate; and extending the period of time during which certain persons may be restrained.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, two weeks ago, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania handed down a decision on a Bill in Equity which sought to have this Senate reapportion, in spite of its failure to pass a bill.

This Senate has not been reapportioned since 1921. The majority opinion of the Supreme Court stated that it was powerless to force this Senate to reapportion. A minority opinion, by two judges, had some very nasty things to say about our Senate.

Mr. President, I am now introducing a bill to reapportion the Senate of Pennsylvania. The reapportionment, as contained in this bill, of course, is subject to negotiation among the Members of the Senate. However, I do hope that we will, this Session, come out with a reapportionment bill for the Senate of Pennsylvania.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SILVERT, SEYLER and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 937, entitled:

An Act fixing the number of Senators in the General Assembly of the State; apportioning the State into senatorial districts as provided by the Constitution; providing for the election of and the term of office of the present and future elected Senators and repealing inconsistent laws in respect thereto.

Which was committed to the Committe on Reapportionment.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 13, 1959.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, July 20, 1959 at two o'clock P. M., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, July 20, 1959 at three-thirty o'clock P. M., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am about to offer a resolution which will recognize the tremendous accomplishment which the Philadelphia Textile Institute has made in the past few years. As a matter of fact, only a year ago, they performed a great service by perfecting a new type of dacron which is now used in sewing up arteries. Some of the medical profession have stated that this accomplishment has brought about the saving of numerous lives.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING APPRECIATION TO THE PHILADELPHIA TEXTILE INSTITUTE FOR ITS CONTRIBUTION TO THE CULTURAL, TECHNOLOGICAL, INDUSTRIAL AND ECONOMIC PROGRESS OF PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. LANE, McMENAMIN, RUTH and SILVERT offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 13, 1959.

The Philadelphia Textile Institute, founded in 1884, is the oldest and largest textile college in the United States, representing the initial and most important efforts that have been made in our country to offer class room instruction directly applicable to textile. The realization that such instruction was an absolute necessity occurred following the Philadelphia Centennial International Exposition in 1876. The Exposition amply demonstrated at the time that European products, particularly in textiles, were far superior to those being produced in the United States.

With the textile industry of the United States domiciled predominantly in Pennsylvania, the logic of the situation in 1876 and thereafter dictated that textile manufacturers in Pennsylvania should initiate the movement of establishing the Philadelphia Textile Association for the purpose of promoting textile education in the United States. The Pennsylvania industralists, under the leadership of Theodore Search, of the firm of Erben Search and Company, yarn manufacturers of Philadelphia, fully realized that the United States could not compete with the leading markets of the world with its textile products unless the products combined the highest skill in manufacturing and the best taste in design, and lavishly contributed to the cause of the Institution.

After 75 years of intensive educational work and sustained and phenomenal growth, the Philadelphia Textile Institute is recognized today locally, nationally and worldwide as having the finest educational programs to be found in textile education.

The graduate of Philadelphia Textile Institute is not limited to a career in textiles. The curricula in chemistry, in management and marketing, and the technological curricula prepare him for graduate study or for a wide and rapidly increasing number of positions with chemical corporations, retailing posts, and clothing manufacturers as well as the whole range from art to production throughout the textile industry. An enumeration follows:

(a) The Department of Chemistry prepares students for the textile and related industries such as synthetic fiber, chemical, plastic, paint, etc. The aim of the Department is to provide the student with an understanding of the basic fields of chemistry and the major fields of textile chemistry. He also has available the facilities of a complete dyeing laboratory.

(b) The course in Textile Management and Marketing is offered to meet the expanding need for capable managers and executives in the merchandising and marketing of textiles. The opportunities available to young men and women are unequalled in any other field today. The graduate can look forward to an interesting future with a rapid rise to success without the need for graduate study and long competitive years in each position held.

The unique combination of liberal arts, business and technical subjects in this unusual course avoids over-specialization and provides the broad base of education so highly sought for by employers throughout the business world today. In no other field or program of study can this be accomplished in four years of undergraduate work. In the outline of the course, there is a fine balance of management essential with the humanities; the subjects that develop the disciplines needed to assess the human situations that arise daily.

(c) Fabric Design curricula encompass a general course giving the student a chance to become accustomed to college life while studying academic subjects. Specialized studies and laboratory experience are added in the second year. Knowledge and skill, the tools of the fabric designer, are both artistic and technical. Fabric design courses train the student in the technology of weaves, fabric analysis and construction, together with the knowledge of yarn types, sizes, uses and the fabrics which are made of yarns.

Learning to plan on paper a fabric which will be produced in a loom is one goal of these studies. Yarn manufacture—limits of yarn sizes and types according to the spinning system—is demonstrated in lectures and laboratories. The fabric designer must also be informed about the methods of adding color to textiles, at all stages and for all of the raw materials. Studies in dyeing and printing combine the color ideas of the artist with the practical aspects of application and duplication.

Art, color design, and textile technology challenge the creative abilities of the future designer. And with all of the equipment available for experiment in any area of fabric design, you may test your ideas for their practicality, as well as for their originality. Art courses, such as color, design, nature study, form and composition, help the student explore methods of design creations. Application of these methods to specific problems follow in the textile, fashion and interior design periods.

(d) Textile engineering covers the manufacture of substances from basic materials through controlled chemical and physical change and through controlled mechanical alignments and transformations to fiber, to blend, to top, to sliver, to yarn, to fabric, woven or knitted, through the chemical and physical changes of dyeing and finishing to the fabric for use in a wide variety of subsequent forms.

Operations are combined in sequence to form a manufacturing process. Process control and instrumentation are increasingly important to provide automatic, manual or combined manual-automatic supervision of a process, particularly in dyeing and finishing.

Processes include making of fibers from cellulose, resins, glass, ginning of cotton, scouring and carbonizing of wool, retting of flax, carding, blending, gilling, drawing, spinning, weaving, knitting, dyeing, finishing. Most of these processes involve fiber length, strength, crimp, and many physical and chemical, qualitative and quantitative characteristics of fibers for selected enduses of fabrics.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which appropriates biennial State aid to the Philadelphia Textile Institute, is singularly proud of the many public services performed by the Philadelphia Textile Institute that contributed and continues to contribute not only to the technological progress of the United States but also to the welfare of mankind. Thus, recently, the people of the United States received with profound gratitude the electrifying news that the Philadelphia Textile Institute perfected a new machine to manufacture a knitted Dacron material, which would revolutionize arterial grafts and thus prolong human life. Only a month ago, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, noted heart specialist, announced at the 108th Annual A. M. A. Convention that Thomas Edmund, of the Philadelphia Textile Institute, did the research to perfect a machine that will make the knitted dacron for installing replacements for arteries in the human body.

Said Dr. DeBakey, "Although our team of surgeons performed hundreds of grafts, including 500 for aortic aneurysms alone, with other plastic fibers, the knitted dacron is the best."

This epoch-making announcement contributed to and enhanced the joy of all Pennsylvanians on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the Philadelphia Textile Institute, and filled our hearts with gratitude to its leaders, headed by President, Dr. Bertrand W. Heyward and Dr. Frederic H. Barth, General Chairman of the Alumni Association, for their dedicated work.

Now be it therefore resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in the name of the people of Pennsylvania, extend to the Philadelphia Textile Institute its profound appreciation for its contribution to the cultural, technological, industrial and economic progress of Pennsylvania.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this past week end, while the Senate was recessed and I thought we were working toward a solution to our financial problems, I happened to read in the Sunday Bulletin an article that went into quite some detail. Part of this detail included what was going to occur concerning the cuts in the budget of the Commonwealth. One part of the article, in which I was primarily interested and which disturbed me, indicated that once again the city which I represent and the area which I represent was going to be very badly cut, or continue to receive the same cuts as before.

I am trying to ascertain whether the cuts, as stated in the article, are correct. In other words, if the gentleman quoted was misquoted, I would like to know that. If he was not misquoted, I would like to know exactly what areas he is defining, how far these areas are going to extend and whether his purpose is to limit or delimit the amount of money to be allocated.

For many weeks, Mr. President, the people of Pennsylvania have been told by Republican Members of the Senate that budget cuts were going to be recommended by several Senators who sat on a Special Appropriations Subcommittee. The size of these reductions, depending upon whom the newspapers were quoting, has varied from the small amount of $40,000,000 to the top amount of $100,000,000.

We went into this problem in some detail before we recessed, and every effort on my part and on the part of other Members on this side of the Senate for more specific information was met with the reply that the figures had not yet been checked by the Republican Caucus.

Yesterday, however, Mr. President, the Senator from Lancaster, who was quoted in this statement, was the source of a rather detailed report in the Philadelphia Bulletin, in which he revealed that the General Fund appropriation should be cut back by $63,000,000. All of us, I am sure, would appreciate knowing just where reductions of these dimensions are going to take place. The Senator gave us some details, according to the article in the Sunday Bulletin. Urban redevelopment, which very deeply concerns the Philadelphia area, the Pittsburgh area, and other large cities, will be subjected to a reduction of approximately three-fourths of the recommended appropriations which the Governor saw fit to include in his budget.

At the precise time that this statement was made, the President of the United States, who also happens to be a member of the same party as the gentleman making the statement, urged greater participation by the States in this program which is essential to the preservation of our urban areas, small as well as large areas, in giving them renewed economic strength, enlargement of employment opportunities and basically removing the cancers of slum and blight.

Dozens of Pennsylvania communities are dependent upon the State's participation in this program in which we, in Philadelphia, if you please, have pioneered the way for the entire nation. There are more applications pending for Philadelphia than any other area in the entire country.

Can it be that anyone interested in this State and this recovery can be against the very modest—and I am sure that the gentleman will agree with me that they are very modest—appropriations requested by the Governor?

This is but one of the areas of proposed reductions, as I understand from the newspaper stories. If I am incorrect, I hope that the gentleman will correct me.

The same report inferred that the funds requested for the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority are going to be trimmed back despite the fact that money available for this activity is now practically exhausted. At the last meeting of the Authority, tentative approval was given to three projects, two in Hazleton and one in Erie. This approval was made subject to the availability of funds. These projects involved employment for approximately 400 persons. Six more applications will be before the Authority when it meets next week, which could provide 600 additional jobs in Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton, Canonsburg, Pittston, Selinsgrove and New Castle. Their fate will depend upon the availability of funds.

This is probably the most important single task we face in Pennsylvania, building new employment opportunities in our areas of chronic joblessness and maintaining employment. The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, which is hardly a Democratic organization, has stated through its economic adviser that we are now for the first time in a competitive position with other States.

Surely every penny we can find should be devoted to this cause where, once again, this Commonwealth has pioneered boldly and productively without the aid, to this point at least, of a Federal program.

Beyond these two items, the published report of the so-called budget cuts is hazy and contradictory. In view of the newspaper story, I would like to publicly ask the Senator from Lancaster whether or not he is recommending reductions in the Public Assistance Program as has been reported in a number of newspapers. If he is, may I point out that in six out of seven bienniums we have been required to provide deficiency appropriations for public assistance. These amounts totaled nearly $80,000,000.

May I also point out that the Governor, in recommending $173,000,000 in appropriations for public assistance for the 1959-1961 biennium, expected the average case load to total 312,000 during this period. Today the number of persons receiving public assistance is 340,000 people. Surely in the face of these facts it is clear that any reduction in this appropriation is unrealistic and such a cut is almost certain to produce a deficiency appropriation in the 1961 Session.

The same applies to the Occupational Disease Fund. Any reduction in the budget request is simply disregarding the facts and guaranteeing a deficit before the end of the next biennium.

There are other facts I would like to have given to this Senate and to the public concerning these reductions in the budget. Is it true that these cuts include avoiding our responsibility to the city of Philadelphia by eliminating assistance to the Philadelphia General Hospital, which the Governor very properly included in his budget? Do they take away money to reimburse the Philadelphia Health Department, which the Governor also requested, to bring Philadelphia in line with the other sixty-six counties now receiving funds from the State? Is it true that despite campaign promises by both parties that these reductions slash away at the already underfinanced Fair Employment Practices Commission, and remove the additional funds to build a sound and effective mediation service for the State, which could help create a more wholesome atmosphere for labor-management relations in our State?

Is it true that these recommendations of the several Republican Senators would slash the agricultural budget, when we have only now provided for the 1957-1959 biennium?

Is it correct that these Senators are going to advocate cutting out the program for a library system in Pennsylvania, for which the Governor for the first time in the budget recommended a very modest start?

Do we want to eliminate the program to combat juvenile delinquency by cutting out the sheltered workshops and the seed money for juvenile police and probation officers in our local communities?

Are the forestry camps, as quoted in the article, where young offenders are being rehabilitated for law abiding lives, going to be abandoned or cut back so badly that they will be completely inoperative?

Is the program for coal research, which seeks new markets for one of Pennsylvania's most depressed industries, going to be slashed?

Is the recommendation for more State Police, to help protect the lives and property of Pennsylvania citizens, being thrown out the window?

Is the program for flood control going to be cut back in the face of repeated disasters which have cost millions of dollars in damage in every section of our Commonwealth?

Mr. President, these are some of the questions which I believe should be answered. They are, by no means, all the questions that can be asked, but they are indicative, I believe, of some of the worries which the people of Pennsylvania have when they read about wholesale budget slashes.

No one in this Chamber and no one in this State Government, to the best of my knowledge,—and I believe it has been stated many times publicly—wants any more money appropriated for the State's functions and responsibilities than sound economic management demands. However, neither should we step back in providing this State and its people with the proper and necessary protection, with opportunities for economic advancement, with enhancing its agricultural growth, with expanding its employment, with broadening its educational programs, with all these things in which the State is the essential and the indispensible partner with other governmental agencies and with private groups and individuals.

We should be told where the cuts are suggested, and we should be told in detail. We should also be alert to cuts which look good on paper, but which will have to be made up with deficiencies when next we meet. Only when we have the facts can we, as Legislators, and the people, as citizens, make a proper and intelligent judgment as to the course of action which is ours to take.

I have asked this a number of times. I have brought it up under Petitions and Remonstrances. I have discussed this matter when we brought up the bills to be introduced and when they were being discussed. I am not going to try to make a comment on these proposed decreases in the budget for the simple reason that we, on this side of the Senate have been working very closely with the Senate Finance Committee and the House Finance Committee, who are making an equally searching study of this entire problem. We have been meeting here during recesses, we have been discussing it among ourselves, in our committees, out of committees and when we bring up the bills on this floor.

I ask here, publicly, as a member of the board of directors of this State, to be told if you are going to cut my area and cut it badly, which you have been doing right along in the past years. I think the time for us to know it is now.

Perhaps I would join that gentleman on the other side who asked that Philadelphia be given back to the Indians, and ask that it be given to New Jersey. I think they would be very happy to have it. We will take with us the tax money we supply to the State. If that is not helpful to this situation, I do not know of any other offer I can make to you.

I would like to close by telling you a short story which I am sure all of you have heard many, many times, about the man who was working as a bartender for another gentleman who was a friend of his. One day the owner came into the bar and saw the bartender take twenty cents for an article he had just sold. He first put ten cents into the cash register, thought about it for a moment, took the ten cents out of the cash register and put the entire twenty cents into his pocket. The owner accosted the gentleman working for him and said, "Aren't we partners any longer?"

That is the question I am asking you today. Are we not partners and members of the same board, and should we not act in consort instead of putting up with our petty political problems and get to a solution of this problem, which affects all the people in this State and not only those in a small area?

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this bill, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in reference to Senate Bill No. 592, I want to say, in a most courteous manner to the Minority Leader, that this bill has now been on our Calendar for almost a month. We have heard a great deal about the relay in this Session of the Legislature.

This bill is of very minor importance. It is merely to correct an Act which was passed during the 1957 Session. I furnished the Minority Leader with two letters; one from the County Superintendent of Highways and another one from the Department of Highways, stating in substance that this bill was merely to correct the former law.

Since the bill has been on our Calendar and passed first reading on June 16, I think it is about time that we dispose of these matters. This bill is of very little consequence and, as a matter of fact, we are only trying to help the Department of Highways by sponsoring the bill and having it on our Calendar.

However, Mr. President, since the Minority Leader seems to want to delay this, I would move that Senate Bill No. 592 now be recommitted to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, substantially, what the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, said is true. There were two letters addressed to him, on Department of Highways' stationery, but neither one of them was signed by the Secretary of Highways.

I have a letter here from the Secretary of Highways, who happens to be the boss of both of the gentlemen who wrote to Senator Wade. His difficulty with this bill is that they are in favor of one section of the bill, but against another section of it. They feel that this might cause some confusion and some difficulty, and they feel that they would rather straighten out the legislation at a later date or, at least, take it up with the Secretary of Highways more fully and with the people involved, so that they can get the correct type of legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 606, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing residence requirements.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I received a communication from the Secretary of the Commonwealth in which he said that we have just two more weeks in which to pass any of these constitutional amendments, because they have to be advertised by August 1, 1959.

I have checked the History and have found that House Bill No. 233 is the same resolution, word for word. I am fearful of the title and, therefore, I was going to suggest to the Majority Floor Leader that he talk to the Chairman of the Committee which holds House Bill No. 233 in order to get this passed in time so that it can be advertised and voted upon this year.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not see where the delay is going to come in if we pass Senate Bill No. 606 finally today. I suggest that we do pass this bill and then, if the Chairman of the Committee wishes to report House Bill No. 233, they will practically get the same treatment in a matter of time. As far as the origin of the bill, I do not have any preference as far as that is concerned.

I suggest that we pass this bill and have it in process anyway, so that if they want to do something with it, they can.

By the way, Mr. President, I received the same letter from the Secretary of the Commonwealth as to the deadline on that, and that is correct.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Barr,	Hays,	Miller,	Silvert,

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 322, on second reading, entitled:

An Act revising the procedure to be followed concerning arrest detention and bail and substituting criminal summons for warrant of arrest in certain criminal cases be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill being recommitted. However, I would just like to point out that this bill tries to solve the age old problem that has been besetting many people for a long time, and one which has gotten most of the Members who inhabit this Body, who are politicians, into some difficulty, where one neighbor either looks cross-eyed at another neighbor or one neighbor spits on another neighbor. They go to their respective friendly magistrates, or justices of the peace, and each gets a warrant, whereupon the opposing neighbor is taken out of bed at two o'clock in the morning and, summarily, dragged off to the bastile and held there until such time as he can arange bail or get a hearing or get some other friendly magistrate to sign a copy.

This bill would eliminate this type of activity. It would say to people who are generally good citizens, who live in a community and who have no criminal record, that they are to appear at "X" hour in my office. If they fail to appear, then the magistrate or justice of the peace would issue a warrant. This would not apply to capital cases, nor would it involve matters dealing with people who have committed some type of heinous crime, but more or less in the nature of a motor vehicle violation or where two neighbors are having a fight or that type of thing which is innocuous, generally. Many times, as you and I know, people are arrested under circumstances which are questionable or where if there were a little less heat generated and more thought given, perhaps it would not have come about.

Mr. President, I have no objection to this bill going back to committee. Maybe we can correct the problem which the bill presents.

Mr SILVERT. Mr. President, for the excellent reasons given by our Minority Leader, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman request a roll call? A motion to recommit requires only a voice vote.

Mr. SILVERT. I request a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to second the gentleman's request for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SILVERT and Mr. SEYLER. and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31

Berger,	Harney,	McMenamin,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Keller,	Pechan,	Wade,

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 407, on second reading, entitled:

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Will you tell us the reason why you object to this bill?

Mr. BERGER. Apparently, Mr. President, this bill does not seem to have much point. The only thing it does is change the name of "Trade" to "Vocational Schools." As far as we could see, there did not seem to be any substantial reason why that word should be changed.

Mr. MULLIN. Thank you.

This bill, Mr. President, is requested by the trade schools. There was a time when their organization was made up of trades. However, most of these trade schools have gone out of business since the war. They were previously known as vocational schools. At one time, however, we did see fit to change the vocational school name to trade school, and now you desire to change it back. Since there is a law and since they are the ones who are subjects of the law, certainly we should allow them to be called, under the law which affects them, the name which they think is most appropriate.

Mr. President, that is the reason why I cannot see any point in recommitting this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 491, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," prohibiting certain business activities on Sunday.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the other day I read in the Lancaster Intelligencer a very interesting article. As the Members of this Senate know, we held many hearings on the Department of Public Instruction in trying to find out what the story is over there.

One of the outcomes, and one on which a great amount of testimony took place in those hearings, was the dire distress that the department was in because of the lack of qualified professional employees and the lack of money which was available to them.

Surprisingly enough, on Thursday or Friday, I believe, I read in the Lancaster newspaper that a Professor Richard Schier, of Lancaster, who is a Professor at Franklin and Marshall College, was appointed by the Department of Public Instruction at the rate of $9,011, annually, to work during the summer months. In figuring that out, I find that that is approximately $750 per month, or about $1,500 for this summer which Professor Richard Schier is going to receive from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It just so happens that Professor Schier is a Professor of Government at Franklin and Marshall College. Professor Schier is very active in Democratic circles. I believe he is on the Democratic Executive Commission. He has been one of those individuals who has been talking about the great expenditure of money. I did a little checking on the Professor and found out that he had a home here in Harrisburg. When I say a "home" I put that in quotes.

During previous summers, he had position in other departments. For instance, I know that last summer he was in the Department of Internal Affairs. Now, he has been brought over to the Department of Public Instruction as one of these so-called experts. Of course, the magnificent sum of $750 is for Professor Schier as Administrative Officer under the National Defense Education Act in the Department of Public Instruction.

I would ask the Members of the Senate, in view of the fact that we are trying hard to find money for the Department of Public Instruction, whether or not a two-month sojourn in the Department of Public Instruction by Professor Schier, as Administrative Assistant, will really pay dividends to this Commonwealth. I know that each and everyone of us who come here as new Senators, or come here in any governmental capacity, find it a little difficult to get really acquainted and know what we are doing in the first few months. It is difficult to get to know the people, the job and various other details. In the first place, it is so complicated up here in government.

Evidently, Professor Schier has been appointed by the Democratic Administration to do a job here in two months. It has come to my ears that the Professor has a great many contacts with the Governor's Office. He is supposed to know all about personnel. His duties are in the Personnel Department, under the National Defense Education Act. I would question whether the Professor can do a job for two months in State Government, in the Department of Public Instruction, for the sum of $1,500. Is this another example of waste in government? Is this the way the Department of Public Instruction is going to continue to function after the hearings have been closed? I think it is a sad story when they get these professors into government merely to give them a home and to give then a little extra money during the summer at the taxpayers' expense. I believe it should be called to the attention of the Senate and to the public. I think it is a sad story for the people of Lancaster County, who know his situation, and the people of Lebanon County. I have had dealings with Professor Schier and found him to be a very vehement Democrat. Perhaps, that is his qualification for being appointed. I do not know that, but perhaps Senator Barr could answer it. I am very disappointed, however, to find that Governor Lawrence, in his economy drive, is appointing people like that in State Government for a period of two months.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, Doctor Schier, about whom the gentleman's remarks were made, is not a resident of my county. However, I do know Doctor Schier both personally and by professional reputation. I think Franklin and Marshall College, which is one of the most distinguished small colleges in America and which is in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is extremely fortunate to have men of the caliber of Doctor Schier on its staff.

Doctor Schier, it is true, is an expert in government, which is a broad area. His services have been used by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think if the Senator from Lebanon will investigate the qualifications of Doctor Schier, he will find that he is very well qualified to take a broad view of any government problem. In addition to his services to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania he has also performed similar services in a consultative capacity for the Federal Government, which, I believe, is of a different party affiiation, as far as the Administration is concerned, than the one that Senator Ehrgood alleges Doctor Schier embraces.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

he PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I just hope that the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, gets my name straight hereafter.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I apologize to the Senator. I meant to say "Ehrgood." He is a good Senator and has a heart and, therefore, the two things go very well together.

To get back to the subject of Doctor Schier, Mr. President, he is thoroughly competent to perform the services for which he was hired; namely, to get ready in time so that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can enjoy a return, in the form of Federal funds, from the government under the terms of the National Defense Education Act. I think the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is fortunate to be able to acquire talent such as Doctor Schier has, whether he comes from Lancaster or from any part of the Commonwealth. I do not think there is any question about his competence.

I also mention the fact, Mr. President, that Doctor Schier has been very much interested, as a member of the staff of Franklin and Marshall College, in conducting the nonpartisan program, which is put on by the colleges, with the idea of interesting the youth of our colleges, particularly those who are political science majors, in being interested in government and becoming active participants in government. From that point of view, Doctor Schier has been on the committee which has sponsored affairs at which practicing politicians, such as Senator Ehrgood is, and students who are interested in political government are able to get together and meet on a basis of discussing the problem of being active in politics. Despite his doubts about Doctor Schier's capabilities, I know that Senator Ehrgood has been kind enough at times to accept the hospitality of this group and has met under the auspices of Roctor Schier's committee with these groups of students. At that time, I never heard Senator Ehrgood raise any question as to the competency of Doctor Schier. Perhaps, he did not think that was the appropriate time to do it. However, since we have both broken bread with Doctor Schier on such occasions, I am sure that Senator Ehrgood is aware that Doctor Schier is interested, broadly and in a nonpartisan way, in interesting the youth of Lancaster County and, more broadly, the youth of Franklin and Marshall College in being interested in good government and in politics.

Therefore, Mr. President, I take issue with the statements made by Senator Ehrgood, or at least that part of them which reflected on the professional competence of Doctor Schier or on his being engaged in a professional capacity by the Commonwealth or in his giving due service in return for the salary which is being paid to him.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, at no time did I cast any aspersions on the general competence of Professor Scheir, and I would not want to do that. However, I did raise the question—and I think it is a very serious matter—that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Department of Public Instruction, which needs experts badly, would spend money for a two month period on a person who does not know the personnel and who, incidentally, is not just concerned with N.D.A. matters, but also questions about annexation and various parts of government in the Department of Public Instruction.

Why would Professor Schier be interested in the Department of Public Instructions with questions of annexation of the city of Lancaster?

I believe that it is time for this Commonwealth to stop fooling itself and stop having a lot of nonpartisan hocum about the general competence of someone and start getting down to work. When someone is employed in the Department of Public Instruction, it is necessary to have someone who is qualified in that department, who is going to be employed full time and not just have a home for the summer and cost the taxpayers $1,500 to do the job. I am sick and tired of it and I am sure that taxpayers are sick and tired of it.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I look upon the remarks of the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Ehrgood, as more of a condemnation of higher education and college professors in general. Since I have so many fine constituents in this category, I must rise in their defense.

I only hope that this expression of the gentleman from Lebanon County will not mean that he also will look with disfavor on any extension of the higher education program for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at this Session or any succeeding Session.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the remarks of Senator Hays, I believe, would be completely irrelevant to what was said heretofore. What does that have to do with higher education?

Let us not change the subject, try to evade it and try to cast mud across the waters.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I did want to answer Senator Ehrgood in his earlier statement, in which he said that he could not see any reason why people were hired for only two or three months. I think the answer to that is that the department at times, and all departments at times, have need for expert services which they cannot possibly hire on a permanent basis because the type of men they need are already on the staffs of institutions of higher learning. For that reason, and very wisely I think, the department which need such services hire these people when they are available or when they can be procured.

On a second point, regarding his answer to Senator Hays, I would say that I do not indict Senator Ehrgood for having this in mind. However, I think the type of statement that he made is perhaps a part of a general feeling that some people have had, in that any person who somes from an institution of higher learning and takes a place in government is somehow an entire fool, not of any value and so on.

I think Senator Hays made a good point in saying that certainly we would not want Senator Ehrgood's remarks to be extended to that meaning, because it is a part of a wave of anti-intellectualism against which I think we should guard. We can very well use, in government, the services of people how have studied and are expert in their fields. We need people like that and we are fortunate when we are able to get them.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, when the Senate reapportionment bill was introduced today, I heard a chance remark of "Love's labor lost." I am in agreement that a reapportionment bill introduced at this time will have that type of a fate.

However, Article II, Section 18, of our Pennsylvania Constitution, places a solemn duty on this Senate Body to apportion this State into Senatorial Districts after each United States Decennial Census. Each of us, upon taking office, in accordance with Article VII of the Pennsylvania Constitution, took a solemn oath to obey the Constitution of this Commonwealth. It does not become anyone in this Body to take this oath lightly. The Constitution does not mince words. It is clear and specific.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, by a vote of four to two, said that reapportionment is a political matter and within the powers of this Body. Two of the Justices disagreed and said that it was a mandatory injunction.

I believe that it is both. We can at least do our sworn duty by reporting out Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 104, which directs a Joint State Government Commission study of Senatorial reapportionment and a report to the next Session of the General Assembly.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, according to the newspapers, various Members of the majority in this Senate have been giving tantalizing stories on the scope of the budget eventually to be adopted for this Commonwealth and on the character of the taxes which will be levied to pay for the appropriations. I refer to the statements as "tantalizing" only in the sense that the meat of the matter is kept out of reach, and there are little or no facts to support broad and confusing generalizations.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that it is time that the Members of the Senate and of the House be fully informed as to how the Republican veto power is going to be used in the future.

The people of Pennsylvania are entitled to know what taxes are going to be given the go-ahead sign from the Republican leadership in the House and whether the Senate has agreed to these taxes.

We all have a right to know, for example, what the position of the Republicans in the Senate will be toward the personal property tax, which was passed by the House two weeks ago. Is it true, as newspaper reports indicate, that a few Senators are going to kill this measure without letting their colleagues vote their preference?

Is it the sense of the Republican leadership in this House that the entire tax burden is going to be imposed on the consumer in the form of the sales tax, with no thought of distributing at least a portion of the burden on those better able to pay?

Mr. President, I think the people of Pennsylvania deserve to know the answer. They have a right to know whether or not the Republican leadership in the Senate believes that a tax on the value of stocks and bonds is less desirable than a tax on the goods and services we all must purchase as part of our daily living.

It is perfectly obvious, Mr. President, that the members of the Hood-Kennedy Committee included the personal property tax in its recommendations because its members honestly believed that the burden of taxation should be distributed more fairly and more equitably. I need not point out that there were six Republicans on that committee, most of whom would be subject to a sizeable tax under the personal property levy. They indicated their willingness to accept that burden by including it in their recommendations. That committee included a banker; yet the recommendations included one for doubling the bank shares tax. This is proof, indeed, that these men served as Pennsylvanians, and not as representatives of special interests.

Are those interests now to be represented by a small group of Republican Senators who are willing to soak he poor and spare the rich?

No one can say that the personal property tax is going to drive industry out of Pennsylvania or create a bad tax climate for industry that is now here. After all, everyone of the sixty-seven counties of this State already levy four mills in this field. The recommendation that the rate for all citizens be raised to ten mills has not been characterized by anyone as excessive. As you know, the citizens of Pittsburgh have been paying ten mills for the past twelve years. I know of no one who suggests that Pittsburgh has suffered because of this tax. Nor has Philadelphia, where the school district imposes an additional four mills in personal property tax on top of the regular county levy.

There have been efforts to raise a smoke screen of favoritism in relation to this tax because the taxpayers of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia would be given credit by the State for the personal property taxes they now pay locally. I would like to point out, Mr. President, that the bulk of this tax in Pittsburgh and all of the additional tax in Philadelphia is devoted to public schools. I need not remind the Members of this Senate that both these communities have long maintained that they have been discriminated against in the amount of State funds they received for the education of their school children. The fact that the Legislature has seen fit to give them, and them alone among the Commonwealth's school districts, the right to tax personal property is tacit admission of the correctness of this contention.

The heart of this matter, of course, is whether or not a few men, whose motives might not be entirely selfless, are going to deny the Commonwealth $55,000,000 during this biennium which would be produced from this tax. Are they going to shortchange the many to prevent the few from sharing the tax burden more fully? And if they are not going to shortchange the budget, are they then going to sock this additional burden on the consumer, who is already assuming the lion's share of the tax responsibility as it has been expanded so far during this Session?

Mr. President, the majority leadership, on many occasions, has bragged that the Senate enacted the expanded sales tax within forty-eight hours after the measures were received from the House. The implication was clear. The Senate, according to these majority leaders, was ready to act promptly whenever revenue measures were sent to it. Mr. President, revenue measures are now before us. When are we going to act to rescue this Commonwealth from its present unhappy financial plight?

May I urge, as the Governor did two weeks ago in his memorable address to the Legislature, that it be soon rather than late? May I add the hope that when we act, we do so as Pennsylvanians, whose interest is in the citizenry of this State and not in the exclusion of a small group from its proper share of the tax program?

I might add, in conclusion, Mr. President, that I am ready to vote for a tax program, a tax program that would spread out to all Pennsylvanians and for all Pennsylvanians to pay their fair share.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I enjoyed the very excellent dissertation by Senator Rooney and was particularly impressed by the emphasis he put on the fact that apparently there was some tantalization because of the reticence on our part to reveal in detail the budget reductions which are being contemplated and studied by the Members on this side.

Mr. President, we are not but the House now is engaged in a conference between the Republican leaders and the Democratic leaders with a view of coming up with some solution to the present tax impasse which is before us. It is pretty well understood I believe that the Governor's tax program, which was presented to the Joint Legislature some time ago, did not meet with the approval of the Majority Party in the House and that some other solution will have to be provided.

I understand that tomorrow the leaders of the House are going to go to their respective Caucuses with some proposals which came out of this conference, and if they are successful in having some approval given, we may possibly receive the solution to that problem within the next couple of weeks. If we do, well and good. We will be prepared to deal with it. We do not consider ourselves bound by it, in a sense, but we will be prepared to deal with it.

Mr. President, as to the details in the budget cuts, I have stated to reporters and to others, and I will state to the Members of the Minority in this Senate, that upon receipt of an appropriation bill which is being studied by the House Appropriations Committee,—and I understand there are some reductions being made even there—we will then put our minds to it and go to work to see where and in what areas we may effect some savings for the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

We have been here for several months, rather too long in my opinion, but I do not think the time has been lost because, to use a round figure, at the end of this fiscal situation we will have found that with the reductions in the deficit, with an increase in the estimated revenues and with such reductions as we can safely make in the budget, we will have probably come up with a figure in saving—on the revenues which we will have to obtain from the people of Pennsylvania in the neighborhood of about $100,000,000.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, when I was young, I liked to play hide and seek, and I think the Republicans are playing hide and seek with one another.

I talked with several Republican leaders last week and they said that the Senate would not tell them where their cuts were, as yet, because they had not taken it up before their Caucus and they were afraid the news might get out. As usual, things do leak out, and I know pretty well where the cuts are intended. However, that does not jibe with what Mr. Johnson had to say. I want to read to you what Mr. Johnson had to say. I think he is a candidate for some office this year.

On June 15, 1959, after Mr. Polen had asked for permission to address the House and told them of the cuts which the Appropriations Committee had agreed upon in the budget as presented by the Governor, Mr. Johnson said:

> "Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly reply to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.
> "I am not going to try today to make any comment on his proposed decreases in the budget for the simple reason that we on this side of the House have been working very closely with the Senate Finance Committee, the sub-committee that is, of the State Senate,"—I may add that he had the wrong committee; it was the Appropriations Committee—"who have made an equally searching study of the budget and we are meeting again tonight at 9:00 o'clock. We were with them last night until midnight and suffice it to say the Senate sub-committee together with the members of the House Appropriations Committee on this side who have been meeting, will have budget recommendations which I would say go far beyond what Mr. Polen has recommended in his report here today."

Last week I talked to several of their leaders, and contrary to what Mr. Johnson had to say, they told me that Mr. Kessler now had informed them that they would not give them their budget cuts because they were afraid that if word got out, they would have a hard time selling it to their Caucus.

I think it should be sold not to the Caucus, if the budget is to be cut, but it should be sold to the people of Pennsylvania whom we all represent in this Body.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have listened to the speeches here today in regard to the budget, and there seems to be a considerable difference of opinion over on the other side in regard to the amounts that are going to be cut. Senator Kessler stated two weeks ago on this floor, in answer to my interrogation, that they planned on cutting the budget by the sum of more than $60,000,000. He also stated, at that time, that he was going to permit us to pass levies that will amount to $150,000,000 in new taxes. He also stated that he did not agree with the Leader deficiency, which was supposed to amount to $141,000,000.

In speaking of the budget, I imagine that we are speaking of the General Fund Budget. If the Members of the Republican Party give out these releases to the newspapers, then surely they should give this information to the Members of the Senate I read in the paper, day after day, how much is going to be cut. When we ask the Chairman of the Finance Committee to elaborate, we receive a silence. There is no answer. It does not seem fair. If they are going to continue these releases then, in all fairness to us, they should let us know where they are going to cut the budget.

While I am on the subject of budgets, Mr. President, I want to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that the Auditor General of Pennsylvania is getting along quite well with his budget for this biennium. As a matter of fact, he is going to have an increase of about 150% over the last biennium, and that does not include the auditing of the school fund. We have gone over that in detail, and I would like to take that up with Senator Kessler and some of the other Members at a later date and we will get all the figures together and, especially, get these cuts out on the floor.

I understand they are going to cut Public Assistance. If you cut Public Assistance, we are going to be in trouble. Someone said before that for the last seven Sessions, we have had deficiency appropriations, and according to the public press there are more people going on relief every day in this particular area. Therefore, how are you going to cut Public Assistance?

We could go on down through this, Mr. President, because I have some information, too, in regard to what the gentleman on the other side plan on doing. I feel that if we are going to adjourn within the next two months, we should have their figures before us, and the sooner the better. Otherwise, the way it looks to me, we are going to be here until October.

I do not know what the House is going to do. I am not a Member of the House, and you gentlemen are not either. We are Members of the Senate and our job is to get this thing going. I would like to have a meeting with the Finance Committee to go over the tax problem in detail. I do not know what Senator Kessler is going to do about the personal property tax. However, I do say that we should have a meeting and be given the right to discuss it in detail. I happen to be a Member of that Committee and I am more than anxious to attend, at Senator Kessler's call.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO THE PRESIDING OFFICER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I believe I would be remiss if I did not mention, at this time, that the gentleman who is presiding in the Chair had a birthday on the Fourth of July, which puts him in a pretty fair position to claim some national recognition. Since we did not have a Session last week, I believe that we should congratulate Senator Scott, at this time, on having had a birthday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair most certainly thanks Senator Berger and his fellow colleagues in the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I wish also to join in the best wishes for your birthday, and to express the hope that we are not here on my birthday in November.

Make us, we humbly pray, mindful of our fellowmen as well; grant to us a compassionate spirit in regards to their needs and requirements; awaken within us the sincere desire to be of help in whatever way possible; and quicken us with the competency of Thy divine presence in order that we may do Thy Will: through Jesus Christ, Thy Dear Son, Our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee, and the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 295

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 10, 1959.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 295, Printer's No. 544, entitled "An Act amending the act of June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1046) entitled 'An act providing for equalization of assessed valuations of real property throughout the Commonwealth for use in determining the amount and allocation of Commonwealth subsidies to school districts creating a State Tax Equilization Board and prescribing its powers and duties imposing duties on certain local officers agents boards commissions and departments and making an appropriation' REQUIRING THE EXCLUSION OF THE ASSESSED VALUATION OF CERTAIN REAL ESTATE IN CERTIFICATES AND further regulating the valuation of real property in school districts."

This bill amends Section 10 of the Act of June 27, 1947, P. L. 1046, and adds a new Section 14.1 authorizing local assessing officials to except from their report of the assessed valuation of all real property in the counties the real property on which taxes have been delinquent for five years or more and which are not titled to the county.

The principal function of the State Tax Equalization Board is to equalize valuations of real property throughout the Commonwealth for use in determining the amount of Commonwealth subsidies to school districts. When title to properties is taken in the name of the counties, total market value is decreased and, by operation of the reimbursement fraction, State subsidies to school districts in the counties are correspondingly increased.

The original intent of this bill to eliminate the accumulation of delinquent taxes and present a fair assessment list for tax purposes is laudable. However, subsequent amendments to the original bill have changed its purpose and direction. In its final form, the bill condones the formulation of two separate estimates of market value: one, for reimbursement purposes, excluding real property on which taxes have been delinquent for five years or more and which have not been titled to the county; and another, for purposes of floating bonded indebtedness including all properties titled to private owners. The latter formulation provides an unrealistic fiscal picture for presentation to prospective bondholders. Above all, this feature is a fatal defect.

It is unfortunate that time limitations do not permit recall of this bill for amendment, and therefore, for the above reasons, the bill is not approved.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair notes the gentleman on the left, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, rising in his place, but unless he properly adresses the Chair he will not be recognized.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, not only sharp as usual but properly attired, as you may note. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to voice a long smouldering case of rank discrimination.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that the gentleman from Cambria, who has been a Member of this House for a short period of time, has demanded the right to make a motion which is normally reserved for the newer Members. The Chair thinks that the gentleman is in his proper sphere in requesting the right to make such a motion.

The Chair might inform the Members he has been a Member of this House for 20 years and has never once adjourned this House. For that purpose the Chair now recognizes the new Member from Cambria County, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, when I first came I pleaded with the leaders of the House at that time. They would not let me make a motion to adjourn. Since that time during the last session I thought I had a friend as Floor Leader on the Democratic side and a friend on the Republican side—nothing doing.

I have decided, Mr. Speaker, to take the situation in hand and without their concurrence and without even the concurrence of the Chair to make the following motion. I will read it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All the Chair can say is, you better read it correctly.

Mr. ANDREWS. Incidentally, Mr. Speaker, when I was a small boy I wondered what became of boys that swore and cussed when they played marbles, and I know now where they wind up. They wind up playing golf.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If the gentleman comes over to the Country Club this afternoon, he is likely to learn a few new words.

The Chair has recognized the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cambria yields to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the reason I would never let him adjourn the House is that I never wanted him to have the last word.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair once again recognizes the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, July 14, 1959, at 11:00 a. m., E.S.T., 12:00 noon D.S.T.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to advise the House that the Speaker of the House has finally attained a 20-year ambition and also notes that he has performed a full day's work today as Speaker of the House.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:48 p. m., E.S.T.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN DAVID TATE, Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray:

"Judge eternal, throned in splendor
"Lord of Lords and King of Kings,
"With Thy living fire of judgment
"Purge this land of bitter things;
"Solace all its wide dominion
"With the healing of Thy Wings.
"Crown, O God, Thine own endeavor;
"Cleave our darkness with Thy sword;
"Feed the faint and hungry heathen
"With the richness of Thy Word;
"Cleanse the body of this nation
"Through the glory of the Lord."

Almight God, Who hast given us this good State for our heritage, find us a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless this State with honorable industry, sound learning and zeal for the right. Save us from violence, discord and confusion. Be close to those for whom an impending strike may mean loss of income, fear and hardship. Grant unto those who hold in their hands the destiny of so many lives the wisdom and courage to live above petty personal privilege. May these Thy servants in this Senate develop a sense of gnawing dissatisfaction until they have grappled with the highest good for the greatest number and become its champion.

These blessings was ask in Thy Name. Amen.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of myself, Senator Propert, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Hays and Senator Seyler, who wou will recognize as the committee appointed under Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11, to investigate the Department of Public Instruction. I am offering this resolution and requesting its immediate consideration.

The content of the resolution is simply to commend the California State Teachers College, the University of Pennsylvania and The Pennsylvania State University for setting up schedules, including a complete summer term, and making it possible for young folks to complete a college education in three years instead of four.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING THE CALIFORNIA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH AND THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY FOR THEIR FORWARD LOOKING APPROACH IN INSTITUTING TWELVE-MONTH PROGRAMS

Messrs. WADE, PROPERT, EHRGOOD, HAYS and SEYLER offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the Senate, July 14, 1959.

The most urgent problem facing education in the years immediately ahead are those concomitant with the impending increases in enrollments. Not only must the leaders in education be alert to the problems, but our boards of control in our various colleges and universities must be ready to assume the responsibility for taking the necessary leadership in attempting to solve them.

Studies lead to the expectation that increased numbers of youth will be graduated from the twelfth grade and also that increased numbers will go on with their education beyond that grade. Studies of plant utilization indicate that enrollments may be immediately increased through better utilization of plant facilities. Several institutions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have already taken steps to use the plant facilities on a twelve-month basis; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of Pennsylvania commend the California State Teachers College, the University of Pittsburgh and The Pennsylvania State University for their forward looking approach in making their facilities available to a larger number of students by instituting twelve-month programs. It is hoped that other institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania will explore the possibility of instituting similar programs.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I, too, want to add my congratulations to Doctor Dudas and the Board of Trustees at the California State Teachers College for their forward looking approach in this educational field. I am also happy to know that the California State Teachers College, which is in my Senatorial District, is receiving this recognition.

I, too, will second the motion that we approve this resolution.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO UNDERTAKE A STUDY OF COMMONWEALTH "PAYMENTS-IN-LIEU OF TAXES"

Messrs. HAYS and STEVENSON offered the following resolution (Serial No. 41), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, July 14, 1959.

A recent survey has shown that almost twenty-five per centum of the real estate in Pennsylvania is exempted from local property taxes.

Some local governments have as much as ninety-seven per centum of their assessed valuation exempted from taxation.

The cost of providing local government services to State-owned facilities has increased, and the number of these facilities has increased, thereby burdening local governments with ever-increasing financial responsibilities.

Many States, and the Federal government, now make various "payment-in-lieu of taxes" to local governments to help defray expenses for services provided and to help compensate for the tax losses from exempted governmental property; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Joint State Government Commission undertakes a study of Commonwealth "payment-in-lieu of taxes" and report its recommendations and findings to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 102, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 102.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SESQUICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Whereas, on February 12, 1959, the entire civilized world generally, and the American Nation in particular, will celebrate the Sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of its martyr-President, Abraham Lincoln, whom Count Leo Tolsoi described as "Christ in miniature," and who by universal consent is the most revered Citizen of the World because his immortality, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, "does not lie in any one of his achievements, but in his attitude towards mankind." and

Whereas, the entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr-President, whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none, and

Whereas, in these days of strain and stress, of gloom and vacillation, of a world "half free and half slave,, a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr-President, will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings, the tonic values whereof have been, generation after generation, universally acknowledged, and

Whereas, of all the states of the Union, none can boast of more Lincoln lore than Pennsylvania, as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg address was delivered by Lincoln, coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language, as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth, and

Whereas, with only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Now, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission, to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania," to consist of six members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives, and three of whom shall be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly, the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for proper action and implementation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, the Philadelphia State Hospital has in it 6,500 patients. Two years ago, this hospital was given a $15,800,000 appropriation by the Commonwealth. From that, there was taken about $1,000,000 to run the Mercy-Douglas Hospital. At the minimum per capita rate, as recommended by the American Psychiatric Association, it should amount to four dollars per day. The per capita allowance for this hospital was three dollars and thirteen cents per day.

Under the appropriation for the Norristown State Hospital, I noticed that the per capita allowance was three dollars and seventy-five cents per patient. In the Allentown State Hospital, it was approximately four dollars a day, per patient.

As a result of the allowance and the shortchanging at the Philadelphia State Hospital, the hospital had to cut down on its staff. It cut the number of doctors from thirty-one to twenty-seven; nurses, from 148 to seventy-seven; and attendants, from 755 to 666. For maintenance and repairs of 134 buildings, it had to cut down from 178 persons to ninety-eight.

I understand this year that the requested appropriation is $16,331,000. If the allowance to the Philadelphia State Hospital were given as the normal allowance, as recognized by the standards set down by the American Psychiatric Association, the Philadelphia State Hospital would be granted an allowance of $22,000,000. I think the least which could be asked for that hospital would be he norm set by a disinterested agency, or, at least, as much as other hospitals such as the Norristown State Hospital and also the Allentown State Hospital receive.

BILLS ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 621, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2051) entitled "Public Assistance Law" establishing the maximum amount of compensation for work on relief projects providing for the appointment and compensation of a project administrator and prescribing his duties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out for just one moment here the position of the department on this bill and give a little bit of the background on this matter.

The department does not approve of this bill. The work relief program has been inactive since February of 1943, eighteen months after its inception. Only two departments, the Department of Highways and the State Police, ever made use of it, and there were never local sponsors of the projects. Local sponsors preferred to hire their own employes and not to accept the reimbursement which amounted to only fifteen or twenty per cent of the cost of the project.

This bill provides that the rate of payment for work under this program is to be eighty-five per cent of the local prevailing wage for the same type of work. The department feels this is an exploitation of persons receiving public assistance, and persons who are in unfortunate circumstances would be harmed by this bill.

This bill establishes the position of Project Administrator, at $10,000 a year, an unnecessary expenditure from the department's point of view, as they do not have the money in their budget to cover this contingency.

After the program was added to the Public Assistance Law in 1941, the Department of Public Assistance carried an extensive solicitation of local sponsors by its own staff and was unsuccessful, and has been unsuccessful to the present day.

I think this is bad legislation, and I ask my colleagues to vote "no".

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—5

Berger,	Lane,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Confair,

Elliott,	McCreesh,	Ruth,	Watkins,
Flack,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Fleming,	McMenamin,	Scott,	Whalley,
Harney,

Less than a constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 623, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" permitting civil defense directors to equip their vehicles with sirens.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the department's position on this matter is that they are against this type of legislation.

If you are going to equip the Civil Defense people with sirens on their vehicles, then you might as well do it for the Red Cross, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts and all the other organizations on down the line.

I feel this is special legislation. However, I think that if any civilian Civil Defense director has to get any place in a hurry, in case we have any kind of a catastrophe, he will find this siren will not be of much help or much use to him. In any type of a raid or pseudo-raid which we might have, he can use the police facilities that are available to him. I feel this is just an extra burden to the community and that we should not be in favor of it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in defense of this bill, I have several hats. I am wearing now the Civil Defense hat. I happen to be the Civil Defense Director in the borough in which I live.

This is a matter of great importance. Of course, we have not had any attacks. However, who knows but what before night falls, there may be an attack. Then it is going to be highly important that the Civil Defense Director in each county, and only he, is able to get around with the aid of a siren to direct the necessary activities, to help in evacuating the wounded and to give aid to those who may be needing it. It is a very important function of government.

I beseech all Members in this Senate to give it their thoughtful consideration and I hope that they will vote for it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to say to the gentleman, if this bill is passed and they all start blowing their sirens at the same time, I think whatever havoc has not been wrought by the catastrophe will be wrought by this blare of sirens at the same time and at the same place.

I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

By Messrs. BUCHANAN, DENNISON, KORNICK and ROVANSEK. RESOLUTION No. 94.

In the House of Representatives, July 13, 1959.

The great amount of traffic on the highways of this Commonwealth has necessitated the construction of roadside rests for the safety, convenience and pleasure of the travelling public.

As the amount of such traffic is ever increasing, the adequacy of the number of existing roadside rests poses a problem which should be properly studied with a view towards determining the number of additional roadside rests which should be erected and maintained by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of promoting the safety of the travelling public by providing places where motor vehicle operators can recover from fatigue, and providing rests at which tourists may view the scenic wonders of Pennsylvania and in such a manner promote tourist travel in this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby requested to study the need for construction of additional roadside rests and to formulate a plan for the construction thereof; and, be it further

Resolved, hat the Secretary of Highways is hereby requested to carry out such plan whenever it is submitted to and approved by the Governor.

The honor is the Francis Bellamy Award which is given each year in a different state and is in memory of the author of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Bellamy award schools are selected primarily on the basis of performance of duty by the principal, the achievements of the alumni, the character of training toward good citizenship and the relationship between the school and its community.

John Harris was selected for the honor on the basis of nine points which made the school stand out above the other high schools in the State. Their "College Bound Program," the outstanding work of the Parent-Teacher Association, the close relationship between school and home and the achievements of John Harris graduates, extending to all vital fields of endeavor are only a few exthe points which were covered when Miss Margarette S. Miller of Portsmouth, Virginia, who is the woman responsible for the award, selected this school.

Miss Miller who is secretary to the principal at Cradock High School, Portsmouth, Virginia, is credited with having established Francis Bellamy as the real author of the famous pledge. Miss Miller was here in Harrisburg to present the award on the 103rd birthday of Bellamy who was a minister prior to his becoming a writer for Youth's Companion magazine.

Few schools can claim the honor that has been granted to John Harris. Our education and training would be further advanced than it is today if more of our schools found themselves eligible for this award. Much of the credit for the school's achievements can be given to their principal Helen Graeff; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the student alumni, faculty, staff and members of the Parent-Teacher Association of John Harris High School of Harrisburg for the honor of having been awarded the National Bellamy Award; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the principal, Helen Graeff, and to Miss Margarette S. Miller of 221 N. Hatton Street, Portsmouth, Virginia, donor of the award.

"1. That substantial economy can be effected in the laying out, widening, construction, alteration or improvement of public facilities by the acquisition of adjoining real property or of interests in adjoining real property in excess of that actually required for present needs;

"2. That such acquisition will allow for the future widening of roads as the public safety requires at a minimum of disruption of private property rights and at far lower expense than would otherwise be possible, and will effect economy by the acquisition of an entire tract of land when the necessary part plus the severance damages to the remainder would involve an equal or greater expenditure than if the entire tract is acquired;

"3. That such acquisition will prevent the creation of small uneconomic remnants of land which if allowed to exist depreciate property values and hinder the proper development of private property and the most valuable utilization of areas adjacent to public improvements; and

"4. That the resulting economy to the public and the restoration of land values and utilization to private property owners will greatly aid the economic and social progress of counties of the second class and are necessary for the preservation of the public safety and the promotion of the general welfare."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have spent a lot of money, I think, for a bulletin board out in the hall. I came to the House this morning anticipating a meeting of the Highways Committee. It was not on the bullentin board so I did not attend the meeting

I would suggest to whomever is responsible for the operation of that lovely board out in the hall that they keep it up to order.

The SPEAKER. The remarks will be spread upon the record, and I think he is right.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly have no objections to the statement that the Member has made. I think he has every right to make it, but I would like to say also that I think under the operation of our Chief Clerk, who is the Chief Clerk of the entire House, Mr. Ominsky, that there have been some mighty fine improvements around here, long overdue, and the operation has been very good.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have no objections to what the Majority Leader has said. I agree that there are some things that have been long past due in this House. I agree with them being put up, but I certainly think they should be put to good use.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am the one who lists all of the Committee meetings, and there was no committee meeting given to me for the Highways Committee yesterday morning.

There has been no meeting of the Committee on Highways this week at all. It was not handed to me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not know that was one of the tasks that was shouldered upon the fair shoulders of the lady from Philadelphia.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to Mrs. Varallo that they had a Comittee meeting this morning. I am sure that it was not her fault, but it was not posted on the bulletinn board

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SESQUICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Whereas, on February 12, 1959, the entire civilized world generally, and the American Nation in particular, will celebrate the Sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of its martyr-President, Abraham Lincoln, whom Count Leo Tolsoi described as "Christ in miniature," and who by universal consent is the most revered citizen of the World because his immortality, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, "does not lie in any one of his achievements, but in his attitude towards mankind," . . . and

Whereas, the entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr-President, whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none, and

Whereas, in these days of strain and stress, of gloom and vacillation, of a world "half free and half slave," a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr-President, will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings, the tonic values whereof have been, generation after generation, universally acknowledge, and

Whereas, of all the state of the Union, none can boast of more Lincoln lore than Pennsylvania, as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg address was delivered by Lincoln, coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language, as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth, and

Whereas, with only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Now, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission, to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania," to consist of six members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives, and three of whom shall be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly, the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for proper action and implementation.

AMENDED SENATE RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Concurrent Resolution numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 102.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SESQUICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Whereas, On February 12, 1959, the entire civilized world generally, and the American Nation in particular, will celebrate the Sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of its martyr-President, Abraham Lincoln, whom Count Leo Tolsoi described as "Christ in miniature," and who by universal consent is the most revered Citizen of the World because his immortality, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, "does not lie in any one of his achievements, but in his attitude towards mankind"; and

Whereas, The entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr-President, whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none; and

Whereas, In these days of strain and stress, of gloom and vacillation, of a world "half free and half slave," a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr-President, will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings, the tonic values whereof have been, generation after generation, universally acknowledged; and

Whereas, Of all the states of the Union, none can boast of more Lincoln lore than Pennsylvania, as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg address was delivered by Lincoln, coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language, as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth; and

Whereas, With only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln; now be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission, to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania," to consist of six members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives, and three of whom shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly, the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a Statewide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for proper action and implementation.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained consent to extend the time five days on House Bill No. 1800, Printer's No. 904, on page 17 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Before we start on the first bill which would be the first roll call of the day, may I have permission to speak about our printing problem and our time schedule on Wednesday?

Early in this 1959 session we agreed and established the starting times of each day of Sessions of the House of Representatives, unless otherwise designated. Monday was 4:30, Tuesday 12, Wednesday at 10:00 a. m., each of these times being agreed to unless otherwise designated.

In the last three weeks, in trying to work under a heavy calendar with many bills, we have found a week go by and on Wednesday it was absolutely impossible for the printer to deliver to this House bills prior to 12, 1:00 or 2:00 in the afternoon.

In the case today I am thankful, for the time in which the printing delay is the result, but under normal conditions on other days and other weeks, I would like to recommend to the House that we change our starting time on Wednesdays, which has been agreed to early in this session, that due to the printing situation it would be certainly advisable to shift from the 10 o'clock starting time on Wednesday to at least 12 or 1:00, Daylight Saving Time. In the closing weeks, if it should come very shortly we will be here four days instead, it would also require that the fourth day be at least that late in starting time to give the Printer at least some time to be able to deliver to the House the printed bills and the calendar.

Unless that is done and agreed to, under normal conditions the calendar arrives just about the time the House convenes. All the bills amended on the previous day, except those designated by a high priority, are not delivered at that time. The earliest that we have been able to receive the bills delivered here to the House under a heavy printing load has been 12, or 1:00 o'clock and in some cases, 2:00 p.m.

For example, today is another case of a heavy printing load, and in the following weeks that will continue because bills near the end of a Session are amended quite often. Even Senate bills are amended and Conference Committee reports are required.

Mr. Speaker, under this situation then, without going into our usual conferences that we have between the House leadership in discussing this matter, I would like if it is in some way possible that the Spaeker place it before the House and beginning next week the starting time on Wednesday is changed from the normal procedure of 10:00 Daylight Saving Time, to the time that would include lunch, because Wednesday will be mighty long and it is good to have lunch first.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are planning to caucus presented and as it is an important decision and because of its being Wednesday and the Members want to leave for their homes, if the Chair will please let us present it to our caucus later this afternoon, we will bring back a decision.

The SPEAKER. That is quite all right.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will lay before the House, House Bill No. 1207 on page 19 of today's calendar.

The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1207, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10 1949 (P L 30) providing for payments on account of pupil transportation to certain additional school districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr Speaker, House Bill 1207, the first bill today for a roll call, is a bill in which is found a change in the Public School Cole of 1949, providing for transportation reimbursement to the school districts in which a school district becomes second class as a result of combinations of third or fourth class school districts.

In House Bill 1207, there are no additional costs. If a school district received transportation reimbursement in its present classification as a school district and in a merger or a change in population becomes a second class school district and had transportation reimbursement, it would now receive reimbursement under this new law. This would not add any additional cost.

But if this did not bocome law and we failed to provide the funds for transportation reimbursement to these classes of school districts, then they could not rightfully operate that which they now operate and would have to operate in transporting their pupils to the schools.

Mr Speaker, this bill is clearly defined and agreed to as one of the items which we must do in our school transportation problem and, under the situation, I request, even though we did not discuss this in caucus carefully, that all the Members, after examination of the bill, if at all possible, vote in the affirmative in support of this important school legislation.

Mr. FILO. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Under this bill if the population should exceed that of a second class school district, the transportation would be reimbursed. Is that right?

Mr McCANN. If the population exceeded that of a second class school district? There are no second class school districts now in this field of transportation reimbursement in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. If any school district in Pennsylvania could go from a third to exceed a second class district in size in Pennsylvania it certainly would be amazing to change the population in a school district in that short period of time.

Mr. FILO. Could the gentleman advise me what the top population would be in a third-class school district to get reimbursement for transportation of pupils?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it has been so long since I served as a member of the school board when I used to know all these figures as to a fourth-class, third-class, second-class and first-class, but I believe a third-class school district carries a basic population of a maximum figure of 25,000 or 30,000 people, which is it?

Mr. FILO. I think it is 30,000.

Mr. McCANN. In other words, the old law provided for what was the fourth-class maximum population, then it went to a third-class, a third class maximum population before it was changed to a second-class.

Mr. FILO. What I am trying to get at, Mr. Majority Leader is that under this legislation this school district could have a maximum of 30,000 population and still be reimbursed. Is that true?

Mr. McCANN. If the gentleman's figures are correct, Mr. Speaker, that would be so.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affiramtive, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1404 on page 20 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1404, entitled:

An Act amending "The Fiscal Code" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) providing for fiscal information for the members of the General Assembly.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1404, Prniter's No. 570, amends the fiscal code in which the State Treasurer is permitted to publish and send fiscal information to Members of the General Assembly.

This is now being done and you have continually received such reports on your desks here in the House and also in the Senate. This is now making such procedures under the law rather than under just ordinary rulings of departments or agencies.

In this case it pertains to the fiscal information which is disseminated to all the Members of the General Assembly and the Members have expressed a deep interest in receiving this continually which would then be continued by law.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Members of the House support this measure for they have indicated very clearly that they want to have this information on their desks as it is now published and will continue to be published for their benefit.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1507 on page 21 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1507, entitled:

An Act amending "The Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) authorizing the Department of Public Instruction to grant priority of reimbursement eligibility to certain projects and providing that the approved reimbursable costs of such projects shall not be included within the aggregate for projects already undertaken or to be undertaken.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1507, Printer's No. 588, appaered before the two caucuses quite some time ago, prior to being recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations, I believe.

House Bill 1507 deals with the various school buildings in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which were ordered closed by the Department of Labor and Industry, or parts of school buildings which were determined to be irreparable and are ordered to be closed finally by the Department.

In this proposed legislation, House Bill 1507, we are setting up a means whereby priority is granted to the school districts due to the closed schools or parts thereof by order of the Department of Labor and Industry, so that the reimburseable cost of such projects shall not be included in the aggregate for projects already undertaken or to be undertaken.

Earlier in this Session we had a series of conferences dealing with Labor and Industry's closing of schools, or closing of parts of schools, to provide a system whereby they would be placed in a position to either replace that portion of the school, or the entire school building. This bill of course was agreed to in a series of conferences.

This was in addition to two companion bills that are a part of this entire program. To refresh the memory of the Members of the House, one of the other bills provided for an apropriation, which was a companion to this program, to provide to the Department of Public Instruction a specified sum of money to be used by those districts which would not have funds to pay their proportionate share, or to aid the financially handicapped school districts. I believe the amount of the appropriation of the companion bill is $800,000. That is in the Appropriations Committee.

This is part of a package program. The third bill, of course, was the bill dealing with the various changes in inspections, fire alarms, fire drills, and items of that nature. So in its entirety the three bills covered a program dealing with that portion of our public schools in Pennsylvania which the Department of Labor and Industry ordered closed following the catastrophic fire which occurred in Chicago, and the rules and reinspection of all schools in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I ask all the Members of the House to support this measure so the various cities in Pennsylvania may have the benefit of this legislation for their coming school programs regarding portions of schools that are closed.

To refresh the Members' memory, I believe there were three complete buildings closed and 22 partially closed, or, as you call it, second floors. One of the major problems, I think, was the city of Altoona, with 17 schools, and a very large program to deal with those 17 school buildings.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Members support this legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

PHILADELPHIA DEMOCRATIC CACUS

Mr. McCANN. I request a five minute break in which the Philadelphia Democratic Members of the House will caucus.

So that all the Members will know, one of the reasons we have been delaying is that one of the gentlemen of the House is offering a set of amendments to the tax bill. The amendments are not here, and until such time as they are presented, we cannot move on that bill. As soon as they are here, we are ready to work on the offering of the amendments, and then on the tax bill.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Democratic Members, except Philadelphia Members, stay in the House because the amendments from the Legislative Reference Bureau may come to the House while they are in caucus.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair declares a recess for five minutes.

The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have watched this afternoon hours of endless work which will have to be postponed to another day for decision.

The Tax Committee appointed from this House on the Democratic side spent, as near as we could tell, approximately 50 to 60 hours last week in working on what we thought would be something that we might be able to accomplish in finding a source of revenue to finance this Commonwealth and to find a way to pass such a revenue bill.

I have never bargained except in good faith and I never will as long as I live. I have always felt that decisions of this kind are the things that we must face. Twice in a short time you work for nights and days to find that tomorrow must be another day. I believe yet today as I stand here that decision will come and come very shortly.

I have always felt that as Democrats we, on this side of the House, have swallowed an awful lot, more than most people realize, when you think and believe that I am a person who has always believed in an income tax, my party's philosophy. My father before me always fought for that principle.

I have fought for what I thought was best. I never advocated a particular tax program following our committee conferences, and I let every Member on the Democratic side of the House present his own thinking in a series of conferences and caucuses. That decision they came to yesterday after many hours, a decision within the hopes and beliefs that we could solve this this week. I know that it is not easy. I know that it is hard. I know it is hard to face that here in Pennsylvani we have a most favorable tax climate for industry. In fact, a recent report passed to all the Members would indicate that very clearly. A thing that we want to do and always hope to do is to make this Commonwealth a great place for industry.

Beliefs may exist as to what you stand for and what you fight for, but the first thing that I fight for is to find a financial solution for the Commonwealth which you and I are responsible to finance. That is what I was elected to do. I realize that it is difficult when you are in a majority not to be able to pass a program that is the program of the Governor, and the program I thought would possibly get some help from the other party. Be that as it may, it has been clearly defined that the Legislature must find the source of revenue if it is other than the Hood-Kennedy Commission report.

I know that next week will be another week, and I know that next week we will either find that solution, or we will find it the week after that, or the month after that, but we will find it the month when we finally pass it.

I think that I have had disappointments in my life and I could not say that today would not be one, but I am sure that from this disappointment will come success for another day, which is bound to come. I am sorry about the things that have occurred today, the help that we were securing and getting from the Republican Members of this House, and I believe the record clearly indicates that even though we are in the Majority no one can ever say that this is not the basic tax philosophy of the Republican party.

I have done everything I know how to do in every way possible to secure every single Democrat vote on this side of the House. I believe I would have presented the best possible vote on a package in which my party never believed in but still will do the very same or just as good on another day.

Mr. Speaker, I just hope that those agreements on yields of estimated revenue, that all the hours of work of this Committee, will not have gone in vain and that in no way will another day be blurred by today's decision.

STATEMENT BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, after the eloquent speech of the Majority Leader I really do not know what I should say. It is true that we on this side, the four-man committee, sat down and in good faith tried to come up with a tax program which we felt was the most feasible compromise that could be put together.

However, when we brought it before our caucus we were reminded that many phases had been left undone. Most of our caucuses worried about the education program. We tried to find at least $28 million more money for education. Our caucus does not feel that that is enough money. Fourth class school districts particularly are in a very, very bad position. That was one of the reasons why there was a feeling that the program did not go further.

There are many, many other things that we found about the program that our caucus did not like. Yet we on this side thought we should measure up to our responsibility as I have said we would do all session long. I have said that once we have found out how much money is needed; how much we feel that we Republicans can reasonably cut from the budget and yet maintain services; after we have found out how much the yield would be, that we would sit down and talk about a tax program. We would naturally expect the Democratic side to produce just as many votes as they humanly and possibly could produce. That figure was given to us today.

On our side we caucused and we took about half the figures that were given to us. I think had the roll been called we would have voted for the program even though, as I say, our caucus was bitter against it and it felt it was not doing the job. Many things have happened around here that have caused us to really feel as though things were not on the square. All session long there was a feeling that you on the other side could bring in 106 votes when you had a program that you wanted to pass that would give you a gold star. But when you had a program that would give you a black mark in any way there was a feeling on our side that you would ask us to give you votes.

As I pointed out here, that is not the way we have done it here in this House down through the years that I have been here, and that, of course, makes for bitterness on this side.

We feel that today there has been practically a political circus going on here. Things have been in a shambles. It is almost beneath the dignity of this House. When our group that was going to vote for this tax bill finally found out what was going on, they came down here one by one and said "all bets are off, there are not votes here today."

I am sorry that that is the situation. I am sorry for what has occurred. It is true that we as a committee worked hard for three days. We worked long hours and we studied the job at hand and felt that we had a pretty fair program. Not adequate, I grant you, not enough to take care of the school problems. That we would still have to face.

I know how Mr. McCann feels. It reminds me of Al Readinger in the '55 Session when he had the rug pulled out from under him. It is unfortunate. That is the parlimentary way. But, as he says, there is another day coming.

What our caucus will do; what our share will be in the picture—right now there is a disposition to do nothing. Maybe that will change. I cannot say. Maybe wiser heads and saner minds will get together and come up with a program that will do right for our schools, that will straighten out a lot of things and upon which we can get get together. But now I am afraid the situation is a dead issue and I am sorry to see it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there are some bills on the calendar, just a few, that even though we have worked trying to kill time until a set of amendments to the tax bill were prepared which I would like to have the Minority Leader agree on whatever calendar action he wants to take and then proceed from there.

I just want to clear one thing in the record and I ask permission to make it emphatically clear. Regarding the schools and the hospitals of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it is easy to talk about a lot of money to provide for public schools which are so badly needed; it is very easy to talk about figures, but none of those figures will come about without additional taxes.

I think it was pretty well agreed that we would at least try to raise $28 million additional for public schools. The public schools had, in the budget, a slight increase in amount, but anyone who wants to talk about $197 million for public schools has also got to find the way to provide the taxes to pay for it. I do not think anyone can dispute that.

May I say that a few years back, not very long ago, there were a few lone voices that objected to the local effort change, and I was one of those voices. That, in some instances, would work very well; in others, it would be very difficult. I think you can see that has been proven pretty well for the next school budget of the various school districts, particularly those in certain areas of this Commonwealth. There is no one in Pennsylvania any more than the Members of this House of Representatives who want to make our public school system solvent, to make it financially possible to operate the best public school system. And, ladies and gentlemen, you have your choice of what you want to do and how you want to provide the taxes to do it.

I can remember, a good many years ago, when people talked about such problems. I was a school director and I used to say that one of the things you must bear in mind is that the Commonwealth will continue to provide more money for public education. I personally believe they will continue to provide more this year, next year, the year after and for many more years. When we do, instead of always talking about taxes, because we have to pass the taxes, I think it would be well to talk about what we do with those taxes and what you and I can agree upon. I hope that if the situation has changed in the thinking of the Republican Caucus that more money than $28 million should be provided, or if it should be $197 million instead of $28 million, that tax revenues can be found that would pay it.

I would like to say also for the record here today, for some who have asked, on the estimated sales tax yield as to the amount industry pays in the next biennium, and the amount that the other people pay has pretty well been agreed upon, that it is approximately 25 per cent that they pay of that yield revenue. So, 75 per cent is what the other people pay. They are all our people of this Commonwealth; they all have to pay these taxes.

I can assure the Republican Members of this House that we can probably pass tax bills here next week without any question of doubt. There is no question that we could pass bills removing the manufacturers' exemption. No problem. There would be no problem to increasing the corporate net income tax one per cent. They would not have to have a single vote from a single Republican. There is no question that we could pass a lot of taxes, far more than you would even need to pay for that school program that you and I want. But, then my friends, the question resolves itself, is this the tax that we want to do this with, or do we want to work together to find that solution? I believe we will work together and we will find it another day, and I am confident that that day is not far away.

Mr. Speaker, may we have a short conference so that we can see what we can do.

The SPEAKER. If the Majority and Minority Leaders are agreeable, and the Members of the House do not object, the Chair desires to make a statement.

In the course of the recent discussion concerning taxes the plight of the schools has been brought to our attention. The statement has been made that ample provision for the schools has not been provided in the budget submitted for our consideration.

That is true. However, I want to voice this hope: If and when the General Assembly finishes its business, there is reason to expect that within the ensuing nine months there will be a special session devoted entirely to a consideration of Pennsylvania's school problems. These problems must eventually be attacked at the base of our educational structure.

Perhaps in the Department of Public Instruction there is a need for revision and reorganization. We must eventually devise a formula that defines local and state responsibility for the support of education.

We must eventually create a local, logical administrative unit for our schools, which we do not now have.

We must determine how far the mandates of the State Council of Education, of the Department of Public Instruction, should go in determining a mandated curriculum.

In addition, we must determine at what stage state ends and what additions to the mandated curriculum the support of a minimum mandated educational program local districts should provide if they so desire.

We must, I believe, redefine the functions of some of our State Teachers Colleges, and chart a long range program, designed to aid our liberal arts colleges and universities.

Mention has been made of an additional $28 million which is to be appropriated to Pennsylvania's various school districts. That $28 million, in view of existing needs, is just a patch—just a patch upon a patch—and that, so far as our schools are concerned, is what we have been doing for years—placing patches upon patches!

$28 million could, perhaps, be envisioned as a start to a logical program for the support of our schools, but unless it really is the beginning of a basic school program, we simply delay the day when we must face educational problems in forthright fashion.

It has long been my personal conviction that our educational needs will never be definitely determined in a session during which many other matters of major concern are being considered.

Our educational situation, I am convinced, can only be attacked in forthright fashion when it is the only subject being discussed.

The only question in connection with a special session would be whether it would be possible to integrate the groups that must necessarily function to the end that when the special session begins, it would be possible for it to consider a prepared study of the needs in the various educational fields in which we must necessarily legislate.

I am confident, if we can realize this dream, and it is a long one, that we will be within reaching distance of a sound and practical educational program for our Commonwealth. I wish to assure Members of the House that I am not just talking wildly and at random. I have some rather definite assurances that something of the sort we envision can happen, provided it is possible to get ready for it.

Apparently we must necessarily do something at this session. However, just to place another patch upon a patch in order to enable us to maintain the integrity of our school system until we arrive at the point where we can attack our school problems in basic fashion will not meet our needs. I believe that even the Minority Leader will agree with me that $28 million at the present time, unless it is spent in accordance with a basic plan, will not get us out of the woods.

If we can get together in sensible fashion we can achieve many worthwhile objectives at this session. There is a need for constructive effort, not to help me, not just to help the Majority Leader, not just to help the Minority Leader, not just to help individual Members of this House—but to be of real assistance to the Commonwealth.

We cannot serve the state effectively if we must needs continually to air our petty quarrels. These quarrels will pass, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. They will be forgotten. This House remains. It is a continuing institution. Our government remains.

This is the day and the hour when there is a need for disinterested service. I have endeavored, during my tenure as a Member of this House, to labor in its behalf, to raise its standards, to secure adequate compensation for Members of this body, to help provide needed services for our Members, in the hope that all of the work done in the past would blossom out in constructive endeavors at this session.

May I add, with an observation that is a part of a letter sent to the Members of this House today, that many of us at times entertain grave fears concerning the political results of what we do. Possibly most of us are ultimately damned not on the basis of what we do, but on the basis of what we don't do.

I thank the Ladies and Gentlemen of the House for listening so patiently.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside temporarily.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 523, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571) entitled as amended "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law" increasing the maximum daily compensation of assessors.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the only thing I would like to point out, so far as this bill is concerned,—and I am going to vote for it—is that it sets up an amount of money which these people should receive. It sets a floor and it sets a ceiling. However, the bill is inconclusive as to who is to decide who is to receive the maximum amount, who is to receive the minimum amount or who is to receive the amount which falls in between these two amounts.

Mr. President, I merely point this out in the hope that if there is an error, it can or will be corrected before this matter becomes law.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 598, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making the governor eligible to succeed himself for one additional term.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, before proceeding with my remarks, I would like to have copies of Senate Bill No. 624 distributed among the Members of the Senate. This bill is going to be the basis of my remarks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Pages will distribute copies of Senate Bill No. 624, which is the basis of Senator Stiefel's remarks, to all the Members of the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, my position, which I am going to try to explain, on Senate Bill No. 598 and on all other bills in the form of joint resolutions, amending the Constitution, is going to be one of a negative attitude. I want to be recorded as voting against each and every amendment to the Constitution. My position in the matter is as follows:

It reminds me of Queen Marie Antoinette of France, who, when passing through the streets of Paris, exclaimed, "Let them have cake instead of leaving them bread."

Mr. President, I, personally, believe that the people of Pennsylvania have been clamoring for decades for a new Constitution and to have a Constitution adopted by a constitutional Convention at which delegates, elected by the people and not secondary commission, will submit proposals for a new Constitution.

Senate Bill No. 624, which I introduced on April 14, 1959, proposes just exactly this thing; namely, a new Constitutional Convention. In the preamble, I have the basis for such action.

Ever since the Constitution of 1874 has been promulgated, eighty-three amendments were offered to the Constitution, of which only fifty-nine have been adopted. The fact that a constitutional amendment passes or falls is a mere accident, because most of the Constitutional Convention Amendments are submitted for a vote at the General Election. When a General Election comes about, the people are interested in candidates and not in constitutional amendments.

Therefore, Mr. President, only a small fraction of Pennsylvania's population cast their ballots for or against a constitutional amendment.

We now have a situation whereby the fabric of the basic law of Pennsylvania is threadbare. Now we are proceeding to pass a few amendments which are mere embroidery upon threadbare fabric.

What are we passing today, Mr. President? We are concerned with bills limiting the scope of the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, proposing consolidation of courts in Philadelphia and many other bills of this kind. Yet, the most important thing, the question of taxation in Pennsylvania, is bypassed. The fact that Philadelphia has only eight Senators instead of having twelve is forgotten. We talk about Senatorial reapportionment, but the most important thing is how many Senators should Philadelphia get.

Senate Bill No. 598 permits the Governor of Pennsylvania to succeed himself only for one term. Why limit it to one term? Maybe the will of the people is such that the Governor could succeed himself for many terms, if he is a good Governor. Why could Governor Lausche have been Governor of Ohio for so many times? No dynasty was established, and yet he was a good Governor who will stand out in the history of Ohio as one of the luminaries of its government. I could go on and on, pointing out examples of why we need a new Constitution in Pennsylvania. Why do we distrust the people of Pennsylvania? Why relegate framing of constitutional amendments to commissions, even if the commissions consist of outstanding personages? The people of Pennsylvania are the ones who have to determine whether or not to pass upon a new Constitution. Ours is the oldest Constitution and there is no use in adding amendments upon amendments when a new change has to be made.

Furthermore, Mr. President, each and every one of the Governors of Pennsylvania, whether it was John Fine, George Leader or Governor David Lawrence, are placed on a Procrustean bed where they are being tortured by the system of taxation. This system will continue, by groping in the dark and trying to find new ways of adopting new taxes. However, that will not be cured until the people of Pennsylvania send delegates to a Constitutional Convention where they can decide upon a suitable and equitable system of taxes.

For this reason, Mr. President, in order to bring to the attention of the people the fact that we need a new Constitution, I am going to vote against each and every one of these amendments, no matter how meritorious they are Mr. President, it is time that we give the people the bread that they have been clamoring for.

Furthermore, even Governor Sproul, in the early 1920's, had a commission to pass upon a new Constitution. It is now in the form of a book, to which everybody can refer. In those days, there was already a clamoring for a new Constitution. That clamor is going on and on and is becoming more and more audible. To offer mere embroidery or more frills upon a worn out fabric is not my intention.

For this reason, Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on each and every amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I should like to join my voice with that of my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, in opposing the amendments to the Consitution. It is not that I feel these amendments do not have merit and that some of them are important. However, I, also, would like to highlight the importance of a Constitutional Convention.

Mr. President, since 1874, we have gone through an industrial progress, an economic expansion, a population increase and a cultural development in this State which outmodes this ancient piece of paper which governs this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, we have come a long way from the horse and buggy days to the turnpike roads in Pennsylvania. It is a long way to the present Sputnik Age. May I say, Mr. President, there is nothing sacred about the Constitution of Pennsylvania because it is ancient; yet this ancient document needs a change. There is a crying need for an instrument to run this Commonwealth in the present age. We will regret, in Pennsylvania, the day that we have not taken the step to call a Constitutional Convention. We need a change in education, we need a change in representation, we need a change in civil rights, we need a change in our judiciary and we need to enlarge the functions of government.

Mr. President, we see our Supreme Court of Pennsylvania almost monthly issuing decisions on constitutional questions. I say here today on this floor that when it comes to the Constitution, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is no longer interpreting. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania today is legislating when it comes to constitutional questions. They are reading legislation into the interpretation of the Constitution because it does not cover the activities of our present government. We sit by here and permit the judiciary to write the laws covering the operation of State Government rather than accept the function ourselves.

Mr. President, I shall vote "no" on all these bills, not because I am against the amendments but because I say there is only one solution in Pennsylvania. It is not a piecemeal, first-aid remedy. It is a revision of the entire document so that we may bring it up-to-date.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I wish to join with my two colleagues, Senator Stiefel and Senator Donolow, in opposing these amendments.

When the Constitutional Revision Commission was created two years ago in the last minutes of this Assembly, an appropriation of $275,000 was asked, and the question was raised whether we should appropriate any money for this purpose. Finally, and grudgingly, a $50,000 appropriation was made for this commission. After the fine, dignified membership of this commission was created, we rather expected something great from this group; something that would be a real step forward, a really gigantic study of the needs of Pennsylvania in the formation of a new Constitution. Instead of that, the mountain of brilliance brought forth a mouse. As a matter of fact, I doubt very much whether it would even deserve that much honor.

The amendments to the Constitution which we are here asked to vote upon are not worthy of the respect of the Members of this Body. If one just looks upon our Calendar from day to day, it can be seen that we are taking up legislation here regarding counties, school districts and things of that sort which could very well be taken up in the local counties and disposed of on an over-all basis. However, here the Legislature is deciding upon and enacting legislation on matters which hardly deserve our respect because of the picayune nature of the provisions of this legislation. In the great matters which are facing this Commonwealth today, such as matters of taxation, local government, county government and things of that sort, the Constitution is way out of date. I think the matter can be dramatized much better among our colleagues by rejecting all of these amendments, even though some of them may have some merit.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, first let me say that I concur with the arguments presented here by my colleagues from Philadelphia in saying that I feel we are missing the boat by trying amendment after amendment; that what we really need here is a new Constitutional Convention which could tackle Pennsylvania's problem and, particularly, the method of raising money by taxation for the various needs of the State.

However, I cannot take the position that I will vote against each and every one of the proposed amendments. I think getting a fraction of a loaf is better than none, and I reserve the right to vote for some of the amendments and vote against some of the others.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have been very interested in the remarks made by the gentlemen concerning these proposed amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania and, particularly, in connection with what was said that there is nothing sacred about the Constitution of Pennsylvania because of its antiquity which I agree. However, I do disagree with the premise that there is nothing sacred about the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

When we tinker with the fundamental law of the Commonwealth, we should do it with very, very great care. I know that the Constitution of the United States was adopted in 1789, and over a period of years has been amended to take care of any needs or changes which might become apparent because of the progress of the Country and the changes in our everyday life. Mr. President, that same method can well be applied to the amendment of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. That is what is being done when these bills appear upon our Calendar here, to decide whether or not we as Legislators, upon whom rests this duty, shall pass these amendments for consideration by the people. The same thing would be done in connection with a Convention, except that we would vote for or against a Convention, and then the Convention would be called and the delegates would decide what is to be done.

I agree, Mr. President, that we are all able here to decide what amendments ought to be submitted to the people. That is why we are here; that is the method provided by the Constitution. If the Constitution of the United States has remained for lo these many years and has been changed, improved or altered by amendment, that also can be done with the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

It was thought by the members of the commission that it would be desirable to submit amendments to the Constitution rather than to have a Constitutional Convention called and the whole Constitution then subjected to upheaval, possibly, and to the whims of delegates elected to a Convention.

While I am not saying which of these amendments I might favor myself, nevertheless, Mr. President, I submit that the here offered amendment to the Constitution is a fitting and proper one and consistent with the practices and procedures which are provided for in the very document itself.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I cannot concur with all of the views I have heard here today. However, I feel that I would be remiss in not bringing to the attention of this Body what I am sure all of us know and what I think should be the view that all of us must take of this document which was turned out by this commission.

If you will look at the make-up of the commission, without casting any kind of a veil over their ability and their integrity, you will find that this was a political body and that it was made up of men and women of this Commonwealth who are very strongly politically influenced and of a certain political persuasion.

The commission came back and, I believe, showed that they had little faith in what they had done because they set up in their document amendments to the Constitution based on what they considered Class 1, which were things they thought absolutely essential; Class 2, things which they thought should be done; and Class 3, things which if they were done would be all right and if they were not done, that would be fine, too.

The very basis on which this Legislature has floundered ever since I have been here, and which has been the main problem that has confronted us at every Session, was never touched upon or taken up by this group. I think within the group, itself, there were some problems and some difficulties which were never resolved to anyone's satisfaction. Therefore, we have a variety of reports and a variety of amendments, so that a perosn reading this could take his choice, and if he liked what he saw he could take that, and if he did not like it, he could reject it.

Now we are being asked to vote on these amendments. Some of them I favor, and I find fault with some of them. One of the basic faults with one of them, for example, is the resolution dealing with the consolidation of the Courts of Common Pleas. I took the liberty of writing to the seven judges which made up the Common Pleas Courts in Philadelphia. Each one is a President Judge, and I received a variety of answers. I would say the overwhelming majority of answers opposed this amendment. One of the President Judges asked to appear before the commission to make his views known.

With all this high priced talent, with all this fine citizenry joined on the commission unable to come to their own conclusion, we are now asked to submit these proposals on the ballot. You and I well know that in the areas where voting machines are used, this amendment will appear on a very small section at the top of the machine, stating Proposal X or Proposal Y. Three-quarters of the people will never read it, most of them will know nothing about it, it will receive little or no publicity and it will depend upon the position of the individual committeeman or party in that area. The amendment will either die or go on to further life in that area, depending upon the position of the political party.

I have confidence in the people. I have confidence in the democratic processes, both with a small "d" and a large "D", and I believe that if these people were allowed to meet in convention, they would not only take up the problems that are before us—most of which are not worth the time it would take to print or discuss these bills, because none of them hit at the real problems that are in our basic Constitution which have given us difficulty over these many years—but these people would actually address themselves to the problems that confront everyone living in this Commonwealth, and would provide for making a better life and with meeting the needs of our present day economy as we see it, of our present day voting system and of our present day courts. These problems would all be taken up in full sessions. All these problems would be handled by the people, and voted on by them, so that you would already have a sampling of opinion when this matter came before us.

We are only being asked here to try to agree with a committee, made up of people who allegedly have no interest in these amendments and who could not agree among themselves. Now they are telling us to agree among ourselves and present this to the people.

I do not believe that one of these resolutions, whether it does or does not pass, would make one iota of difference to our Commonwealth or would make one iota of difference in how things are handled in any way, shape or form. For example, this bill which is before us at this moment allows the Governor to succeed himself. Why should not the present Governor have the same opportunity to succeed himself? Is he unworthy of that privilege? Should we put him into office as a lame duck to begin with? He would have all of the problems which go with the office. Why should we cut him off? Why should not the present Auditor General, who happens to be of a different political persuasion than the Members sitting on this side, have the opportunity of succeeding himself? If we thought ill of him to begin with, we should not have elected him. If we think much of him, we should give him an opportunity to succeed himself and to conduct his office in such a manner that he has the opportunity to carry on some of the programs he might come upon in the second two years of his service.

None of these resolutions are of any importance at any time, and I believe we should not spend a great deal of time taking them up. Whether we do or do not pass them will not resolve our basic problem, which is taxation and raising enough revenue to properly run this Commonwealth as we would run any decent, forward going business.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would be remiss if I did not stand up at this time and draw the attention of this body to the inherent and deep reasons contained in the statement of Senator Stiefel, in that he said that we are kidding ourselves when we do not admit that we need a complete new Constitution.

As a teacher of government, as he is, Senator Stiefel is confronted with the fact that he will take the written Constitution of Pennsylvania and say to a group of students, or people at large, that this is the Constitution of Pennsylvania and that is not so.

When I came to this Body, I was amazed to find that the model State Constitution, in form but not in substance, under a period of five different Governors had been put into being in this Commonwealth. We founded a Constitution based upon checks and balances; a Constitution whose primary purpose was to guarantee the freedom, liberty and rights of individuals. These checks and balances have been whittled away and a piecemeal change will further whittle away the interdependence of the very agencies of the Commonwealth.

We are confronted with the fact that we have amendments which are suggested. We must pass upon them according to their individual merits, but we cannot lose sight of the fact that they are interdependent. Technically, we should be for some if we are for others and if some are passed and others are defeated then, in some respect, we lose the semblance of checks and balances that we are looking for and the safeguards that are needed.

One other thing that I would point out to you is that we have side-stepped and avoided the big problem and taken up those that are the least controversial and those which are most likely to go through. Why should we, for political reasons or other reasons, side-step the duty of giving the best Constitution that we can give to our people? If we are to say to ourselves that we will only amend those parts which are popular enough to amend, then we are avoiding the duty of unpleasant business. The problem of the debt and the problem of how we are going to face the future, and what we are going to saddle upon the generations to come as far as debt is concerned, is very important We criticize the caste system of India, but with a ceries of taxation bills, with a series of catch-as-catch-can taxes—tax where you want to and pray that it comes out all right—you can caste the system of your society so that the people cannot educate their children and so that people cannot rise from one grade to another in the passage of a generation. The need for surplus funds and the need of leisure is essential for education and progress. This must be provided for, whether it be through taxation or through a planned regulation forseeable to the future. You cannot take a stop-gap measure today and another tomorrow.

At every Session, there is a scramble by everyone to say what kind of a system we should support and how we shall go and I say, frankly, that there is a limit to taxation, and a study as to what that limit should reach and a safeguard towards the people must be taken into consideration. It must be taken into consideration, as Senator Stiefel pointed out, as a whole wax ball; taking up the unpleasant things with all the courage and integrity that is necessary to assume an unpleasant task. You cannot do business by taking up only the things that are popular and the things which are easy to do. Again, I warn, you must not take up only those things and pass a thing because it is popular and easy. The whole thing is one ball of wax. It must be correlated and the intensity of that correlation takes, by its very essence, study, time, trouble, sacrifice, and, above all, it is bound to be unpopular. If we cannot be unpopular for the benefit of the people who come after us, and consider only the politically wise things and of taking the easy things up, all of us deserve some criticism.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr WADE. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

BILLS ON THIRD READING

DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 600, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five sections six and seven of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania consolidating the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia into one court and repealing provisions relating to the prothonotary of the courts.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to make a suggestion to this body, on the basis that the judges in the Philadelphia area were not consulted or even brought in. They are the people who are primarily concerned in this matter. It does not concern the people in the State of Pennsylvania, particularly in the sense that they do not come before this group, but the people in the Philadelphia area are affected.

I would like to suggest to the Chairman of the Committee that this bill be taken before him, and the judges of the Philadelphia area invited, so that they have an opportunity to testify before this committee and they can get their views in regard to this matter.

The provisions of this bill are already taken care of by the judges and are already handled by them, and we are just doing an unnecessary thing and causing the Commonwealth to spend a lot of money on reprinting the bill over in the House and putting it on the ballot. I respectfully suggest that this bill be held over and that the Committee Chairman have an opportunity to call these gentlemen involved and hear from them. There are only seven of them and perhaps they could appoint one or two of them to represent the entire group.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I object to that and I think it is about time that we start doing business. I do not agree with the idea of continuing to carry these bills on the Calendar.

These gentlemen had an opportunity to come and be heard. I think the committee has done a good job. I also think that the Constitutional Revision Commission has come up with some constructive things. I believe that the majority of those boys over there helped to pass the Act of 1957, setting up this Constitutional Revision Commission.

Mr. President, this bill has been here on our Calendar now for several weeks and I think we should act upon it today. I think we should stand up and be counted as men. If we are going to defer to each and every group that comes up, then I think we might as well stay at home.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreebaly to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Berger,	Kessler,	Propert,	Wade,
Confair,	Kopriver, Jr.,	Scott,	Wagner,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now turns the gavel over to the President of the Senate, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 601, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five section eleven of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania changing the justice of the peace and alderman system.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I desire to withdraw my motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 601, Printer's No. 648.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Koprivér, withdraw his second to the motion?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I will, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am going to vote "aye" on Senate Bill No. 601, Printer's No. 648, and I wish to make a brief statement as to my reasons.

In the first place, Mr. President, I would like to say that I do not think this bill is ideal. I think a better proposal could have been drawn. I think this bill is defective, primarily in the fact that it will allow a patchwork pattern to prevail in the Commonwealth if it becomes a part of our Constitution. It will allow each county, through its court of common pleas, to determine the number of magistrates for each specific county, which means that it is quite possible that each specific county will have a different pattern of magistrates.

Secondly, Mr. President, it will allow the salaries to be set for magistrates to be determined in each county by the commissioners of the county. This, again, will allow for, it seems to me, undesirable diversity in the pattern of the magistrates across the Commonwealth.

On the other hand, Mr. President, I think this proposal, if made a part of our Constitution, will provide conditions under which our lower judiciary can do a better job in administering the function assigned to it.

I am further persuaded to be in favor of this amendment because the County Magistrates' Association of York County has made a decision in favor of this amendment. I have in my hand a clipping from the Gazette and Daily, which is a morning newspaper in my community, with the following headline:

"County Magistrates' Association Favors Minor Judiciary Reform Proposal."

I also have a resolution, received from the County Magistrates' Association, which not only expresses its favorable opinion on this proposal, but also sets forth a program which, it seems to me, in detail, is even more desirable than the proposal made by the Constitutional Revision Commission. I will not read this document, but

I would ask to have it entered as a part of the Legislative Journal at this point, as a part of my remarks

> "The following Motion was placed on the floor of the meeting of the York County Magistrates Association, held at the West York Inn, West York, Pennsylvania, on Friday, February 13, 1959, and was unanimously carried.
> "'I move that the York County Magistrates Association go on record as favoring the constitutional amendment which would provide for re-organization of the minor judiciary, incorporating the following program:
> "'1. That the number of justices and aldermen be drastically reduced and that they be elected.
>
> "'2. That the minor judiciary be salaried.
>
> "'3. That their expenses of office be paid (by state or county).
>
> "'4. That constables and writ servers be salaried and their travel expenses be paid.
> "'5. That all fees of minor judiciary offices be paid into the county treasury.
>
> "'6. That their books and records be audited every year by the county controller.
> "'7. That each member be required to accept criminal complaints and civil suits originating within his territorial jurisdiction.
> "'8. That aldermen and justices of the peace need not be learned in the law.
>
> "'9. That all magistrates within each county be supervised and directed by a chief magistrate who shall be appointed by the governor.
> "'I also move that a copy of this motion be sent to the President and Secretary of the State Association respectfully requesting the State Association and to amend their policy with regard to re-organization of the minor judiciary to conform with the foregoing and to commend the program to all members of the General Assembly for immediate appropriate action.'"

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I propose to vote "no" on this bill. However, because I am voting "no" is not because I am enamored with the present system. It is, however, a system of long standing. I appreciate the fact that we need some changes in this system. I am afraid going into it helter-skelter, as we propose to do in this bill, would do more harm than good.

Not all the aldermen or justices of the peace are bad. As a matter of fact, I think by far the largest group of them is good.

The thing which I am afraid of is that we are going to deny to people, generally, the poor man's court; that court to which he can have access and receive a redress for his wrong, whether it is real or fanciful. To deny him that, I am afraid, is going to put the administration of justices far away from him. I do not think that is good. I think we need these minor judiciary.

I would rather, by far, Mr. President, have this bill recommitted to the Joint State Government Commission for study. They may come out with a bill which would attain the purpose that I am sure all of us would like to have.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to support this measure. This bill was very carefully thought out by the Constitutional Revision Commission. It is very simple in its purpose.

It attempts to eliminate the fee system of justice. I recognize the fact, as one of the previous speakers said, that the great, great majority of the members of the minor judiciary throughout Pennsylvania are upright and honorable men. The fact remains, however, Mr. President, that there have been abuses under the fee system, when a very small minority reached out and tried to grab in business and get cases. The record proved that. It was that very grasping, on the past of a few of them, which put into the minds of the general public that all justices of the peace and all aldermen were in some way dishonest, and that they had no chance nor opportunity if a warrant were served on them, or, in the case of a civil suit, if a summons were served on them and they appeared in a magistrate's, justice of the peace or an alderman's court.

This, I strongly disagree with. I do not think that is the fact. I think in a great, great majority of the cases, they got justice and they received a fair trial in the summary conviction cases which were before them. However, I still say to you, Mr. President and to the Members of this Senate, that we have created in the minds of the people of Pennsylvania the fact that there is something wrong with the system of giving out justice. Where that man sitting is dependent on a fee which he receives from one of the persons involved, as to whether or not he shall be paid, that is the big fault, in my opinion, with the minor judiciary setup in Pennsylvania. I certainly do not want to abolish the minor judiciary system. I think it is a fine and honorable one. I think that the suggestion made by the Commission on Constitutional Revision is a very excellent and a very fine one. It does not require that the justices of the peace or the aldermen be learned in the law. It provides that any person who so desires can run for that office. It further provides that the county shall be redistricted. The subcommittee, which worked on this problem in the Constitutional Revision Commission, spent many days and many weeks on it, trying to see if there was some way which they could redistrict the whole Commonwealth on some type of a ratio of population. That committee, in its wisdom, came up with the proposition that it would be best left to the courts of common pleas of each of the sixty-six counties, because Philadelphia County is not involved in this. That committee proposed that the courts of common pleas would set up continuous districts, the number of which would be determined by the court, in such a manner that they would adequately serve the residents of that county, and that those people who were elected to the office would be placed on a salary, the salary to be determined by the salary board of the county, which would be the County Commissioners.

Mr. President, I certainly cannot see anything wrong with that. That is home rule when a salary for any county is determined by the salary board.

When you argue that they have to travel too far, this I cannot conceive. We have, in Philadelphia, a system whereby there are twenty-eight magistrate's courts, handling a population of well over 2,000,000 people. I hear no complaints from Philadelphia that there are not enough magistrates. In fact, I believe the next bill on our Calendar tries to reduce that number from twenty-eight down to twenty-one. It would appear to me that if Philadelphia can do it with twenty-eight, the sixty-six other counties of Pennsylvania can well handle all the cases, it would appear, in a magistrate's or an alderman's or a justice of the peace court.

In the number of districts which would be set up by the judges of the courts of common pleas, I would have the utmost confidence in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County that it would do an excellent job for our county and would set up the correct number of districts and that no resident of Allegheny County would be put to any inconvenience in getting to any of the lower courts, the magistrates' courts, if you please. I would have that same confidence and respect for the courts of common pleas in the other sixty-five counties involved, and feel that those gentlemen would do just as good a job.

We would, Mr. President, once and for all abolish that thing which is the one thing that has brought disrepute on the justices of the peace of Pennsylvania, if you please, and that is the fee system of justice. I say to you Members of the Senate that until the day comes when we do abolish that system, we will not in any manner, shape or form cure the evils of that system. We can cure about ninety-nine per cent of them if we do abolish the fee system of justices. I would urge all of my colleagues in the Senate, regardless of party affiliation, to support this most worth-while legislation.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I should like to go on record as opposing this bill.

This is another attempt to abolish the minor judiciary system in Pennsylvania. As Senator Fleming has just stated, the high majority of the justices of the peace, magistrates and aldermen in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are forthright and honest men who have endeavored to give their job their very best.

He is concerned more with the proponents of this bill apparently, and more concerned about a very small number of the justices of the peace and aldermen who have charged outlandish fees. I see no reason in the world why we should punish everyone just to accommodate some of those justices of the peace and aldermen who have abused this privilege. I should think that there would be another way that we could weed them out rather than take all of the magistrates and justices of the peace in Pennsylvania and turn them into a very few. I am opposed to the bill and I want to go on record in this respect.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, If I voted for this bill, I would not know what I voted for.

How much does it cost? No one has given us any figures. How much are we going to saddle the counties with?

Secondly, it will not provide for a uniform system. It says here that the judges can create as many justices of the peace or aldermen's districts as may be deemed necessary and proper. They may deem it necessary to have one or maybe four. How much will they pay them? Will it be an adequate salary? Are we abolishing it because the County Commissioners do not have the money to pay a salary large enough to attract people to run for the office? Are we making a lot of big offices? For example, in a county the size of my county, eight would be created. How much would they be paid? If there were eight, would the salary be $10,000 a year or $1,000 a year? What would be an adequate salary for them?

In other words, you are saying to me, "Vote for an unknown. Raise the bill in your county an unknown amount of money, but give us something different and let everyone guess what it is going to be. Under those circumstances, I can only vote "no."

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would very much like to vote for a bill which would alter or improve the system of the minor judiciary. However, this bill, Mr. President, in the reading of it, would appear to be impossible of application in a rural county which is small in population and large in area.

First of all, it would put upon the court of common pleas of that Judicial District the duty of appointing or setting out the number of districts which would have justices of the peace. In addition, the bill provides that the governing body shall fix the salary for each justice of the peace so appointed. The practical difficulty in that, Mr. President, would be that the court could not make a sufficient number of districts so that the people in a particular segment of the county would have easy access to a justice of the peace. They would be too remote and too small in number for them to be accessible and, at the same time, have the county afford to pay them a salary which would attract the type of person who ought to be a justice of the peace. That, in my opinion, is practically an insurmountable difficulty the way this bill is drawn.

On the other side, Mr. President, I know that in northern Pennsylvania and, I think, throughout the State, schools have been conducted, taught by attorneys who are willing to devote their time for the improvement of the minor judiciary, and instruction has been given to justices. It has been received gratefully by them and great benefit has resulted in the administration of justice in the magistrate and justice of the peace courts. I believe that the improvement is so noticeable that we can look forward to the time when the justices will be so well instructed by virtue of the lessons that they have received in these schools that we shall not hear the complaints that we have heard in the past. In fact, I would say that they are fewer in number now than they were four and five years ago.

As I said before, Mr. President, I would like to vote for some bill which would make a systematic change in the system of the minor judiciary. However, this bill, in my opinion, would create a situation impossible of acceptance in a small populated county of large geographical area.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I rise to support this bill.

I feel that the justices of the peace, aldermen and magistrates in the State of Pennsylvania, in the majority, are very fine fellows. However, we do have some, I know, who take advantage of things, and the same is true in practically all types of occupations.

I feel this is not going to abolish justices of the peace, as some may have thought when they were discussing the bill. This is just giving the common pleas courts the right to set up the jurisdiction.

We have many times heard lawyers and others say that the justice of the peace originally started as a justice for the poor. Mr. President, I feel that this has long been gone. The Pennsylvania Bar Association, in a letter from Erie, dated June 26, 1959, highly recommends this proposed change we have before us.

All of the newspapers, all of the Leagues of Women Voters and various other organizations are in support of this bill.

There are approximately 5,616 justices of the peace in Pennsylvania; that is, according to the Commission on Constitutional Revision. There are approximately forty-one of them who are holding active office. They have compiled the total receipts to be approximately $7,000,000, or about twice the entire amount paid the entire judiciary system in the Commonwealth. The current manual lists 188 judges. This includes Supreme Court Judges as well as Superior Court Judges.

I feel that we have been hit in many places. We have, I might say, some people who act as constables under various justices of the peace, magistrates and aldermen, who have contributed heavily from the poor toward the upkeep of these members of the minor judiciary. I do not mind telling you that I have had the opportunity of being stopped by one of these constables when I was going over a railroad crossing at the rate of thirty miles per hour. He told me I was crossing the railroad above the limit set at twenty miles per hour by the Vehicle Code, and I was subject to arrest. These things have gone on, Mr. President, where all these facts came up and it is not a case anymore of judgment for the poor because if a poor citizen gets a summons from a justice of the peace, the average poor citizen goes to the post office for a money order and sends his money to the justice of the peace. He is scared green when he gets a notice from a justice of the peace, alderman or magistrate.

I have had at least six summons for traffic violations from Philadelphia when I have never been near the city. The average poor citizen would never write a letter of objection; he would pay.

I think we have been abused, but not by all. I do not say by all. However, I think this is a step in the right direction, and I feel very humble when I stand here and say that I will support this bill and I would like to see each and every Senator in this hall stand up and be counted in favor of it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—11

Confair,	Hays,	McMenamin,	Shafer,
Elliott,	Kessler	Pechan,	Silvert,

Less than a constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 602, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five sections twelve and thirteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to magistrates courts in Philadelphia their number jurisdiction and rules of procedure and repealing a supplied provision.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in my earlier discussion of the constitutional amendments, I believe I tried to detail very briefly that these amendments really did not cover any new ground, or take up any new problem or try to resolve any problem that might exist.

If you will look at this present bill carefully, you will see there is only one change, one which the commission thought was of great moment. It makes a change from one magistrate for 30,000 people to one per 100,000 people. May I point out that in the city of Philadelphia, there are twenty-eight magistrates and three of them have died within a period of about six months? As you all know, death shows no choice for party or position, and the persons who have died in office have been both Democrats and Republicans.

The magistrate in Philadelphia has long since gone into an area other than he covered in the past. He not only sits on hearings on small personal problems, but he sits in criminal court every single day and he also sits in the traffic court in Philadelphia. I was a little disturbed to hear Senator Kromer, in his presentation, say that he received summons for times when he had not been in the city of Philadelphia. I imagine those things do happen. However, I am quite surprised to hear it because Philadelphia does have a very modern, up-to-date court which was also approved by the Bar Association, the League of Women Voters and all of the other organizations which are trying to get some order out of the chaos which they think exists in our society at the moment.

I believe it was Emerson who said that consistency is the hobgoblin of small minds. However, I hope in this instance, the same gentlemen who voted against Senate Bill No. 601 will be consistent and vote against Senate Bill No. 602.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would just like to call to Senator Fleming's attention that the Committee on Constitutional Revision did not show the same tender solicitude for home rule on the part of the city of Philadelphia that they did for the rest of the State because whereas in the rest of the State the court of common pleas was allowed to set the number of magistrates, this same home rule privilege was not allowed to the city of Philadelphia. Where they allowed the legislative body, the County Commissioners, to set the salaries of the magistrates for the rest of the State, they did not allow this same privilege to the governing body of the city of Philadelphia.

In addition, Mr. President, for that reason, and also for the reason that the action taken has now killed the last bill, I do not feel that it would be consistent for me to vote in favor of this bill. Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to vote "no".

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, to be consistent with my opening remarks, I voted "no" on some measures, although I favored them. Perhaps I will be counted among the fools, remembering Emerson's adage that consistency is the way of fools.

One thing which strikes everybody is the narrow majorities by which some of the bills squeezed through. This is indicative of indecision. In my opinion, all these matters pertaining to the Constitution, and its amendment, are only diversionary. This is nothing but an avenue of frustration. Yet, there is one thing to be noticed. This is the first afternoon that the Senate of Pennsylvania arose to its great tradition of a deliberative Body. For this, we must be grateful.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 684, Printer's No. 745;

Senate Bill No. 689, Printer's No. 750; and

Senate Bill No. 810, Printer's No. 1010.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 827, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149) entitled as amended "The Liquid Fuels Tax Act" providing for payment of certain county treasurers' fees out of the county Liquid Fuels Tax Fund in counties of the seventh and eighth classes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the thing which has troubled me on this bill, and concerning which I cannot obtain an answer, is that this bill might be unconstitutional. This fund is constituted, primarily, as I understand it, for the purposes of road construction, road maintenance and things of that nature. Now we are going to change this fund to have it serve some other purpose.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would more or less look askance at this type of legislation. If somebody has better information, I would certainly like to hear about it before I vote on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I understand it, at the present time, the moneys are delivered to the Commonwealth out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund and are paid over by the Treasurer, upon the order of the Commissioners, for distribution to the various subdivisions. This only changes the method whereby the Treasurers' fees are paid. At the present time, they are paid out of county funds for turning over this money. This would simply pay those fees out of the fund which is provided for transfer by the counties into the subdivisions.

By some stretch of the imagination, it might be felt that this was a diversion of the funds against the intent of the constitutional amendment. However, it appears to me that it is more or less like the cost of transmittal of the funds, which certainly complies with the Constitution, and such incidental costs as may be necessary would be perfectly legitimate even in view of the limitation of the Constitution.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's question regarding the constitutionality of this bill which we are now considering, I might read from the Pennsylvania Constitution an amendment of 1945, which says, in part:

> "All proceeds from gasoline and other motor fuel excise taxes, motor vehicle registration fees and license taxes, operators' license fees and other excise taxes imposed on products used in motor transportation after providing therefrom for (a) cost of administration . . ."

I think, beyond any question of doubt, that this is part of the cost of the administration of this fund.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to debate this problem at great length, or question the gentleman because I do not believe he has had the opportunity to investigate this matter fully. However, I think he might find, as we might find in many, many areas, that this cost of administration does not mean to take it down to every one of these levels. For that reason, I am sure that these funds, which were used before, are now subject to change because someone has found a reason to do so. I believe the administration of these funds was taken out of the county funds because that was the proper way to do it. The reason they are changing it is that they are going to try to use this money for a new purpose.

I think some careful study should be given to this matter before we pass an act which will become unconstitutional, or might very well be unconstitutional. I do not believe that money which is appropriated for a certain purpose and for a specific area, or for a specific function, can be diverted to be used for another function. That may be inequitable and this bill may try to correct an inequity, but I do not know whether this is the proper means of doing it. I am merely seeking information, myself. I am not here debating the bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to Senator Wade's explanation and I believe that actually covers the features in this legislation. I think we should pass it. If there is a question as to its constitutionality, I believe the Attorney General can so advise us. This happens to be a Senate Bill.

I disagree with Senator Berger just slightly. Only due to extraordinary circumstances do the county governments distribute the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund. Generally speaking, this is allocated to the counties for the maintenance of bridges and highways. Where they have a surplus or excess, then it is distributed to the local governments. However, the purpose of this legislation is to provide the county treasurers of seventh and eighth class counties with proper remuneration for administering this fund.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

On the question,

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be remiss in my duties if I did not report to the Members of the Senate that the feeling of the Administration is that they do not have the money to do the kind of a job that this type of bill requires. Although I have great affection and esteem for the gentleman who is trying to do this,—maybe some day I will want a park somewhere in Philadelphia—the Administration has taken the position that it feels, at this time, it could not support this kind of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not intend to debate this bill. However, I merely will point out that the purpose is very salutary and this would make a splendid location for a State Park. It would be of great benefit to visitors from far and near to come and see the highest railroad bridge in Pennsylvania.

SENATE BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED CALENDAR

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the Postponed Calendar by Mr BERGER,

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 495, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858) entitled "State Employes' Retirement System" providing additional State annuities for certain beneficiaries.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Members of the Senate, before they vote on this legislation, exactly what the cost will be and what this bill specifically does. It has been on our Calendar for some time. It may be that some of the Members who originally read it may have forgotten the purport of this legislation and what it exactly does and why we placed it on the Postponed Calendar.

Mr. President, this bill would provide an additional monthly State annuity of fifty dollars for those persons who, on the effective date of this bill, have been receiving a disability or superannuation retirement allowance for a period of ten years or more. In addition, those persons who have been receiving a disability or a superannuation retirement allowance for a period of five years or more, but less than ten years, would be granted an additional monthly State annuity of twenty-five dollars. This bill makes no provision for proportional increases to the beneficiary of the annuitant who elected the option and then died.

I am informed by the Secretary of the State Employes' Retirement Board that the passage of this bill will increase the present cost by an additional $2,036,000 per biennium.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O Almighty God, Thou Who seest our world as the Creator and Sustainer, and Thou who seest man as the highest of Thy creation; we come to Thee in the awareness that many times we, as Thy children, have not measured up to that which Thou hast expected of us; for, we recognize that Thou seest us as we really are. Be merciful unto us in Thy judgment, O God, and grant to us the Spirit to think and do always such things as are right; so that we may be enabled to live according to Thy will; through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, July 15, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that when there is an appointed hour for this House to assemble it should assesmble, and then if the respective Chairmen desire a caucus following the convening of the House, they should ask to retire for a caucus.

The Chair would request in the future the cooperation of the respective Floor Leaders, in convening the House at the appointed hour. What the Members do after that is their own affair.

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. I believe it is most appropriate that the record also indicate clearly why the two caucuses did not assemble here today at the designated hour to convene the House.

I think all of us who are Members are aware that the calendar on third reading and final passage is extremely heavy as to the number of bills, and I do not believe either caucus could capably discuss and handle those bills. Our caucus in our party began at the designated time, fifteen minutes from the starting time and, Mr. Speaker, it worked continually during that period. At this time we have covered all of the third reading and final passage bills.

I believe that the record should clearly indicate that the caucus time used today, even though the House should have convened at 4:30, the designated time, was certainly proper and we were right in asking for the extension of the starting time to permit the caucuses to finish their work.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say the only point the Chair raised was that the extension of time should be a matter of record and granted following the convening of the House.

The Chair recognizes the need for caucuses upon both sides. We hope repeated caucuses will bring about a return to sanity, perhaps, but the Chair still would request that the House convene at the appointed time, that they hold their caucuses before the convening, and after the convening they can again return to caucus.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, a few weeks ago the Speaker of the House presented to this House the idea of a bipartisan tax committee composed of four Democrats and four Republicans, and then at a later date this was accepted, the Committee was designated, and in the week that the House was in recess this bipartisan tax committee worked for many hours on many different tax programs. Following the completion of their scheduled meetings, late Friday evening of that week, we agreed that we would present to our various caucuses all of the discussions regarding the various tax proposals that we had discussed during the entire week.

During that caucus we presented to our caucus all of the tax proposals and the estimated tax yields of the existing tax measures that are now on the law books of this Commonwealth. Last Wednesday, after a series of caucuses, we finally came to a date and a time in which we thought we would have an opportunity to vote upon a tax measure. That date is now passed and we did not vote on that tax measure on that day.

We worked very hard with many different ideas originating from many different Members in our respective caucuses. We tried to work on the school problem, public education in Pennsylvania, and its very serious need for new finances. We certainly tried to cover the hospital situation, covering the grants to all 187 hospitals in Pennsylvania, including the Philadelphia General Hospital. That committee, both Republican and Democratic Members of the Committee, certainly worked very hard trying to come to a solution or arrive at a decision with which to guide our respective caucuses.

I am well aware, as I said last week, that on another day, at another time, we will be ready to sit down eventually and face that decision. Following the Wednesday afternoon Session when House Bill No. 1285 could not be called up to be voted on, I at that time requested that the tax committee group, Republicans and Democrats, sit down and discuss the situation regarding the tax proposals that they had before them, or that they had discussed in the past. It was decided at that time that a few days would certainly be beneficial as far as clearer thinking and cooler heads would be concerned.

Following that decision I have since requested that again this tax committee composed of the members of the Republican party and the Democratic party sit down, whether it is this week, today, tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, or next week, whatever the date may be, to discuss the way to find an answer to this tax problem that we must eventually resolve.

Many days may go by and yet many of us have a firm conviction that we will not arrive at a tax deadlock in this House, that the Governor's position is extremely clear, in which he supports the Hood-Kennedy Commission recommendation, and any other tax programs or recommendations other than the Hood-Kennedy recommendations must of necessity be a legislative tax proposal.

The days may go by in which many remarks may be made, or many statements may be made as to what caused any situation to occur, or what may cause a future situation to occur, similar to the one that occurred last week, but regardless of whatever that decision may be, there will still be a day in which this tax problem will be resolved.

I again ask and have asked before, that an opportunity present itself in which the tax committee would sit down again and discuss the present tax proposal, the other tax proposals, or the thinking that may have generated from the various Members in their respective caucuses as to what should or should not be considered in the tax program, and I hope that this week or next week or very shortly such an opportunity shall present itself and the questions regarding the additional money for schools and hospitals will still be an ever-bearing important item of discussion, for I am confident that eventually, very shortly, we will find the answer to this problem. Neither party can get any political mileage out of a tax deadlock, that is, a deadlock of the Legislature or of the General Assembly, and I am confident that is not the direction in which we are heading.

I would like to compliment and thank those Members of the Committee who worked so hard, worked so long, and worked many days and many nights. I am confident that they agree with me that this answer can be presented and found in the very near future.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is very seldom that I infringe upon your time and take the floor to make a public statement. However I believe the events of the past week require some clarification, and it is my desire to properly clarify the position of the Republican members in the House of Representatives.

I know that I was not too proud of the actions which took place on the floor of this House last Wednesday afternoon. Probably many of the other Members felt the same way. Certainly not in the memory of any one who has been here for any great number of years can such a similar incident be remembered. It is my candid opinion that no floor leader, regardless of party, deserved or has ever deserved, such shabby treatment as was given to the Majority Leader on the floor of the House last Wednesday. Even the Speaker of this House from his public statements proved that he was thoroughly disgusted and shocked by the action of some Members of his own party, and he had every right to be. Philadelphia Democrats played power politics by trying to use votes for a tax program to obtain special consideration for the city of Philadelphia—just one area of this Commonwealth.

Republican conferees on the tax conference committee never asked or even considered special considerations, concessions or deals in the conferences which were held previous to last week's Sessions, but thought only of the financial plight of this Commonwealth and our responsibility to help solve, in part, this major problem for the good of all the people of Pennsylvania.

It has been brought to my attention, and has been said here today on the floor of this House, that Members of the Democratic side of the House now desire the Republicans to sit down once again and resume talks on taxes. Why do you ask us, who have in all sincerity discussed taxes and were willing and ready, even in the face of very outspoken and over-whelming opposition within our own caucus, to support and vote for a program that would have gotten this Session of the Legislature at least closer to an early adjournment. I say you cannot expect us to talk or vote for any tax program until you talk it over within your own family and have certainly some area of agreement among the Democratic Members of this House. While we were willing to supply a minimum number of votes for a program last week, certainly we cannot be expected by anyone, especially the Democratic leadership of the House, to supply a sufficient number of votes to permit the Philadelphia Democratic Delegation to take a walk simply because they want special consideration for the Philadelphia General Hospital, or a promise to kill the Sunday Closing Bill or any other local legislation. I say to you here and now that will not happen. If that is to be the basis for our future talks I do not believe your requests will receive very favorable consideration by the Republican Caucus. If you insist on this type of approach to our budget problems, then I can only refer you to words of wisdom as expressed by a former Democratic Floor Leader. I would like to quote to you from page 1963, volume II of the 1953 Legislative Journal:

> In the consideration of the tax program I am not going to ask the Democratic Caucus to raise 10 or 20 or 30 or 40 votes just so 10 or 20 or 30 or 40 votes on the other side may take a powder and run out on the program. I can ask the Democratic Caucus for a package that I deem is acceptable to help you over the hump, but I am not going to ask the Democratic Caucus to carry it clear across the line from start to finish. We are in trouble, and because we have the interests of the Comonwealth at heart, I'll do the best I can in the Caucus, but we are not shouldering your load. The best alternative to be sure that you get the program you want is to come out of your Caucus with 105 votes.

I would like now to refer to another paragraph from that same volume, and once again I quote the same Democratic Floor Leader:

> The stark fact that faces us, I repeat, is that we must finance the essential needs of the Commonwealth. If you have 105 votes for a tax program, trot out the program and trot out the votes. If you face a situation in which no tax progam that could be devised would have 105 votes in the Republican Caucus, you have to do something about it. You have got to endeavor to find a tax program that will have 105 votes in the body of this House. From the minority point of view, we are not going to pull your chestnuts out of the fire. We are not going to come galloping to the front to salvage your tax programs, only to have some of your own Members walk out. It is our business to cooperate, but it is not our business to initiate. We cannot stand here forever saying nothing in answer to concrete proposals, but we can stand here forever saying nothing to nothing.

I would also refer to another statement, on page 949 of volume I of the 1953 Legislative Journal as follows:

> The Majority Leader is not required at any time > to consult with the Minority. A legislative leader with 105 Members behind him can do anything he wants to do any time he wants to do it.

These foregoing quotes were certainly, I believe, said probably much better than I can repeat them or read them to you, by the former Minority Democratic Floor Leader and the present Speaker of this House.

I read a recent newspaper account, advice given by one of the leaders in the other branch of this General Assembly in which he said, and here again I would like to quote,

> We should not make snap decisions at a time like this, but should give serious thought to the problems facing us, with the hope that these problems can be solved in a sensible way.

I agree with this approach and hope that the Members of the Democratic Caucus will take this advice seriously and attempt to reach a tax agreement acceptable first to your own group.

I am sure we will look with a question of doubt upon any proposal presented to us by the Democratic Caucus because one can never be sure after last week's performance. However you can be sure that we will be waiting patiently your decision and what you expect to offer as the "Happy Solution" so that we will not be facing the same type of unending Session as we faced in 1955 and 1956.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, please come to the rostrum?

The Chair is asking the gentleman from Philadelphia to preside temporarily. The Chair will go to the floor seeking recognition.

Mr. SCHWARTZ IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in order that I may reconstruct for you the atmosphere and surroundings that led up to the quotations read to you by the distinguished Member from Armstrong.

I will call your attention to a statement made at the time by a rather distinguished commentator upon matters of public concern, none other than John Cummings, who described the situation in which the gentleman from Armstrong was at the time a leading figure. I ask your observance of what Cummings said because it gives the background. He said, and for the information of the gentleman from Armstrong, pages 2891 of the Legislative Journal of the remarkable year 1953.

> The situation at Harrisburg, said Cummings, is a disgrace to the Commonwealth. There is no leadership, no courage, no will to do what should be done and get it over with. Time was in this state when a Legislature as inept as the one now in session would excite the burgers to engage in a hanging bee.

Now let's not say I said it.

All right, the record shows what the present Speaker said at the time. All right folks, come to Harrisburg and bring your ropes along.

Now it happens that I see in our midst, at least on the outskirts, the distinguished commentator Cummings. We won't refer any more to him.

Mr. Speaker, insofar as we have been delayed I shall endeavor to cut the Gordian knot, and the period of frustration which has so long enslaved us. Ever since the talk of cooperation between the major parties, the majority party and the minority party began, as Minority Leader I have always had 15 votes with which to cooperate with you. The majority party is perhaps, and I say perhaps, entitled to 15 rebels on a tax measure even though it has been pointed out on the floor of this House, it frequently happens on matters of major party concern that the major party at that time, like the major party now, is able now and then to muster 105 votes on its own steam.

It had been my good fortune, as Minority Leader, that 18 members of the Minority Caucus have, from time to time, not in the midst of a party caucus, but from time to time, come to me and said, "Hi, if you need us—if there is something that you believe is of party interest—we will go down the line with you."

Now, later on in the course of their talk I released those 18. One of the compelling reasons they were released, not perhaps the only one, is that following each conference with spokesmen presumably representing the majority party sentiment, there are Republican leaders of stature, not the Speaker of the House, not the Majority Leader of the House, but persons more nearly associated with Senator Tokus, whispered it around that they did not want the taxes that were being proposed, that they did not favor the taxes that are being submitted to the Republican Caucus, that those taxes were only trotted out because they were the only taxes that the Democrats would agree to support.

Then, a little further on, we were asked to support, and by proper ethics were bound to support to the extent of 15 Members, measures which the majority party in its own caucus could not muster 45 votes. We were even asked to support taxes for which the majority party in its own caucus could not muster 30 votes.

I am only calling to your attention, Members of the House, how history repeats, and how at that time we acted in good faith. We made the initial tenders and we had the 18 votes. Sure—and a few more—if they were necessary. I say that history repeats itself.

There has been disagreement in Democratic ranks, and at that time on the floor I concluded my talk by saying, I am speaking seriously to Republicans. If you have a State Chairman who does not visit the Governor once in six months—and that was the case at the time; if you have a State Chairman who does not talk to your National Committeeman—and that was true at the time; if you have a National Committeeman who has not talked to your junior Senator—and that was true at the time; if you have a junior Senator that is at odds with the senior Senator, if you are playing fast and loose with political powers and expecting to put a program across in absentia and placing the responsibility on the Speaker and upon the Floor Leader and absolutely divorce him from political power, you have created a situation that is a shame and a disgrace to any party leadership.

I say to you that you are in no position to pass up—we face on our part in this Session, a more grievous runaway from agreement tentatively arrived at with some of the potential leaders of the Republican party. And, eventually you did muster the votes, but you did so after a time when you had in your fist 18 Democrats who, against their traditional allegiances were willing for the sake of political decency, of legislative responsibility to go down the line with you. I say that we can find again—you should find again—the same measure of common sense at least 18 in '59 to match the 18 you had at your disposal in '53, before all of the things the gentleman from Armstrong told you about. He told you the end of the story, I have tried to tell you the beginning of the story.

I want to add, if you want to found the Republican policy, as I said here a session ago, upon the mistakes of my erring youth, go to it. The evil that men do live after them, the good is often interred with their bones. I did not expect to have all of my sins as a Floor Leader brought up as an excuse for inaction upon that once trenchant party, the Republican party, whose proud tradition it is that in every crisis it has managed to come through with a solution. I do not believe that you, basically, are any different from the men who have preceded you. Basically you are no different from the men we have in Washington. If we are baffled, if we really need strength and leading, furnish it. If the Speaker is wrong, cite him. If our Floor Leader goes amiss, correct him. Not in the interest of the Democrat party, but in the interest of the people of Pennsylvania. You will find that your helping hand will resound more to your glory in this Commonwealth than a period of childish and protracted horse play.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I happened to be the Floor Leader in that historic 1953 Session, wherein an editorial writer said the leadership was inept, we should be hung or something like that. I just want to harken back to the 1953 Session and give you people a little report on what happened in that Session and the effect of that Session on the lives of the people of Pennsylvania today.

I might just say that I have been Floor Leader twice when we have been in power. That particular Session we got the job done on the 27th of July, and last Session, when we were also in power and when I was Floor Leader, we got out of here on the 21st of June. In both Sessions we wrapped up a job which I considered, and I am sure that my fellow Republicans considered, a job very, very well done.

In 1953, as now, this state faced a financial crisis. We had to raise $153 million. Up to that point we had crucified the businessman. We had upped the corporate net income tax as far as we dared. We had denied the manufacturer exemption on his capital stock tax. We had upped practically every tax that hit the businessman that we could think of. The time finally came when the man in the street who, up to that time, unless he died, became incorporated or drank or smoked, did not pay a cent to run his state government. It became very, very evident that something had to be done and that the average guy should have to be called upon to run our state.

I know Mr. Andrews said he had 18 votes, but he did not have 18 votes for asking the average guy to help pay this load. I do not know what his tax program was, I cannot remember now, but it was not a broad base tax. Now, let me tell you, trying to write into the law of Pennsylvania for the first time in history, a broad base tax was a job of Herculean proportions. But I will say this, and I am proud to say of the House Republicans, we stood here like men and we fought that battle, and we won it. We did not get an ounce of help from the Democratic side, believe me. We brought them in here on stretchers.

The sales tax is a vehicle by which we are running our government today. I do not know what Pennsylvania would be doing today if we did not have that sales tax, which is now firmly written into the tax structure of this great state. It proved to be the fairest tax that could be put on within the framework of our Constitution. I am not saying that a graduated income tax would not be a fair tax, but within the framework I will have a little something to say about that too of our present Constitution, the sales tax presently drawn with exemptions on food, clothing and shelter and the necessities of life is in effect a graduated tax and is about the fairest tax that we could come up with. And before this Session is over, the sales tax will probably be the design to bring in upwards of $800 milions. Think of it, practically half of the state budget today is going to that tax and the groundwork, the labor and the hard work—and I have yet to blow my own horn—the leadership was provided in 1953. When we put a broad base tax on the people of this state for the first time in the history of this Commonwealth, it was a tough, tough job, and here we are struggling now, trying to merely enlarge upon a principle which is already firmly established. We did not get a single vote in 1953 and I do not know where those 18 were. I think they were a fantastic illusion which never was produced. I am sure we did not see them.

But where do we go from here? Here we are today, faced with another tax dilemma. Everybody knows that those of us on this bipartisan committee worked very hard. It was eight days of hard work. The 15 on this side of the House who agreed to vote for that program last week, practically did so over the dead body of the House Republican caucus. We were acting in good faith, with utmost sincerity, with an honest belief that here was a job that had to be done, and we were going to furnish the votes for that tax program, be it a good program or a bad program. I say that what was done here to us, who were acting in good faith, certainly was one of the worst things that I have seen pulled off here in this General Assembly.

Therefore, today and in response to what Mr. McCann has asked us, the question was put to our caucus, where do we go from here? Number one, shall we again sit down with this tax policy committee, the four men from this side, and decide whether we are going to talk taxes further? There was a unanimous "no" in our caucus on that one subject, at least not for now, and I do not know when the opinion of this caucus will change. Once you put your finger in a buzz saw and have it buzzed off you do not jump in very lightly again.

Secondly, are we going to furnish votes for a tax program? At this point there are no votes on this side for a tax program. As Mr. Helm reiterated to you, you now come up with a tax program, the program you have in mind that you are threatening. Let us look it over. We will then bring it back to our caucus and see what will take place. As I say, we feel that we got the runaround last week. We think that a raw deal was pulled on us over here, one that we did not deserve because of the seriousness with which we were working, at least those of us who were willing to stick our necks out to vote for this tax program.

Then before the week was over, it was dubbed a Republican philosophy program because it embraces the sales tax. Folks, that program was not a Republican philosophy program. It was the united action of the eight men on the committee, and one of the ground rules was that nobody should be blamed for that program.

Secondly, we are blamed about these $28 million for education, being deemed the maximum of the Republicans but only the minimum start of the Democrats. Now, this is a very unfair and unkind statement to make. We on this side took a figure of $28 million just as smething to start with, something to put into the program, and the reason we had so much trouble on our side of the House with the program was that it did not answer the needs of education. That is the real reason we are having trouble on this side of the House over the tax program.

Now, I know you say, you should be responsible. You should furnish votes. You should stand up and be counted. You are the minority party and we need you. I say to you people over there now, we tried to do our best. You ran out on us. Now you come up with this program. You furnish the votes for it. Sit down with the State Senate and work out a program, you people, with the State Senate. Why bring us into it? Because the minute we get down on the line again and think we are acting in good faith something else will happen.

I am disappointed that the Governor was not here last week and that day of all days, the greatest day of the Session, when we would have pulled the chestnuts out of the fire for Governor Lawrence, he is not here in the State Capitol to marshall his forces. I think that was a terrible error on the part of the Governor. But I guess he had to be in Pittsburgh to make a speech that day and it is unfortunate that he could not be here.

Be that as it may, he was not here. As I say, there is bitterness over here. It may take time for it to while away. I do not know what will happen but, in the meantime, you four people, your committee, sit down and see what you can come up with, and we will present it to our House Republican caucus.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DOUGHERTY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I rise today as the John Dillinger of the 1959 session. In case you do not know at this time, I am Chairman of the 35 votes from Philadelphia on the Democratic side of the House, a task I will long remember because I love each and every one of them.

I do not know who carries the crystal ball, that the rebellion of the Philadelphia Democratic caucus was because of the housing project, Philadelphia General Hospital. Oh, I do not know, I have read and heard so many statements made. No one ever thought that it was on account of that obnoxious half-cent of income tax forced on those least able to pay.

I hope I'm not giving away any secrets when Mr. Johnson said they took my pants off in my caucus and Stu Helm's underwear. It was so obnoxious they couldn't get votes in their own caucus for it after sitting down as a bipartisan committee and arranging this tax. I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen of this House, let us put that tax on those better able to pay.

There was no rebellion. Whoever said I was for a four percent, or any Member of the Philadelphia delegation was for a four percent sales tax?

I want to be very brief in stating that I made a statement today to the Press when they asked me about something my Speaker had printed in the paper. The Press is sitting down there and can verify that I said it, that I idolize my Speaker. He's tops in my book, not only as a Speaker but also as a legislator. The Speaker had written about me that I was a small man. With that I humbly agree 100 percent, but I am a small man fighting for the little people.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, during the 1955 session of the General Assembly, Herman Toll, Thomas H. W. Jones and I introduced a bill providing for the establishment of forestry conservation camps for the retaining of male delinquents and giving additional powers to the juvenile courts.

It was approved by Governor Leader on May 29, 1956, and contained an appropriation for the execution of the provisions of this bill.

The introduction of this bill was not a mere gesture, but a sincere desire on all our parts to improve and help juvenile delinquents.

The result has been worthy of the effort, although today there is a move on foot to cut the appropriation, which would hamper the beneficial work which has been started.

I sincerely hope that this appropriation will not be cut.

Mr. Speaker, I ask consent of the House to extend my remarks by having printed in the Legislative Journal an article which appeared in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of July 16, 1959.

REINEMANN HITS MOVE TO CUT DELINQUENCY CAMPS' FUNDS

A move by Republicans in the State Senate to cut proposed appropriations for the Department of Public Welfare's forestry camps for delinquent boys was criticised as "utterly false economy" today by Dr. John Otto Reinemann, probation director of the city's Municipal Court.

"Within the past few years," Dr. Reinemann said, "juvenile delinquency everywhere has increased not only in numbers, but in seriousness of offense. In spite of this fact, Pennsylvania, during the past decade, actually has decreased capacity in training facilities for juvenile offenders.

"The forestry camps," he declared, "represent the only new facilities provided by the state. To close them down now, as the appropriations committees are planning to do, only to save money, would be shortsighted and a step backward in the fight against juvenile crime."

State Maintains Two

The Welfare Department maintains two camps. One with a current enrollment of 20 boys, is at Hickory Run State Park, Luzerne County. The other, with 25 boys, is at Raccoon Creek State Park, Washington County.

The current appropriation for the forestry camps is $220,000. However, the department has requested $670,000 in the current biennium to expand the existing facilities and establish a third camp.

The camps are intended to rehabilitate youth from 15 to 18 years of age who are committed by the courts to the State Industrial School. They perform maintenance duties in the parks.

Dr. Reinemann, who sponsored the original legislation that set up the camps in 1956, said that since they opened the boys have done work valued at $58,779.

Notes Improvement in Boys

Dr. Reinemann said he has talked to many of the boys who have worked at the camps and were later discharged.

"The improvement of these boys, in attitude and behavior, is quite apparent," he said. "And the percentage of boys who did not respond to such training and got into trouble again is extremely small."

He said the closing of the camps would be "a devastating blow to a constructive program for the rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents."

"I am convinced," Dr. Reinemann concluded, "that citizens who are seriously concerned about the juvenile delinquency problem, are strongly in favor of continuance and expansion of the youth forestry camp program."

Judge Pledges Aid

Following a conference with Dr. Reinemann, President Judge Adrian Bonnelly promised to write authorities in Harrisburg, stating that the program has had a tremendous beneficial effect.

He said he would urge the legislators to try and find ways of obtaining the necessary funds for continued operation of the camps.

The appropriation requested for the camps was earmarked for the ax by Senate Republicans as part of a move to cut the general fund budget by $63 million.

The legislators said they believe the program has value but charged that it is being administered "very extravagantly."

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate acordingly.

RESOLUTION

COMMENDATION

Messrs. WELSH, McCANN, A. W. JOHNSON, LIPPINCOTT and FINEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 15, 1959.

Inasmuch as our Chief Clerk, Joseph Ominsky, served as a member of the House of Representatives from 1934 to 1940, and acted as majority whip during the 1937 session, it was expected that he would bring to his post a thorough understanding of the work, the needs and the problems of the House. The very excellent job he has done so far confirms that expectation, and confirms our belief that a good job was assured with his election.

While we express our appreciation for his entire work, we are impelled at this time to single out several things for especial praise and commendation. One outstanding accomplishment of Mr. Ominsky was the installation of the new committee meeting bulletin board It is a thing of beauty which fits in with the dignity of the House it graces and contrasts sharply with the ugly blackboard it replaced. In addition, and again in contrast with the blackboard, it is functional. The committee meeting announcements stand out clearly, are easily read, and cannot be rubbed away through an accidental brushing against it.

Other noteworthy accomplishments of direct benefit to the members of the House include the direction of a magnificent picnic at the West Shore Country Club on July 13, 1959; the installation of two private phone booths for members in the lobby of the office of the Chief Clerk and the distribution of an unusual pocket size Legislative Directory; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives commend our chief clerk for his action in the aforesaid matters and many others too numerous to mention, and express our gratitude for his foresight, good judgment and untiring efforts on our behalf; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be delivered to the Chief Clerk, Joseph Ominsky.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, our Chief Clerk serves all of us in the House. In one resolution I think it would be impossible to put into words the numerous things that he does in our behalf in trying to make the House a better operating body.

I think it is well to say that some of us who are here all week from Sunday to Friday, it is not odd to have a conference with the Chief Clerk at midnight or 1 o'clock in the morning or as late as 2 and, on two different occasions, as late as 3:30 in the morning.

I would like to say that many things are in the process of trying to be made a little better or made a little more workable through the efforts of this gentleman from Philadelphia, the Chief Clerk. I wonder how many people realize the thousands of little things that occur behind our legislative operations throughout the night, throughout the day, the personnel that is employed, the people who have to be ready to replace those who become ill or train others to take their place. All these things have been checked into very carefully by this Chief Clerk in an effort to try to make this House of ours a very sound operating body, the man who has placed many changes in the operation of the House, each of them meeting with our utmost approval, a job for which only we can say, a job well done. And I am sure we all agree.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak on the resolution and add to what Mr. McCann has said about our genial, jovial Chief Clerk.

I will say this, when bigger and better picnics are given, Ominsky will throw them. I do not know of anyone who did not have an outstandingly good time over at that picnic. It was well-conducted and well-run picnic. One thing I liked about our Chief Clerk, he stood right there in the midst of all of it and greeted everyone and made us all feel at home. I think it is wonderful that he has become such a very fine part of our General Assembly here. He really fits in well. He showed his high esteem for all of us in the way he went out of his way to help us to put over that picnic.

I know that he is always looking to improve the operation of this General Asesmbly. That is what comes from having a former House Member who has lived it, and knows what has to be done from day to day. I am sure that before this biennium is over many of the fine things that will have occurred for us as Members will have been achieved by our Chief Clerk, Mr. Ominsky.

We want to thank him again for a job well done.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK (Hon. Joseph Ominsky). Mr. Speaker, I am rather pleasantly chagrined and embarrassed with this resolution. Of course I would be less than human if I did not appreciate the approbation that you Members, through this resolution, have given. Certainly when people endeavor to do a good job, they need some encouragement. This resolution encourages us to do greater and better things.

Of course I would be remiss if I did not say that without the cooperation and kindness of the officers of this House, especially the Speaker, the Majority and the Minority Leaders in approving beforehand what we intend to do, we could not have accomplished what little measure of success was acomplished thus far in the House.

Then, too, without the help, the real, sincere hard work of my staff, certainly I could not have accomplished what little measuure of success was obtained during this Session. I hope that as time goes on throuugh this Session we may be in a position to be of more help, and to add some new things and new ideas, with the approval of the officers.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of my staff I wish to thank the membership for this vote of confidence. Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the House, while the Appropriations Committee is in the Appropriation Committee room at its meeting, I would like to have the permision of the House to call up bills out of order; all of these bills are bills which are to be amended. Mr. Johnson has worked on the amendments that are being offered to the bills. In this manner, if agreeable to the House, we can move right along with the bills that are to be amended.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 514, Printer's No. 957,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 517, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No 32) entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code and Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" requiring the flashing of red lights a certain distance before stopping school buses.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate what the sponsors of this bill no doubt had in mind when they wrote the bill. Personally I am interested in school bus operations, and I have looked the bill over with the idea of what could be done, and what thought the sponsors had when they presented it.

At the last Session we made it mandatory that all school buses be equipped with a flashing red light with quite a lot more brilliance than the previous light, installed at the front and back of every school bus, and we thought we had accomplished a step forward in the safety of school children. It seems our problem has been to make a school bus noticeable on the highway.

Why a great, orange colored vehicle of this size should be passed up so unceremoniously by someone who is in a hurry to get somewhere, I do not know. They do not seem to be able to see that it has two large stop lights, red, on the back, so we tried to make it more noticeable by three really bright red lights on the front and back.

The law clearly states that anyone passing a school bus with this red light flashing is subject to a fine, and our drivers have been told to secure the numbers of any operators who pass the school bus with this red light flashing.

This bill started out by saying that the driver had to judge 300 feet previous to his stop and turn on his light. This light has been turned on by moving the handle of the entrance door to open the door, and it is only to be turned on after the bus had come to a complete stop and the driver had assured himself that the oncoming cars would have a chance to clear before he opened the door. Now there is an amendment reducing the 300 feet that he had to judge to 150 feet. I do not believe all of the drivers would have it measured where 150 feet would be. However, that still only takes care of the fellow approaching the rear of the bus.

This bill, the way it is written, to turn the light on 150 feet before the bus has stopped, would make the car approaching the bus have to stop and back up 150 feet.

I may not see the thing right, and I do not mean to disparage the work that has been done on another safety bill for school children, but I think the bill needs some more work on it.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. MERRY. I would like to move that it be recommitted for study, and possibly a wording that would work out in compliance with the law.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit the bill due to the fact that I think we should bear in mind that we are not only trying to protect the driver of a car, but we are also protecting those school children who are entering that bus. When this bus pulls up to its stop, immediately the doors fly open and those kids start coming out. Nine times out of ten a car coming from behind does not know the bus is stopping. He does not know until the lights start to flicker, and they flicker when the bus stops; therefore you have children out there on the road. So I say to you today that I think this is a good bill.

I would like to have seen it at 300 feet, but we were asked to change it to 150 feet. I think any person can judge 150 feet very easily. I ask you to vote against this motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. MERRY Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman understands what I am trying to explain.

In the first place a bus cannot apply its brakes and stop without the two big stop lights flashing, so I do not see why anyone coming from the rear cannot see when the fellow is going to stop the school bus. And I still do not see how we can live with a law that when you are approaching the bus, and the light is flashing, you cannot pass that bus with the light flashing. Yet this bill asks for the light to be flashing 150 feet before the bus even comes to a stop.

It is a little bit out of order to make a motion to recommit on final passage.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. MERRY. I move that it be put on the postponed calendar. I am not against anything that will definitely make school bus operation safer, and save lives, but this bill is not written so that it can be enforced.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the motion before the House is to place House Bill 517, Printer's No. 1073 on the final passage postponed calendar.

Mr. Speaker, I believe the bill has been amended pretty carefully, has been worked out rather satisfactorily, and I am just wondering what we will gain by placing the bill on the postponed calendar at this point.

Is the gentleman in a position in which he is going to offer amendments to correct this situation, or in a position to discuss with the sponsors of the bill any of the items pertaining to the bill?

I realize there are some "no" votes, but there certainly are more than a sufficient number of votes to pass the bill at this point. Will he enlighten us? The Minority Floor Leader did not have any knowledge of this at the time he talked to us today.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to Mr. McCann, I did discuss it with the sponsor of the bill, and the reply was that he definitely had a thought here for the safety of school children. I mentioned to him at the time that I did not see how anyone was going to stop his car in the road and back up 150 feet while that bus was proceeding. In our present law that light should not come on until the bus is stopped. If that light were to go on 150 feet before that bus stops, he would proceed farther up the road, and the oncoming, or approaching, car would have to stop his car and back up. There is no other way that I can see it.

The proposal I might make would be an off-the-highway loading zone, or several of them, designated to load school buses. Our trouble has been having a great many heavy-duty dump trucks passing our buses because the bus stops on a grade. They have gone by the bus with its red light flashing, and we have had considerable trouble. We have had a number of people reported, their numbers turned in, and I do not believe a single one of them has been fined.

I am telling you it is not that I am against something being done, because if you have school buses operating, there are times when you cannot sleep wondering what happens to the children.

I believe an off-the-highway loading zone would be a better answer than this. And I still say you cannot turn this flashing light on and then continue 150 feet farther on the road meeting oncoming traffic.

I would be glad to work with the sponsors of this bill. I do not mean to be mean about it, and try to defeat the passage of the bill. It just simply has to have something else done with it before it can be used.

Mr. O'NEIL. Mr. Speaker, I realize the gentleman is very concerned with the safe operation of school buses and the children therein. I do believe that with a careful reading of the bill on the part of the gentleman he could not possibly interpret such a thing as stopping and backing up 150 feet. The bill simply and clearly says that this warning light will be activated 150 feet prior to the stopping of the bus.

I think all of us who have been engaged and are concerned with safety realize that that fact alone will warn oncoming and following vehicles that are traveling probably on a 50 mile per hour highway, will give them adequate chance to bring their car under control for the actual stopping of the bus for the discharge or taking on of children. So actually the bill does concern itself with warning the motorists who are approaching or following.

I think this is a good piece of safety legislation, and I believe the Members of the House should adopt it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, sixty-two members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred and two in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll.)

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is not normally proper during a roll call to state anything, but I would like to bring to the attention of the Memebrs of the House that on Apirl 1, you passed a similar bill, a house bill, without a dissenting vote. In a conference with the Senate they said we had to take the Senate bill. So those who desire to change their position will clearly indicate it since they had once voted for the same bill without a dissenting vote.

Mr. ISAACS. The Majority Leader is right, Mr. Speaker. I meant to vote against the House bill but it got by me. My objections to this bill are, and I will state them for the record, in a municipal election, an elector, one or more can move out of a borough, township, or a city and come back and vote and swing an election where it is close. We have had them by one vote, where they are not even a resident.

That is my reason for voting "no" on the bill.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1058 on page 14 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1058, entitled:

An Act relating to plumbing providing for the regulation of persons engaged in plumbing prescribing the powers and duties of the Department of Health and those of local governments with respect thereto.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAXWELL asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 5, page 6, line 7, by inserting after "act": "A maintenance man on the regular active employment records may do minor repairs and maintenance to the plumbing installations in the particular building or property in or on which he is employed provided that all plumbing work is done in accordance with the provisions for technical minimum requirements for plumbing installations as established by the State Plumbing Board or by a local board which are equal to or above these minimum requirements and provided that the work is properly inspected in accordance with the requirements as provided by law or regulations of the State Plumbing Board. Further, companies presently within the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission now employing licensed or unlicensed qualified personnel who install water heaters may continue to have these employes make these installations however when any of the present installation personnel are replaced the new employees must be licensed in accordance with the provisions of this act."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call vote on the amendments.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I second the request for a roll call.

Mr. McCANN. If the gentleman who made the request for a roll call is agreeable to a division, I would certainly be thankful and would appreciate it if he would withdraw his request for a roll call.

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to withdraw my request for a roll call and ask for a division.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, withdraw his second?

Mr. CAPANO. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have a ruling on this. Is there anything else that can come before this House except the calling of this roll once it has started?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Majority Leader was recognized by unanimous consent of the House and there was no objection raised by any Memebr present. The gentleman from Dauphin did not object.

Does the gentleman from Dauphin object to having the roll call dispensed with at this time?

Mr. HOCKER. I am only raising the question because I am seeing people sit down in this House because of something that happened during the calling of the roll. I would like to have a decision and will abide by the decision.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Temporarily being in the Chair, it would be my decision, if I have that prerogative, to merely state that since the gentleman asked for and was given unanimous consent of the House and there was no objection raised, he was in order.

The Clerk will proceed with the roll call, the second having refused to agree to a division.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Westmoreland, Dr. Maxwell, has called the bill up and since the amendments fell, I am wondering if the House would agree to any type of a vote on the bill or what procedure they want to follow? This is the only bill, outside of the amended bills, that we are going to act on here today.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, House Bills 1058 and 1059, the plumbing bills, have an interest for me solely from the health standpoint.

It seems a peculiar situation in the House that anything involving matters of the health of the Commonwealth receive such a small amount of consideration. It seems it devolves upon a few of us who are in the health professions to defend and advocate any measure that is in any way connected with health, because there is nobody else to assume the task.

This bill and its companion bill, if I may be allowed to speak on both, are really health measures. They try to do for the rest of the state what the first and second class cities have and the third class cities have in setting up a plumbing code which will be equitable for the whole state.

We tried to introduce amendments to meet objections. The amendments which have just fallen were designed to make legal a practice that has been going on in Philadelphia for fifty years. Under the Philadelphia Plumbing Code a maintenance man is not permitted to do plumbing, but he is doing it and has been doing it for fifty years and has not been disturbed. It is the same situation in Pittsburgh, and it is the same situation in every third class city in the state.

Any Member of this House who has any rural territory in his district knows that the plumbing and the sanitary situation in many of the new developments is deplorable, to say the least. We have no standards; we have no enforcement. The epidemics of hepatitis alone in the state have been disastrous. There have been many, many cases and there is hardly a district I should say in the state that does not have a plumbing code that has not had trouble attributable to nothing but a low standard which nobody can improve unless we do it.

These bills have been before the House in previous Sessions and have passed the House, but in my experience I have never known two bills that have been subjected to more misinformation and propaganda than these two have in this Session of the Legislature. All we are trying to do is to set up a plumbing code; a local code, if they want a local code, or a state code, if the local authorities do not move, only the code that is in the first class cities, the second class cities and the third class cities.

I am sure, ladies and gentlemen, that anybody who lives in such a community would be considered crazy if they advocated a repeal of those codes in the cities that have them. So if they are good for those communities, why aren't they good for the rest of the State?

All the argument against this comes from the fact that it may cost somebody a few extra dollars to put in proper plumbing, have it inspected and give the homeowner the satisfaction of knowing that he has a decent and sanitary home to live in. It is nothing more or less than a lot of people who want to put in undervalued and poorly constructed work and in most cases charge the price for the first-class work.

I have no interest in the bill other than, as I have said, the matter of health. I believe if the Members of the House would read the bill and not pay so much attention to the interested parties who are interested solely for their own profit, who have been disseminating so much misinformation, that they would go along with this bill.

I ask the Members of the House to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Chairman, I rise to speak on this bill. This is a good bill.

In June of 1912 this Assembly took upon itself a program to enact a plumbing code in cities of the first class. That is almost for 47 years the cities of the first class, cities of the third class, the various counties and boroughs, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have had a plumbing code.

They all know it is to their advantage because there is a saying that in the time of disaster there are only two persons needed at any place and that is the plumber and the physician, one to correct the damage done, to dispense with the dangers, and a physician to heal them.

I ask all of the Members of the House to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1058 fundamentally is a good bill. It is a health measure. It is a sanitation measure that we need in this state, and as time goes on we are going to need it more than we do at the present time.

The rural districts are gradually building up and they are no longer rural districts; they are highly congested districts now. We need a plumbing code in those districts which we do not have.

With the amendments this would have been a much better bill. It would have exempted the schools, the institutions and the hotels. It would have allowed them to have a handyman or maintenance man—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests that the gentleman speak on the bill rather than on the amendments which were previously defeated.

Mr. MAXWELL. As I said before, this could have been a better bill than it is. I never mentioned a word about what you told me not to, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. Maxwell. I am not going to prolong this. This is still a good bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this. I do not want to debate the bill

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL No. 560

July 21, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 560, Printer's No. 1005, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled 'The Vehicle Code' changing the permitted length of certain vehicles used in hauling livestock."

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Wade and myself, I am about to present to the Chair a bill which I think is good legislation.

I am reliably informed that for every one dollar received for an operator's license, it costs the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ninety-two cents to issue it. This bill will provide that operators' licenses will be staggered over a three-year period. I think this would save the Commonwealth a lot of money.

I am also told that the Department of Revenue, when operators' licenses are due, employ some 425 additional employees. By the time they are trained, the rush is over and it is money wasted.

Mr. President, I hope that the Committee on Highways will act on this bill at its earliest convenience because I do think that it will not only swell our treasury, but it will be a convenience to the public.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PECHAN and WADE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 992, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32), entitled "The Vehice Code," providing for an operator license period of three years and fixing fees relatiev thereto.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 993, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1987), entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Highways, with the approval of the Governor, to erect and construct a toll bridge over the Monongahela River, connecting the State highway system in Washington County with the system of State highways in Fayette County, and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with such State highways; . . ." deleting provisions requiring the collection of tolls and naming the bridge the William J. Lane-Eustice H. Bane Bridge.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. HAYS and SEYLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 994, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," authorizing the withholding of payment for failure to comply with county reorganization plans in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the resolution I am about to offer pays tribute to a great and eminent Philadelphia jurist on his eightieth birthday, which will fall on Friday. I am referring to none other than the former President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 3 of Phila, delphia, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING FELICITATIONS TO JUDGE RAYMOND MacNEILLE ON HIS EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 42), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 21, 1959.

This coming Friday, July 24, 1959, Philadelphia's citizenry will mark with profound gratitude and ardent admiration the 80th birthday of the Honorable Raymond MacNeill, who, at the age of 79, retired last year from the bench as President Judge of Court of Common Pleas No. 3 of Philadelphia County after forty-four years of continuous, fruitful and dedicated judicial services to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to his native city of Philadelphia.

It was indeed the guidance of good Providence that enlisted the creative genius of Judge Raymond MacNeille as one of the first Judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia concomitant with its very creation. Thereafter, for a period of nearly fourteen years, until his election as Judge of Court of Common Pleas No. 3 of Philadelphia County in 1927, Judge MacNeille served the citizenry of Philadelphia first as Judge of the Municipal Court, and since 1924 as President Judge of this vital tribunal that is playing and continues today to play more than ever such a decisive role in the sociological destinies of Philadelphia.

Re-elected in 1937 as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 3, Judge MacNeille became in 1941 the President Judge of that tribunal and was thereafter re-elected in 1947 and again in 1957 thereto with impressive unanimity of the electorate.

The profundity of Judge MacNeille's learning and the impeccable lucidity of his prolific and trenchant judicial pen have contributed immeasurably in Pennsylvania towards the implementation of Blackstone's centuries-old adage about the "certainty of the law" contributing to the "safety of all."

Judge MacNeille's hobby to which he devoted the few hours of his leisure still remains unsung and is awaiting an exhaustive study by a competent biographer. Not unlike Duveen, but as a mere dilettante and for the sake of pure art only, Judge MacNeille engaged in the search of old paintings and their masterful restoration. A visit to his judicial chambers was a scintillating experience as their sparkling atmosphere of culture and artistic refinement left an indelible impression upon the observer, bringing to one's mind the historian's accounts of Lord Mansfield's Judicial Chambers and renowned library that were pillaged and destroyed by the mobs during the Gordon riots in Eighteenth Century London.

Be It Therefore Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania, in the name of the people of Pennsylvania, extend its flicitations to Judge Raymond MacNeille on his 80th birthday and express its fervent wishes to this eminent jurist for many happy returns of the day.

The PRESIDENT. I might say in passing that I had the privilege of working with Judge MacNeille for almost seven years as a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He is a very great man, and the Commonwealth should be very grateful for the service that he rendered during his years on the Bench.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS OVER IN ORDER

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 56, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "The Vehicle Code," regulating the issuance of operators' licenses to persons between sixteen and eighteen years of age.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, this legislation has a laudable objective; namely, the reduction of highway accidents in the sixteen to eighteen year age group. However, it seeks to accomplish this objective by penalizing all young persons in that age bracket, regardless of ability and disposition to operate a motor vehicle safely and lawfully. We think this is not the approach which will raise driving standards on our highways.

Pennsylvania is a pioneer in driver education in America's high schools, beginning in 1934. In twenty-five years this project has embraced one-half of all the public high schools in America, with the result that one and one-quarter million students are today taking driving education courses in our high schools.

A report, published by the Council of State Governments, in 1958, concluded, on the basis of studies made in fourteen States, the following:

> "It seems that driver education reduces teenage involvement in traffic accidents by about one-half.
> "It is this program (driver training in high schools)— or some totally mysterious force— which has reduced the Nation's fatality rate per 100 million vehicle miles from 16.7 in 1934 to 6.4 in 1955."

This magnificent record has been achieved during a period when the number of automobiles on the highways has increased fantastically and the number of vehicles has increased likewise.

Psychologists recognize that if a person is reached at an age before bad driving habits are already formed, it is possible to build in desirable reflexes and attitudes even in very unpromising material.

We are aware that the hard headed actuaries for certain automobile insurance companies reduce premiums ten per cent if a youth has completed a high school driver training course. New York, California, New Mexico, Utah and Texas have established a system of rewards for such driver training by granting substantial license advantages.

Let us look at this problem in the face. Is it practicable to deprive all youths under the age of eighteen of the right to drive?

The problem of the boy working on the farm, driving farm vehicles, just will not permit us to withhold licenses through seventeen or eighteen years of age.

The social pressures on youths today, to drive a car, are greater than ever. I fear we would have a psychological problem. I fear we would create a psychopathic attitude among these young people towards law enforcement, if we were to try to set up a system of prohibitions against them as an age group without discrimination based on ability and disposition to drive safely.

We recommend a positive course. Let us not build up juvenile delinquency by a set of prihibitions. Let us set up a system of rewards to those youths who demonstrate the proper attitudes and aptitudes towards driving.

If we make these young people wait, we will run into a situation where the older boys will not want the training or will not admit that they need it.

Mr. President, I think there is one other problem in connection with this piece of legislation and that is the difficulty of enforcement by our police officers. How in the world are we going to try to get these drivers with restricted licenses, when many times you cannot tell whether a boy or girl is sixteen or eighteen, just by looking at them?

Mr. President, I would like to urge my colleagues, on both sides of the aisle, to vote to defeat this very impractical bill.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Kessler, as the father of a seventeen year old girl who has been driving for a year, I can appreciate your thoughts very thoroughly.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I can heartily I think endorse the remarks made by the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler. To be a little more specific, I would call your attention to page 3 of Senate Bill No. 56, beginning with line 20, which reads as follows:

> "A junior operator's license shall not entitle a licensee to operate a motor vehicle other than going to and from school or to and from his place of employment during the hours of darkness unless accompanied by a duly licensed operator who is over eighteen (18) years of age . . ."

It seems to me that this is another inherent weakness in this bill which, of course, has a very worthy motive. I think all the data on traffic accidents indicates that the worst age, with the greatest number of accidents, is the eighteen, nineteen, twenty and twenty-one age group. Here we have proposed legislation which would send sixteen and seventeen year old boys and girls out under the custody of an eighteen, nineteen or twenty year old. It seems this is not a case of the blind leading the blind. It is a case of the very blind leading, perhaps, the half blind.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think this is a very weak part of this legislation. I think the constructive approach is very much better. Senator Kessler gave me this opportunity, although I am reluctant to mention the fact. However, it happened to have been my privilege to inaugurate the first driver training course in any high school in the United States. We are quite proud of the way this idea has spread and the positive way in which we think. We have figures to back us up, that these trained drivers have improved highway conditions. While I am on my feet, I guess I will have to give another Chamber of Commerce plug to say that the town in which I live had the first driver training course in the world. We have, perhaps, more teen-age and young drivers in and out of this town than any other town in Pennsylvania. We are now finishing our twelfth year. It is the only town in the United States, of its size, without a highway fatality. We are quite proud of this record and I like to think, at least, it is partly due to the driver training program.

I think we need a positive approach to this and I think sending the sixteen and seventeen year old boy or girl out with a nineteen year old boy or girl is not the positive approach to this question. I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this measure.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Hays. On behalf of my daughter, Carol, I can say thanks, too.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I have some remarks in favor of this bill, on behalf of your daughter, Carol, also.

This bill does what the gentlemen, Senator Kessler and Senator Hays, said they approve. They approve of driver training. This bill compels any child sixteen years of age to pass a driver training course before he gets a senior license. If driver training is so good for those who have passed it, it is good for those who have not taken the course.

This bill is similar to a bill which has been in effect in New York State since 1926. I have a report from the State of New York which favors this bill. This system has been in operation in New York all these years. Also, the State of Connecticut has a similar bill and they say it is very favorable.

For one year, between sixteen and seventeen years of age, if a child learns how to drive correctly, there is no doubt that he will be a better driver after he is eighteen or nineteen. The people who are really in favor of this bill are the parents whose children will become sixteen years of age. They say, "Please get this bill through because we want it."

If the parents realize that their child, between the ages of sixteen and seventeen, is not fit to drive, or for any other reason they want to remove the child's license, they can write to Harrisburg and ask to have the license removed. Many parents would like to have their children's licenses removed after the licenses have been issued.

I say this is a good bill because, first, it is going to cut down the number of accidents. Right here I have a big headline which reads: "Two Teen-Agers Die as Car Hits Tree." It hit the tree at 1:00 o'clock in the morning when they were out driving around for pleasure.

In our area, a lot of children have been robbing gas stations. If the police had a right to stop these children between sixteen and seventeen years of age and ask them for their driver's license, this robbing might have been stopped.

I believe this is a good bill. I feel it will prevent accidents. It will cause all children to pass a driver's test, which my colleagues have lauded so much. It is a good bill for your daughter, Mr. President. It is a good bill for my child and other children in the State of Pennsylvania. Every person with whom I have discussed this bill in my area is in favor of it.

I hope that every Senator votes for this bill.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, this bill is but an extension of the thinking that would indict a generation and set them apart from others.

It would seem to me that the thousands and thousands of good boys and good girls who have outstanding records of being good citizens are being penalized day after day by moves similar to this, which brand them as people apart, as though they are a special problem in this world to everyone else who exists in it. They are no different than your generation or my generation. These boys and girls are, as a whole, good people and they will be good citizens.

You are saying to them that we will brand them with a scarlet letter, by giving them a license which is different than other people are entitled to, because being teen-agers they are different. They are not different. The percentage of these children who are bad is so small that it should not indict the whole coming generation of what we call teen-agers.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, this bill approaches this highway safety program with the same police attitude of the past, making liars of children and forcing them to associate with a careless group of nineteen year olds because the bill requires a driver of nineteen to accompany these children. Many children will not obey this law because they will not even think about it. They will just go out driving and forget all about this restriction. It will be one of those laws which no one will even try to enforce. It is just a needless restriction on otherwise good drivers.

Most of the young people today are good drivers, and it is only a few who do what Senator Confair pointed out in the newspaper.

I think we should approach this subject of careful driving on the highways with the suggestion of Senator Kessler. If we want improved driving, we should give the children rewards and give them encouragement for good driving instead of looking at the situation from the point of view of a policeman, and condemning people for their normal reactions to situations.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong the debate on this bill. However, there are a few problems which came to my mind immediately. What you are doing by this type of legislation is setting up a driver junior grade, with the idea of preventing accidents in the age group between sixteen and eighteen. The bill permits children, sixteen years old, to drive after dark if accompanied by someone eighteen years or older.

I think experience and tables on accidents show that the youngsters between eighteen and twenty-one years of age are the ones who have the most problems in connection with being accident prone and having difficulties with automobiles, crime and those areas.

I think the problem that Senator Confair mentioned might well be taken care of by a curfew law which some cities have seen fit to enact in recent years.

This bill is similar to the New York law. I do not know what experience they have had or how well this has gone with them. However, one of the problems that we have here—and I think we should be concerned with it for just a moment—is that the Secretary is allowed to suspend a junior license for a violation of the Vehicle Code if the child is involved in an accident. This includes drivers up to the age of eighteen years. I put to you the fact that suppose the child scrapes his fender or the fender of another car in backing up or parking the automobile. Does this mean that his license would be suspended and that this youngster would then be without a license? This bill does not delimit the type of accident or what it would entail.

I cannot see a youngster, who is sixteen years old and who comes from a good background and a responsible home, going out with an irresponsible youngster of eighteen or nineteen years of age. There is nothing magic about the chronological years of a person's life. As you and I well know, there are many people in various age categories who might be older than some of the Members here, who are not more responsible or who may not be the type of people you could deal with on a responsible basis. Therefore, age is not the prime factor with which we should concern ourselves.

I think what you are trying to do here is attack juvenile problems and difficulties from the wrong point of view, by delimiting their licenses, by holding their parents responsible when the problem is more fundamental and more basic. It is steeped in the economic areas of our society and it is steeped in the beginning, when the youngsters go to school where we should ferret out the youngsters who are causing difficulty or creating problems. There is nothing magic about the ages of sixteen or seventeen.

I would like to point out that in both the Democratic Platform and the Republican Platform, there appeared a plank which was to give youngsters, eighteen years old, the right to vote. We are saying, on one hand, that you can vote and be responsible when you are eighteen, but on the other hand you are going to be junior grade from sixteen to eighteen. There is something inconsistent with that type of thinking. To try to make a base rule for groups of people across a flat line is a little bit unrealistic and not consistent with the facts as we have them or know them to be.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I first want to congratulate you, personally, on the good driving record of your daughter, Carol, at the age of sixteen. I wish I could say the same for my son, Stephen, who, when he started to drive at the age of sixteen, had three accidents and had me worried plenty.

I think there is some merit in this bill, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I was listening to the speakers here and I think possibly I should clarify a statement which was made here earlier in this debate.

Someone mentioned the attitude of insurance companies in regard to the young drivers. This legislation is applicable to both boys and girls. For the information of the Members of the Senate, I wish to advise that if you have a young daughter, aged sixteen, who secures her license with permission of her parents, she can drive your vehicle under your present insurance policy with no additional premium because she is not classified in the Two Class. However, if you have a young son, sixteen years or older, and he operates your vehicle, you must pay an additional premium which is about double your present premium to cover him in the operation of the vehicle.

It is rather difficult to classify reckless drivers as far as juveniles are concerned, because the insurance companies feel that a young girl is a far more careful operator than a young boy. Therefore, we have that argument to look into.

I have no profound convictions on this legislation. I feel various portions of the bill have merit. However, on the hand, I feel that it is more or less discriminatory. Frankly, I have not read the bill until today. I would like to hear some more speeches if you want me to vote for it.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, so that the record may be complete, I think we should report that Senator Silvert advised me that his son did not take the driver training course, and I hope that your daughter has taken the course.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I regret not having heard all of the debate on this particular issue. However, this bill puts us in the position of legislating morals.

Ninety-five per cent of the people in my District, who are in favor of this bill, are the same people who ask me to pass a bill in Harrisburg because they cannot stop their sons and daughters from driving cars. This is a highly moral issue, and, for that reason, we should not assume the responsibility of being parents to those who will not assume their own responsibility.

For that reason, I would ask that we vote against this bill.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, as Senator Van Sant said, there are times when we must help parents. Perhaps this bill would have saved the lives of those two children who were killed. If it had done that, it would be a worthy bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 689, entitled:

An Act reenacting amending and revising the Act of April 6, 1953 (P. L. 3) entitled "Uniform Commericial Code"

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill has been on the Calendar for some time. I am sorry I do not have the bill here in my possession, but we asked that it not be printed due to its length. This bill is 425 pages long.

I would like to respectfully point out to the Members of the Senate that this is a re-enactment of the Act of 1953, which we termed the Uniform Commercial Code. At that time, we became the leader. We were the first State to enact a Uniform Commercial Code. At the present time, there are only three other States which have followed us.

I think it is only fair that we state here quite honestly to each other what has happened in other areas where they have looked into this problem. New York State, which is probably one of the greatest commercial States in this Country, spent $300,000 investigating this problem, and after a number of years and the expenditure of this sum of money, they decided against enacting this code.

This bill, and this Act, leave a great deal to be desired. I do not think that the further enactment of this legislation is in the interest of the people of this Commonwealth. I think that we are making a grave error, for which we may be sorry later on.

After some of the other Senators have completed their discussions, I will be glad to go into some of the other subjects on which they have not touched. At that time if you are convinced that we need this legislation and that it is desirable, you can vote your conscience.

I would like at this time to yield to Senator Mahady, unless the Majority Leader would like to discuss this matter.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, you may recognize Senator Mahady. I would rather defer what I have to say until the opponents of the bill have spoken.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I could, because of the length of this bill, take it up by paragraph by paragraph, but I am sure I would make no friends in doing so. I will admit, because this bill was delayed so long, I did not get through the last sixty-five pages of it. However, I will only say to you that the remarks that I am about to make apply to everything except Article II, on sales. The sales section is a section which is badly needed in the law, and it covers all the dicta in the Supreme and Superior Court decisions and merely codifies it into the present law over the existing code we have had. Therefore, I would say to you if a bill embodying the sales portion of this bill were submitted, I would vote for it in its entirety.

I was informed by Members on the other side of the aisle that no amendments would be accepted; that it was all or nothing. With that approach, I will say to you that this bill makes radical changes in the law, changes which leave a doubt as to whether they are necessary at this time. They are, at best, highly controversial. They do put the emphasis upon the advantage to the banking institutions.

The ordinary flow of paper, which we could accept on its face in many instances, is made susceptible to the rule of caveat emptor, a very decided and extensive suggestion on the change in the law.

The Mellon Bank case is overruled. In this case, an initial was put on a check and it was declared not to be a signature. Under this Act, the very initialing would make it a signature. The signing of an individual for a corporation, in many cases, would make him liable as an individual because of an error in form and not an error in substance.

We also find that the fine under the statute of fraud is raised from $500 to $5,000. Without going into the details, again this is highly controversial.

We find in the commercial paper section that many drafts, checks, deposit certificates and notes are turned into negotiable paper per se, and many defenses are wiped out. The present defenses for nonnegotiable paper read far more extensively than that of negotiable. We find in a suit on a check where, if there is a mere bit of evidence in the plaintiff's testimony that there might be a defense, the necessity for proving the consideration arises, while, at the present time, we merely introduce the check, prove the signature and rest.

I point out to you that the powers of the individual, the protections for the individual, are highly impaired. A restrictive endorsement can be brought and a general endorsement can be narrowed not only by the next endorser, but by any endorser along the line. I am sure that the present rules of restrictive endorsing have added no end to the free passage of a bill or note in the law merchant. There is no question about the fact that the rules of the law merchant are very strict. They are very decisive and it takes a good many years for any individual to pick up these rules. You suddenly have them pulled out from under you, and you increase the zone of argument so that it means there will be litigation in many cases where there was not litigation before. The certainty of a bill of note is the basis of its acceptance in everyday commercial channels.

I could go on. However, I say to you in particular, to any of you who are going to vote on this bill, that at least three pages, 258, 259 and 260, contain the crux of the bill, which shows it not to be to the protection of the rights of the individual, but rather those who are in business, whether it be in the business of warehousing, the business of banking or any other particular business.

If you are satisfied that you would receive your bank statement, and fourteen days thereafter the statute of limitation forecloses all rights and claims against the bank, then, of course, you may feel free to vote for this bill. However, I say that a fourteen day statute of limitations is not only bad law, but it is bad business. When a bank sends your statement, the idea of forgery or the authenticity of the signatures of the endorses is normally not within your scope within fourteen days.

More particularly, let me say if a check of yours has been forged, you do not have the facilities, usually not the insurance, nor do you have the time, the leisure or the apparatus to run it down. Petty forgeries are discovered as long as a year after the forgery. I have seen two forgeries in the last year in financial institutions which I represent. One was discovered fourteen months later; one, within nine months. The banking institutions, being insured, have the facilities at their fingertips by way of the insurance company and the trained experts within the institution to run this forgery down successfully. However, if the individual were precluded, as this act precludes him, then the individual would be at a loss to know how to begin to run down a forgery, let alone to recover upon it.

I am not condemning the bill. I say it is highly controversial. It is a big bite to take all at once. It is a bite that is not advantageous to the individual. It is nice to be out in front. It is nice to say we lead the nation. However, where are we leading it? What are you actually going to do for the people in business in this Commonwealth?

This is of such doubtful proportion that I respectfully say to you, consider your vote and consider it well. I am going to vote "no."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, up until the present law, which is before us today, was even considered, if people entered into an unconscionable contract and if a person acting against his better interest would enter into a contract which was unfair, or was not the type of contract that the man originally intended, he could go before the courts and they would relieve him of this type of an unconscionable obligation that he had taken on.

If we enact this code, the power to alleviate the effects of these contracts will be further limited so that the courts will not have this power any longer to take care of this type of situation.

Greater power is given to certain parties to vary, by agreement, certain definitions and formal requirements of the Uniform Code which we have enacted. Why are we making things more difficult for these other people? As you all remember, after the Act was enacted into law in 1953, in the Session of 1955 and in the Session of 1957, we also had amendments to the Act. If, in the beginning, we had a uniform act,—and I think the definition of that word is pretty clear—it should not be necessary that we come back here every session with 400 or 500 pages of amendments to an Act which is already uniform and allegedly takes care of all the problems indicated in the particular area which it covers.

Mr. President, I believe we are making a grave error here in enacting this type of legislation. I have resisted this legislation in the past Sessions of the Legislature. I do not feel that we are ready at this time to take this important step. I would not ask that all of you who have read the legislation to vote on it, because I think we would have a very small vote here today. However, I would ask you to consider very carefully the step that you are going to take. If you and the people who live in your District, those who are going to have to live under this legislation, feel satisfied that this is in the best interest of all the people living in this Commonwealth, I would ask you to vote for it. I advise you, after having read this legislation, that it is not in the best interest, either for yourself or for the people living in this Commonwealth. Therefore, please vote against this legislation, as you will be doing a disservice to enact this type of law.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, when we passed this Code in 1953, as a result of work on the part of a great many study groups,—the American Law Institute, the Commercial Law League, the Bankers Association and a great many similar groups which were interested in commercial law—it was to be a Uniform Code. Mr. President, it was a Uniform Code; it was uniform in Pennsylvania for quite awhile. We understood a number of other States were going to adopt it right away, but they failed to do so. However, in recent years, several other State—namely, Massachusetts, Kentucky and Connecticut—have adopted the Code, but with the changes which are proposed here in these amendments. For that reason, in order to preserve the uniform aspect of it, these amendments are offered.

Mr. President, I do not pretend to come before this Body and say that I know too much about this Commercial Code. I would rather admit that I know very little about the Commercial Code. Many general practitioners, I believe, will be glad to admit the same. However, the people who are in everyday contact and use of the Commercial Code recommend that it be amended in accordance with what is before us here today. I, as a general practitioner and not ordinarily in contact with it, am agreeable to accepting their evaluation and their expert appraisal of the need for these amendments in order to bring our law into uniformity and the laws of the other States in line with ours. I am not a strong advocate of this particular subject, but, at the same time, Mr. President, we do have the Commercial Code in Pennsylvania and if, as has been said in a number of communications, this will improve it and will make it more workable and will make it more convenient for those who practice everyday under it, and the commercial houses and institutions who use it daily and have to use it daily, then I would suggest that it would be well for us to bring our Pennsylvania law into line and to adopt these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is somewhat reminiscent of the small child, whose parents forbid it to do a certain act, going to its own parents and saying, "Johnnie is going to do this thing and his mother says it is all right." Therefore, the mother, feeling that she might be having a candidate here for some psychiatrist's couch in the dim future, says, "All right, I will go along also." Neither parent consults the other parent and the other youngster then goes back to its own parents and they both agree to go along with something they never would have agreed to in the beginning. Here we have a similar situation. We enacted a Uniform Code. What is it uniform with? We were the only State which adopted it. I do not know about the uniformity which allegedly exists. In the fifty States which now make up the Union, there are only four States that have adopted it. Other States, which have had contact with it, have decided either not to do it or have decided against adopting it altogether.

I agree with the Majority Leader that there were some very eminent members who served on this committee. Howver, in what sense were they eminent? Was the consumer ever consulted? Was the small depositor ever consulted? Was the person who puts a few dollars in the bank and uses a checking system ever consulted? Was this matter ever discussed at any length with him in order to see what this would do to him? The only people who were ever represented on this board or group that discussed it were men who deal in commercial law, most of whom come from very large legal factories, if you please, and who are interested in serving a particular client. I would not say that they are motivated by a selfish interest. However, I think they are motivated to take care of a situation as they see it, involving some large client of theirs, either a large bank, a large warehouseman or a large transporter. All we are doing here by further enacting these amendments is compounding a mistake that we made originally.

This Code, allegedly, was to include the Sales Act, the Uniform Fraud Act and a number of other acts dealing with the Commercial Code, as we understood it. All we have done is tightened up this grip. We have made it tighter and tighter and tighter, until today we are at the point where I am afraid that the small consumer is going to be hurt. Many of the warranties that he has come to know and live with are being removed and restricted. We are giving a greater edge to the seller. I do not think any of us ever intended to do that, nor do I think that any of us ever intend to negate all the things that we have done to protect, in a sense, the buyer. The term "caveat emptor," which is understood and known by every lay person, in a sense, is being chipped away by this very act today. I am afraid that we will be back here next Session, trying to correct the errors that we made in the name of uniformity.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I cannot help but comment upon the last remark made by the Minority Leader. The term, "caveat emptor," is usually invoked on the part of the seller who is selling to the little guy, rather than vice versa. It would not hurt, maybe sometime, to chip away a little of the effect of that slogan in so far as our legal concept is concerned.

I wish to point out, Mr. President, that whether or not we like it, we have the Commercial Code in Pennsylvania and if these amendments are designed to make it more workable, more usable and improve it, then we undoubtedly should adopt them.

I want to say also that in so far as the rights of the consumer, the buyer or the small fellow is concerned, it is my opinion that the Conference of the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, and the people who are on the American Law Institute Study, are admittedly experts and they are the cream of the profession. However, at the same time, I am not prepared to admit that those people went into their conferences and held their meetings and produced the Commercial Code, or the amendments to the Commercial Code, now being considered, entirely with the viewpoint only of the large bank, the large seller or the warehouseman in mind. I believe they also, as members of the profession, had in mind the rights of the people, the purchaser and the small fellow who has to deal with the big fellow and that these amendments are not designed to over-reach the little man, but are intended to make more workable a law which we already have on the statute books of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to further prolong this debate. However, I want to thank the Majority Leader. I was somewhat ambiguous on the "caveat emptor." What I should have mentioned further was that caveat emptor, at one time in our society, was thought of as the days of the rugged individualist, when we had no heed for the small person who wanted to purchase anything. Therefore, we built our laws along the lines of trying to help the person so that he was not caught by the doctrine of caveat emptor. What I was pointing out here was that we have shipped away at those safeguards in this legislation.

I would just like to propound this question to the Members of the Senate. If this is a good and desirable thing,—we adopted our Act back in 1953 and I believe there was about two or three years work that went into it before that—there has been a nine year lapse now and only four States have seen fit to adopt this Uniform Code. If it has all the desirable features and everybody has been protected and has been insulated against any kind of loss or harm, I would thing that all the States would have immediately leaped to the fore, in their progressiveness to take care of their own people, and would have adopted this type of legislation. The fact that they have not, I think, should be an indicia to us, and sort of a criterion for us to look at ourselves very searchingly to find out whether we did the right thing in the beginning by being the leader in this field.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think at this time there are a few facts, rather than conclusions, that should be mentioned. Whether it is bad or whether it is good, let us look at the facts.

We mentioned that several States had adopted it. In Massachusetts, under the doctrine of Price against Neal, it was provided that when a bank was negligent, it was liable to its depositors or the people with whom it dealt. In Massachusetts, they are now arguing whether or not Price against Neal, by a judicial interpretation, can be read into this Act, when on the very face of the Act, from Section 403 to Section 419, we find one place after another where it wipes out the bank's liability for its own negligence. What is more, it goes a step further. As I said, it is a highly controversial Act. What the Act means is controversial, even among the authorities.

What does it mean, for instance, when it says that a financial institution, et cetera, can disclaim signatures of authorized representatives who have signed in a negligent manner? Does that produce more obscurity or does it produce less? Does it produce more cases for the lawyers to try or does it produce less?

Now, let us answer the doctrine of caveat emptor. In the law merchant, from the time of the Lombard merchant, the ideal was to have a piece of paper flow in the ordinary channels of commerce, without obstruction, without doubt, and to be accepted upon its face. This Act, in sixteen different places, produces sections which say that the face of the instrument, itself, shall not govern. It even goes so far as to say that if a man should have known that there was going to be an offense, there could be an offense.

Are you making the thing a better thing or a worse thing when you use the standard of the law merchant? That means that you and I, as practical everyday people, knowing no law but knowing the practices of trade, would accept or not accept an instrument upon its face. That is very important. We say the facts are technical, yes. However, they are not as highly technical as they are here or subject to as much litigation.

Let us say, again going to the restrictive endorsement, we can take a nonnegotiable instrument, under this Act, and by the simple endorsement of it, turn it into a negotiable instrument and wipe out all the defenses that the endorsers prior to us had. Does that seem to be a reasonable provision to anybody sitting in this Senate? You sign a nonnegotiable instrument, as an endorser, and the man next to you turns it into a negotiable instrument, under this Act, thereby wiping out any defenses or any setoff that you may be entitled to.

The more one studies this and the more one looks at the extensive law reviews that are in existence on it, he begins to wonder whether or not the lawyers understand it. I can agree with Senator Berger that any man who reads this Act has to take an humble approach and say, "I know very little about it." It is so highly controversial that the lawyers disagree and, more than that, the highly specialized lawyers disagree as to the interpretation and as to the conclusion.

That is why I said to you that I do not oppose the Act. I say it is premature; it is not well thought out and it has not been sufficiently considered. It is not a product of which anyone can say, "This enhances the free flow of instruments of credit in the normal channels of the law merchant.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, this bill is not only controversial, it is very complicated. I do not know how many Senators here understand what is in this bill. I know I do not, and I would consider voting in favor of it to be like signing a blank check. For that reason alone, I intend to vote against it.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1723, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to be used by the Coal Research Board for research and development of a process for the use of coal for road building material and other uses and purposes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I think this bill is abusing and misusing the taxpayers' money in Pennsylvania. Originally when this bill came before the Senate, it came in the form of a one-half million dollar appropriation to a private industry, to further their cause in a product which even the Secretary of Highways did not believe would be good for road building in Pennsylvania.

Yet, all of the mining areas are deeply interested in this bill. I would like to tell the Senators, who represent the mining districts, that there were 40,000,000 barrels of cement manufactured in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania last year and it took 6,000,000 tons of Pennsylvania coal to produce 40,000,000 barrels of cement. I think seventy per cent of the cement manufactured in Pennsylvania is manufactured in the Lehigh Valley, and the Lehigh Valley and the cement industry have done very much for the coal industry.

Let us say that this bill is passed and we would pay out $150,000 worth of the taxpayers' money to further the cause of private industry, and let us say that it was proven successful. Are we going to then say that the coal must be purchased in Pennsylvania? They can go to West Virginia or they can go to Kentucky to purchase coal. This is a poor bill, and I sincerely hope that my colleagues on this side of the aisle will vote against it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the way I read this appropriation bill, we are appropriating to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries the sum of $150,000 to be used by the Coal Research Board for research and development of a process for the use of coal for road building materials and other uses and purposes.

Let me say, Mr. President, that in western Pennsylvania we, at the present time, have hundreds of thousands of coal miners who are unemployed. I, for one, feel that there may be a possibility that the passage of this legislation might help the unemployment situation in the western Pennsylvania coal fields.

I might also say, Mr. President, in looking at the House History, that I find this piece of legislation passed the House by a vote of 194 to 0. Therefore, it seems to me that it is more or less a popular measure. I feel that we, as Members of this Senate, who have been talking about doing something for industrial development, will now be in the process of doing something for industrial development for western Pennsylvania and the bituminous coal fields.

I feel this is good legislation, and will stand on my record, any day of the year, on my vote in support of this legislation because I do feel that this is a great step forward as far as it concerns the economy of western Pennsylvania. I sincerely hope that every Member of the Senate will support my position. I, for one, have no quarrel with the cement industry. It is an integral part of industry in Pennsylvania and, if it were possible, I would be only too glad at any time to help them expand their operations.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the bill before us now is the result of a number of conferences and discussions in connection with the possibility that there might be developed a process which could be used in the surfacing of highways in Pennsylvania by the use of bituminous coal. As Senator Lane has well said, if any new process which will consume coal can be developed, then, we, having some indication of that possibility, would be remiss if we did not assist in exploring that possibility.

However, Mr. President, this is not designed in any way to be detrimental to an existing and valuable industry in Pennsylvania, but it is designed, if it can be done, to assist an ailing industry in Pennsylvania. We are interested in the health of both of them and that, of course, is what this bill is intended to do.

The amount of the appropriation in this bill we consider to be as small as we could determine could be used to develop this process. Originally, the bill provided for $500,000. We found that a pilot plant could be built, and we are appropriating the money to the Coal Research Bureau to construct that pilot plant. If the process is reasonable and can be used, the Highways Department can then put in some experimental strips. That is the intent of this whole legislation. It is not designed to be detrimental; it is designed to be helpful.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I have discussed this bill with many engineers in our Highways Department. As I understand it, the Highways Department would not even consider the possibility of studying such use. This is furthering the use of a by-product called tar, which will have little effect on the people of Pennsylvania.

I might add that we just concluded a Welfare Investigation, Mr. President, and I have seen a waiting list of 3,000 retarded children who could very well use this $150,000 which has not even be appropriated in the budget.

I sincerely hope that the Members on this side of the aisle will vote against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—4

Mullin,	Rooney,	Stiefel,	Van Sant,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1889, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (Act No. 77) entitled "Public Schol Employes' Retirement Code of 1959" providing for transfer among classes of membership and between retirement systems and for crediting of service and computation of benefits in cases of contributors making such transfers changing eligibility and service requirements for certain members eliminating State annuity reserve account number two and providing procedures for collection of employer contributions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Committee just how much this bill and the next bill will cost the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Mahady, whom do you wish to interrogate?

Mr. MAHADY. The Chairman of the Committee from which these two bills came.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe these bills came from the Rules Committee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Berger is the Chairman of the Rules Committee. I presume that is to whom you wish to address your question.

Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHADY. How much will House Bill No. 1889 and House Bill No. 1890 cost the Commonwealth?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is my understanding that these bills are not bills which will cost the Commonwealth any particular amount of money. They are the result of work done by a subcommittee of the Joint State Government Commission, which was requested and charged with the duty to co-ordinate the retirement laws so as to make it feasible for a State employee to transfer from one employment to another, such as from the State Police to other State employment, or from the Teachers' Retirement System to ordinary State employment. To my knowledge, the cost of the bills will not be very great.

Mr. MAHADY. I am not familiar with your standards of budgets, sir, and I do not know what is very great or very little. In my part of the country, $1,000 is a lot of money. Now what does very great or very little mean concerning these two bills? No one seems to know how much they are going to cost.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I can go further than that and I can say that no one has a very definite idea of what the cost of retirement is going to be in any one year or any successive five years except upon the calculation of the actuaries. However, if the Senator will read these bills and discover their intent, he will find that they do exactly what I have stated; that they are to co-ordinate the retirement laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and incorporate into a statute a great many cases which have been decided simply upon their own facts and which were never made a matter of record in the retirement division. From now on, under these bills there will be an effective record made of the treatment within the framework of the retirement acts of the various cases, many of which have probably come up before Members of this Senate. Individual cases are sent into the Retirement Board and each one is decided upon its own set of facts rather than having a pattern for the decision upon people who are retiring under the same category.

Again, answering the question, the matter of the cost to the Commonwealth was not an issue when this legislation was designed. It was designed for that purpose, and for that purpose only.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, then I draw to your attention another set of acts for which provision is not made in the budget, and they will require some money.

Mr. BERGER. I do not know that, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHADY. Someone is going to go over the budget when they apply the rules we pass.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, for clarification on this issue of cost, I would like to state that it would be impossible, in my opinion, to give any estimate of the cost of such a bill because, assuming that no one will avail themselves of the options provided in the bill, there would be no cost. However, making the assumption that X number of people might avail themselves of the options, the cost would be X times whatever the figure involved. In other words, it is the kind of a situation, Mr. President, that may cost nothing, but probably will have some cost. However, what that cost would be is impossible to estimate.

I would be of the opinion that the cost would not be a great one, but that it would be entirely dependent on the number of people for whom the occasion would arise that this bill might benefit their particular case.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, by way of further clarification, if there is a cost, it will not be known until the next biennium because any cases under this bill would have to be effective, undoubtedly, after we are finished here and the bill is signed.

I want to say further, Mr. President, that these bills are the master bills and they have to be sent to the Governor and signed before any amendments to the present State Employes' or Teachers' Retirement Acts can be passed and approved.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 814, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624), entitled as amended "Banking Code," further providing for making loans on the security of bonds and mortgages and judgments of record by banks and bank and trust companies.

be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill is tied to an act which is now pending before the Congress of the United States. I do not believe, even if we pass this bill, that it would actually mean anything until the Act of Congress is passed.

Therefore, I would suggest that this bill remain on the Postponed Calendar until Congress acts on this important matter. At that time, we can take our position on this legislation, whether we are for or against it. It may not even be needed. It might be that the Congressional legislation, when properly finished and amended and signed into law, may encompass this type of a situation.

On the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 815, entitled:

L. 297) as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 828, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 17, 1913 (P. L. 507), entitled "Intangible Personal Property Tax Law," providing that the tax shall not apply to property held in certain trusts established by individuals for retirement purposes.

be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Congressional legislation that this bill is supposed to tie into is the Smith-Keogh Bill, which is now before Congress. I have been in contact with some of our Congressmen and the two Senators from this State. They both advised me that this bill is a controversial one, and it may even encompass this situation.

To take a moment of the Senate's time, Senate Bills Nos. 828, 829 and 830 are set up for the purpose of eliminating personal property that has been set aside for the purpose of a retirement fund. We need the Smith-Geogh legislation, which is now pending before Congress, to allow individuals who are not under any type of retirement fund or welfare pension fund to set aside an amount of up to $2,500 in either money or personal property, as defined under the Act, for the purpose of retirement. This alleviates the local situations for people who are already doing this. However, I submit to you that it is illegal for anyone to do this at the present Internal Revenue Code. Until the Smith-Keogh Bill actually becomes law, we are merely enacting measures which have no bearing and will not mean anything even if signed into law.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not prepared to go along with the motion to place this bill on the Postponed Calendar. However, if the Senator cares to withdraw his motion, I will not object to this bill, as well as Senate Bills Nos. 929 and 830, going over in their order.

It is true that the intent of these bills is to coincide with the bill now pending in Congress, relating to the elimination of income tax upon the income from securities placed in these trusts. I do not know that these bills are necessarily dependent upon the passage of that bill in Congress. However, nevertheless, I will say that I understand that the intent of these bills is to coincide with the Congressional Act. For that reason, I will not object to their going over in order, but would suggest that we hold them on the Second Reading Calendar until we find out a little more about it.

On the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will withdraw my motion to have Senate Bill No. 828 placed upon the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I will withdraw my second to the motion.

be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of further study.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, with all deference to the sponsors, of which I am one, the multiple purpose of this bill cannot be carried out by this Act. After some discussion among the people who sat down to discuss this matter at quite some length, I believe we will not be able to accomplish the purpose we have set out to do in this Act.

I, therefore, have asked that this bill go back to committee so that we may have an opportunity to discuss all the ramifications of the legislation and, perhaps, take care of some of the problems presented.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have seconded the motion to recommit, and may I say to the Members of the Senate that when those things are ironed out, we will be able to bring the bill back in satisfactory form.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

House Bill No. 1224, Printer's No. 385; and

House Bill No. 1231, Printer's No. 467.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no real objection to House Bill No. 1224 going over in order, but I would like to know why, since this has been on the calendar for quite some time, and I have been chided over here for holding up bills.

This bill would permit the sale of some ground at Woodville State Hospital and, unless there is some real compelling reason for holding this bill, I do not known why it has been hanging on the Calendar. It came to us on May 4, 1959; it passed First Reading on June 23, 1959 and it has been with us for a month. If there is some real objection to it, I wish the Members objecting to it would advise me and perhaps we can iron out this matter and dispose of it, because it is something that the Administration is interested in doing to complete a project that they have in mind.

I will not object to the bill going over today. However, I do think that whoever has an objection to it or is finding some problem with it should discuss it with some of the responsible people so that we can dispose of this matter or find out the difficulties.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bills will go over in their order.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on June 29, 1959, Governor Lawrence issued the following statement:

". . . Governor David L. Lawrence today announced that a new and encouraging all-time low was recorded last year in pedestrian fatalities in the Commonwealth.

"At the same time, the Governor announced the results of a State-wide survey initiated by the Bureau of Highway Safety and the Governor's Safety Council which indicates that the average citizen is prepared and ready to accept good law enforcement as a deterrent to mounting traffic fatalities.

In announcing the record of pedestrian fatalities, the Governor said:

" 'While Nation-wide pedestrian deaths continued at a staggering pace, such fatalities in Pennsylvania were diminishing. During 1958, 429 pedestrian lives were lost in the Commonwealth. High as it is, this figure represents a saving of 21 lives during the past 12 month period. Had it not been for the accelerated safety program exercised by the State through its agencies, these 21 Pennsylvanians might otherwise be listed in our Annual traffic fatality report for last year.'

"The Governor indicated that the improvement in pedestrian deaths follows a general trend toward reduced deaths resulting from traffic accidents in the Commonwealth. He stated that Motor Vehicle deaths in the State last year totaled 1,654 compared with 1,698 fatalities for 1957.

" 'It is heartening to note that there has been a gradual decrease in the State's pedestrian fatalities since 1946' the Governor said. 'In that year, 834 persons lost their lives. But that figure was a great improvement as compared with the 1,284 walkers sacrificed in traffic in 1937 when the total death toll climbed to an alarming 2,564.'

"The Governor said that the methodical survey taken by the Bureau of Highway Safety indicated that the citizens of the Commonwealth have approved the Governor's Traffic Safety Council 9 to 1 in all of its major aspects.

"In a report of the sampling, O. D. Shipley, Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, told Governor Lawrence that the survey was intended to reach a representative cross-section of the Pennsylvania driver population. Questions pertinent to the three major areas of the Highway Safety Program, including radar speed checks, re-examination of aging drivers, and chemical tests for intoxication, were directed to varied age groups and persons in various economic and industrial categories.

"Eighty-seven per cent or 10,570 of the persons queried, replied affirmatively to all three categories, Shipley reported."

I repeat, for the information of the gentlemen of the Senate, as part of the Governor's release:

"Eighty-seven per cent, or 10,570 of the persons queried, replied affirmatively to all three categories, Shipley reported."

I am in the position, Mr. President and Members, to prove to you that this statement was an absolute falsehood.

I continue with the Governor's statement:

"The younger drivers, in the 16-24 age groups feel strongly about the effectiveness of radar, which many traffic experts believe will serve the cause of safety on Pennsylvania Highways. Also noteworthy is the fact that drivers sixty years and over showed considerable unanimity in recommending periodic re-examination of all licensed drivers. Eighty-eight per cent voiced 'yes' to such a re-examination.

"All age groups indicated a ninety-three per cent 'yes' to the use of chemical tests for intoxication.

"Shipley reported that the sampling indicates a definite awareness of the need for greater safety measures.

"After reading the survey, Governor Lawrence stated:

" 'We have a generally informed driver population in Pennsylvania. A vast majority is safety conscious but we must not relent in our campaign of prevention until thoughtless and irresponsible driving is no longer a threat to the law-abiding motoring public'."

This, Mr. President, is the end of the Governor's release, and I am prepared to tell the Members of the Senate and you, Mr. President, that the figures given to the Governor by Mr. Shipley were absolutely false.

Following the release of this statement, at a Senate Highway Committee meeting on June 30th, 1959, a motion was passed requesting a sworn statement regarding the authenticity of these figures. The Highways Committee took note that Mr. O. D. Shipley, Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, had supplied the information to the Governor. The next day, I requested a messenger to call at the Department of Revenue and pick up the figures that had formed the basis of the Governor's statement. The messenger had no difficulty in getting the enclosed tabulation of figures which I submit for the Senate record.

May I say to the Minority Leader or any others who wish a copy of these statements, that they are available here at my desk?

The statement made by the Governor is very misleading and very much falsified. However, I want to say again that I do not accuse the Governor of responsibility for this false, erroneous and misleading information.

This tabulation, as is clearly pointed out, is made from a survey in which three questions were asked, and I now submit the form on which these questions appeared. The first question is, and I quote: ". . . Would you favor the legalization of radar in Pennsylvania for use as a modern tool of law enforcement . . . ?" The tabulation shows 3,279 affirmative answers to this question.

The release made by the Governor carries this quote: "Eighty-seven per cent, or 10,570, replied affirmatively to all three categories. . ." This is an absolute untruth, since 3,279 answered affirmatively to the first question according to the tabulation from the Department of Revenue. 3,634 answered affirmatively on the second question, which was: "Would you favor periodic re-examination of all licensed drivers?" 3,657 replied affirmatively to the third question, which was: "Would you favor the use of chemical tests for intoxication?"

I repeat, I have verified copies of this tabulation made by the Department of Revenue, Bureau of Highway Safety, and it is available for any Member who wishes it.

Therefore, if we refer to the first question, the use of radar, each person was counted more than three times. As a matter of fact, in the statement, the number was amplified by 320 per cent. Each person was counted more than three times. It is only by totalling the separate answers to all three questions that we can arrive at a figure of 10,570, so that by and large the statement is an absolute falsehood in that it records each person as three or more separate individuals. There is, without any question, full intention of creating the impression that 10,570 separate persons reported. In fact, the statement falsely states that. This is the kind of information that has made our committee suspicious of all figures issued by Mr. Shipley's office, and we regret laying a share of this false information at the Governor's door. He released the statement to the press.

Here, let me say, Mr. President, again, the Governor is an extremely busy man and he is a fair man. These figures were created by Mr. Shipley. Thirty-eight persons report directly to the Governor. You cannot expect the Governor to check all of the figures handed to him, and finally he released the figures.

The matter of Highway Safety is of serious concern to every citizen of the Commonwealth. More particularly, it is a matter that we, of the Legislature, must all work to attain the very best possible highway safety record through enacting good laws. Further, we should all give proper credit to the great army of sincere, earnest Pennsylvania drivers who generally drive with proper caution, whose efforts are bent toward making Pennsylvania highways safe and whose accident record is most commendable, as said here on the Senate floor this afternoon, considering the exposure on Pennsylvania highways. I refer to the great amount of highway use or travel in our State. It is unfair, in my judgment, to accuse every Pennsylvania driver of being a "criminal" the moment he gets behind his steering wheel to go about his daily tasks, whether they be for business or pleasure.

It is further interesting to note, as recorded by The Evening Sentinel of Carlisle, under date of July 6, 1959, that four States, Virginia, Illinois, Texas and New York, had more fatalities than Pennsylvania over the Fourth of July week end. Each and every one of these States have legalized so-called radar speed traps, and all, except New York, have a lesser population or exposure than Pennsylvania.

Another observation from the same article was that drownings caused about sixty-five per cent as many fatalities over the Fourth of July week end in 1959, as did highway accidents. Reputable anlysts maintain that in a comparison of man hours, the fatality record would be many times as high by those swimming against those using our Pennsylvania highways.

It is a recognized law of physics that whenever you have moving objects, whether they are human beings or whatever, some of them are going to collide or bump each other. The larger number and the more they are confined, the greater the exposure. This, of course, applies to automobiles, trucks and buses as the number increases constantly on our highways.

Our duty, as Legislators, is to enact laws, to formulate rules and to inform our highway users as to good safety practices and encourage them so that our accident rate is kept at the very lowest point.

Now let us get back to the Shipley statement of misinformation. After the Highways Committee directed me, on June 30, 1959, as Chairman, to request Mr. Shipley to report to the committee, the following letter was written:

"July 2, 1959
"Mr. O. D. Shipley, Director
"Bureau of High Safety
"Department of Revenue
"Finance Building
"Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
"Dear Mr. Shipley:

"At the Senate Highway Committee meeting on Tuesday, June 30th, there was considerable doubt about the figures published in the Harrisburg Evening News under date of June 29th. This article quoted you as saying that '. . . 87% of the Pennsylvania drivers favor giving State Police the authority to use Radar . . .'

"A motion, requesting that you furnish the Committee with a sworn statement regarding the authenticity of this statement, and of your figures, was passed. According to the discussion, a simple statement giving this information will not be satisfactory.

"They wish an authenticated method by which this survey was made and the statement should include how the survey was taken.

"Thanks in advance for your usual prompt attention."

A copy of the letter was sent to The Honorable Charles Dougherty, Secretary of the Department of Revenue, and Mr. Shipley's immediate superior. As yet, no report has been received from Mr. Shipley. However, under date of July 7, 1959, the following letter was received from Mr. Dougherty:

"The Honorable George N. Wade
"Chairman, Senate Highway Committee
"Main Capitol Building
"Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
"Dear Senator Wade:

"This is to acknowledge receipt of a copy of your letter to Mr. O. D. Shipley, relative to a highway safety survey.

"Pursuant to the motion adopted by the Senate Highway Committee, Mr. Shipley has been directed to provide a full explanation of how the survey was planned, executed and analyzed, including answers to the questions put forth in the Committee's request.

"The Committee may expect Mr. Shipley's statement the week of July 13th, 1959."

I repeat, Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

"The Committee may expect Mr. Shipley's statement the week of July 13th, 1959."

The letter is signed by Charles M. Dougherty, Secretary of Revenue.

I repeat, Mr. President, no report has yet been forthcoming. As you well know, the week of July 13th was last week.

Further, it will be recalled by many Members now present in this Senate, that two years ago, in the closing days of the Legislative Session, we received a bill from the House of Representatives which, if it had been enacted into law, would have permitted the limited use of radar in this Commonwealth.

The Committee, including the Chairman, felt there was not sufficient time, while considering the many other pressure items that come in the closing days of every Session, to give this bill proper study. I repeat, there were barely enough days to pass the bill, even if we chose to report the bill out without consideration or study.

Members of the Committee had been informed of Mr. Shipley's connection with radar sales. During this Session, a Member of the Senate, Senator Seyler, informed us that this sales connection had been terminated prior to Mr. Shipley's appointment as Director of the Bureau of Highway Safety. Senator Seyler's statement to me is satisfactory.

Mr. Shipley was asked at that time, two years ago, in the presence of others, to secure the experience of other States where radar had been legalized. To date, this report has not been forthcoming, after more than two long years. Can he not get it, or is it not favorable to the use of radar? I leave it to you to judge. However, in answer to the first part of the question, I have been able to obtain it. I am sure if Mr. Shipley would try to get it, as Director of Highway Safety in Pennsylvania, he would have no difficulty, whatever, in obtaining it. He simply does not want to furnish it to the Members of this Senate or the Members of the General Assembly.

It is extremely unfortunate that the Members of the Legislature cannot rely on statements emanating from Mr. Shipley, who holds a high office in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, once upon a time, there was a great American warrior who always fascinated me, namely, General Smedley Butler. He said that it is better to be abused than forgotten.

I, personally, think that Senator Wade is building up Mr. Shipley to a terriific stature. All I have heard this Session—first, it was Doctor Boehm. Now the subject of Doctor Boehm has been retired. I do not know yet whether Doctor Boehm is to be lambasted, to use the slang, or not. We are still waiting for a report. Now it is Mr. Shipley. Mr. Shipley has one of the most tremendous tasks in Pennsylvania. I would not like to be in his shoes. To distract him from his duties, I believe is unfair. Therefore, I would suggest that, once and for all, we settle the Shipley matter, because I am getting a little bit obfuscated; that is a wonderful English word. I do not know what to think. You down Shipley and Boehm and where do we stand?

Here we have a very suave and capable man, the Chairman of the powerful Committee on Highways. However, all his statements are left undone. They are still unbaked. Let us have some tangible accusations and then we will know where we stand.

For this reason, Mr. President, and rather than to distract Mr. Shipley from his duties,—and they are rather onerous—I would suggest that Senator Wade give us something tangible so that we can pass our opinion on it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, usually, in the theater when we see a great performance or we hear someone do a very fine job of reading a beautiful statement, we often hear the shouts of "author" afterward. I will not do that to Senator Wade. However, I, like Senator Stiefel, have heard nothing except Mr. Shipley ever since Doctor Boehm has left the center of the stage.

I would like to point out to the Chairman of the Highways Committee, as I have done on numerous occasions, that the project which he should undertake is to call Mr. Shipley before the Highways Committee and forthrightly take up these problems with him. Mr. Shipley has been before that Committee, but I understand—and this is only by rumor and hearsay—that the Chairman of the Committee on Highways, Senator Wade, only tried to soften what other members were trying to ask of him. He acted merely as an arbitrator for all the people who were questioning Mr. Shipley and made caustic remarks about him.

I would like to point out to Senator Wade about statistics and also about questionnaires. There was a gentleman in this Country, back in 1947 and 1948, who was taking polls. I believe his name was Elmo Roper, a name almost forgotten in our history. From those polls, he predicated who he thought was going to be President of the United States. As a matter of fact, he predicted, almost a week or two before election, who the next President would be and everybody joined in holding up these figures. Sad to relate, the electorate did not read these figures or polls. Where Mr. Roper took his polls, nobody could quite imagine because the results obtained at that election had no bearing on the poll which Mr. Roper had taken.

I would suggest to Senator Wade, if he knows anything about figures or statistics, that he first ascertain who the people were who were asked these questions and the type of questions which were asked. It might very well be that if there were 10,000 persons of a certain type, or who fit into a certain category, they might not be characteristic of what we are trying to seek. I believe the first thing you should do, in order to take a poll or get your figures to mean anything, is to set certain landmarks and shoot for that criteria and then evaluate the figures you get in conjunction with that criteria.

In the problem of physics, Senator Wade, which you elucidated here so well, I think the immovable object and the irresistible force here is Senator Wade versus Mr. O. D. Shipley. I think, once we get that problem of physics settled, we will have no more problem in this Senate and we will not be listening to long speeches about Mr. Shipley and about the Governor.

I want to point out, Senator Wade, that the concern of the Committee on Highways should be about the people who have been killed. We should take care of the people who are living today and who might be dead, according to the statistics which have been taken by the National Government, and which I think you might have some regard for, rather than worrying about whether radar is going to affect the motorist or not. The problem we must face, every day on our highways, is the terrific carnage which takes place. We should be concerned about the death of entire families, the death of mothers and fathers which leaves children homeless. We must provide for the homeless children in our revenue bills and our revenue measures. These are the people we should look out for. We should be concerned about whether radar will prevent this carnage and prevent these further killings that are taking place. We should not be concerned about whether radar is going to antagonize the motorists. I think they are only incidental in what we are talking about here.

This private vendetta that Senator Wade has been carrying on with Mr. Shipley, I think, is a waste of the time of the Senate. I think it is something which Senator Wade should personally take up with Mr. Shipley. If Senator Wade thinks it is a matter for the Setnate, then he should bring Mr. Shipley before the bar of the Senate in order for us to ask him any questions that we might have, as a group or as a body investigating this problem.

I do think that Senator Wade is completely off base, and I resent the remarks he has made about the Governor permitting any figures that are not true to be presented to the public. He only does in the executive capacity that he has and passes them on as the figures that he has received. They are not considered as his own figures or not as a thing that he has done himself, but merely as the figures of the persons who work for him. It is much the same, Senator Wade, as your secretary handing you a letter that you asked her to type, or much the same as figures that are gathered on your behalf. I would not presume to stand on this floor of the Senate, or anywhere else, and say that you were telling us an untruth or that you were engaging in varying the truth because of some misinformation that you might have received. Nowhere in your remarks today have I, in the statement that you read and a copy of which I rather hurriedly read, found that the statistics taken were bad, that the people examined were poor, or that the sampling was not a correct one. All that Senator Wade said was that there was some multiplication done and that he was condemning the multiplication. It might very well be that this multiplication is part of the figure in projecting that, because you all know that when they take any kind of statistics, they do not sample every person in this Country. They take certain groups and sample them. I am sure if you read a copy of the Kinsey Report, which I am sure you have read rather thoroughly, you have found that they have not sampled everyone because I am sure that you are not one of the samples which was used. However, I think it was of interest to you, and others who have read it, and other reports that certain figures were projected out which sort of tried to encompass or fit the entire group concerned. This is a little bit more important, I would think, than that type of report. I think Senator Wade should look into it a little bit further and report to us, rather on a personal basis and rather on the basis of vindication with Mr. Shipley, as to what we can do to help the people in Pennsylvania. We should know what we can do to help the motorists and the pedestrians, so that the terrific killings on our highways come to an end. At least, if it does not come to an end, we can somehow do something about some of the figures and something about cutting them down. By doing that, we can say, when the next Session of the Legislature meets, that it was Senator Wade and the progressive work that he did which is preventing more killings on our highways than would have otherwise taken place.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I appreciate very much the comments of the Minority Leader. It was very evident to me that he did not listen to my statement all the way through. However, I agree that he did toward the end, when it may have gotten a little warmer, take up the paper and follow the subject matter. I noticed, as he walked about the Senate for about one-half or a little more of the time I read the statement, that he missed many of the points that I made, because I was very complimentary to the Governor. I repeat now that I know there are thirty-eight people who report directly to the Governor. I realize that he is a very busy man and he is a fair man. I did not charge him with this mininformation that was released. He did release the statement. His publicity men should have checked more carefully on the figures.

Now the Minority Leader, in his rather critical statement,—I am not going to be critical with him because I know he has many tasks to perform, and I know he is very able and he ordinarily does very well—he mentioned about Mr. Shipley coming before our committee. Mr. Shipley is a welcome visitor in the Highways Committee whenever we are discussing legislation. However, he is not welcome when we are voting on legislation. I do not believe that any committee would permit outside visitors in attendance. Mr. Shipley has been there and Mr. Shipley was treated, I thought, rather roughly. He was not treated roughly by a Member from this side of the Senate. As a matter of fact, he was treated roughly by a Member from the Democratic side of the Senate.

Mr. President, if anybody wants to make a confession, I certainly will yield to them while they make such a confession.

The Minority Leader referred to polls and surveys and the unreliable figures. Mr. President, I have furnished him with actual copies of the survey made by Mr. Shipley, actually as it was made, and if he does not have it, I personally will take a copy of it over there now. It is not anyone else's figures, except Mr. Shipley's figures from the Department of Revenue. I took his figures. I did not create the figures. They are his figures and they are absolutely untrue and he cannot deny that they are untrue.

The gentleman went a little further to talk about our fatality record in Pennsylvania. As was expressed by Senator Kessler this afternoon, our Pennsylvania fatality record is good. We all want to make it better, everyone of us. Senator Weiner, myself, and everyone in this room wants to make that fatality record better. However, we should not, under any conditions, condemn all of our drivers because our fatality record is good. It is very good. In twenty-five years, it has been brought down from eighteen fatalities per one hundred million miles traveled to six.

It is absolutely a matter of record that those States which use radar have just as high a fatality record, and some cases, a higher fatality record. The record in Virginia, the first year after it adopted the use of radar, went up one full point, and that is a matter of public record very easily ascertained by anyone, even Senator Weiner if he so wishes.

The matter of adopting the use of radar in this State, I will grant you, has been one of my—well, I am not in favor of radar. Let me put it that way. The reason I am not in favor of radar is that the experience of other States has not proven it to be a good safety measure.

Let me tell you that I question very much whether Senator Weiner, and the Administration that he represents, is for radar. Th reason I question that is because there is not a single penny in our budget to buy radar equipment, and we all know if we adopt radar, it will take money in the quantity of four to five million dollars to adopt it. There is not one single penny in the Governor's budget to buy radar equipment. This is proof that the Administration is not too much in favor of radar, either.

Let me tell you something else. We talk about a point system. I am a sponsor of a point system which has been on our Calendar for eight weeks. Seven weeks ago today, Senator Lane, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Whalley, myself and others waited upon the Governor. We could not agree on the point system which we had developed over a period of two years. As a matter of fact, it was developed over a period of four years. The Governor had suggested his own system and Senator Lane had suggestions, all of which were good. Senator Lane's bill was a little more effective than mine. We turned it over to the Governor and the Governor said, "I will have the Department of Revenue study it." We have received a survey from the department. We have not prepared a bill. No bill has been prepared except the one I introduced and reported from committee, with the help of the committee.

Now I ask you, how much is this Administration interested in highway safety? Why do we not get some action from the Administration?

At that same conference—and I can prove it by Senator Lane, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Whalley or others—I asked the Governor if he would not furnish me with copies of the fatality reports. I did not ask Senator Weiner. I asked Governor David L. Lawrence, and Governor David L. Lawrence looked over to Mr. Roy Schafer, his legislative representative, and said, "We could furnish these to Senator Wade, could we not?"

The reason I wanted them is that two years ago, Governor Leader—under rather unfavorable circumstances and he did not do it to be nice to the Chairman of the Highways Committee, I assure you of that—said in the public press than he would furnish me with copies of all the fatality reports. I kept a close tabulation on them and I will tell you what they divulged. They divulged that not speed has been proven by national surveys time and again as a hazard, but bad highways, bad berms on highways and other highway faults, are much worse hazards than speed and other things of that kind.

Today, seven weeks later, Governor Lawrence, Governor of this Commonwealth, has not sent me a single report. Yet, he said in front of these gentlemen that he would send them. That could easily be overlooked on the part of the Governor, but Mr. Roy Schafer was there at the time and, as yet, I have not received one of them.

I could go on and on, and waste the time of this Senate, as Senator Weiner said a few moments ago, and tell you the evidences that I personally have that the Governor, or his Administration, are not as much interested in highway safety as they pretend to be. If they were interested in highway safety, we would get some action on this matter. The only action so far is the action prompted by the Highways Committee.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I did listen carefully to the original address of Senator Wade, and I would say that Senator Wade made a case certainly to the effect that one of the statements in the Governor's speech, while not incorrect and while factually true as it stands, did tend to be misleading. However, I think Senator Wade shares with Mr. O. D. Shipley, on the evidence he has offered today, one characteristic, and that is that he tends to be misleading in his statements.

I have before me the figures which Senator Wade procured from the Department of Revenue which give the rsults of the survey made in answer to the questionnaire which was taken under the leadership of Mr. Shipley. This clearly reveals that 3,970 poeple were the total sample who replied to the question about the desirability of using radar. This clearly shows that 3,279 of them said they favored the use of radar, and it clearly shows that only 691 of them said that they did not favor the use of radar, which means that on the basis of this sample—and, of course, any sample is only good to the extent that it is representative of the total—eighty-two and six-tenths per cent of the citizens who use our highways, in so far as this sample is representative, favor the use of radar. That is the essential answer in this particular questionnaire.

In the statement that he made, Mr. Shipley added the answers to the three questions and got a total of eighty-seven per cent. However, that involved two other questions, one concerning re-examination for elderly drivers, and chemical tests for those who were intoxicated. The fact that he made that statement may have been misleading, as the Senator alleged. I agree with him that it could be misleading. However, it is factually true.

The important thing is, and this the Senator has not refuted, that on the basis of this survey, eighty-two per cent of the people who use our roads do favor the use of radar. That is a fact that he has in no way impuned. The very fact that adding up the totals and presenting that figure suggests to him a misleading statement does not invalidate the truth of the statement that eighty-two per cent of the drivers are in favor of radar.

I suggest to the Senator that if he wants to attack the validity of the report, he can question the depresentativeness of the sample. Perhaps this 3,279 people are not representative of the total. I do not know if they are or not. However, as far as the results of this test are concerned, we should not throw them out because of the statements that he impunes. We are concerned with the question of what the people of the Commonwealth want. On the basis of this sampling, I would suggest to him that they clearly favor the use of radar.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to Senator Wade a fact of which I am sure he is already aware. He belongs to the majority party of this Senate and Senate Bill No. 351, of which he claims parentage, should have no difficulty in passing because he could probably acquire some votes on the other side, knowning how persuasive he is. If Senator Wade wanted to pass that bill, he should have done so at an early date instead of leaving it on the Postponed Calendar.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman that on February 10, 1959, in the House, a bill was introduced which is House Bill No. 267, providing for radar use, which bill, I understand, is going to be reported from committee and passed.

I also would like to point out to the fine gentleman from Cumberland that I pay close heed to everything he says, because it is usually something I have to answer and I must pay careful attention.

Unless his statement is incorrect, I would like to point out to him that in the paragraph starting at the bottom of page 2, where he goes on and points out all of the misdeeds of Mr. Shipley, the sentence ends on the lower part of the page with the words: ". . . and we regret laying a share of this false information at the Governor's door. He released the statement to the press." If that is not saying that the Governor is guilty of handing out this information, then I misunderstand the Senator.

I also would like to point out that he forgot to add to the end of this statement—it is a beautiful statement, typed beautifully and mimeographed very well— that the letter he received, dated July 20, 1959, a copy of which I have from the Department of Revenue, signed by Mr. Shipley, explained how these figures were obtained, where they were obtained and the purpose for obtaining them.

The mere act of giving the Members of this Senate a slip of paper showing figures without going into any other detail does not necessarily make the statement incorrect, because I am sure that the gentleman who compiled the figures did not deliberately set out to falsify these figures, even using the figures as they exist here. Even if the figures were projected out of the drivers of this Commonwealth and using 10,000,000 as a base they could be projected to get to any desired conclusion. The fact that Mr. Shipley took these figures and multiplied them by three does not make him out to be a liar, nor does it accuse him of handling the truth loosely. It merely shows that he is trying to do something with these figures to arrive at a certain result.

Mr. Shipley goes on to state why he took these three things, where he took them, his purpose and where he arrived.

I know you are against radar, Senator Wade. I have heard you say the same thing Session after Session. However, I would like you to tell the Members of this Senate without any hedging, of which I know you are capable, that the figure in Virginia would have been less than one or more than two or whatever the figure is if they had not had radar. I do not think that you, or anyone else can do that. The fact that they had radar, and the figure was 1.0, might indicate that we might do well to follow this also, because if our figures are low, perhaps they would be lower if we had radar.

I do not think that castigating the Governor, or castigating Mr. Shipley or in any way castigating members of this Administration is going to prevent people from being killed on the highways of Pennsylvania.

I would suggest to you, respectfully, Senator, that you take this committee which you head as a dominating personality, who is well known in these matters and who has taken great care in presenting Senate Bill No. 351 and put it before your Caucus. Have your own gentlemen go down the line for this bill. Then perhaps you will want to come over to our Caucus and explain it to us and let me show you some of the inconsistencies of this bill so that they can be corrected. Perhaps we do have a good bill here. Perhaps we can pass this bill. Then we can arrive at some legislation which will prevent anyone from being killed on Pennsylvania highways or highways of other States, whether they are citizens of this Commonwealth or citizens of the United States.

I think that you, as a mature and learned gentleman of this Body, should put yourself in the position where you will not get into personalities with members of this Administration or any administration, because there is not a family which does not have one member who cannot be held up to redicule or held up to public beating for doing a job and doing it well. I think that it ill-behooves you, as a man of your dignity and your stature, to pick on some little administrative officer who cannot fight back, who cannot take this Senate floor and speak to you in the language he would like to use to relieve himself of the burdens that you have placed upon him.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. I would like to ask Senator Weiner if he referred to a letter from Mr. Shipley to me, telling us how he got this survey. I have not received such a letter. I am perfectly willing to state, under oath, that I have not received such a letter, if that is what the letter contained. We looked for his report last week and his superior officer, Mr. Charles Dougherty, Secretary of Revenue, said that his report would be forthcoming last week. However, I have not as yet received it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President I would like to answer Senator Wade by stating that this letter is dated July 20, 1959. It is a four-page letter, of which I have a carbon copy. It is addressed to the Honorable George N. Wade, Chairman, Committee on Highways, Senate of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. If you want me to, I will be very happy to read this letter to you.

Mr. WADE. I would like very much to see it, or to have you read it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if we can be at ease for a moment I will be very happy to show the letter to Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT (Lietunant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, during the recess, Senator Weiner very kindly showed me a copy of a letter, dated July 20, 1959. It is a four-page letter and bears the typewritten signature of Mr. O. D. Shipley, Director. I say again, before the Senate, that I have not received this letter. I have no evidence that he mailed it. We delivered our letter to him by messenger. Further, this copy would not indicate that he met the request of the Department of Highways, which was that the statement would be sworn or attested to. However, Senator Weiner has very kindly handed me this four-page letter and I am not in a position of course, to debate the contents of it.

Mr. President, the letter, which I presume is the original letter, has just now been delivered.

The PRESIDENT. Was it delivered by Pony Express?

Mr. WADE, No. Mr. President. It appears to be the letter.

The PRESIDENT. Is it the letter that we are talking about?

Mr. WADE. That is right; it is the letter. It contains the release made by the Governor on June 26, 1959.

Let me say further, before I sit down, that Mr. Charles Dougherty, Secretary of Revenue, the immediate superior of Mr. O. D. Shipley assured us in a letter which I will be glad to put in the Senate record—I have already read it once today—that this report would be forthcoming during the week of July 13, 1959.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think in fairness to everyone, that we should place on the record and inform Senator Wade that the gentleman in charge of legislative matter for the Governor was the unfortunate victim of a childhood disease. He was absent from his post for a number of weeks and, since returning, has not caught up on all of his matters. I know there are some on which I am waiting. I think, to clear the air of this discussion, that the matters which he has not caught up on we should not hold him for. I am sure that there was no deliberate oversight on his part in the matter, but, rather that he be excused because of his prolonged illness.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, since the point system problem has been brought out on the floor of the Senate and the delay in proposing the legislation, I believe that the Members of the Senate are entitled to a brief report and I would like to, more or less, clear the air.

It is true that about six weeks ago, Senator Wade, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Whalley and I met with the Governor. At that time, we had some proposed legislation which the Governor said he would review and he turned it over to Roy Schafer. Mr. Schafer in return, was supposed to deliver it to the Department of Revenue. There was quite some delay on that and later I received an analysis of the legislation from the Department of Revenue. I believe I supplied the Secretary of Highways with a copy of that analysis. I took the analysis to Frank Garber, who wrote the legislation in the Legislative Reference Bureau. Mr. Garber did not agree with the analysis which was made by the Department of Revenue. Therefore, he and the attorney for the Department of Revenue got together and they, in turn, filed another report, which I gave to Mr. Roy Schafer sometime ago. I believe I gave it to him last week. Mr. Schafer said that he would clear it and probably get the necessary recommendations and supply Senator Wade and me with the proper material.

I realize there has been a considerable delay in enacting a point system here in Pennsylvania, but we are in an entirely new venture. The Department of Revenue has a greater interest in this legislation and it has a right to have it. The Department of Revenue is going to have to administer it if we pass it. We have to make it as perfect as possible. I sincerely hope that possibly this week or the following week I will have the complete report. I will then supply Senator Wade with a copy. I also hope that in the very near future, we will have the legislation in such a condition that we will be able to present it to the Senate. I hope, once and for all, that we get it passed.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in all fairness to Senator Wade I will check with the department. The information he requested certainly should have been submitted to him before today. The fact that he received it today is not in fairness to him. I realize that he could not cover the area that he wanted to cover in his discussion of this matter.

Therefore, Mr. President, I will check with the department and will report back to the Majority Floor Leader what the situation is in regard to this recent communication involving this matter.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, July 27, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. SILVERMAN, CIANFRANI and Mrs. F. R. JONES. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1959.

Whereas, the Independence Hall Mall is now nearly a completed project of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, the Federal Mall East of Independence Hall is also nearing completion; and

Whereas, the Redevelopment Authority Law, which has helped give new life to so many important sections of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a direct outgrowth of the Independence Hall Mall idea; and

Whereas, historic Society Hill and the Independence Neighborhood of old Philadelphia are being rebuilt, modernized and redeveloped, but will maintain a substantial portion of buildings of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, so that such area will have the largest concentration of continuously occupied structures of early American architecture in the United States of America: and

Whereas, the millions of dollars expended in the Redevelopment program in and around old Philadelphia, are bringing into being many, many more millions of dollars of new structures and millions of dollars in revenue to the governments involved; and

Whereas, all of this activity was stimulated and started by petitions of the residents of Philadelphia's Fifth Ward, prepared by a former member of the House of Representatives, the Honorable Isidor Ostroff, and circulated by his committee made up of Harry Faden, Jacob Tracer, Eugene Kane, Louis Ordile, Lena Singer, Harry Gralnick, Barney Brooke, Harry Katz, Sabina Singer, Harry Schmukler, Dorothy Schaeffer, I. L. Stern, Albert Gerofsky, Henry LeBlond and many others; and

Whereas, such petitions were forwarded to Congressman Leon Sacks, who first introduced in the Congress of the United States a bill prepared by the Honorable Isidor Ostroff for the creation of the Independence Hall Mall, which bill was introduced in subsequent Congresses by the successors of Congressmen Sacks, Gallagher, Bradley, Cardie Scott and Byrne; and

Whereas, the said Isidor Ostroff cooperated with Honorable Edwin O. Lewis and the Independence Hall Association in many appearances before this and the National Legislature, and worked anonymously with Judge Lewis to bring about the realization of this patriotic transformation of old Philadelphia during which he had the "soubriquet" of "chief errand boy" and liaison; and

Whereas, it is fitting and proper that the Legislature of Pennsylvania should record for posterity the unsung, selfless devotion with which our former colleague worked with any and all who would make possible the proper enshrinement of our nation's most cherished historical structures, and the best setting for America's most historic mile square; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Legislature of Pennsylvania extends its congratulations and felicitations to the Honorable Isidor Ostroff on the transformation of the area in the vicinity of Independence Hall into a site of beauty and a fitting setting for the enshrinement of our nation's most hallowed historic structures, and the preservation of so many authentic early American structures, and our gratification that his dedicated persistency in the face of ridicule and skepticism made possible the realization of his "dream" for a better Philadelphia; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable Isidor Ostroff.

Referred tothe Committee on Rules.

REPRESENTATIVES OF HOSPITALS OF DELWARE COUNTY WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that there is present in the Hall of the House representatives of the hospitals of Delaware County who are the guests of the Members from Delaware County.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. Members who propose to offer amendments to Senate Bill No. 405, Printer's No. 670, on page 5 of today's second reading calendar, are requested to give a copy of their amendments to the Majority and Minority leaders immediately.

DEMOCRAT AND REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker I am going to request a period of time for a caucus of the Democrat Members in the New House Caucus Room.

I am going to ask that 30 minutes be set aside for lunch, from 12:45 p.m. until 1:15 p.m. The Democrat caucus will start at 1:15 in the New House Caucus Room. Will all of the Members bring their House calendars with them?

When we return from the caucus a special order of business will be set up for the operation this afternoon as fast as our bills, which are not here at this time, arrive from the Printer.

Mr. Speaker, I therefore request a caucus without a definite time of return.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader requests permission for a recess for the purpose of lunch and the consideration of bills on the calendar. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we would like a similar caucus. We would like to have lunch for the first half-hour and after that we will proceed to our caucus room, and caucus on the calendar and several other matters that have come up overnight.

The length of the caucus can be determined by the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objections. Permission is granted.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair declares a recess for an indefinite period and hopes that the respective Floor Leaders will keep the Chair informed as to when they desire him to reconvene the House.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

STATEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe after a very lengthy caucus we should announce here on the floor that today, Tuesday, this House will work until 7:00 p.m. daylight saving time at which time we will adjourn regardless of where we will be on the calendar.

I realize that yesterday we were in here until 9:00 p.m. and I know it is very difficult for many of the Members to be here so long. I assure you that we hope we can work out a schedule that will meet with the approval of all the members of the House regarding the hours in which we will quit for the evening so that they might have an opportunity to proceed with their dinner after waiting many hours. Some have been here all day long surviving on very small amounts of nourishment. That does not include me of course.

Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members, Senate Bill No. 405 which is now on the calendar will be passed over today, and on this coming Monday, all the amendments and parliamentary procedures pertaining to the bill, whatever the results may be, will be handled beginning at 4:40 when the House convenes.

Mr. Speaker, as soon as we have completed the marking of the calendar we are going to ask to move right along and into a special order of business on certain bills now on final passage on the House calendar and on third reading.

I hope that this meets with the approval of the Members of the House for the working schedule today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to supplement some of the remarks that have just been made by the Majority Leader.

If this pattern of activity by the House continues, I am wondering why we cannot have the lunch counter in the basement open until at least five o'clock. If we go down there at three-thirty we cannot get a cup of coffee, we can't get a sandwich we can't get anything. That lunch counter was orginally established for the benefit of the Members of this House from which we receive no benefits at the present time.

Mr. McCANN. The request of the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, will be taken to the operators of the lunch counter of the cafeteria, whoever operates same, and see if that cannot be done. We certainly concur. We will try to do our very best.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mrs. Varallo for Mr. REIDENBACH because of death in family.

Mrs. Varallo for Mr. SULLIVAN because of illness of wife.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PRENDERGAST asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to put the cart before the horse, but I feel that the attention of the General Assembly should be called to one item in the budget which has been given considerable publicity.

While primary financial responsibiltiies of the state are for education, welfare, industrial development, and such things as highways, it is equally important that the Comonwealth assist its communities in redevelopment programs.

We are quick to realize the advantages of the 90 per cent—10 per cent Federal highway program in which ten cents can buy a dollar for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I urge speedy action in this program so that the Commonwealth may obtain as much benefit from the Federal government as possible, under this program. However, at the same time, the Federal Urban Renewal program has equal advantages for the Commonwealth itself.

Recently a sub-committee has indicated its desire to reduce the proposed $10 million Commonwealth Urban Renewal appropriation for this biennium to $2.8 million. It is the backward action of the Republican membership of the Senate that retards progress in Pennsylvania and permits other states to move ahead in its urban areas.

The Federal program provides for two-thirds of the cost of eliminating slums in the municipalities of the country. For the last 11 years, under both Republican and Democratic administrations, Pennsylvania has assisted local government by providing equal funds with the municipalities for redevelopment projects. Consequently, by the Commonwealth spending one dollar, six dolars are spent within the Commonwealth itself. This alone is another financial advantage to the Commonwealth which is in great need of additional building and industry and additional payrolls for our citizens.

However, this is only part of the story of the benefits the redevelopment program can provide for Pennsylvania and its municipalities.

I am now referring to my own home city of Easton, which is in my district, as an example. The Federal government has recently approved two projects for Easton. The Federal government will provide temporary loans in the amount of $869,000. The state's matching half for this Federal money would be only $176,000. However, these two redevelopment sites to which I refer will then be used as Federal housing. The Federal Government will then guarantee another $1.846 million for the construction of housing on these sites. Consequently, for the $176,000 requested in state funds, the total sum of $2.988 million will be spent within the city of Easton.

This is a more favorable raito than the ten cents for one dollar Federal Housing-Highway program. However, should the Republican Senate be successful in limiting the appropriations to $2.8 million, then programs of this nature will not be feasible in Pennsylvania. The Federal funds that are now available and will be made available in the future will go to other states and we will lose the badly needed income in Pennsylvania.

It is my understanding that the localities in the Commonwealth have estimated that they will request $25 million from the Commonwealth for their Urban Renewal Projects in this biennium. If we are to—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman desist and file the remainder of his paper for the record in the Journal?

I understand it is a prepared statement and can be filed for the record in the Journal.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Mr. Speaker, I have but a few seconds left.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. PRENDERGAST. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

It is this backward action of the Republican membership of the Senate that retards progress in Pennsylvania and permits other states to move ahead in its urban areas.

The Federal program provides for two-thirds of the cost of eliminating slums in the cities of Pennsylvania.

I urge the Members of the House, as well as the Members of the Senate to do everything in their power to see to it that the Senate attempts to reduce the government's $10 million items for urban renewal be thwarted, so that Pennsylvania can continue in the program in which it has been so successful in both Republican and Democratic administrations for the past 11 years.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is most emphatically of the opinion that addresses not pertinent to matters pending before the House should be deferred until the calendar has been finished, and the Chair desires to state that in future he personally will object to the unanimous consent which the House is in position to overrule when requests are made to address the House concerning matters not pertinent to questions before the House.

The Chair is now ready to take up today's calendar and recognize the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are ready to take up today's calendar, but I think that it is just a matter of couresy, when a gentleman asks for two minutes to speak on the floor in which we have a lull, that he be given the opportunity to speak, and if I am not mistaken this would have been his first time at a microphone in the hall of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to remind the Members further that any statement or ruling that he may make can be overturned at any time by the Members of the House. In fact, the House can at any time there are 106 votes to dispose of the Speaker.

I want to say further if that is a popular move, try it.

Since the matter has come up, the Chair desires to say that we have run positively amuck parliamentarially on unanimous consent. We have interrupted correct parliamentary procedure time and time again by unanimous consent.

By unanimous consent you can do practically anything, and there should be some regulations on the parliamentary point of view in addressing with unanimous consent, and some arrangement with the respective Floor Leaders regarding unanimous consent should be made. If it is the disposition of the Floor Leaders that they want to disrupt their program as to the calendar for miscellaneous remarks, it is all right with the Speaker.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Farabaugh,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1154 on page 7 of today's Calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1154, entitled:

An Act amending the "Vehicle Code" of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code and Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" authorizing the use of chemical tests to determine intoxication of persons operating motor vehicles authorizing the suspension of operators' licenses or permits of persons refusing to submit to a chemical test and making the results of the chemical tests admissible in evidence.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. House Bill 1154, Printer's No. 962, is the bill which provides for the chemical test which would be authorized to be conducted by the police and the proper physician.

The committee that worked on House Bill 1154, the three members of the committee from the Democratic side and the three members from the Republican side, have placed into this bill a great number of safeguards to insure the rights of individuals by this particular law.

I believe we have had an opportunity to very carefully discuss these bills. They have been on the Calendar a good while. Some of the other bills were amended. House Bill 1154 was not amended at a previous time.

I believe this bill is an important piece of highway safety legislation that will certainly be beneficial to all of Pennsylvania's traveling public and certainly to all the constituents of this great Commonwealth. I urge that the House support this measure unanimously.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, if I may, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall and I hope for some of the questions the gentleman may ask that I may be able to also call upon the members of the committee that helped to amend the bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to ask you any lawyer's questions because I do not know any.

Mr. McCann, the bill says that the police officers shall be trained, and I imagine a program will be set up by the Secretary of Revenue. Now can you explain to me what training that will take or what qualifications it will involve for a police officer to perform these duties?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall certainly try to answer the question very clearly.

It is my understanding that a portion of these tests that would be conducted in that scope would be, for example, where the Pennsylvania State Police would train their men, or a police department would train their men to be qualified in properly taking such an examination as would be permitted under law. This would be the police departments of Pennsylvania, state police, and the various police departments, sir.

Mr. HOCKER. Well, Mr. Speaker, I would read from the bill: Qualified personnel means a physician or a police officer who has received training in the use of such equipment.

Mr. McCANN. That is correct.

Mr. HOCKER. In a training program approved by the Secretary. Now do we have any idea what that program will be? I mean I have no quarrel with this bill, I want it strictly understood, Mr. McCann, but I am afraid that if it falls into the hands of people who are not qualified it could be a very vicious piece of legislation.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has every right to ask a question and the answer would be, such a program would be the program that has been approved in the operation of such equipment. Basically, many of the states in the union have such programs in operation at the present time and the Secretary of Revenue would be authorized and directed to establish such a training program in which these men would be qualified to handle such equipment.

I believe when the gentleman was in Boston last fall at the National Safety Conference in Boston, Massachusetts, he had a golden opportunity to listen to some lengthy discussions, I believe, from Northwestern University, dealing with the very problem that is a part of House Bill 1154, and the people would have to be qualified to properly handle such equipment.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman. I listened to the lectures. I cannot quote them verbatim, but on page 5 of this bill it says that this act shall take effect immediately, which, in my opinion, could be 7 to 8 days from now. How would you train personnel to operate this equipment in that time?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course could yield to a member of the committee and answer that but I think you will agree that there are some people already well qualified and trained who would even be instructors of training the others.

I believe you would agree that the part pertaining to the physicians, pertains to those who are already trained in the field that they would work in with this particular situation. I believe that the Secretary of Revenue, even though the act would take effect immediately, it would take him a period of time to complete such training. I doubt if anyone could disagree with that statement.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further questions, I will let it up to the discretion of the 210 Members in this House.

Mr. DENNISON. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would kindly consent I would be most pleased to yield to one of my technical advisors who certainly worked very hard on this, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. I don't qualify for that appellation as technical advisor, but I will be happy to answer any questions I can.

Mr. DENNISON. The question I wish to raise is do you propose with this bill to permit a police officer to make a blood test?

Mr. FINEMAN. The bill very specifically says that the only one who can take a blood test is a physician.

Mr. DENNISON. It says a physician or a qualified person, a qualified police officer. Now do you propose to have the physician make it. It doesn't state that the physician is the only one who can make the blood test as I read the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would refer the gentleman to page 5 commencing on line 6. "only a physician acting at the request of a police officer may withdraw blood."

Mr. DENNISON. Pardon me. I guess I didn't read the bill far enough.

I would like to ask you one other question?

In Section 624.1———

Mr. FINEMAN. What page are you referring to?

Mr. DENNISON. Page 2. In your opinion as an attorney, does this deprive a driver or an operator of his constitutional right when he waives his constitutional right in applying for an operator's license?

Mr. FINEMAN. Under the provisions of this bill, an operator of a motor vehicle can properly refuse to submit himself to a blood test.

The provisions of the bill dealing with consent only have to do with those drivers who have agreed to submit themselves to a blood test, and it is to cover legislatively and read into law the fact that he has given his consent, so that there can be no question about that point or about that issue at a subsequent time. But, a person has an absolute right to refuse to submit themselves to a blood test.

Mr. DENNISON. Would it not be possible for the police officer who has reason to believe that a person is intoxicated, would not that open the whole procedure to harassment by a police officer?

Mr. FINEMAN. No, it would not. I would like to enlighten the gentleman a little bit about this situation if he will lend me his ears.

Mr. DENNISON. He has no right of trial when he is accused. Does it not deprive him of his right of trial?

Mr. FINEMAN. No, not at all. Let me say this to the gentleman. Under the status of the existing law in the state today it is sufficient to convict a person who is accused of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, that there be only the testimony of a lay person who will say, yes, I saw this man. He was thick of speech. He staggered on his feet. The pupils of his eyes were dilated. That is sufficient under the law today to convict a man.

I would like to have you review this bill not only from the stand point of safety but from the standpoint of being a boon, a help to the person who is being accused, because there are many situations where the same manifestations of intoxication are brought about by many pathological conditions. I have seen innumerable people, those who suffer from diabetes or any other illnesses, or a blow on the head, who manifest the same indicia of intoxication as a person who has in fact imbibed too much. Now it is going to go well for the defendant if he can have his counsel on cross examination say to the prosecution, did you take a blood test and if you didn't why didn't you take a blood test. That is going to be to the advantage of the one being accused.

Mr. DENNISON. I have no further questions, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I was happy to be selected by the Governor of this Commonwealth as a member of the bi-partisan committee to study safety measures on the highways.

I believe that I co-sponsored every piece of legislation except the present one, and the reason I refused to co-sponsor this piece of legislation is because it provides for the withdrawal of blood from a person's body.

We feel that a chemical test of urine or breath would be sufficient. To withdraw blood from a person's body would subject some people to death and also would be against their religious scruples, I believe such as a Christian Scientist. I believe that the extension to withdraw the blood is unnecessary and dangerous especially from people suffering from diabetes and I think we are going too far in this respect.

Had the bill been confined strictly to trial by a judge or a jury it would have been sufficient. I therefore think in the interest of justice and the protection of people generally that this bill should be defeated in its broad aspect, as Mr. Fineman from Philadelphia clearly stated, the proof of a person under the influence of liquor does not require a chemical test. You can prove it by lay testimony. You can prove it by observation. This bill is not entirely necessary. I believe in public safety. I intend to vote for the other bills but my conscience says I can't vote for this one.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would again reiterate that there is no language in this bill that makes it absolutely mandatory that a person who is accused of driving while under the influence of liquor or intoxicating beverages submit himself to a blood test.

The bill provides for tests in the alternative. You may have a breath inhalation test. You may have a urine analysis or you may have a blood test. Now certainly anyone who would be adversely affected by a blood test has a right to refuse to take that blood test and can probably say, I do not refuse to take a test but it has to be a breath inhalation or a urinanalysis because I cannot allow you to withdraw blood.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. A perusal of the bill makes me come to the opposite conclusion.

It says any person who applies for a motor vehicle license, it is presumed that he is giving his consent preliminary to a chemical, urine or blood test, and his refusal so to do brings him and his license subject to suspension. It clearly means that you can be subjected to any one of the three tests, and I say that I heartily disagree with the gentleman from Philadelphia on his analysis of the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. If we could read into the language of this bill the interpretation that has been given to us by the gentleman from Allegheny, then of necessity we would have to say that a person accused must under all circumstances submit himself to a test, be it breath analysis, breath inhalation or urinanalysis or blood test. That is not the status of this bill whatsoever.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—11

Blair,	Farabaugh,	Moran,	Thompson,
Cooper,	George,	Reidenbach,	Wynd,
Down,	Haudenshield,	Sullivan,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1155 on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1155, entitled:

An Act amending the "Vehicle Code" of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" regulating the installation sale of brake linings providing penalties for violations thereof and prescribing powers and duties of the Secretary of Revenue.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. House Bill 1155, Printer's No. 963, the second of the bills dealing with the Highway Safety program, deals with the Secretary of Revenue having the right to set up standards dealing with the use, the sale and the lease of brake lining in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This, we believe, is an extremely important measure in an effort to eliminate, within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, brake lining which does not meet the standards and should not be used on vehicles, which is an extremely important function of the vehicle.

We have some similar provisions in other fields, such as brake fluid, things of great importance dealing with the operation of the vehicle, and the brake lining is an extremely important item within the operation of the vehicle.

The bill is very clear. It is a very well written bill pertaining to the sale, use or lease of brake lining within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I ask that all the Members of the House support this bill which is a very good, rather an excellent highway safety measure, a part of this legislative program.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall be most pleased but I would request, if possible, that I be permitted to defer to Mr. Fineman of Philadelphia who has worked very carefully on some of these bills.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The gentleman from Cameron will proceed with his interrogation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the only question I have on this bill—I am very much in favor of the purpose of it—but have there as yet been any standards formulated for the enforcement of this bill?

Mr. FINEMAN. No, I do not believe there has been.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is there any indication that the House soon would formulate some such standards?

Mr. FINEMAN. Since there is no effective date set forth in the bill itself, and the bill will become effective as of September 1, I assume the Secretary will immediately undertake to set up the necessary standards, either by consulting with the United States Department of Standards or other proper agency.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Are there not efforts being made by the National Highway Safety Council now to formulate standards for this purpose?

Mr. FINEMAN. I am not familiar with that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I understand that that is so, and they are in the process now of trying to establish their standards, which might not be available for as much as another year. I am just wondering if we want to put on the statute books something that has the possibility of enforcement without any standards upon which to base the enforcement.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, we cannot possibly enforce this bill until such time as the Secretary has set up standards. So the bill really does not become effective until that time, whenever it may be.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe the statements on the question are rather clear.

I would like to bring to the attention of the membership of this House that at the National Safety Conference in Boston last fall we learned that the Engineers' Association are the ones that have been working on various standards also.

In fact, to put it rather plainly, it is time we get rid of this junk that they sell for brake lining which does not do the job on the vehicles. I admit there are no standards now, but I am sure that they will be here because you and I want these vehicles to have the proper minimum standards of brake lining equipment on them. I am sure that they will come up with very sound regulations as to standards.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I understand from the Majority Leader that the Secretary of Revenue will attempt to set up standards of his own until such time as the regular standards are out, or will he withhold that until they do get some regulated standards on it?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that he understood the Secretary of Revenue would set up his own standards himself, on his own, at the present time. I feel confident that they will use the recommendations, Mr. Tompkins, of the qualified engineers, not necessarily in Pennsylvania, I believe, dealing with the standards.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It is my understanding that uniform standards of safety in this field are being formulated by the automotive engineers. The thought I have in mind is that I would not want the Secretary of Revenue of this Commonwealth to concoct a few notions of his own as to what constitutes a proper brake lining.

Mr. McCANN. I am sure that the present Secretary of Revenue would not concoct a few ideas of his own.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I merely raised the question, Mr. Majority Leader.

Mr. FILO. I am in complete accord with the legislation we have before us and I do feel that any standard is better than none.

However, this bill pertains only to trucks in the state of Pennsylvania. As we know there are numerous trucks coming in from various other states and this legislation does not apply to them.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to question someone about what would happen to a used-car buyer if he bought a car that had illegal brake lining and he did not know it, nor did the seller of the used car know it. Would he be expected to find an identification mark on a piece of brake lining that is eight or ten years old and still was not worn out? Such a thing could happen. We have heard of cars that have their original lining on and has not been driven too many miles. It is not an approved lining and, the way I understand it, he would be subject to fine for using lining that is not approved.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was originally drafted, the language of that bill, as the committee members on the Republican side of the aisle will confirm, said anyone who uses an automobile that contains brake lining that has not been approved would be subject to the provisions of this act.

We were concerned, greatly concerned, about that provision and because of our apprehension we deleted that phrasing from the bill, so that the penalty only applies to anyone who installs, sells, leases for use upon an automobile, brake lining that does not conform to the standards and specifications that are set up by the Secretary. It is not applicable to the user of a motor vehicle, even though the brake lining in his car does not conform.

That is only logical because when a lay person, who is unfamiliar with the parts on his car, purchases a car, it is not expected that he should know exactly the type of brake lining he has on his automobile.

Mr. MERRY. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to clarify one more item and that is in the case of an antique motor vehicle.

I know quite a few people who are interested in antique motor vehicles, and there comes a time when they want to rebuild them, find equipment that is pretty hard to find, and in order to attend an exhibition at a great distance it is not profitable to hire a truck or trailer to take the car there and it must be driven on the highways. That brake lining, when you do find it, has been made fifteen or twenty years ago and is the only size and thickness that can be used on that antique motor vehicle. I would like someone to make an answer to this so that it would appear on the record here. It is important to quite a number of individuals.

Mr. FINEMAN. I hate to ask the gentleman to repeat his question, but briefly what is your question?

Mr. MERRY. In the case of rebuilding an antique motor vehicle which is feasible—I mean it is being done—it is necessary to go out in the field and find, if you can, a certain size of brake lining, a certain thickness, to put on that motor vehicle so you can drive it to places of display or certain exhibitions where these antique motor vehicles are being displayed?

Mr. FINEMAN. I would say to the gentleman once again that the bill is not applicable to the purchaser of the brake lining. Therefore, if you have an owner of an antique vehicle who goes out and seeks to purchase a brake lining, which is the only kind of brake lining that can be used, say, on this motor vehicle that he has, which is not an approved brand of brake lining, there is no penalty assessed upon that individual.

The other section of this act which I bring to your attention is this, you might raise the query, what happens when the owner of that antique vehicle has used brake lining that is not approved, what happens when he comes to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and seeks a title to his car? Will he run into difficulty there?

In that connection, I bring to your attention that the language of the bill is permissive language and not mandatory language. It says the Secretary may refuse the title.

Now, assuming that the Secretary of Motor Vehicles is a reasonable person, and he is a reasonable person, if the circumstances were presented to him that this is the only kind of brake lining that I can use on my antique motor vehicle, will you please license my car, I am sure he will get the license.

Mr. MERRY. I thank the gentleman.

I still think that the car manufacturers and engineers who design the brake drums and manufacture the steel and the equivalents of friction and the coefficients of friction that are necessary to get a certain make of automobile to stop in a certain distance, are a whole lot better qualified to install brake lining on their car of a grade that will do what they expect that car to do when it goes out on the highway. I do not believe that this bill is necessary at the present time.

The inspection station have rules, as we all know, that a car is supposed to stop in so many feet at a certain speed. That is the way we test them and the lining that we are using today and the motor manufacturers are using on our new high speed cars, in every instance that I know of, has been adequate.

I just wonder why this bill is necessary. I would ask you to think it over before you vote "yes" on this bill. I do not believe this legislation is needed.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I state briefly in summary, Mr. Speaker, that no one advocates that this piece of legislation represents a perfect piece of legislation. It is, indeed, a difficult thing to find that any legislation is a perfect piece of legislation. But certainly no one can disagree with the proposition that this is a step in the right direction.

The gentleman has stated that the manufacturers know best about their brake linings and what the job is that the brake lining will do. I have had personal experience when the brake lining on my car, made by manufacturers who allegedly know what they are doing, has gone bad. It has not gone bad through over-use, but has gone bad close to or approximately near the time when I purchased that brake lining. Perhaps if the brake lining had been of a brand approved by the Secretary that occurrence would not have happened.

We are concerned here only with the safety of the citizens of this Commonwealth. I think that is beneficial legislation, and certainly a step in the right direction. I would urge the Members to vote "yes" on this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I hate to prolong this, but I must, in all fairness to this piece of legislation.

I have attended many safety conferences. I attended the President's safety conference in Boston, and I have been invited again to attend one this year.

I want to say to you that I think this is a vital piece of legislation. This is the kind of thing which our Secretary of Revenue will definitely depend on the National Safety Council to set up the qualifications for this brake lining. I say to you that this is a thing that will protect your constituents and my constituents from somebody putting a piece of equipment on their cars that may save their lives.

As far as the manufacturer is concerned, I have no doubt in my mind that there is not a manufacturer in the United States who will put out a bad piece of equipment. I feel this legislation is aimed entirely at the man who replaces the equipment.

At the last Session of the Legislature, I think,—I may be wrong and stand to be corrected—we went into the brake fluid deal. I think it is one of the most vital pieces of your automobile. I say to you that this is definitely a step in the right direction.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1185 on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1185, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32), entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" further regulating speed restrictions fixing penalties and prescribing powers and duties of the Secretary of Highways.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1185, Printer's No. 964 is the third of the series of the highway safety package. It is the bill in which the Secretary of Highways would have the right to establish minimum speeds on highways, and clearly indicate by proper signs the speed areas.

This bill has been discussed very carefully, and has been on the calendar for quite some time. I am sure everyone is pretty well satisfied with the contents of this particular bill, and I would ask if, on House Bill No. 1185, Printer's No. 964, a fast roll call would be acceptable, with negative votes standing only.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ISAACS asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1002), page 2, line 7 by inserting after "Police" "and on any highway within a municipality or township by the police of such municipality or township."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker the amendment offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, would change the concept of granting the right to the State Police of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to use radar, as in the present bill, to its use by any police department of any municipality or township.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that the amendment be defeated. I hope the gentleman will consent to a division or a voice vote, if possible.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, without the amendment aren't we by legislation, setting up two classes of police in this Commonwealth? Something on the order of the first and second class citizens we have heard of, would we not be making first and second class police?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, my answer is: We certainly are not setting up any class or classes of police officers in Pennsylvania. Our position, very clearly, is that we believe Pennsylvania's State Police should be the ones who should have the right to have the use of radar. This does not in any way make any other police department second class, third class or any other class.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, from where do the majority of speeding complaints originate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, have to state the facts as they are. The majority, by far originate from other than the State police department; no question about it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, is it not a matter of fact that the most troubles we have with speeding, the most accidents we have, occur in residential districts?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would not know whether that is a fact or not, but if the gentleman is sure of it, and it is a statement of record, it must be so. I do not know that answer.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe the police in—well, we will get close to home—Waynesboro are capable of operating radio microwave equipment?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker there is no question in anyone's mind but that any gentleman, properly trained, is certainly qualified to operate this equipment, whether he be a police officer of Delaware County or of the State Police.

Mr. ISAACS. Well, Mr. Speaker, do I take it from this bill that we do not trust the other police to have the radar equipment?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I never said that; you did.

Mr. ISAACS. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it has been brought out by this interrogation that the better part of speeding complaints originate in our cities, in our boroughs and townships, and in congested areas. These are the locations where the speeder is much harder to apprehend. In the first place he must be trailed a quarter of a mile and in some of these congested areas that is difficult.

I will further say Mr. Speaker, without the amendment the bill applies only to the Pennsylvania State Police. It is a fine organization, no one questions that, but if the State Police need radar to apprehend speeders traveling out on the open highways, ofttimes in unmarked cars, ofttimes without wearing their hats, then the police in the municipalities need it twice as bad.

I ask the ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House, if you believe in the highway safety package, to support my amendment.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support my colleague from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, with respect to the amendment.

We in Delaware County have a number of municipalities boroughs, townships and our one city, and together they form our county. In this county of ours, which has perhaps 625,000 people, we have presently on duty approximately 25 State Police. There is one sergent, three corporals, several detectives, and there always has to be one to answer the phone, so it means that we have about 15 State Police available for highways in a county of 600,000.

Now if any of you were to make a visit to the office of Mr. Shipley, Highway Safety, you would notice a big map with pins in it indicating traffic deaths. You would notice that those traffic deaths seem to congregate as Mr. Isaacs stated, in the heavily bult-up residential districts.

I am for radar. I am for it because I want to see traffic slaughter ended, and I feel it is a good move. But when you come into our county and take, for instance, the major north-south road, Highway 13, which goes from Philadelphia to Wilmington, in one space of eight miles that highway goes through ten different municipalities. We have another highway that many of the Philadelphia folks use, the Industrial Highway. It has a very heavy death toll. That highway, in a distance of approximately two and one-half miles, goes through four different municipalities. We have U. S. Highway 1 the Baltimore Pike, which in a very short distance of, say, seven miles goes through five or six different municipalities. Today it is very, very difficult to apprehend speeders on these main, heavily traveled traffic arteries using the existing procedures; namely, either trailing or putting two men out with a stop watch. Therefore I ask that these regular police departments of my county be authorized to use radar if radar is authorized for Pennsylvania.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendment.

I think we should understand the true intent of a bill such as this radar bill. It is not the intent of the administration or the sponsors of this bill to seek to increase the arrest pattern for speeding violators in this state. We hope to have created, instead, a salutory effect, a certain psychological effect, whereby users of our highways will be encouraged by virtue of the radar signs that they see on the highway to comply and obey the traffic laws.

As a matter of fact when this bill was originally drawn it contained no provision whatsoever concerning the posting of warning signs, putting the users of our highways on the alert to the fact that there was radar in the vicinity and that they were being tracked. The committee that worked on this bill inserted such safeguards. This is but confirmation of our intent in this bill to encourage our users of highways to obey and comply with existing laws.

Now I am reluctant to say so, but I suspect it is nevertheless true that in many local municipalities there is a fining mill set up, and I for one am reluctant to place any further means in the hands of local officials for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of these local fining mills.

I urge you to vote against the amendment.

Mr. ISAACS. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, presented a better argument for my amendment than I could have presented .

We have a number of fine police departments throughout this Commonwealth. The gentleman's own in Philadelphia is one of them. Or you can go out the Main Line to Lower Merion, and I could go on here for an an hour and name them, which I won't.

He speaks of radar warning signs. The local police and municipal police who really need that equipment will even be deprived of the use of those.

Mr. McCORMACK. I want to speak briefly against the amendment to the bill. In doing so I would like to say that sheer logic dictates there is no reason why we should discriminate as between the State Police and the local municipality police. It seems to me this is a new concept in Pennsylvania, a new method of enforcing the speed laws, and it is merely on an experimental basis that we are trying this. Naturally in order to adopt a program on more or less an experimental basis it is much more susceptible of control to put it in the hands of the State Police. I think if this is given a trial in this biennium we could very well support a bill, perhaps during the next Session of the Legislature, that would include all of the local municipalities. For that reason, since I regard it as an experimental bill, I would be inclined to vote against the amendment at the present time and see how the bill works out.

I want to say further that we all have been forewarned, and are well aware of the fate that has been predicted for this bill. I think if we were to adopt this amendment it would give certain members of the General Assembly an opportunity to further pickle the bill permanently.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman from Delaware at the start if he would be agreeable to a voice vote or a division. I guess he never did reply.

Mr. ISAACS. A division is all right, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

A division was called for, more than a majority having voted in the negative the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to debate the bill. I do not intend to interrogate any of the sponsors of the bill because last night I did so informally, and tried to seek the information I desire. However no one was able to furnish me with the information. It was highly technical, and the reason it was was because I have about 17 years experience in the Naval Reserve as a radar officer.

The questions were technical because of the provision in the bill that the radar shall be calibrated within a thirty-day period. Unfortunately radar is a highly technical electronic piece of equipment. Its accuracy depends upon many factors; load width, pulsing time and many other factors which even I find difficult to understand.

I just finished two weeks of active duty in a submarine, and I was very happy because it was nice, air conditioned and cool, but I missed last week's very wonderful Session. On board there is highly specialized radar equipment, both fire control and research radar. Without giving away any secrets, this equipment is calibrated every day, and it must be so. I do not expect the State Police to live up to the same requirements as the United States Navy; however, some of the problems of calibration and accuracy in radar for speed control are the same.

The radar equipment proposed in this operation should be calibrated every day, and this is more clear when you realize it is going to be mobile equipment, moved over the roads. Some of the roads will be bumpy, some of them do have potholes, and this radar equipment can be knocked out of whack very easily. I object to using this equipment, which is highly technical, and which has been admitted by Mr. McCormack to be really experimental, without additional safeguards to protect the motorists driving upon the state highways.

I think this could be achieved, and I think the Governor could really take a step forward in declaring this an experimental program, and providing that the equipment be calibrated daily rather than every 30 days.

Let us take the practical side of this radar. It is an instantaneous pulse. In a fraction of a second it determines the speed of a vehicle. I can conceive many situations, and I will only give you one example. Suppose you are following a vehicle which is doing 65 miles an hour, and the driver is in the habit of speeding up to 67 and slowing down to 63. You want to obey the law, but this man is creeping back on you, so you decide to pass him. In the passing operation you exceed the speed limit. In that instantaneous second that you achieve 66 or 67 miles an hour, you have broken the law and will be prosecuted under this statute.

In view of the fact that this is experimental equipment, and in an experimental stage, I think we should re-appraise this entire bill, both as to its technical aspects and its practical aspects.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I rise to interrogate either a sponsor of the bill or the Majority Leader, possibly Mr. Fineman, relative to the use of radar.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman able to advise the House the number of feet distance on which the skin screen can receive the impulse and thereby determine whether or not the driver has exceeded the speed limit?

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, knows full well that the answer, according to the experts, which we had in front of the Joint State Government Commission who calculated the distance, used a variation rate and, if I remember correctly, the answer would be 160, but as those experts testified it also could be less and could be more than 160 feet. I believe the first gentleman was from Temple University and then one was from one other university out west. What was the name, Mr. Hocker?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Koppers.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman, the Majority Leader, subscribe to arresting a citizen driving an automobile who has violated the speed laws for 160 to 175 feet?

Mr. McCANN. This answer will be rather difficult. Number one, you know that I do not subscribe to it. Number two, I don't believe that you will find this wonderful State Police Department of ours now doing that very thing. I believe they use a leverage of speed in excess of that allowed by law before they move in, and I think you are well aware of the miles per hour.

Mr. STROUP. Would the gentleman care to be advised that the Pennsylvania State Police have been arresting our citizens for traveling too fast for conditions on the basis of radar for 165 feet if they can find those conditions? That seems to be the situation today. Therefore, I think that gives the answer to the gentleman. I thank the gentleman for his response to my interrogation.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I rise to oppose this bill. I rise to oppose it for several reasons. First because I have had some experience with it in court and the attempt to utilize it heretofore. I find upon interrogation of the experts who have appeared upon the witness stand that they can not guage that speed for more than a distance of 165 feet. They have told me at certain times upon interrogation in the courtroom that they have established, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, that they could gauge it for a greater distance, but as yet I have not been able to get any such demonstration.

We have presently upon our statute books that you must be timed for a minimum of an eighth of mile in order to be in violation of our speed laws, and at other times for a distance of a quarter of a mile. This use of radar in order to control speed in our Commonwealth is little more than an encroachment on our citizens. Until we can get radar to the place where it enables our citizens to have more of an opportunity to obey the speed laws, if we are going to use radar over a greater distance, we are certainly placing our citizens at a distinct disadvantage.

Furthermore, we are well aware that throughout other portions of the United States where the electric timer is used it has resulted in speed trap mills. The same thing could happen in this Commonwealth regardless of the fact that it is being handled by the Pennsylvania State Police and the stupendous credit that we can give that fine organization. Nevertheless, we have those speed traps and have had them and will have more of them if this bill becomes law.

I think this General Assembly would do a service to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to vote down this particular piece of legislation until it can be more creditably considered insofar as the distance of the standing screen.

I would like also, Mr. Speaker, to call attention to the excellent presentation made by the gentleman from Philadelphia concerning the calibration and the inaccuracy which might result thereby.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, just for the sake of the record, as we checked this afternoon, there are within the confines of the United States, not counting the State of Alaska, 48 States. Counting the States that have adopted radar as of now, there are forty. If this is right, then we are within the eight that have not. If this is so, then there must be an awful lot of other states that do not think as we think, that this is good highway safety.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that every Member support this legislation which would give radar only to the Pennsylvania State Police.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, may I briefly interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Can the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, tell me what would be the cost of radar to put it into operation in Pennsylvania?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the cost figures here, but we did have the costs as to the cost of radar installation in the Commonwealth in a conference that was held in the Joint State Government Committee.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Will the gentleman tell me, is there any money in the Governor's budget for this project?

Mr. McCANN. I do not believe that would be involved in the Governor's budget when you are talking about highway safety. I think you are well aware where the money comes from for this program.

Mr. WHITTAKER. This radar bill is going to cost several hundred thousand dollars, it seems to me. We have never voted on any bills here in the House that required money without putting them back into Appropriations until we find out where the money is coming from.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, maybe I should answer more clearly. The money that would be used to pay for radar equipment certainly would come out of the Highway fund, sir.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Are not all of the Highway funds tied up?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the answer is, they are tied up, yes, and we need more to complete all those rural roads that want 100 percent state paid.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Will the gentleman tell me which would be safer, to pave the highways for safety before we go into something and spend a lot of money for something of this nature?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly concur in the agreement, but I am sure that he is well aware that we could not possibly build all the roads we want to, in a short period of time, and if this will save some lives this will happen now, not while we are building the roads.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, I simply cannot fathom spending more money until we have our house in shape. I do not debate the question of whether or not radar has been proved. I have watched the tests in the city of Williamsport and we do need it for some of these scatterbrain drivers, but until such time as we can balance our budget and find out where the money is coming from and know where we are going, I think we should oppose this type of legislation and finish it off shortly.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I am certainly amazed at the gentleman's statement on the cost of radar. Can you estimate the cost of a life in dollars and cents?

For the further information of the gentleman, I would like to read from the Republican Party platform in the Legislative Journal on page 77:

> "Highway Safety: The Republican Party pledges every necessary action to help the useless slaughter of our citizens on our streets and highways.
> "We will support complete revision of the Highway Motor Code to remove conflict and to give the people of Pennsylvania every safety aid, including radar to protect our citizens.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I, too, have had the experience of representing, as an attorney, motorists who have been accused by the State Police of driving too fast for conditions and they were brought into court on that charge by radar operated equipment.

I have had the opportunity to study radar and some of its technical aspects. I know that I must question the operator in court, and on some of the technical aspects I have asked questions and found and elicited information to the effect that people runing or walking near a radar machine can cause it to become inaccurate, that a swarm of bees buzzing near one can cause it to become inaccurate. I know that such extraneous factors can cause a radar operator's equipment not to register with true accuracy.

However, there are more things here to be considerd than 100 per cent accuracy. There are only two ways generally now that police officers are able to enforce the traffic laws against citizens who habitually speed. One of those is by the one-eighth mile—the so-called speed trap, another one is by traveling behind the motorist for one-fourth of a mile.

There is not a Member of this House, let alone an attorney here who does not know that every day in this Commonwealth dozens and dozens of motorists are convicted in front of squires and aldermen and the cases are mostly upheld in court by testimony of traffic officers that are somewhat perjured. In other words, the only way that the person who is actually going 80 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone could be caught is for the policeman to wink his eye at the strict interpretation of the law.

I am not an expert on the technical features of radar, but I do know this, if radar is good enough and was good enough in World War II in highly complicated and very fast aeroplanes and other war-like equipment, and if radar is good enough today to guide submarines under the North Pole, then radar is good enough today to help our police officers enforce the traffic laws and stop the slaughter on the highways of Pennsylvania.

I know that when I travel on the turnpike and I see a State Policeman, I automatically slow down if I am going too fast. It has a very good psychological effect and everybody knows that. If you see a radar sign, you are going to slow down and that is all we are trying to do. We are trying to get people to drive closer to the speed limits of Pennsylvania.

I say the people who have technical objections to the use of radar in this Commonwealth, if some people are convicted because of an inaccurate radar machine, there will be some people convicted and there have been every day for years past because of slightly prejured testimony by police officers on one-fourth or one-eighth of a mile. I say to the people who oppose the use of radar in Pennsylvania, what do you propose to stop the slaughter on the highways of the Commonwealth?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, without belaboring the House with a long discussion, I have in my possession an extract from the Patriot, the Harrisburg newspaper, of June 15, 1959. In it are the comments from 37 different states who are using radar, and these without exception are enthussiastic about its use, primarily to save lives on the highways.

Recently the United States Army released figures which indicated that 43 per cent of our highway deaths are due to excess speed. It looks like there are two sides to this problem. One, should you arrest a man with the hide and sneak method of radar? That seems to be the objection to this bill.

But on the other hand, we have before us today a scientific means which, if used in Pennsylvania, will cut down the highway slaughter. And I think that should be very much on our minds when we vote.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I will make it very brief because we have to quit at seven o'clock, and I am as anxious to go as you are, but I must inject this into the debate.

We held hearings. The Joint State Government Commission designated me as the chairman of the subcommittee to hold hearings on highway safety. We held hearings and there were many, many of the Members here in this House, able Members, were present at those hearings. One of them is the esteemed Speaker of the House who sat in on some of the hearings.

We went to the expense to import Dr. Koppers from John Hopkins in Baltimore and after all of this discussion, I will say this, that we did not arrive at a definite decision. If we had we would submit it to you, but the committee did not arrive at a definite decision in regard to this.

I have attended many, many programs put on by the Department of Revenue and by the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association who have a mobile vehicle on the road. One of the quarrels that I have with this type of thing, —some people say it isn't logic, but I still claim that it is—that they set this machine up on the road. I agree, and you must agree that there are certain things, and Dr. Koppers agreed that there are certain things that will disturb this machine. It is an electronic device, but the thing that disturbs me most of all is the fact that when the machine is set up on the road there is a telephone or radio hookup with an officer up the road. This thing does not photograph, it does not get license numbers, the officer does not get license numbers. All he does is radio to a man a half mile away that there is a black Chevrolet, '58 Chevrolet sedan that just passed this piece of equipment doing 65 miles an hour and you stop him and arrest him. Now let me say this to you, that if that man sees that piece of equipment and another '58 Chevy passes him during the period, when he reaches the other officer, who are they going to arrest? Will they arrest the man who committed the violation or won't they?

Another thing we did, we wrote letters to different states in the Union who had used this. We talked about cutting down fatalities. We directed letters and I know of two that we directed. We directed many more but I can quote New York and New Jersey. We wrote letters to those people and asked them very specifically what effect radar had on fatalities in their state. We did not receive one letter that would give us figures and facts. Not one. They declined to answer that part of the letters.

I say to you in all fairness, I think if you go over the record, I don't have them here at the present time, but I don't think Pennsylvania is the highest state in fatalities in miles driven in the Nation. I don't think we are the worst, I want to save lives and I am willing to work and I am willing to do anything possible, but I say this to you that I have statistics in my own legislative district, many of them drive to the seashore over the weekend and many of them have come back and told me that in the New Jersey area they have stood in line with as many as thirty-five people ahead of them from Pennsylvania being fined.

Now are we sincere? Do we want to save lives or do we want to set up mills where they can milk the travelling public. I say to you Members, use your own judgment.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I will take about one minute. Just because you might have a misidentification by a police officer on the highway because of radar, doesn't mean that the entire law is bad. The same thing happens in our courts of law and no one here can say that our courts are wrong, that our entire system ought to be thrown out.

The thing that we ought not to lose sight of is the importance in this bill of that entire feature. I served on this bi-partisan committee that considered this highway package. We were very careful to make sure of the posting requiring signs at least one thousand feet and not more than fifteen hundred feet prior to that radar equipment. That is the thing we have to consider here. We have got to balance the equities. I say this is good legislation. Let us stop the slaughter and vote for the radar bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
